RERA Resolves Over 100k Disputes in 5 Years: Study

Kallash Babar
@timesgroup.com

Mumbai: Real estate regulatory authorities across 27 states and eight union territories have resolved over 100,000 disputes between homebuyers and property developers since the implementation of the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act began in May 2017, showed a JLL India study based on data from the ministry of housing & urban affairs (MoHUA).

Across these states and union territories, nearly 100,000 projects and 71,514 agents have been registered to date under the Act.

"One of the important pillars of the RERA regulation was grievance redressal," said Samantak Das, head of research and REIS at JLL India. "Homebuyers, who suffered due to various issues and challenges like incomplete projects, project delays, top-sided home-buying agreements, etc., were looking for justice. RERA sought to address these issues by creating a separate system to address the homebuyers' complaints. Homebuyers currently have the option of filing a complaint with the RERA authority, RERA tribunals and RERA adjudicating officers."

Das said the success of the system can be gauged from the fact that the cumulative cases disposed of by various RERA authorities annually have witnessed a sharp rise. Cumulative number of cases disposed rose to 106,428 as of January 2023 from 18,543

In June 2019. Around 56% of total projects were registered between 2019 and 2022, while 5.7 times increase was witnessed in cases closed since 2019.

According to the study, Uttar Pradesh accounted for the largest share of dispute resolution with a 40% share of total cases closed. Five states accounted for 81% of cases closed as of January 2023.

Mandatory registration of projects under RERA brought much-needed uniformity in collating information essential for homebuyers. The registration of projects reflects the trends in the residential sector as is evident from the lowest registration during the pandemic year of 2020.
