Rise above compulsions for 2024: Gandhi to Oppn

ADITI PHADNIS
New Delhi, 20 August

Sonia Gandhi said unity among the Opposition had forced the government to retreat and review its position on several issues

Conceding state-level political contradictions between the Congress and the rest of the Opposition were a fact of life, Congress President and United Progressive Alliance (UPA) Chairman Sonia Gandhi nevertheless emphasised the spirit of unity in the Opposition, saying if the country was to be saved, sacrifices had to be made by the Opposition.

"We all have our compulsions, but clearly, a time has come when the interests of our nation demand that we rise above them. The 75th anniversary of India's independence is the most appropriate occasion for us to reaffirm our individual and collective resolve. For its part, the Congress will not be found wanting," she told a virtual meeting of leaders from 18 Opposition parties.

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) was not invited. And the Samajwadi Party and the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) did not attend. Key leaders who attended include National Conference's Farooq Abdullah, NCP's Sharad Pawar, LJD's Sharad Yadav, and CPM's Sitaram Yechury. Mamata Banerji (West Bengal), M K Stalin (Tamil Nadu), Uddhav Thackeray (Maharashtra), and Hemant Soren (Jharkhand) were the chief ministers who attended, though there are several other states that are ruled by non-Congress, non-BJP parties, like Andhra Pradesh (YSR Congress), Telangana

(Telangana Rashtra Samiti) and Sikkim (Sikkim Krantikari Morcha). Gandhi said unity among the Opposition had forced the government to retreat and review its position on several issues, whether it was on Covid-19 management strategies or the state governments' right to notify reservations for Other Backward Classes (OBCs). "We had written jointly to the PM on May 12 on the vaccination strategy, on the repeal of the three anti-farmer laws and on the free distribution of foodgrains. Some crucial changes were introduced in the procurement system of vaccines following our intervention. Needless to say, as always, somebody else has taken the credit. This does not matter really, as long as the people of the country have benefitted," she said.

Gandhi held the government's "obstinate" and "arrogant unwillingness" to discuss and debate issues of public importance responsible for the washout of the monsoon session of Parliament. "These include the Pegasus snooping scandal that affects each and every citizen, the repeal of the three anti-farmer laws, the price rise of essential commodities, and the continuing assault on federalism and the institutions of our democracy," the UPA chairman said.

"In spite of this, the session was marked by the determined unity that all Opposition parties demonstrated for over 20 days in both the Houses. We functioned in a coordinated manner. It was entirely due to the Opposition parties that the Constitutional Amendment Bill was passed to restore the long-standing rights of states to identify and notify OBCs. I am confident that this unity will be sustained in future sessions of Parliament as well. But the larger political battle has to be fought outside it," she added.

Gandhi said the "ultimate goal" is the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. She called upon all Opposition parties to begin planning systematically "with the single-minded objective of giving to our country a government that believes in the values of the freedom movement and in the principles and provisions of our Constitution".

Mamata Banerjee called upon all leaders to fight the government "together" and "collectively". "We must forget our internal differences to take the government head on," Banerjee said, days after Sushmita Dev, a prominent Assam Congress leader, resigned from the Congress to join her party. She also raised farmer issues and talked about the "dictatorship" of the government and the "institutional torture".

The Jharkhand CM said that the nation's situation internally and externally is "not at all rosy". He called upon the entire Opposition to take up issues including the "Parliament fiasco, silencing of democracy and institutional caging".

Soren was of the view that issues centric to common people and states are not being addressed, sources said.

"As part of a collective framework, the Opposition including all the Opposition-led states should immediately take up these issues especially those being faced by non-BJP run states. We have to struggle and resist all anti-people policies in a more cohesive manner. We have to sharpen our attacks on issues like income increase, inflation, unemployment, farmers issue, Covid management," sources quoted Soren as saying.

First Covid vax for children...

The interim results from Phase-3 clinical trials in over 28,000 volunteers showed primary efficacy of 66.6 per cent for symptomatic RT-PCR positive cases.

"This has been the largest vaccine trial so far in India for Covid-19. This vaccine had already exhibited robust immunogenicity and tolerability and safety profile in the adaptive Phase I/II clinical trials carried out earlier. Both the Phase I/2 and Phase 3 clinical trials have been monitored by an independent Data Safety Monitoring Board (DSMB)," a statement by the Ministry of Science and Technology said.

Pankaj Patel, chairman of Zydzus Group, said: "We are extremely happy that our efforts to put out a safe, well-tolerated and efficacious vaccine to fight Covid-19 have become a reality with ZyCoV-D. To create the world's first DNA vaccine at such a crucial juncture and despite all the challenges, is a tribute to the Indian research scientists and their spirit of innovation."

Zydzus has so far invested ₹400-500 crore in developing ZyCoV-D. It includes setting up manufacturing plants. "We have re-purposed an existing plant where we are now producing, and our new plant will be ready by the end of July. By August, we should have the capacity to make 10 million doses a month and by the end of this year, we would have made 50 million doses of ZyCoV-D," Sharvil Patel, MD of Zydzus Cadila, had said earlier.

Zydzus has also said its vaccine works against the Delta variant as the trials carried out in more than 50 clinical sites spread across the country and during the peak of the second wave of Covid-19 have shown the vaccine's efficacy against the new mutant strains, especially the delta variant. Typically, in a needle-free injection system, a jet of fluid is accelerated to high speed, providing it significant penetrating power through a fine-diameter nozzle when placed against the skin. Clinical trials on children above 5 years are also on the cards.

Tariff hike...

That was not enough to get financially-stressed companies like Vodafone Idea out of the woods, analysts pointed out.

While telcos have maintained that the current tariffs were disruptive and not feasible in the long run, no firm has taken the first big step to raise rates. In the last few weeks, however, Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea have increased tariffs in certain limited segments. For example, Airtel hiked tariffs by 50 per cent for enterprise customers in the post-paid category—a small fraction of the telco's total subscriber base.

Also, compared to Airtel and Vodafone Idea, rival Reliance Jio has only a negligible share of the post-paid market.

In addition to the change in post-paid tariff, Airtel also pushed up the price of its minimum pre-paid tariff package from Rs 49 to Rs 79. So, about 30 million customers have to pay a little extra. Analysts have also reiterated that while the tariff increase is a good sign, it may not make any substantial material difference to the bottom line of Vodafone Idea, which is struggling to remain afloat. To achieve a major improvement, an across-the-board increase in tariffs, which happened over 19 months ago, must be repeated.

Airtel chairman Sunil Mittal said recently that average revenue per user (ARPU) in a month should hit around Rs 200 for the industry to be comfortable. A senior company executive however argued that the company would not make the first big move as its tariffs were higher than that of Reliance Jio. Such a move could reduce its market share, he said. Sources close to Jio also said they would refrain from taking the first step.

The issue on telcos offering segmented tariff offerings has been a bone of contention for a while. In 2018, Trai had sent notices to Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea, pulling them up for failing to comply with the tariff reporting norms (where a new tariff plan has to be communicated to the regulator). It had threatened to impose a fine too. Subsequently, Airtel appealed and was able to get an interim relief from the telecom tribunal TDSAT.

In November 2020, the Supreme Court, where the regulator went in appeal, made it clear that Trai can ask for details on segmented tariffs for record. But it would be Trai's duty to keep the information confidential, the top court had said.

Eicher crisis...

The only industry executive who gets a higher package than Lal is Bajaj Auto's Rajiv Bajaj, whose compensation is pegged at ₹40.6 crore. Interestingly, among these, only Bajaj and Lal are the promoters of their respective companies.

Lal's total salary increased from ₹9.2 crore in 2016-17 to ₹21.12 crore in 2020-21, a jump of about 130 per cent. His remuneration increased by 9.97 per cent in FY21, while median employee remuneration increased by just 1 per cent. Experts indicated that the company would have to come up with a reworked proposal. "They should go back to shareholders and explain the rationale behind asking for such an increase. They should reduce the salary and if they come up with the same, they should explain transparently what is the proportion of variable, what will determine the variable component, and what are the parameters that the remuneration committee has set for itself," said Amit Tandon, founder and managing director of IIAS.

There were reports that the company was working on resolving the issue by calling a board meeting as early as next week. However, the company remained tight-lipped about the date of the board meeting and whether the salary component would be re-looked at. Lal's current package includes a salary of ₹7.38 crore, commission of ₹6.7 crore, and perquisites of ₹7.04 crore. In 2018-19 and 2019-20, his remuneration increased by 26 per cent and 51 per cent, respectively. On the other hand, the share of variable components in his package declined from 46 per cent in 2016-17 to 32 per cent in 2020-21.

In a similar instance, in 2018, Neeraj Kanwar, vice chairman and managing director of Apollo Tyres, had to go for a 30 per cent cut in his salary after institutional and private shareholders rejected a proposal to increase his package by 42 per cent. Guenter Butschek, former managing director of Tata Motors, had also faced a similar situation during his five-year tenure. "There is a requirement of better communication between the management and shareholders to avoid such a situation. One should explain the rationale behind why the rise in salary is being proposed. This should be in tandem with performance and median salary of other employees of the company," said Shirram Subramanian, managing director of proxy advisory firm InGovern.

Brokerages...

"We are sourcing talent from fintechs and start-ups, including those from non-financial backgrounds, for our corporate office. We are also adding relationship managers on the client servicing side, where we have seen some attrition," added Relli.

Eighty five per cent of HDFC Securities' revenues are through digital channels, up from 65 per cent pre-pandemic. In the past one year, the firm's digital team has quintupled resources, working on making its platforms more intuitive, conversational, and self-reliant.

"We need people who can position a product digitally and craft the journey for customers, by improving user interface and user experience. These don't necessarily require domain expertise. We are trying to learn from the start-up ecosystem and upgrade our IT architecture into a Cloud-based one," said Relli. "Hiring is predominantly on the digital, tech, and product side. In the past one year, we would have hired 50-60 people on the digital and tech side. We look forward to onboarding more talent in these segments," said Jaideep Hansraj, MD and CEO, Kotak Securities.

Digitisation has blurred the geographical boundaries. It has become easier to onboard new customers, with tools such as DigiLocker and penny drop verification, said experts. Smartphones and mobile apps are now the channels of choice for consuming products and services for new-age clients in the 25-40 years age bracket.

"Hyperpersonalisation, speed, and ease of execution and social/community learning have become more important than ever before to meet the needs of these clients," said Vijay Chandok, MD and CEO, ICICI Securities. ICICI Securities has recruited 35 MBAs from premium B-School campuses and around 15 engineers from tech campuses in the current year for its tech, client experience, and digital acquisition teams. It has also inducted senior-level talent from the market in IT, information security, data sciences, customer experience, and user interface (UI)/user experience (UX).
