Industry Experts Welcome the Inter-Ministerial Task Force Initiative for Regulating Online Gaming

Mumbai, Industry players and experts believe that the constitution of the task force is in line with the Prime Minister's vision of making India's digital gaming sector a global power-

The online gaming industry's pursuit for a uniform regulatory framework and clarity on the legal paradigm finally bore fruit, as the government has set up an Inter-Ministerial Task Force aimed at regulating the Indian online gaming sector. The Chief Executive Officer of government's think tank NITI Aayog, as well as secretaries of 7 different ministries will constitute this panel. This decision from the government comes after taking the requests of the online gaming industry into con--sideration and working towards ersadicating the ambiguity this industry has been shrouded in up until now. This move has offered relief to the online gaming sector, which is enthused to see how the committee's work pans out. The online gaming sector in India has made some positive strides in the past few years despite several regulatory hurdles, making this decision a motivating milestone for them. According to a report by Boston Consulting Group, the mobile gaming market in India is set to touch $5billion by 2025 at a CAGR of 15%. The sector also brings a myriad of employment opportunities in several skilled areas to the table. Considering these factors, the online gaming industry has evidently fixated itself as a strong pillar to India's multi-trillion dollar

Ratnakar Shetty, Advisor, Federation of Indian Fantasy Sports stated, "The rapid growth of this industry has amounted to many positive trends but also a few untoward outcomes. A comprehensive, uniform, and progressive regulatory framework will not only proliferate the constructive trends, but also weed out the negative outcomes relating to over-indul-gence or financial losses.

This will ensure the indus-

Due to the lack of a standardised rulebook applicable to every part of the country, the thriving industry has stumbled upon different hurdles like umbrella bans, definition based misconceptions, etc. The Task Force will aim to tackle the legal discrepancies by studying global practices pertinent to online gaming, as well as

Indian online gaming sector. Thereafter, it will work on submitting a comprehensive report within 90 days, consisting of a thorough analysis of this paradigm as well as recommendations to build a concise framework to regulate it by easing business and compliance, levelling the playing field, and protecting gamers from inadvertent effects.
