● WANTS TO BUILD INDIA TECH STACK

Ola to move beyond cloud

JATIN GROVER
New Delhi, May 14

BHAVISH AGGARWAL, FOUNDER AND CEO, OLA

DATA SOVEREIGNTY MEANS THAT BOTH, THE LOCATION AND CONTROL SHOULD BE IN INDIA, NOT JUST THE REAL ESTATE. SO, WE NEED TO HAVE OUR OWN CLOUD TECH STACK...

UNLESS WE BUILD OUR OWN FULL STACK, WE WON'T BE ABLE TO HARNESS THE POWER OF BOTH ECONOMIC PRODUCTIVITY AND CULTURAL STRENGTH OF OUR CIVILISATION

After the incident, Aggarwal had said that he would work with Indian developers to build a DPI (digital public infrastructure) social media platform. Last year, Aggarwal launched Krutrim — the first made in India generative AI platform. Besides being only a genAI platform, Krutrim is also building the entire AI computing stack. "Sam Altman (OpenAI CEO) came to India and said you (India) cannot do it. That's the day I decided I wanted to do it," Aggarwal said, adding that there is a need to create technological and supply chain depth in India.

"The western companies are beholden to their shareholders, and they willingly bring these things (their culture and political influence) into India," he said.

The idea, which Aggarwal floated on the digital product revolution in the country, is influenced from China, which identified technologies of future and thought strategically about taking a lead in that. "That's what we in India need to do, I do believe the government is supporting that, given that we have production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme," Aggarwal said.

He added that there is need for Indian companies to double down on the research and development (R&D) to create own technologies for future.

Talking about the challenges with regard to training India-based AI models on India datasets, Aggarwal said, "the data available in India on the Internet is in English largely. A lot of data in many Indian languages is not digitised".

He said, Krutrim is now looking to have experts of different languages and areas like Sanskrit, history, etc, within the company to add to the credibility of its AI model.

E-comm users find ratings on sites positively biased: Survey

NEARLY 56% OF online shoppers surveyed by community social media platform LocalCircles said they found ratings on the e-commerce sites and apps to be positively biased over the last 12 months, according to survey findings.

Only nine per cent of e-commerce or online users said platforms have enabled an interface to easily spot sponsored or influencer reviews and ratings, while just 16% of consumers felt their negative reviews were always published in the last year.

The survey assumes significance given that the government is considering making it mandatory for e-commerce companies to comply with quality norms for consumer reviews after a voluntary push failed to effectively curb fake reviews.

"...56% of online shoppers surveyed by LocalCircles... say they have found ratings on the e-commerce sites/ apps to be positively biased in the last 12 months," according to a release by LocalCircles.

LocalCircles said it conducted a comprehensive national survey to find out how effective voluntary standards for online reviews and ratings have been, given persistent complaints. —PTI

2 Indian varsities among Times' top 100

Two Indian universities — Mahatma Gandhi University and Anna University — have made it to the top 100 list of the Times Higher Education's (THE's) Young University Rankings 2024.

(#201-250) and IIT Mandi (#251-300) have also featured in the rankings.

The number of Asian universities in the rankings has nearly doubled in 5 years, climbing from 165 in 2020 to 327 this year. Turkey, India and Iran seem to be leading the rise. India, for instance, has 55 ranked institutions, up from 45 last year and 26 in 2020.

UK 'graduate route' visa, dominated by Indians, should continue: Report

A POST-STUDY VISA route dominated by Indian graduates is helping the universities in the UK make up for financial losses on the domestic front and expanding the country's research landscape, a review commissioned by the British government concluded in its report on Tuesday.

The independent Migration Advisory Committee (MAC) had been tasked by UK Home Secretary James Cleverly to undertake a rapid review of the relatively new Graduate Route visa that allows international students to stay on for up to two years after their degree to look for work and gain work experience.

It found that Indian students lead the pack in this visa category, accounting for 89,200 visas between 2021 and 2023 or 42% of the overall grants, and the visa was stated as the "overwhelming decision point" for their choice of a higher education destination. —PTI

BCCI sounds out CSK head coach Fleming to succeed Dravid

VENKATA KRISHNA B
Chennai, May 14

KEY PARAMETERS

- The coach will be responsible for developing a world-class cricket team which delivers sustained success in all conditions and formats, inspiring current and future generations of cricketers and stakeholders with their approach to the game
- The head coach will have overall responsibility for the performance and management of the India Men's team in all three formats of the game

THE BOARD OF Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) is considering former New Zealand captain and current Chennai Super Kings head coach Stephen Fleming as a potential successor to Rahul Dravid.

However, with the BCCI's condition that the new head coach will be in charge for all three formats, it remains to be seen whether Fleming actually applies for the job which will require him to be with the team for 10 months a year.

The BCCI on Monday officially began the process to appoint a new head coach for the Indian men's team post the T20 World Cup.

According to highly-placed sources in the board, Fleming, who has been head coach of CSK since 2009, is seen as a suitable candidate to take over from Dravid.

India is likely to enter a period of transition across all formats in the next few years and Fleming's man-management skills, ability to bring the best out of players by creating a positive environment and his impressive success rate at CSK are believed to be a big draw.

The Indian Express understands that informal discussions have already taken place through the course of the IPL.

As things stand, the 51-year-old hasn't communicated with the CSK management about any wish to leave the franchise, who prefer him to extend his stay.

Since becoming head coach of CSK in 2009, Fleming has become a globe-trotting T20 coach.

He coached Melbourne Stars in the Big Bash for four years.

Apart from the Chennai-based franchise, he is also the head coach of Joburg Super Kings in SA20 and Texas Super Kings in Major League Cricket — both of which are sister franchises of CSK.

He is also the head coach of Southern Brave in The Hundred.

The former Kiwi captain is likely to be a busy man this July with MLC and The Hundred running simultaneously for a week. That the BCCI is looking at Fleming shouldn't come as a surprise.

Internally, there is plenty of admiration for Fleming, who is a central figure in CSK's success story. Apart from being a shrewd captain during his playing days, Fleming has shown in the IPL what continuity can bring to a franchise.

He is the longest-serving coach in the league and has guided CSK to five titles and two Champions League trophies.

Also, he has managed to extract the best out of players, with Shivam Dube being a case in point.

Apart from basic skill-set training, Fleming is also known for his leadership programme that has benefitted plenty of Indian domestic players.

It is understood that India's senior players also prefer having a coach with such pedigree and strong technical knowledge, as it would help the next generation of players who are expected to form the core of the team over the next three years.

If the BCCI is not able to lure Fleming, it would be interesting to see where it goes next.

Despite England, Pakistan and South Africa splitting their coaching roles between red-ball and white-ball cricket, the BCCI is still hesitant to go for a similar approach as India doesn't have two different sets of players for Tests and limited-overs formats.

The Indian Express understands that apart from Fleming, other overseas coaches involved with IPL teams are also reluctant to take up the India job as it demands them to be on road for 10 months in a year.

Even Dravid has been granted breaks from time and time, with the former India captain often skipping some white-ball series.

Dravid, who was given a six-month extension post the 50-over World Cup in October-November, has his contract expiring after the T20 World Cup next month.

The former India captain has the option of re-applying for the post.

China may Dump EVs, Batteries in India as US Raises Tariffs: GTRI

'Higher US duties on Chinese products present an export opportunity for India'

Out Bureau

New Delhi: India may become a dumping ground for Chinese products such as electric vehicles (EVs), batteries and other new technology items with the US raising tariffs on these imports from Beijing, economic think tank Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) said Tuesday.

"The raising of tariff on EVs, batteries and many other new technology items by the US may push China to dump these products in other markets, including India. It is a moment for India's Directorate General of Trade Remedies to remain vigilant," it said.

It also said that higher duties on Chinese face masks, syringes and needles, medical gloves and natural graphite presents an export opportunity for India.

"By ramping up production and export of these in-demand products, India could enhance its trade footprint in the US market," said GTRI co-founder Ajay Srivastava.

However, he said that India may not get any export advantage on remaining products like EVs and semiconductor as the country is a net importer of these products.

China has replaced the US as India's largest trading partner in FY24 with $18.5 billion two-way trade, GTRI had said in its earlier report.

Srivastava said that the US and EU are taking active measures to cut reliance on Beijing and with stagnant exports and rising imports from the country, India may also need a China strategy.

The US has announced a series of proposed tariff increases on imports to combat what it deems as unfair trade practices by China. This includes issues related to technology transfer, cyber intrusions and cyber theft.

"With the routine tariff increases that go beyond the WTO commitments, and large subsidy programmes to ramp up local production, the developed countries are in full protectionist mode and trade policy gives way to the industrial policy in developed countries including the US, EU, Srivastava added.

Govt Tenders Worth ₹60k Crore Found Non-Compliant With Procurement Norms

Kirtika Suneja
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: As many as 1,386 government tenders worth ₹60,278 crore have been found non-compliant with public procurement norms, an analysis by the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) showed.

Of these, 367 tenders were non-compliant with Public Procurement (Preference to Make in India) Order 2017 as these sought specific brands while 40 tenders violated the condition of specific foreign certification.

DPIIT's discovery followed scrutiny of more than 3,103 bid documents worth procurement of goods, works and services totalling ₹1.61 lakh crore.

"The tenders are scrutinised based on certain parameters such as inclusion of provisions of the order, turnover and experience requirements," a government official said.

A total of 910 tenders violated provisions of the PPP-MII order and 133 had restrictive turnover requirements.

A total of 891 tenders violated provisions of the PPP-MII order and 133 had restrictive turnover requirements.

"The department regularly receives grievances from stakeholders for alleged violation of the PPP-MII Order and these are sent to the procuring entity and department concerned for necessary corrective action," the official added.

Last year, DPIIT had drawn up a list of about 20 restrictive and discriminatory conditions imposed by procuring agencies under various ministries against local suppliers, which make them non-compliant with the government's public procurement for Make in India orders.

In public procurement tenders, departments and ministries are allowed to mandate higher than minimum 40% and 20% local content for two separate categories of local suppliers categorised as Class I and Class II. DPIIT has now proposed the requirement to be raised to 70% and 50%, respectively.

According to DPIIT, 27 tenders had sought details on prior experience of supplying to specific nations and entities which made them non-compliant with the order whereas the requirement for specific experience from stakeholders was considered restrictive in 15 tenders. In 36 cases, the department found procuring agencies had issued global tenders despite availability of local capacity or the tender size falling below the ₹200 crore threshold.

India had, in 2020, barred issuing global tenders for government orders up to ₹200 crore promote Atmanirbharta or self-reliance.
