Xmate Forays into Home Entertainment Category

Introduces a pair of Portable LED HD Projector - Luna & Luna 2.0

India, February 24, 2020: Xmate, the Digital and Consumer electronics brand, forays into the Home Entertainment Category with portable HD Projectors. With the multitude of media consumption and lifestyle changes, projectors have now become a product of day-to-day entertainment. Portable projectors are now exploring the realm beyond business presentations, including gaming, 3D and mobile device integration. Available in two variants, Luna and Luna 2.0, Xmate projectors offer smart features and functions that allow an extraordinary viewing experience on walls, ceilings and on any surface, be it for a corporate presentation, a movie or any other multimedia content.

Luna projectors combine smart features with elegant aesthetics making it a must-have Home Entertainment device for anyone.

Xmate Luna 2.0

Eliminating the boundaries of small screens, Luna 2.0 can turn your living room into a home theatre. Thanks to its Miracast function, which allows you to effortlessly broadcast any content from your phone to a big screen within minutes. With 2400 lumens of balanced colour and white brightness, you'll get great resolution, sharp colours, and perfect video play anywhere you go. This portable, lightweight LED display projector supports High Definition imagery with screen size ranging from 38" to 156", a 2000:1 image contrast ratio and up to 50000 hours of lens life. With 1920x1080p adaptive and 800x480px resolution of Luna 2.0 you can easily stream multimedia content from a TV stick or video game console with the help of HDMI input. The plug and play functions such as AV in/out, TF cards, USB, HDMI port and VGA port helps you effortlessly connect the device, anywhere, anytime. Additionally, this mini projector is small enough to pack into your computer bag (weighs only 1.02
