Acquisitions on the rise in the start-up world

Total acquisitions this year at 169 with average price at $90.2 million, a significant jump from 115 in the same period last year, according to Tracxn data

SHIVANI SHINDE & PEERZADA ABRAR
Mumbai/Bengaluru, 25 July

Large start-ups are looking for mergers and acquisitions as they diversify into newer spaces and add capacity at a time funding is under pressure and is in turn impacting on valuations.

The trend was evident in the first half of the CY22, too. According to an analysis by Tracxn for year-to-date (2022), the total acquisition stands at 169, with the average acquisition price at $90.2 million.

This is a significant jump as during the same period in CY2021 the total number of acquisitions touched 115 with the average acquisition price at $180 million, according to data from Tracxn. The full year (CY2021) saw a total of 244 acquisitions with the average acquisition price rising to $227 million.

The other reason for the mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity to pick up is that initial public offering seems to be taking a back seat with tech stocks getting hammered in India and globally, too.

Karan Mohla, partner, B Capital, a venture capital firm co-founded by Facebook co-founder Eduardo Luíz Saverin, said that although there was positive activity in the capital markets last year, this year there could be a lot of M&A action in the start-up ecosystem as companies are looking at inorganic ways to grow.

"I think the M&A activity could be interesting, as the companies that have capital and are growing may look at adjacent places, where they see good value. Those are the opportunities that some of our (portfolio) companies are also looking at," said Mohla. "For many companies, it is an avenue for inorganic growth and expansion," he added.

The trend is evident in some of the acquisitions that have transpired so far in the first half of this year. Take the case of Pine Labs, which is leading the M&A list so far. It recently announced the acquisition of fintech infra provider Setu for their API (application programming interface) capabilities and to enable broader integration with open payment systems.

B Amrith Rau, chief executive officer of Pine Labs, said during the acquisition that Setu will add value to the merchant platform in terms of "embedded" financial services and open banking, which are going to be the way forward.

tiful experiences, so consumers can engage with payments and financial services on their terms."

The edtech space also saw acquisitions. Even as the challenge of offline classes continues to play out, several players are expanding into new verticals to bring more offerings. upGrad acquired INSOFE to strengthen its data analytics courses, Infinity Learn acquired Wizklub to augment foundation skills courses for the K12 segment and Great Learning acquired Northwest to address the professional skilling segment for enterprise clients.

The biggest in terms of value and buzz was the Zomato-Blinkit M&A deal. This would give Zomato a presence in the quick commerce space. Among similar deals that allowed companies to expand their geographical footprint was OYO acquiring Direct Booker to strengthen its presence in Europe and Croatia.

The logistics space, too, has seen consolidation with the recent deal of Shiprocket acquiring Pickrr. This would also give Shiprocket access to technology and team allowing full stack creation of ecommerce enablement.

The Q2 start-up deal analysis report by Nasscom and PGA Labs said that the second half of 2022 will see further consolidation as established start-ups look for M&A opportunities at attractive valuation to increase market share.

M&A is not just an Indian start-up ecosystem phenomenon but is also evident across Asia.

According to KPMG's Q2 2022 Venture Pulse report, "M&A activity could get a boost heading into Q3'22 as investors and corporates look to take advantage of the lower valuation environment and tightening funding environment to find inorganic growth opportunities and opportunities to gain market share."

Health ministry plans targeted communication in districts with high number of cases

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 26 July

With six states reporting more than 1,000 daily Covid-19 cases on average, the Centre is now trying targeted communication there to improve vaccination coverage rapidly. There has already been a sharp rise in demand for precaution doses after July 15 when the Centre announced free precaution shots for all adults.

From a daily average of 4.7 lakh doses per day till July 15, the number of precaution shots went up to 20.4 lakh per day (from July 15 till date). The number of total vaccine doses has gone up from 12.3 lakh per day (till July 15) to 27 lakh per day (since July 15).

According to the health ministry, the coverage for precaution doses has gone up from 8 per cent (July 14) to 11 per cent (as of July 25) thanks to the "Amrit Mahotsav" campaign.

The ministry on Tuesday said that Kerala, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Odisha and Karnataka are reporting more than 1,000 average daily cases. Kerala contributes 11.38 per cent of the national Covid-19 cases, while Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu contribute 10.6 per cent and 10.3 per cent respectively.

Lav Agarwal, joint secretary, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, said the Centre was keen on ensuring vaccination coverage, especially of precaution doses, picked up in areas where the rate of infection is high. "We have started targeted messaging to the districts and states where the caseload is high. This would help to increase our coverage for vaccines," he said.

As of July 25, 181 districts in India are reporting a weekly positivity rate of more than 10 per cent, and 107 districts are recording 5-10 per cent weekly positivity rate. Assam, West Bengal, Arunachal Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh have the highest number of districts with more than 10 per cent positivity rates.

The Centre has launched a 75-day free precaution dose campaign for all adults till the September-end. Agarwal said there was a certain amount of complacency among citizens about Covid-19 infection, and that they have let their guards down.

India has already covered 96 per cent of its population above 12 years with the first dose. For the second dose, the coverage is 88 per cent. However, the ministry noted that only 75.8 million precaution shots have been administered. The coverage is around 68 per cent for the second dose among the 15-18 year age cohort.

Progress in developing variant-proof vax

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 26 July

Switzerland's ExcellGene SA has announced its role in the recently approved consortium funding through the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations (CEPI) for co-developing a variant-proof coronavirus vaccine with India's Bharat Biotech.

The consortium is developing or designing a new vaccine concept that confers highly cross-reactive protection against numerous SARS-CoV-2 variants of concern as well as other betacoronaviruses. Betacoronaviruses are one of the four genera of coronaviruses — alpha, beta, gamma and delta. The natural reservoirs for betacoronaviruses are bats and rodents. There have been multiple betacoronavirus outbreaks in humans since the early 2000s.

Bharat Biotech CMD Krishna Ella said: "The global threat of SARS-CoV-2 is continuing with new infections over and over again, irrespective of prior infections or vaccinations. Thus, more applied research has to be done, both in laboratories... and in a company like ExcellGene, that can provide entirely new antigen concepts that combine insights into SARS-CoV-2 gained over the last two and a half years."

The ministry on Tuesday said that Kerala, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Odisha and Karnataka are reporting more than 1,000 average daily cases. Kerala contributes 11.38 per cent of the national Covid-19 cases, while Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu contribute 10.6 per cent and 10.3 per cent respectively.

Lav Agarwal, joint secretary, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, said the Centre was keen on ensuring vaccination coverage, especially of precaution doses, picked up in areas where the rate of infection is high. "We have started targeted messaging to the districts and states where the caseload is high. This would help to increase our coverage for vaccines," he said.

As of July 25, 181 districts in India are reporting a weekly positivity rate of more than 10 per cent, and 107 districts are recording 5-10 per cent weekly positivity rate. Assam, West Bengal, Arunachal Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh have the highest number of districts with more than 10 per cent positivity rates. The Centre has launched a 75-day free precaution dose campaign for all adults till the September-end. Agarwal said there was a certain amount of complacency among citizens about Covid-19 infection, and that they have let their guards down.

India has already covered 96 per cent of its population above 12 years with the first dose. For the second dose, the coverage is 88 per cent. However, the ministry noted that only 75.8 million precaution shots have been administered. The coverage is around 68 per cent for the second dose among the 15-18 year age cohort.

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 26 July

Switzerland's ExcellGene SA has announced its role in the recently approved consortium funding through the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations (CEPI) for co-developing a variant-proof coronavirus vaccine with India's Bharat Biotech.

The consortium is developing or designing a new vaccine concept that confers highly cross-reactive protection against numerous SARS-CoV-2 variants of concern as well as other betacoronaviruses. Betacoronaviruses are one of the four genera of coronaviruses — alpha, beta, gamma and delta. The natural reservoirs for betacoronaviruses are bats and rodents. There have been multiple betacoronavirus outbreaks in humans since the early 2000s.

Bharat Biotech CMD Krishna Ella said: "The global threat of SARS-CoV-2 is continuing with new infections over and over again, irrespective of prior infections or vaccinations. Thus, more applied research has to be done, both in laboratories... and in a company like ExcellGene, that can provide entirely new antigen concepts that combine insights into SARS-CoV-2 gained over the last two and a half years."

Acquisitions on the rise in the start-up world

Total acquisitions this year at 169 with average price at $90.2 million, a significant jump from 115 in the same period last year, according to Tracxn data

SHIVANI SHINDE & PEERZADA ABRAR
Mumbai/Bengaluru, 25 July

Large start-ups are looking for mergers and acquisitions as they diversify into newer spaces and add capacity at a time funding is under pressure and is in turn impacting on valuations.

The trend was evident in the first half of the CY22, too. According to an analysis by Tracxn for year-to-date (2022), the total acquisition stands at 169, with the average acquisition price at $90.2 million.

This is a significant jump as during the same period in CY2021 the total number of acquisitions touched 115 with the average acquisition price at $180 million, according to data from Tracxn. The full year (CY2021) saw a total of 244 acquisitions with the average acquisition price rising to $227 million.

The other reason for the mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity to pick up is that initial public offering seems to be taking a back seat with tech stocks getting hammered in India and globally, too.

Karan Mohla, partner, B Capital, a venture capital firm co-founded by Facebook co-founder Eduardo Luíz Saverin, said that although there was positive activity in the capital markets last year, this year there could be a lot of M&A action in the start-up ecosystem as companies are looking at inorganic ways to grow.

"I think the M&A activity could be interesting, as the companies that have capital and are growing may look at adjacent places, where they see good value. Those are the opportunities that some of our (portfolio) companies are also looking at," said Mohla. "For many companies, it is an avenue for inorganic growth and expansion," he added.

The trend is evident in some of the acquisitions that have transpired so far in the first half of this year. Take the case of Pine Labs, which is leading the M&A list so far. It recently announced the acquisition of fintech infra provider Setu for their API (application programming interface) capabilities and to enable broader integration with open payment systems.

B Amrith Rau, chief executive officer of Pine Labs, said during the acquisition that Setu will add value to the merchant platform in terms of "embedded" financial services and open banking, which are going to be the way forward.

"Embedded finance market value is expected to exceed $138 billion by 2026 as APIs are intensifying the competitive fintech landscape," said Rau. "Setu helps their customers, merchants and brands build beautiful experiences, so consumers can engage with payments and financial services on their terms."

The edtech space also saw acquisitions. Even as the challenge of offline classes continues to play out, several players are expanding into new verticals to bring more offerings. upGrad acquired INSOFE to strengthen its data analytics courses. Infinity Learn acquired Wizklub to augment foundation skills courses for the K12 segment and Great Learning acquired Northwest to address the professional skilling segment for enterprise clients.

The biggest in terms of value and buzz was the Zomato-Blinkit M&A deal. This would give Zomato a presence in the quick commerce space. Among similar deals that allowed companies to expand their geographical footprint was OYO acquiring Direct Booker to strengthen its presence in Europe and Croatia.

The logistics space, too, has seen consolidation with the recent deal of Shiprocket acquiring Pickrr. This would also give Shiprocket access to technology and team allowing full stack creation of ecommerce enablement.

The Q2 start-up deal analysis report by Nasscom and PGA Labs said that the second half of 2022 will see further consolidation as established start-ups look for M&A opportunities at attractive valuation to increase market share.

M&A is not just an Indian start-up ecosystem phenomenon but is also evident across Asia.

According to KPMG's Q2 2022 Venture Pulse report, "M&A activity could get a boost heading into Q3'22 as investors and corporates look to take advantage of the lower valuation environment and tightening funding environment to find inorganic growth opportunities and opportunities to gain market share."

Health ministry plans targeted communication in districts with high number of cases

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 26 July

With six states reporting more than 1,000 daily Covid-19 cases on average, the Centre is now trying targeted communication there to improve vaccination coverage rapidly. There has already been a sharp rise in demand for precaution doses after July 15 when the Centre announced free precaution shots for all adults.

From a daily average of 4.7 lakh doses per day till July 15, the number of precaution shots went up to 20.4 lakh per day (from July 15 till date). The number of total vaccine doses has gone up from 12.3 lakh per day (till July 15) to 27 lakh per day (since July 15).

According to the health ministry, the coverage for precaution doses has gone up from 8 per cent (July 14) to 11 per cent (as of July 25) thanks to the "Amrit Mahotsav" campaign.

Kerala, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Odisha and Karnataka are reporting more than 1,000 average daily cases

The ministry on Tuesday said that Kerala, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Odisha and Karnataka are reporting more than 1,000 average daily cases. Kerala contributes 11.38 per cent of the national Covid-19 cases, while Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu contribute 10.6 per cent and 10.3 per cent respectively.

Acquisitions on the rise in the start-up world

Total acquisitions this year at 169 with average price at $90.2 million, a significant jump from 115 in the same period last year, according to Tracxn data

SHIVANI SHINDE & PEERZADA ABRAR
Mumbai/Bengaluru, 25 July

Large start-ups are looking for mergers and acquisitions as they diversify into newer spaces and add capacity at a time funding is under pressure and is in turn impacting on valuations.

The trend was evident in the first half of the CY22, too. According to an analysis by Tracxn for year-to-date (2022), the total acquisition stands at 169, with the average acquisition price at $90.2 million.

This is a significant jump as during the same period in CY2021 the total number of acquisitions touched 115 with the average acquisition price at $180 million, according to data from Tracxn. The full year (CY2021) saw a total of 244 acquisitions with the average acquisition price rising to $227 million.

The other reason for the mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity to pick up is that initial public offering seems to be taking a back seat with tech stocks getting hammered in India and globally, too.

Karan Mohla, partner, B Capital, a venture capital firm co-founded by Facebook co-founder Eduardo Luíz Saverin, said that although there was positive activity in the capital markets last year, this year there could be a lot of M&A action in the start-up ecosystem as companies are looking at inorganic ways to grow.

"I think the M&A activity could be interesting, as the companies that have capital and are growing may look at adjacent places, where they see good value. Those are the opportunities that some of our (portfolio) companies are also looking at," said Mohla. "For many companies, it is an avenue for inorganic growth and expansion," he added.

The trend is evident in some of the acquisitions that have transpired so far in the first half of this year. Take the case of Pine Labs, which is leading the M&A list so far. It recently announced the acquisition of fintech infra provider Setu for their API (application programming interface) capabilities and to enable broader integration with open payment systems.

The edtech space also saw acquisitions. Even as the challenge of offline classes continues to play out, several players are expanding into new verticals to bring more offerings. upGrad acquired INSOFE to strengthen its data analytics courses. Infinity Learn acquired Wizklub to augment foundation skills courses for the K12 segment and Great Learning acquired Northwest to address the professional skilling segment for enterprise clients.

The biggest in terms of value and buzz was the Zomato-Blinkit M&A deal. This would give Zomato a presence in the quick commerce space. Among similar deals that allowed companies to expand their geographical footprint was OYO acquiring Direct Booker to strengthen its presence in Europe and Croatia.

The logistics space, too, has seen consolidation with the recent deal of Shiprocket acquiring Pickrr. This would also give Shiprocket access to technology and team allowing full stack creation of ecommerce enablement.

The Q2 start-up deal analysis report by Nasscom and PGA Labs said that the second half of 2022 will see further consolidation as established start-ups look for M&A opportunities at attractive valuation to increase market share.

M&A is not just an Indian start-up ecosystem phenomenon but is also evident across Asia.

According to KPMG's Q2 2022 Venture Pulse report, "M&A activity could get a boost heading into Q3'22 as investors and corporates look to take advantage of the lower valuation environment and tightening funding environment to find inorganic growth opportunities and opportunities to gain market share."

Health ministry plans targeted communication in districts with high number of cases

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 26 July

With six states reporting more than 1,000 daily Covid-19 cases on average, the Centre is now trying targeted communication there to improve vaccination coverage rapidly. There has already been a sharp rise in demand for precaution doses after July 15 when the Centre announced free precaution shots for all adults.

From a daily average of 4.7 lakh doses per day till July 15, the number of precaution shots went up to 20.4 lakh per day (from July 15 till date). The number of total vaccine doses has gone up from 12.3 lakh per day (till July 15) to 27 lakh per day (since July 15).

According to the health ministry, the coverage for precaution doses has gone up from 8 per cent (July 14) to 11 per cent (as of July 25) thanks to the "Amrit Mahotsav" campaign.

The ministry on Tuesday said that Kerala, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Odisha and Karnataka are reporting more than 1,000 average daily cases. Kerala contributes 11.38 per cent of the national Covid-19 cases, while Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu contribute 10.6 per cent and 10.3 per cent respectively.

Lav Agarwal, joint secretary, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, said the Centre was keen on ensuring vaccination coverage, especially of precaution doses, picked up in areas where the rate of infection is high. "We have started targeted messaging to the districts and states where the caseload is high. This would help to increase our coverage for vaccines," he said.

As of July 25, 181 districts in India are reporting a weekly positivity rate of more than 10 per cent, and 107 districts are recording 5-10 per cent weekly positivity rate. Assam, West Bengal, Arunachal Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh have the highest number of districts with more than 10 per cent positivity rates.

The Centre has launched a 75-day free precaution dose campaign for all adults till the September-end. Agarwal said there was a certain amount of complacency among citizens about Covid-19 infection, and that they have let their guards down.

India has already covered 96 per cent of its population above 12 years with the first dose. For the second dose, the coverage is 88 per cent. However, the ministry noted that only 75.8 million precaution shots have been administered. The coverage is around 68 per cent for the second dose among the 15-18 year age cohort.

Progress in developing variant-proof vax

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 26 July

Switzerland's ExcellGene SA has announced its role in the recently approved consortium funding through the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations (CEPI) for co-developing a variant-proof coronavirus vaccine with India's Bharat Biotech.

The consortium is developing or designing a new vaccine concept that confers highly cross-reactive protection against numerous SARS-CoV-2 variants of concern as well as other betacoronaviruses. Betacoronaviruses are one of the four genera of coronaviruses — alpha, beta, gamma and delta. The natural reservoirs for betacoronaviruses are bats and rodents. There have been multiple betacoronavirus outbreaks in humans since the early 2000s.

Bharat Biotech CMD Krishna Ella said: "The global threat of SARS-CoV-2 is continuing with new infections over and over again, irrespective of prior infections or vaccinations. Thus, more applied research has to be done, both in laboratories... and in a company like ExcellGene, that can provide entirely new antigen concepts that combine insights into SARS-CoV-2 gained over the last two and a half years."

Assam, West Bengal, Arunachal Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh have the highest number of districts with more than 10 per cent positivity rates.

The Centre has launched a 75-day free precaution dose campaign for all adults till the September-end. Agarwal said there was a certain amount of complacency among citizens about Covid-19 infection, and that they have let their guards down.

India has already covered 96 per cent of its population above 12 years with the first dose. For the second dose, the coverage is 88 per cent. However, the ministry noted that only 75.8 million precaution shots have been administered. The coverage is around 68 per cent for the second dose among the 15-18 year age cohort.

Progress in developing variant-proof vax

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 26 July

Switzerland's ExcellGene SA has announced its role in the recently approved consortium funding through the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations (CEPI) for co-developing a variant-proof coronavirus vaccine with India's Bharat Biotech.

The consortium is developing or designing a new vaccine concept that confers highly cross-reactive protection against numerous SARS-CoV-2 variants of concern as well as other betacoronaviruses. Betacoronaviruses are one of the four genera of coronaviruses — alpha, beta, gamma and delta. The natural reservoirs for betacoronaviruses are bats and rodents. There have been multiple betacoronavirus outbreaks in humans since the early 2000s.

Bharat Biotech CMD Krishna Ella said: "The global threat of SARS-CoV-2 is continuing with new infections over and over again, irrespective of prior infections or vaccinations. Thus, more applied research has to be done, both in laboratories... and in a company like ExcellGene, that can provide entirely new antigen concepts that combine insights into SARS-CoV-2 gained over the last two and a half years."

Acquisitions on the rise in the start-up world

Total acquisitions this year at 169 with average price at $90.2 million, a significant jump from 115 in the same period last year, according to Tracxn data

SHIVANI SHINDE & PEERZADA ABRAR
Mumbai/Bengaluru, 25 July

Large start-ups are looking for mergers and acquisitions as they diversify into newer spaces and add capacity at a time funding is under pressure and is in turn impacting on valuations.

The trend was evident in the first half of the CY22, too. According to an analysis by Tracxn for year-to-date (2022), the total acquisition stands at 169, with the average acquisition price at $90.2 million.

This is a significant jump as during the same period in CY2021 the total number of acquisitions touched 115 with the average acquisition price at $180 million, according to data from Tracxn. The full year (CY2021) saw a total of 244 acquisitions with the average acquisition price rising to $227 million.

The other reason for the mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity to pick up is that initial public offering seems to be taking a back seat with tech stocks getting hammered in India and globally, too.

Karan Mohla, partner, B Capital, a venture capital firm co-founded by Facebook co-founder Eduardo Luíz Saverin, said that although there was positive activity in the capital markets last year, this year there could be a lot of M&A action in the start-up ecosystem as companies are looking at inorganic ways to grow.

"I think the M&A activity could be interesting, as the companies that have capital and are growing may look at adjacent places, where they see good value. Those are the opportunities that some of our (portfolio) companies are also looking at," said Mohla. "For many companies, it is an avenue for inorganic growth and expansion," he added.

The trend is evident in some of the acquisitions that have transpired so far in the first half of this year. Take the case of Pine Labs, which is leading the M&A list so far. It recently announced the acquisition of fintech infra provider Setu for their API (application programming interface) capabilities and to enable broader integration with open payment systems.

B Amrith Rau, chief executive officer of Pine Labs, said during the acquisition that Setu will add value to the merchant platform in terms of "embedded" financial services and open banking, which are going to be the way forward.

"Embedded finance market value is expected to exceed $138 billion by 2026 as APIs are intensifying the competitive fintech landscape," said Rau. "Setu helps their customers, merchants and brands build beautiful experiences, so consumers can engage with payments and financial services on their terms."

The edtech space also saw acquisitions. Even as the challenge of offline classes continues to play out, several players are expanding into new verticals to bring more offerings. upGrad acquired INSOFE to strengthen its data analytics courses. Infinity Learn acquired Wizklub to augment foundation skills courses for the K12 segment and Great Learning acquired Northwest to address the professional skilling segment for enterprise clients.

The biggest in terms of value and buzz was the Zomato-Blinkit M&A deal. This would give Zomato a presence in the quick commerce space. Among similar deals that allowed companies to expand their geographical footprint was OYO acquiring Direct Booker to strengthen its presence in Europe and Croatia.

The logistics space, too, has seen consolidation with the recent deal of Shiprocket acquiring Pickrr. This would also give Shiprocket access to technology and team allowing full stack creation of ecommerce enablement.

The Q2 start-up deal analysis report by Nasscom and PGA Labs said that the second half of 2022 will see further consolidation as established start-ups look for M&A opportunities at attractive valuation to increase market share.

M&A is not just an Indian start-up ecosystem phenomenon but is also evident across Asia.

According to KPMG's Q2 2022 Venture Pulse report, "M&A activity could get a boost heading into Q3'22 as investors and corporates look to take advantage of the lower valuation environment and tightening funding environment to find inorganic growth opportunities and opportunities to gain market share."

Free campaign lifted booster coverage: Govt

Health ministry plans targeted communication in districts with high number of cases

Mumbai, 26 July

With six states reporting more than 1,000 daily Covid-19 cases on average, the Centre is now trying targeted communication there to improve vaccination coverage rapidly. There has already been a sharp rise in demand for precaution doses after July 15 when the Centre announced free precaution shots for all adults.

From a daily average of 4.7 lakh doses per day till July 15, the number of precaution shots went up to 20.4 lakh per day (from July 15 till date). The number of total vaccine doses has gone up from 12.3 lakh per day (till July 15) to 27 lakh per day (since July 15).

According to the health ministry, the coverage for precaution doses has gone up from 8 per cent (July 14) to 11 per cent (as of July 25) thanks to the "Amrit Mahotsav" campaign.

Kerala, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Odisha and Karnataka are reporting more than 1,000 average daily cases

The ministry on Tuesday said that Kerala, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Odisha and Karnataka are reporting more than 1,000 average daily cases. Kerala contributes 11.38 per cent of the national Covid-19 cases, while Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu contribute 10.6 per cent and 10.3 per cent respectively.

Lav Agarwal, joint secretary, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, said the Centre was keen on ensuring vaccination coverage, especially of precaution doses, picked up in areas where the rate of infection is high. "We have started targeted messaging to the districts and states where the caseload is high. This would help to increase our coverage for vaccines," he said.

As of July 25, 181 districts in India are reporting a weekly positivity rate of more than 10 per cent, and 107 districts are recording 5-10 per cent weekly positivity rate. Assam, West Bengal, Arunachal Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh have the highest number of districts with more than 10 per cent positivity rates.

The Centre has launched a 75-day free precaution dose campaign for all adults till the September-end. Agarwal said there was a certain amount of complacency among citizens about Covid-19 infection, and that they have let their guards down.

India has already covered 96 per cent of its population above 12 years with the first dose. For the second dose, the coverage is 88 per cent. However, the ministry noted that only 75.8 million precaution shots have been administered. The coverage is around 68 per cent for the second dose among the 15-18 year age cohort.
