India, Afghanistan in pact to build 2nd dam in Kabul

Modi, Ghani discuss development, terror, and bilateral ties at virtual meet

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 9 February

NARENDRA MODI, Prime minister
"NO EXTERNAL POWER CAN STOP THE DEVELOPMENT OF AFGHANISTAN, OR THE INDIA-AFGHANISTAN FRIENDSHIP"

In a message of solidarity with Afghan people, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said "no external power" can stop the development of Afghanistan or its friendship with India and that both the neighbours want to see their region free from the "grave" threat of terrorism and extremism.

He also expressed concern over increasing incidents of violence in Afghanistan including cowardly targeting of innocent citizens, journalists and activists, and noted that India supports a comprehensive ceasefire to end the hostilities. Modi was speaking at a virtual meeting with Afghan President Ashraf Ghani which was organised to sign a 0 that would help in meeting the drinking water requirement of Kabul city.

"I want to assure every Afghan brother and sister, from Badakhshan to Nimroz and Herat to Kandahar that India stands with you. At every step of your journey of patience, courage and determination, India will be with you," Modi said.

In his remarks, Ghani said peace in Afghanistan is within the grasp if parties and their backers in the Taliban embrace a true political solution, seen as a clear reference to Pakistan.

The Afghan President said terrorism must be seen as a "full eco-system" and not as isolated groups or individuals, noting that the "destructive forces" are threatening the future of the region.

Modi said strengthening internal unity among Afghan people is very important and exuded confidence that a united Afghanistan will be able to face any challenge.

"No external power can stop the development of Afghanistan, or the India-Afghanistan friendship," he said. India has been a major stakeholder in Afghanistan and it has extended developmental assistance to tune of around $3 billion in the last few years to the country.

"We are concerned about the increasing violence in Afghanistan. Innocent citizens, journalists and activists are being cowardly targeted. We have called for an immediate end to the violence, and we immediately support a comprehensive ceasefire," Modi said.

"Violence is a retaliation for peace, and the two cannot go together. As a close neighbour and strong strategic partner, both India and Afghanistan want to see their region free from the grave crisis of terrorism and extremism," he said. The prime minister noted that India has been supportive of a peace process that is led, owned and controlled by Afghanistan.

"In the success of Afghanistan, we see the success of India and its entire region," Modi said.

In his brief address at the meeting, Ghani said all stakeholders must be asked to respect "rules of sovereignty" and stop giving "sanctuaries" and interfering in the affairs of their neighbours, in an apparent reference to Pakistan. "Peace in Afghanistan is within grasp if parties and their backers in the Taliban embrace a true political solution. But Afghan people will not submit or surrender. It must be understood that our security forces are not defeated," he said.

Ministers take to Koo as Twitter stand-off continues

NEHA ALAWADHI
New Delhi, 9 February

Even as a resolution is yet to be arrived at between the Indian government and Twitter over tweets allegedly promoting genocide, several ministers on Tuesday tweeted they were moving to a 'Made-in-India' microblogging platform, Koo.

During the day, Minister of Railways, Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal tweeted, "I am now on Koo. Connect with me on this Indian microblogging platform for real-time, exciting, and exclusive updates. Let us exchange our thoughts and ideas on the app." Shortly after, Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan also tweeted he was moving to Koo.

Koo app was a top Twitter trend in India after these tweets. The Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad, Press Information Bureau, and MyGov also have accounts on the app.

Koo was launched in July 2020, founded by Aprameya

Radhakrishna and Mayank Bidawatka. Radhakrishna had earlier founded TaxiForSure, which was later bought by Ola.

Koo, which works on similar lines as Twitter, was born with a focus on regional language, which are very popular but primarily cater to an English-speaking audience. It is available in 13 Indian languages.

The last Budget had provided a 100 per cent tax exemption to sovereign and pension funds investing in Indian infrastructure. Some of the conditions to avail of this tax break were seen to be onerous. These were eased in the latest Budget. "In order to ensure that a large number of funds invest in India, I propose to relax some of these conditions relating to the prohibition on private funding, restriction on commercial activities, and direct investment in infrastructure," Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had said in her Budget speech.

Anish Mashruwala, partner, J Sagar Associates, said the relaxations for holding companies only seemed to apply to investments in new projects. "This may mean that any fresh capital via the holding company route would not come into existing infrastructure projects on the same terms, even though many of them would also be in need of funds," he said. There is also lack of clarity around the shareholding funds are required to have in their holding company, and if it is supposed to be wholly owned by them, he said.

Maruti...

It expects to end FY21 with 157,000 units, a YoY increase of 43 per cent, the highest in the past five years, he said.

"A narrowing gap between the prices of diesel and petrol has made CNG the next best option after diesel for those looking for economy," said Srivastava. In Delhi, as of February 9, a kilogram of CNG cost ₹46.60, while a litre of petrol and diesel cost ₹87.30 and ₹77.48, respectively. Besides, the lower running cost of a car powered by CNG (₹2.50/kg) makes it more viable than petrol and diesel (₹4 to ₹5/litre), he said.

Bitcoin...

However, smart investors bought it back, pushing up the price to a marginal premium over the international price. Now, bitcoin in India is 1-2 per cent higher than its international price. "Information inconsistency due to the proposed government Bill (regulation) has provided a perfect opportunity for sophisticated investors and market makers to make money at the cost of gullible retail investors. They (retail investors) are liquidating crypto assets. Hence the sudden spike in trading volumes across Indian exchanges," said Gaurav Mehta, founder, National Digital Asset Exchange (NDAX).

With rising volumes, there has been a constant supply of cryptocurrencies in the Indian market but there is hardly focus on "who is providing this liquidity".

Industry officials say the supply is coming from overseas investors. They add that politicians across parties also have exposure to bitcoin and want the crypto to be regulated rather than banned. This gave comfort to investors to buy cryptos when retail investors sold them recently after the announcement of a proposed Bill a few days before the Union Budget. WazirX, one of India's leading cryptocurrency exchanges, has seen daily trading volumes in bitcoin double to 2,000-2,500 from 1,000-1,250 a fortnight ago. After the news of the Tesla chief buying bitcoin, Gaurav Daheke, chief executive officer of Bitbns, an Indian crypto-exchange, tweeted: "The Tesla model-3 price in bitcoin is now less than one bitcoin", indicating the interest crypto-players have seen in India after the news.

The volume surge is also reflected in leading exchanges in India facing a huge response and pressure on their support functions. Coindcx, another exchange, has seen a sharp spurt in volumes and an increase in new investors in the past 24 hours, leading to its support machinery slowing.

Another leading exchange has sent alerts through social media to its investors, stating that their support system has slowed after the increase in investor queries and advised such investors to calm down and gave comfort that their queries will be responded to.

Siddharth Sogani, managing director of CREBACO Global, a research and intelligence company for blockchain and crypto-currencies and providing rating to the industry, said: "Visionary entrepreneurs like Elon Musk investing in crypto are among early adopters. I see Apple, Microsoft, and all the other blue-chip companies moving their funds to crypto as a reserve very soon. Indian investors can also make huge profits if the industry is regulated, or else lose the opportunity." He sees bitcoin at $100,000 by the end of 2021, or, maybe even before India introduces the Bill. He says globally too volumes surged three times after Musk's announcement.

Now several campaigns are also being run to support bitcoin and other cryptos amid talk of foreign funding to fund these campaigns.

"India Wants Crypto", among the oldest campaigns, was started by Nischal Shetty, founder and chief executive officer of WazirX, 831 days ago. Among the recent ones are

#IndiaWantsBitcoin, while a website indiawantscrypto.net was floated to support the crypto industry.

Exchanges are telling investors to visit these campaign sites where contact details of all MPs are given and one can select the MP from one's region to impress upon the latter that cryptos should not be banned. Exchanges are providing templates to investors on what they should be writing to MPs.

Meanwhile, independent law firm Khaitan & Company, along with CREBACO, has proposed a draft Bill and detailed regulations for the Indian crypto industry to all government departments concerned. Copies of this paper have been sent to all MPs to educate them and bring the industry under regulation.

Sogani said, "The government is considering our representation which we made with Khaitan & Company."

On Tuesday, Union Minister of State for Finance Anurag Thakur said in Parliament the government was considering the cryptocurrency Bill and it would go to the cabinet soon.

Pawan Ruia..

According to the eligibility criteria set by transaction advisor EY, a bidder should have a net worth of ₹3,500 crore. The government expects to fetch around ₹15,000 crore from the sale of Air India.

The government has refused to disclose the names of the entities which have submitted EoIs.

"The transaction advisors should strictly maintain the confidentiality of the potential bidders from all persons including persons in government including the CPSE and non-government. However, if required, information may be shared with specified agencies in national interest upon an advice by the administrative ministry in writing," the civil aviation ministry said last week.

A government official said due care would be taken to identify eligible bidders. "Air India is a national asset and there are multiple checks and balances to identify persons or companies with the right interest," the official said.
