Realty pre-sales to clock robust growth in FY24

ANEKA CHATTERJEE

Bengaluru, 5 December

Real estate pre-sales in India are estimated to grow by 30 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) in 2023-24 (FY24), driven by sustenance sales as launches were subdued for most companies, according to a Motilal Oswal report.

'Sustenance sales' refer to brisk sales of residual inventory from existing projects.

Twelve listed real estate companies registered their second-best quarter ever, with cumulative pre-sales of ₹252 billion, up 54 per cent Y-o-Y and 44 per cent quarter-on-quarter.

Ongoing projects contributed 56 per cent to total pre-sales in the first half (H1) of FY24. At the same time, new launches reported a 60 per cent absorption, contributing to 44 per cent of pre-sales, according to Motilal Oswal.

Typically, 'pre-sales' is a term used by developers to indicate that a certain amount of inventory has been booked in a given period, but only a part of the payment has been received.

Pre-sales provide visibility to the company's future cash flows and collections and act as critical inputs for developers to strategise and time their new product launches.

With inventory for the listed universe under Motilal Oswal now down to 10 months, launches are expected to double in the second half of FY24 to 60 million square feet (msf) in value terms, and launches would catapult to ₹820 billion from ₹260 billion during the same period. "Hence, we expect our coverage universe to deliver 30 per cent Y-o-Y growth in pre-sales in FY24 versus an initial growth guidance of 15-20 per cent," the brokerage firm said.

Over 2019-20 through 2022-23, the listed players have outperformed industry growth in terms of bookings by 1.5 times, resulting in a consistent increase in their market share to 16 per cent from 12 per cent (this stood at 16.5 per cent at the end of H1FY24). During this period, sales across the top seven cities recorded a 22 per cent compound annual growth rate, with Delhi-National Capital Region, Pune, and Hyderabad witnessing a twofold jump in sales since the pandemic.

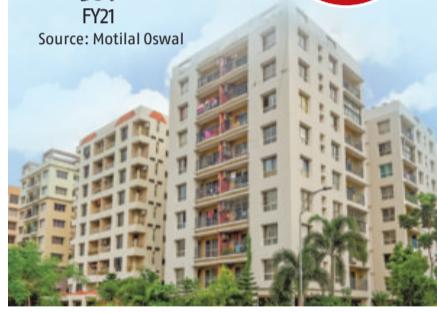

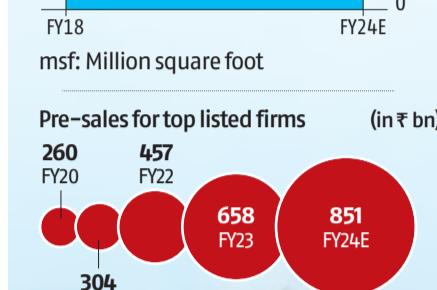

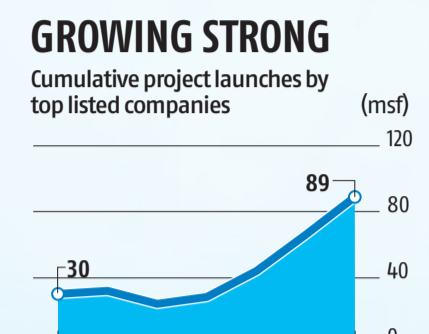

Most of the listed real estate players have a very strong launch pipeline targeting at least two new markets apart from their home market, which will lead to a further pick-up in market share of listed peers, said Motilal Oswal.

Since the rate hike cycle has peaked, it believes the residential real estate cycle is unlikely to face any major headwinds. "The driving force has been mostly the economy, which is doing well, and almost every sector has been benefiting from this, including real estate. It's a strong tailwind that the real estate sector is going through," said Sumeet Chunkhake, chief marketing and communications officer, Sobha.

Europe set to double GenAI investments in 1 yr: Infosys

AYUSHMAN BARUAH
Bengaluru, 5 December

Europe is doubling down on generative AI (GenAI) investment although in a more cautious manner than North America, according to new research from the Infosys Knowledge Institute (IKI). The research arm of Infosys forecasts that European companies will increase GenAI investments by 115 per cent to $2.8 billion next year.

The pace of investment is slower than in North America where spend is expected to reach $6 billion. This more cautious spend is largely due to concerns around ethics and bias driven by the more regulated European market. However, European companies remain optimistic about GenAI's impact on their business and are much more confident in their ability to train and recruit talent. IT major Infosys has been steadily increasing its investments in AI and GenAI over the past few quarters. Infosys had earlier said it is working on about 80 projects related to GenAI and 'Topaz', its comprehensive offering on GenAI, is resonating well with clients. For Infosys, Europe is the second largest market that grew 5.4 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) in constant currency and contributed 26.5 per cent to the company's revenue as of the second quarter.

Chandrasekhar reviews platforms' plans on deepfakes

Union minister of State for IT and Electronics Rajeev Chandrasekhar on Tuesday met social media platforms to review progress made by them in tackling misinformation and deepfakes, and asserted that advisories will be issued in the next two days to ensure 100 per cent compliance by platforms.

New, amended IT Rules to further ensure compliance of platforms, and the safety and trust of online users are actively under consideration, Chandrasekhar said in a post on X (formerly Twitter). Meanwhile, sources said that the government has talked tough with the digital platforms at Tuesday's meeting.

Platforms have been reminded that 11 areas of "user harms" or "illegalities" flagged under IT Rules are also mapped to equivalent provisions in the IPC (Indian Penal Code) and hence criminal consequences can follow even under the current laws. Sources said that some platforms have complied, and those "slow" in doing so have been given additional time. The government, in Tuesday's meeting, has made it amply clear that it will continue with its "zero tolerance approach" on user harm arising from misinformation and deepfakes. According to sources, many platforms have shown a clear understanding of what the right thing to do is, and are adapting quickly, but some platforms have shown "lethargy". A final meeting with platforms to take stock of the issues will take place in seven days, the source said. PTI

EU-like charger rules in India will hit output, warns Apple

Apple has told India its local production targets will be hit if the government follows the European Union and requires existing iPhones to have universal charging ports, a government document shows as the US tech giant lobbies for an exemption or delay.

In a closed-door meeting on November 28 chaired by the IT ministry, Apple asked officials to exempt existing iPhone models from the rules, warning it will otherwise struggle to meet production targets set under India's production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme, according to the meeting minutes seen by Reuters.

Apple and the IT ministry did not respond to Reuters requests for comment. Meanwhile, the India Cellular and Electronics Association said the industry is completely aligned with the government in implementing a 'Uniform Charging Port' regulation in India.

The mobile phone industry has already adopted the Type-C USB port for charging, it said.

Patanjali Foods eyes ₹1K cr sales from masala biz

SHARLEEN D'SOUZA
Mumbai, 5 December

He added Patanjali Foods' top 10-20 brands would continue to grow and become even bigger over the next few years.

In the foods business, it has launched premium products which include a dry fruit range, millet-based cereals, and health cookies. In its presentation the company pointed out it was increasing its reach through new channels, which include modern trade, e-commerce, direct-to-consumer, along with expanding its geographies in South India. The company listed six areas of focus including increasing its share in the food and fast-moving consumer goods business, responding to evolving markets with swift product launches, reorienting marketing and branding activities, an omnichannel expansion in distribution, a premiumisation drive across businesses, and continued growth in oil palm business.

During the investor day, Ramdev, non-executive director at Patanjali Foods, said the company was looking to build the biscuits and edible oil business, which would not only drive growth but build good margins. It has taken on board former cricketer M S Dhoni as ambassador for its edible oil brand Mahakosh.

During the investor day, Ramdev said he could not comment on the merger, demerger or acquisition the company was planning. "While we will enter the nutraceuticals business, we are still discussing the name under which we will launch our product, which also includes Nutrela," said Ramdev.

In its investor presentation, the company said it had launched 22 products and 35 stock-keeping units in the nutraceuticals segment under the Nutrela brand.
