BUSINESS STANDARD - FACULTY LEARNING PROGRAMME

Passion with compassion. This was the message Prof. Dr N. Jayasankaran, an eminent academician and expert in management education gave to the faculty from various institutions across India who had attended the Business Standard 'Faculty Learning Programme (FLP)' webinar session on 19th May.

Speaking on the topic 'Designing a Digital Pedagogy for Online Classes.'

Prof. Dr N. Jayasankaran, Advisor to VIT, Chinmaya Vishva Vidyapeeth and Rajagiri Vidyapeeth and former Director-General of Bharathidasan Institute of Management dealt in detail on how the faculty can make the online teaching methodology interesting and informative and also how the students can be engaged. His presentation offered useful tips and guidance on how to offer a better learning experience to the student, how to engage them, communicate effectively, assessment methods, course content, etc.

Virtual classrooms have opened up new avenues and challenges and many inquisitive questions were asked to Prof. Dr

N. Jayasankaran. He elaborated on the factors that influence online teaching, the difference between 'Asynchronous vs. Synchronous' learning. The various digital tools and resources, preparation and evaluation. In his talk, he clearly explained the course content and learning objectives, Bloom's revised taxonomy of learning, effective planning of class schedule, how to make a collaborative discussion, review and synthesizing learning, reflective teaching, blended learning, etc.

It was amazing to note when he humbly said "I am a Teacher for 52 years and a student for 1 year for online teaching". The session was well appreciated by all faculty who found it more useful.
