'Start-ups' funding in Aug 20% lower than in July'

Get $885-m in Aug; Beenext, LetsVenture, Accel. Blume Ventures top investors: Tracxn

OUR BUREAU

The Indian start-up ecosystem witnessed $885 million in funding across 102 funding rounds in August 2022, which is 20 per cent less funding compared to July, according to Tracxn's August 2022 report on the Indian Tech Start-up Space.

Funding winter

India is currently experiencing a funding winter, which is expected to continue for the next 12-18 months. The quarterly funding in the start-up ecosystem peaked in Q3 2021 at $14.8 billion and is on a steady decline since then. In Q2 2022, Indian start-ups raised a cumulative of $6.84 billion as compared to the $10.3 billion raised in Q1

Sectors that attracted most funding from investors in August include continued learning, alternative lending, e-commerce enablers, investment tech. Edtech unicorn UpGrad announced a large funding round of $210 million in August, as it plans to hire 2,800 full-time and parttime faculty in the next three months.

Pune-based fintech startup EarlySalary is another company that raised a large round of $110 million in this month. It provides instant loans to young salaried individuals.

Further, August saw nine acquisitions fintech unicorn Razorpay acquiring Ezetap, a provider of POS solutions for $200 million.

In terms of cities, Bengaluru led in the total funding raised this month, followed by Mumbai and Delhi. Beenext, LetsVenture, Accel and Blume Ventures did the maximum number of deals, making them the top investors in August.

New community radio players face voices of dissent

TRAI cautioned over including Section 8 companies

AYUSHI KAR

Mumbai, September 5

Commercial radio companies, civil society organisations as well as consumer interest groups have asked Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) to exercise caution while allowing Section 8 companies to provide community radio services

The Association of Radio Operators of India (AROI) opposed the inclusion of section 8 companies completely.

Community radio stations On the other hand, civil society groups and non-profits offering community radio services have asked the government to implement a filtering mechanism that will allow only deserving Section 8 companies to operate community radio services.

The government allows non-profit organisations to set up community radio stations, which serve to bring day-to-day concerns of local communities into the forefront and satisfy their specific information and entertainment needs.

While initially only allowing educational institutions, such as IITs and IIMs, to set up community radio stations, in 2006, the government allowed non-profit community-based organisations This included civil society and voluntary organisations, State Agriculture Universities (SAU), Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) institutions, Krishi Vigyan Kendras, registered societies and autonomous bodies and public trusts registered under Societies Act or any other such act relevant for the purpose.

Including Section 8 firms Now, the government is also be an impact on the available manpower for the entire industry. Hence, it's important deliberating the inclusion of Section 8 companies into its ambit, to allow them to set up community radio stations as well. However, the proposal has seen some opposition on all sides.

Starting with commercial radio operators, AROI responded to TRAI, saying, "CRS, though at a smaller scale, still consumes the valuable and scarce frequency spectrum at an extremely low cost, in view of their natures and objectives. Private FM players, on the other hand, pay a huge cost in licence fees, spectrum and other infrastructure charges." Therefore, AROI suggests improving the infrastructure for existing CRS set-ups, rather than allowing more companiesto set up

community radio stations.

Filter needed

Civil society organisations, such as the UNESCO and Community Radio Association, while acknowledging that some NGOs do operate as Section 8 companies asked the government to set up a transparent and democratic filter, which would allow only deserving companies to set up community radio

UNESCO Chair on Community Media at the University of Hyderabad said, "At least a third of the community radio participants in our meeting expressed apprehensions.'

Pointing out that while community radios were allowed to provide vital information into media-dark sections of the Indian population, especially around local content, the participants stated that this content might be side-lined for more professionally managed fare.

The participants also said the special privilege granted to companies under Section 8 might allow them to have deeper pockets, thereby eliminating local NGOs and community-based Life insurers struggle to attract, retain talent (Cashback SBI card' targets

With revival in demand post-Covid, competition for talent increasing

ANSHIKA KAYASTHA

Faced with elevated attrition levels amid a high-growth environment, the life insurance sector is battling a human resource shortfall. Hiring across companies has surged drastically, according to industry players.

The sector had grown tepidly during the pandemic, but is now seeing a speedy revival aided by pent-up demand, IRDAI's push for insurpenetration product innovation, and the entry of new players across insurance companies, intermediaries, brokers and distributors

"Post-Covid, we are working to improve the attraction and retention of key talents. One of the reasons is that as the market and industry get back to growth, the competition for talent is increasing exponentially," said Bruce De Broize, MD and CEO, Future Generali India Life Insurance.

"Talent is also becoming more selective, and we are competing with the industry for talent in specific areas," he added.

Hiring challenges

The industry is struggling with sector-specific hiring for positions such as actuarial, sales and distribution due to their technical requirements.

"The insurance sector is growing at a very rapid pace and hence, the demand for actuaries too has drastically gone up. Currently, the supply of these niche professionals is on the lower side," said Praveen Menon, Chief People Officer at IndiaFirst Life Insurance.

Due to talent unavailability and applicants having more negotiating power in an employee job market, life insurers are now looking at more industry, geography and job-agnostic hiring, at least for non-technical roles, and offering more benefits and perks such as work flexibility and personalisations.

Even as these established barriers are being broken down, hostile poaching by other companies, and retaining and ring-fencing the talent once they have been hired remain key concerns, industry players said.

Higher employee costs

This environment of aggressive hiring is expected to translate to higher employee costs for insurance sector entities, as they look to attract and retain talent via higher remuneration

Given that the increase in fixed cost for insurers is primarily in the non-sales and sales supervisory roles, Apaar Kasliwal, Executive Director at PolicyBoss.com, said he expects this cost to increase by up to 15 per cent for

Capacity building

The limited supply of skilled professionals has been a long-standing challenge for the industry.

mand gap seems to have been exacerbated by the "With entry of new insurers, there will temporarily

we as an industry start investing in capacity building across all levels," Kasliwal Others too said that investing in learning and training programmes and skill development is the only way to ensure the required mix of talent - both entry and senior level - to sustain high growth levels.

That, however, remains a long-term strategy that will require collaboration from all industry players.

Meanwhile, the situation is expected to start easing in the second half of FY23 as most insurers tend to do the bulk of their hiring in the first half.

Most participants believe that the next few years will remain challenging and competitive in terms of talent management and hiring, as all industry players look to participate in the highgrowth insurance story.

Increased traction for cashbacks among mass, affluent segments: SBI Cards CEO

KR SRIVATS New Delhi, September 5

SBI Card has launched 'CASH-BACK SBI Card', a cashback-focused credit card to boost online spends. The new offering enables cardholders to earn 5 per cent cashback on all online spends without any merchant restrictions.

Targeted at customers from the mass to premium category, the card offers a simple, seamless and completely digital joining experience. Consumers across India, including tier-2 and 3 cities, can apply for the card on the digital application platform 'SBI Card SPRINT'.

Rama Mohan Rao Amara, MD and CEO, SBI Card, told Business-Line the new product (CASH-BACK SBI Card) roll-out is driven by the consumer need for instant gratification, with a preference for cashback rewards over normal ones. He said the new offering will be a win-win proposition for both the company and
