Winter session to take up 7 fresh, 11 pending Bills

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, December 1

The government will introduce at least seven new Bills and move 11 pending ones for debate and passing in the 15-sitting winter session, the penultimate of the 17th Lok Sabha, starting December 4.

The government has called the customary pre-session all-party meeting on Saturday. According to the list of businesses that the Lok Sabha Secretariat posted on its website, the government will present for discussion and voting the first batch of supplementary demands for grants for 2023-24. The government is likely to seek the Lok Sabha's approval for additional funds for food, liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) and fertiliser subsidies and for the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MNRGA) scheme.

The seven new Bills the government has listed include the Central Goods and Services Tax (Second Amendment) Bill to incorporate the recommendations of the GST Council given in its 52nd meeting held on October 7, another for setting up the Central Tribal University in Telangana and two for providing women's quotas in the legislative assemblies of Jammu & Kashmir and Puducherry.

The government has listed the Boilers Bill, 2023, to re-enact the century-old "pre-Constitution" Boilers Act, 1923, which relates to ensuring the safety of life and property, has also listed the Provisional Collection of Taxes Bill, 2023, to re-enact the Provisional Collection of Taxes Bill, 1931. The Broadcasting Services Regulation Bill, 2023, is not listed as the government sought comments on its draft on November 10, giving stakeholders and the public 30 days to send feedback.

The 11 pending Bills the government has listed include the proposed legislation to re-draft the Indian Penal Code (IPC), the Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPc), and the Indian Evidence Act. The government introduced the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, and the Bharatiya Sakshya Sanhita to replace the IPC, CrPc, and the Evidence Act on the last day of the monsoon session in August, which the Lok Sabha referred to a parliamentary standing committee. The standing committee has submitted its report to the House.

The Opposition will likely object to the Hindi names of the Bills and other inconsistencies. In a letter last week, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee urged Union Home Minister Amit Shah not to rush through with the proposed legislations. The government has also listed the Chief Election Commissioner and other Election Commissioners (Appointment, Conditions of Service and Term of Office) Bill to streamline the appointments through a panel which excludes the Chief Justice of India. The government had introduced the Bill in the Rajya Sabha in the monsoon session.

The session will also take up the Ethics Committee report on expelling Trinamool Congress Lok Sabha member Mahua Moitra. The Privileges Committee has asked Bahujan Samaj Party member Danish Ali to appear before it on December 7 to "give oral evidence" on complaints by several MPs about the alleged improper conduct of Bahariya Janata Party member Ramesh Bhidari.

ON THE LIST OF BUSINESS

(For parliament's winter session from December 4 to 22)

- The first batch of Supplementary Demands for Grants for 2023-24
- Re-enacting the century-old Boilers Act, 1923
- The Provisional Collection of Taxes Bill, 1931
- Bills to provide for women's quotas in I&M and Puducherry Assemblies

- Bills to replace the IPC, CrPc, and Evidence Act with Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, and Sakshya Bill, respectively

Land set aside for India's first solar expressway

VIRENDRA SINGH RAWAT
Lucknow, December 1

The Uttar Pradesh government has earmarked 1,700 hectares of land for banking the 296 km Bundelkhand Expressway for setting up solar energy plants.

The UP Expressway Industrial Development Authority (UIEDA) is hammering out the blueprint of the project, which is aimed at making the Bundelkhand Expressway India's first solar-powered expressway.

Companies such as Torrent Power have evinced interest in the 550 megawatt (Mw) project, which will soon witness competitive bidding to select the private developer under the public-private partnership (PPP) model.

"The use of solar energy to illuminate the expressway as well as 100,000 nearby houses will cut down on carbon emissions and save on the energy costs," a senior state government official said. The expected lifespan of the project is 25 years with a payback period set at 10-12 years. The prospective bidders who have given their presentations include Tusco, Torrent Power, Somaya Solar Solutions, 3R Management, Avanda Energy, Atri Brindavan Power, Eriksa E-Mobility, and Mahaprexi.

The solar project will cater to the energy needs of the houses along the expressway and serve as a foundation for a mobility and local socioeconomic development.

UP is looking at powering other expressways in the state, including Purvanchal Expressway, Agra-Lucknow Expressway, Gorakhpur Link Expressway, etc, with solar energy for promoting green and renewable energy, and to bolster the e-vehicle charging infrastructure. The state government is vigorously ramping up power generation capacity to meet the growing energy demand from different segments of consumers including domestic, industry, commercial, and agriculture.

The government is setting up brownfield and greenfield solar and thermal energy projects across the state in the backdrop of peak hour energy demand breaching the 28,000 Mw mark. Also, the state is in the process of inviting solar energy bids of 7000 Mw in two phases. The government targets 25,000 Mw of solar energy generation in the long term.

Meanwhile, the UP Electricity Regulatory Commission (UPERC) has amended the Rooftop Solar Power Regulations, 2019, to promote solar energy, allowing the net metering facility to government and private educational institutions.

Rain boosts rabi crop prospects

ANIL SHARMA
Jaipur, December 1

Farmers in Rajasthan are rejoicing after some parts of the desert state received fresh rainfall, a development which is likely to provide a big fillip to the sowing of rabi crops.

According to agriculture experts, the rain will expedite the sowing of wheat, gram and mustard. Rabi crops have been sown in over 84.55 lakh hectares, so far, much below the target of 1.17 crore hectares.

KG Jhalani, wheat trader of Kukarkheda grain market of Jaipur, said although the intensity of rain has reduced, the farmers will still benefit from moisture in the soil.

He said the sowing of rabi crops will increase by at least 10 per cent.

"The farmers were waiting for rain so that they could sow wheat, which is grown mainly in the Ganganagar-Hanumangar region, Hadoti, Alwar-Bharatpur and Pal-Sirohi regions," Jhalani said.

"This rain will provide enough moisture for sowing in the fields and make it easier for the farmers. In the areas where grain, wheat and mustard have been sown, this rain will benefit the crops," Gram trader Shyam Natanji said.
