UK Economy Surpassed Pre-Covid Size in Late 2021, New Data Shows

London: Britain's economy surpassed its pre-Covid-19 size in the final quarter of 2021, a much earlier recovery from the pandemic than previously estimated and ahead of other major European countries, revised official data showed.

The British economy was 0.6% larger in the fourth quarter of 2021 than in the final quarter of 2019, compared with an earlier estimate that it was 1.2% smaller. The Office for National Statistics (ONS) said on Friday.

This big upward revision brings forward the date at which Britain's economy regained its pre-Covid size by more than a year and a half, and shows at the end of 2021 it had made a faster recovery than Germany, France or Italy, and was level with Japan, although it was behind the United States and Canada.

Prime Minister Rishi Sunak's government has been criticised for a sluggish recovery by the opposition Labour Party ahead of a national election expected next year, and the latest revisions were welcomed by finance minister Jeremy Hunt.

"The fact that the UK recovered from the pandemic much faster than thought shows that once again those doom-mongers who talk down the British economy have been proved wrong," he said.

The changes also have implications for the Bank of England, which has a subdued growth outlook and has found it harder to tame inflation than the US Federal Reserve or the European Central Bank.

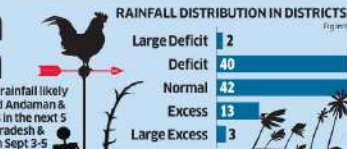

In its latest set of quarterly growth data, the ONS estimated that in the three months to the end of June 2022, Britain's economy was still 0.2% smaller than in the fourth quarter of 2019, the last full quarter before the start of the pandemic. This left Britain at the bottom of the Group of Seven advanced economies in terms of its recovery from the pandemic.

Other countries had not finished revising GDP so it was not yet possible to have a definitive ranking of their economic performance during and after COVID, the ONS said.

Moody's Ups India's Growth Forecast to 6.7%

MIXED BAG: Global ratings agency, however, lowers 2024 forecast to 6.1% from 6.5% projected earlier

Ishaan Gera@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Global ratings and research agency Moody's Investors Service Friday raised India's growth forecast for 2023 to 6.7% from 6.5% projected earlier, as the Indian economy recorded 7.8% growth in the April-June quarter. "Strong services expansion and capital expenditures propelled India's 7.8% real GDP growth in the second quarter from a year ago," Moody's said in its report.

However, the ratings agency lowered the 2024 forecast down to 6.1% from the 6.5% projected earlier. "Since the second quarter performance creates a high base in 2023, we have lowered our 2024 growth forecast from 6.5% to 6.1%. Given the robust underlying economic momentum, we also recognise further upside risk to India's economic growth performance," it said.

On the inflation front, the ratings agency expects inflation to average 5.7% in 2023, a tad below the Reserve Bank of India's upper target band of 6%.

In July inflation at 4.4% crossed the RBI's upper target band for the first time. Experts indicate that inflation is likely to remain above 7% in August.

Moody's projected inflation to decline to 5.2% in 2024, indicating that moving closer to RBI's target of 4% would take longer. The ratings firm indicated that the recent spike in prices due to vegetable price shock will delay the rate cut further.

"The recent uptick in food prices and inflation and uncertain El Niño-related weather conditions will delay monetary policy consideration to early next year. Domestic demand in India remains buoyant, and as long as core inflation remains relatively stable, rate hikes are also unlikely," the agency stated.

Moody's also raised concerns over rising commodity prices, which along with robust demand and inflation, may weigh on growth. Rural demand and output remains relatively stable, rate hikes are also unlikely," the agency stated.

Global growth concerns On the growth front, the report predicted a slower growth trend in 2023, and to edge even lower in 2024. "Tight financial conditions will continue to dampen global economic growth through 2023 and keep growth below trend in 2024. For the G-20, we expect real gross domestic product (GDP) growth to slow to 2.5% in 2023 and 2.1% in 2024 from 2.7% in 2022." The report highlighted a slow-

Parts Worth $2.87 Million Missing: Go First Lessor to NCLT

Ishaan Gera@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Go First's engine lessor Engine Lease Finance IV Priddy told the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on Friday that parts worth $2.87 million were missing and formed the basis for the return of engines to the lessor.

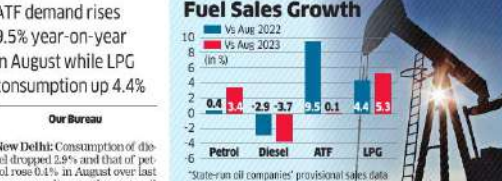

ELFBV had approached the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal last month to allow inspection, which had asked the helicopter airline to file a resolution professional to days to communicate the date for inspection. The NCLT bench, in this case, asked the airlines' resolution professional to file a maintenance report and adjourned the matter to September 12.

In a plea filed by the grounded airlines' committee of creditors, the tribunal allowed to make oral submissions.

"The Central Bank of India, on behalf of the CoC, had filed a new application seeking permission to file written submissions. But the engine and aircraft lessors called it a dilatory tactic. They feared the application CoC is only a ploy to delay the final hearing of the application."

Demand for Diesel Dips 2.9%, Petrol Sales Rise 0.4% in Aug

ATF demand rises 9.5% year-on-year in August while LPG consumption up 4.4%

New Delhi: Consumption of diesel dropped 2.9% and that of petrol rose 0.4% in August over last year, according to the state oil companies data.

The demand for aviation turbine fuel (ATF) rose 9.5% year-on-year in August while that for liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) rose 4.4%. Compared to August 2022, ATF sales are still 3.2% lower while those of petrol and diesel are up 2.4% and 8.4% respectively.

Over the last few months, state oil companies' petrol and diesel sales have been under pressure from the rising competition from private fuel retailers.

Private players have boosted presence in the market this year to benefit from the extraordinarily high margins that fuel retailing currently offers.

Tesla Refreshes Model 3, Cuts Prices of Top-End Cars

San Francisco: Tesla Inc. revamped the Model 3 sedan with sleeker looks and longer range while slashing prices of its premium vehicles in an all-out push to boost sales.

The automaker slumped down the front end of the Model 3 since it went into production six years ago.

The car is rated to go 606 kilometers on a charge in China, a 9% improvement. Other upgrades include a new 8-inch rear touch screen and added speakers to the sound system, hours after the long-anticipated unveiling. Tesla made steep cuts to the Model S sedan and Model X sport utility vehicle in the US and China, and lowered the price of the driver-assistance system marketed as Full Self-Driving by $3,000, to $12,000.

Tesla is now charging $74,900 for the base Model S and $78,990 for the Model X, according to its US website.

The two vehicles began the year with starting prices of $104,900 and $120,350, respectively.

Dropping the base Model X below $80,000 makes the SUV eligible for the $7,500 federal tax credit revived by the Inflation Reduction Act.

Tesla shares slipped 0.8% as of 5 a.m. Friday in New York, before the start of regular trading. The stock has more than doubled this year.

TIPS, TRIVIA & TRENDS

YOUR DAILY DIET OF FUN AND FACTS

Christie's Cancels Sale of Jewellery with Nazi Links

Christie's has cancelled the second auction of jewels belonging to an Austrian billionaire, whose German husband made his fortune under the Nazis, following intense scrutiny, it said Friday. The auction house had a first controversy online and in person sale in Geneva of part of the couple's fortune of more than 700 jewels in May, and had been scheduled to hold a second round in November. Following an initial report in the New York Times, Christie's first statement to AFP confirming that it had cancelled the second round, acknowledging that "the sale of the Heidi Horten jewellery collection has provoked intense scrutiny." A large number of Jewish groups had asked Christie's to halt the initial Horten sales in May, describing it as "insidious" and "desecrating the auction house floor to money determine how much of the fortune of victims of the Nazis. The extended jewelry collection belonged to Heidi Horten who died in the age 81, with a fortune of $2.9 billion, according to Forbes. AFP

US Grads Brace for Return of Student Loan Repayments

After a three-and-a-half year pandemic-era pause, US federal student loans start accumulating interest again from Friday, with repayments set to cut the monthly take-home pay of millions of Americans by hundreds, and in some cases thousands, of dollars. Joe Biden campaigned for president on a pledge to forgive at least $10,000 in student loan debt for millions of Americans, and unveiled a $400 billion program to do just that after taking office. But on June 30, the US Supreme Court ruled that his administration had overstepped its authority, and struck down the student loan forgiveness program. As a result, interest on outstanding loans is back, with repayments due to restart from October. "It was disappointing, but not surprising," Tiffany Brown, a 43-year-old from Baltimore County, Maryland, with more than $100,000 in outstanding student loans, told AFP. More than 46 million people in the US have outstanding student loans totaling more than $1.6 trillion, according to data from the Department of Education. AFP

Rented Electric Scooters Vanish from Paris Streets

Parisians woke up on Friday to a world without free-floating rented electric scooters, kitted as a pedestrian-bothering nuisance by some but mourned by others. The French capital is the first in Europe to completely ban the hire scooters from its streets, after voters overwhelmingly elected to remove them in an April referendum — a move that was backed by 75% of Parisians and led to five years of seeing voters zip through crowds of pedestrians or park awkwardly on pavements and at intersections, as well as a string of accidents. Paris mayor Anne Hidalgo had herself campaigned against scooters, saying removing them would reduce "nuisance". AFP

Australia Calls for Record Fine against Qantas over Cancelled Flights

Australian consumer watchdog on Friday called for Qantas Airways to be punished with a record fine for allegedly selling tickets on thousands of flights that had already been cancelled. Australian Competition and Consumer Commission chair Gina Cass-Gottlieb said Qantas' practice of allegedly breaching consumer law should be more than double the Australian record of 125 million Australian dollars ($81 million) imposed on the Volkswagen Group in 2019 for misleading customers about the level of exhaust emissions from its diesel engines. "We consider that this should be a record penalty for this conduct," Cass-Gottlieb said in a statement. Broadcasting Corp. "We are going to seek a penalty that will underline that this isn't just to be a cost of doing business." AP

Sweden's Nobel Reverses Invitation Policy

The Nobel Foundation that administers the prestigious awards, has reversed its invitation policy and invited Russia, Belarus and Iran as well as the leader of a far-right Swedish party, who had previously been banned. Václav Jirásek, the executive director of the private foundation said in a statement that there was a global trend in which "dialogue between those with differing views is being reduced." To counter that, he said, "We are now broadening our invitations to celebrate and understand the Nobel Prize and the importance of free speech, free culture and free, peaceful societies." The foundation said that invitation for the 2023 events was extended to all countries with diplomatic missions in Sweden and Norway and parties that had parliamentary representation via democratic election. "Adding that this common approach creates opportunities to convey the important messages of the Nobel Prize to every one, and in future this practice will be common to the entire organisation." AP
