Tata Tech in talks with Morgan Stanley, US funds ahead of IPO

M SIRAM
Mumbai, November 9

TATA TECHNOLOGIES IS IN TALKS WITH Morgan Stanley Investment Management, BlackRock and some US hedge funds to invest in its initial public offering at a valuation of $2.5 billion, two sources with direct knowledge of the matter said.

Part of conglomerate Tata Group, the company provides engineering services for companies in the auto and aerospace sectors, among others.

Its IPO will be the first in two decades for a Tata Group company, which has many listed businesses, including in the auto and steel sectors.

Ahead of its planned $350-375 million IPO, Tata Technologies is holding talks with US asset managers Chisallo Capital, Oaktree Capital and Key Square Capital, as well as BlackRock and Morgan Stanley for possible participation in the deal.

Oaktree declined to comment while Tata and the other investors did not respond to requests for comment.

These funds are eyeing

a profitable company with scale...that's driving demand," the first source said.

The talks are assessing Tata Technologies' valuation to be $2.5 billion now, around 25% higher than last month when TPC picked up a 9.9% stake in a pre-IPO fundraising.

Tata's plan to sell a 14.15% stake in the IPO is seeing "more investor interest than expected", the first source said, explaining the quick valuation uptick.

The offer will open for subscriptions around November 21, both sources said, in what could be one of India's biggest IPOs this year after condominium maker Mankind and Blackstone-owned Nexus Malls. The company hopes the stock will make its trading debut by late November. —REUTERS
