'Semicon Packaging Poised to be Next Inflection Point in India's Chip Story'

Country has the right talent to use the opportunity, says Applied Materials' Prabu Raja

Aashish.Aryan
@timesgroup.com

Gandhinagar: Semiconductor packaging is poised to be the next inflection point in India's chip-making and fabrication push as the country has the right talent to use the opportunity to its advantage, the president of Applied Materials' semiconductor products group Prabu Raja said.

The central government's approach to starting with packaging and testing for semiconductors to build a complete ecosystem for the chip-making and fabrication push, Raja told ET. "India has the talent. I think intercepting these inflections is the right thing to do most of the time rather than just chasing the path. Packaging is going to allow me to think packaging is the right approach. I do not know if it is the only approach, but it is the right one," he said.

Under its ambitious $10 billion plan to kickstart the semiconductor manufacturing ecosystem in India, the central government had in June approved a plan to set up an outsourced semiconductor assembly and testing (OSAT) plant for a cumulative investment of $2.75 billion.

The OSAT plant, to be set up by Micron at Sanaad in Gujarat, will entail an investment of $825 million by the company, while the rest of the investment will be in the form of incentives by the central and the state government.

Apart from Micron, Applied Materials, one of the leading global manufacturers of precision instruments for semiconductor fabrication had also said it would invest $400 million to set up a collaborative engineering centre in Bengaluru. This would be the company's second office in India, apart from its research and development centre in the same city.

"The new centre is for the development of all technologies that goes into our equipment including design and engineering. The R&D centre that we have supports the work that we do at our Santa Clara centre. So, we are doing a big part of that in India. They will also be supporting the new centre," Raja said.

The investment of $400 million will be made over the next four years and the company plans to construct a greenfield unit for the new operations. Applied Materials, however, will start the collaborative engineering work from its R&D centre and not wait for the construction of the new centre, Applied Materials India president Srinivas Satya said.

"We do have certain capabilities already. With those, in certain areas, where we have the right infrastructure, we will start the inclusive collaborative innovation with our suppliers," he said, adding that though the construction part would be done, it is the right equipment and capabilities which would be the more complex part to handle.

Vedanta Plans to Roll Out Made-in-India Chip Within 2.5 Years'

Chairman Agarwal says co in talks with 3 different partners to set up a foundry

Our Bureau

Gandhinagar: Vedanta Group is in talks with three different partners to set up a semiconductor foundry, a packaging and testing unit and a chip-designing unit, the group's chairman Anil Agarwal said, pointing to initiatives the mining conglomerate is taking to break into this business after a proposed venture with Taiwanese contract manufacturer fell through.

Speaking to the media on the sidelines of the Semicon event in Gandhinagar, Gujarat, Agarwal said that the company was looking to roll out the first made-in-India chips within the next two-and-a-half years. "It is a question of a few months. We will make the announcements soon. We are going for a complete ecosystem set up," he said.

Of the $19 billion that it had pledged to invest, the company will for now invest $5 billion to set up the three planned units at Agarwal said, adding that the rest of the investments would be done in tranches as and when needed.

Speaking earlier in the day at the inaugural session of Semicon 2023, Agarwal said that Gujarat would emerge as a semiconductor hub for India and that it was the "right place for creating the Silicon Valley of India".

Earlier this month, its JV partner Vedanta ended the partnership with Foxconn to explore new partnership opportunities.

Hon Hai Technology Group (Foxconn) and Anil Agarwal-led Vedanta had announced their joint venture to manufacture chips and display panels in India in February 2022, making it one of the first few participants in the government's strategically crucial India Semiconductor Mission.

The funding for the project will be done through a mix of debt and equity, Agarwal said.

Taiwan India's Most Trusted Partner in Semicon Plans: Liu

Our Bureau

Gandhinagar: Foxconn chairman Young Liu on Friday said India and Taiwan could be partners in the development of a robust semiconductor ecosystem in India.

Speaking at the Semicon 2023 in Gandhinagar, Gujarat, Liu said that he was optimistic about the direction and the roadmap of India's semiconductor plan.

Taiwan is and will be your most trusted and reliable partner. Let's do this together," Liu said.

Earlier this month, Foxconn walked out of its partnership with Vedanta to "explore more diverse development opportunities".

Hon Hai Technology Group (Foxconn) and Anil Agarwal-led Vedanta had announced their joint venture to manufacture chips and display panels in India in February 2022, making it one of the first few participants in the government's strategically crucial India Semiconductor Mission.

ET had reported in June that the joint venture was on shaky ground and that Foxconn had started sounding out other Indian conglomerates as potential partners to further its chip-making ambitions in the country.

India, UK 'Close' to Concluding Talks For FTA

Our Bureau

New Delhi: India and the UK are "very close" to concluding the negotiations for a bilateral trade agreement and the two sides are working to iron out differences on three key issues, including intellectual property rights, investment treaty, and rules of origin, a senior official said Friday.

A broad consensus has also been reached on trade in automobiles and whiskey between the two countries and the trade pact could be signed before the end of the current year. However, the official said that "nothing is agreed till everything is agreed". "The remaining issues include IPRS, rules of origin and investment treaty," the official said. The next round of talks is likely in August. Discussions around the trade deal are expected on the sidelines of the G-20 Leaders' Summit in September in New Delhi.

Nagarnar Steel Unit Ready to Begin Ops

Twsh.Mishra @timesgroup.com

New Delhi: The Nagarnar Steel plant, built at an investment of around ₹ 24,000 crore in Chhattisgarh's Bastar area, is set to begin operations in the coming few weeks, 20 years after the first foundation stone was laid for the project, a top government official told ET.

The government-owned plant is also up for disinvestment, the process for which started while it was under construction. "There are no concerns about project viability and completion anymore. This should help in fetching a better price for disinvestment, if the process goes through," the official said.

Post commissioning, the day-to-day operations of the steel plant will be managed by Mecon Ltd, another public sector undertaking.

According to officials aware of the plan, iron ore for this project will be sourced from NMDC's mines

As per the statement of objects and reasons for the bill, it would help hasten the pace of auction and early production of critical minerals such as lithium, cobalt, and graphite that are crucial for electric vehicles and batteries. Nickel, platinum, and tin-bearing minerals are also among the 26 that are proposed to be brought under the ambit of the Centre.
