Our Services

POWDER COATING

Our company boasts substantial expertise in the realm of powder coating, a technique involving the application of dry powder onto a charged surface. This method results in a more robust coating in a single application compared to traditional paint. The electrostatic charge effectively adheres the coating to the surface, creating a lasting finish after curing. Given the intricate preparation and coating process, powder coating proves particularly advantageous for sizable orders.

Two primary types of powder coating exist thermoplastic and thermoset each distinguished by its curing methods and properties.

PVDF COATING

In addition to our prowess in Powder Coating, our company is at the forefront of Polyvinylidene Fluoride (PVDF) coatings. These coatings represent a factory-applied, resin-based system, typically enriched with embedded color pigment particles that offer a diverse array of matte-finish colors. Renowned for their exceptional resistance to the deleterious effects of sunlight, moisture, and temperature variations, PVDF coatings find prominent use in architectural applications. Commonly applied to aluminium wall cladding, curtain walls, and roofing sheets, PVDF coatings are a testament to our commitment to delivering top-tier solutions.

Our company stands out with a robust infrastructure, equipped with the latest PVDF coating guns, cutting-edge PVDF booths, and more. This comprehensive setup ensures that we consistently deliver the highest quality to our discerning customers. With a focus on precision and excellence, we continue to set industry standards in the realm of PVDF coatings.

WOOD FILM COATING

Our Wood Film Coating services are meticulously crafted to serve as an ideal base coat for sublimation decoration techniques. This intricate process involves a physical reaction between specialized inks and polyurethane powder coating. Through carefully controlled conditions of heat and pressure, photographic images seamlessly permeate into the powder coating, resulting in a stunning and durable finish.

INDUSTRIAL FABRICATION

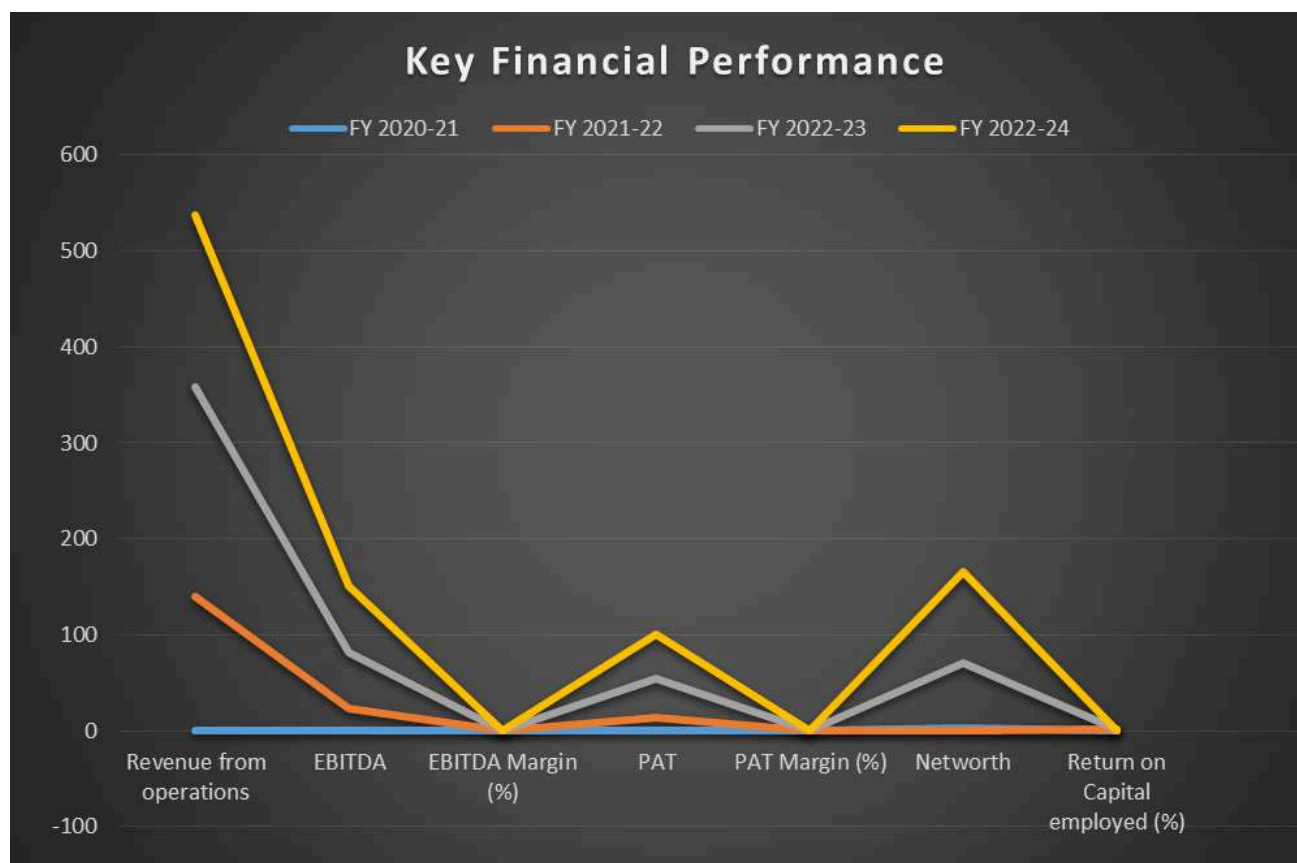

In addition to our diverse portfolio of services, we extend our expertise to Industrial Fabrication for select customers and clients. While this sector contributes less than 5% to our total turnover, it remains an integral aspect of our comprehensive offerings. Our strategic approach involves focusing on other segments while engaging in Industrial Fabrication on a need basis.

This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statement that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

That Board of Directors are also responsible for overseeing the company's financial reporting process.

AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE AUDIT OF FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Companies Act, 2013, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
