Bifocal Vision

Embracing the past.
Envisioning the future.

At Edelweiss, we embrace a bifocal vision that allows us to focus on our current goals while never losing sight of our future aspirations.

We are continually energised by the actions of the present while preserving excitement about future possibilities. Delivering on our quarterly objectives while remaining dedicated to the long-term strategy of value creation over the next five years defines our commitment. This outlook enables us to view the world through two distinct lenses: short-term and long-term, quality and quantity, internal and external, employees and customers, logic and emotion, profit and purpose. Although these perspectives may occasionally seem opposing, we recognise that striking a balance between them is not merely a skill but a deliberate choice, to which we are firmly committed.

Drawing inspiration from ancient architecture, we discover wisdom in the theme of the bifocal vision concept, where form and function, aesthetics and utility, art and science, tradition and modernity have converged to create marvels that have withstood the test of time, over centuries.

Representing the unmatched stone masonry skill of India's early medieval architecture is the Vatala Temple in Hampi, Karnataka. What makes these stone monuments fascinating is the artistic craftsmanship and a yet-unsolved mystery. Built for worship, the most baffling aspect is the group of 56 musical pillars in the complex. These musical pillars, divided into main and minor pillars, are also known as 'SA RE GA MA pillars', due to the musical notes produced by them when tapped gently.

— Hampi, Karnataka

Mahabodhi Temple

In the ancient city of Bodh Gaya, India, stands the magnificent Mahabodhi Temple, an embodiment of faith and devotion. The Bodhi tree, under which Lord Buddha attained enlightenment, is the highlight of the temple, drawing thousands of devotees every year to seek spiritual guidance and enlightenment. The temple's design embodies a bifocal approach with the Bodhi tree representing the physical world and the stupa symbolising the spiritual world. This iconic temple stands as a symbol of the harmony between man and nature, where spirituality and physicality intertwine. Its spiritual significance and architectural grandeur make it a true marvel and a testament to the rich cultural heritage of India.

Sindhudurg Fort

Built on an island in the Arabian Sea, the Sindhudurg fort is a result of the vision of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj and stands as a testament to the will and tenacity of the Maratha empire. It was designed to deter enemies and keep the people of the region safe, even in the most difficult times. Remarkably, the fort has endured the test of time for over 400 years, with its foundation still as strong as ever. This was achieved through the innovative use of materials, involving transporting thousands of tonnes of lead to the middle of the sea for use in the fort's foundation. Today, the Sindhudurg island-fort is not just a physical structure, but a symbol of the courage, perseverance, and strength that the people of India possess. It reminds us of the power of determination and the ability to overcome the toughest challenges.

Our Diversified Business Model

Edelweiss is committed to creating long-term shareholder value, and the approach involves creating businesses that are both legacy-driven and innovative. We strive to transform traditional businesses into modern and forward-thinking enterprises, while incubating and nurturing new-age ventures. Our focus is on building strong foundations and quality, so businesses can thrive and scale. By doing this, Edelweiss seeks to transform the landscape of business and make a positive impact on society.

Wholesale reduction was on track, ECFL Wholesale loan assets saw a reduction of ~40% in the year to ₹57 billion. We expect the momentum to continue with planned reduction of ~50% in FY24 to ₹30 billion.

Our Insurance businesses collected a combined premium of ₹22.28 billion and issued ~445,000 policies during the year. Both businesses have consistently outperformed industry growth rates and have been amongst the fastest growing companies. The Life Insurance business recorded gross premium growth of 15% YoY to ₹16.76 billion with its AUM growing 21% YoY to ₹66 billion. The performance of our General Insurance business was the second highest in the industry in terms of gross written premium (GWP), a growth of 53% YoY to ₹5.5 billion aided by a 31% increase in policies issued to ~388,000.

Our Customer Franchise also witnessed an increase with customer reach growing 36% YoY to 6.7 million and customer assets growing 16% YoY to ₹4.13 trillion. The growth is attributable to our steadfast focus on the retail segment by way of innovative product offerings and customer-centric processes. This also demonstrates the continued trust reposed in us by our customers.

Our businesses, structured under nine key entities, are well-capitalised, operationally autonomous with robust platforms and poised for growth. Economic tailwinds provided headroom for growth of each of our businesses. We will continue to fund and support these businesses on their journey to value creation. Robust equity, comfortable liquidity and agile operating platforms provide a solid foundation, as we confidently look forward to FY24 with optimism.

ALTERNATIVES

The business has had a robust year both in terms of scale and profitability. Our AUM increased 52% YoY to ₹465 billion and profit after tax saw a 3x jump YoY to ₹1.59 billion. We deployed nearly ₹70 billion which led to our fee-paying AUM increasing by 32% YoY. The business raised ₹140 billion during the year, of which >50% was sourced domestically. One of the key drivers of AUM growth was the funds raised in 2nd series fund of Infrastructure yield strategy and 3rd series fund of Special Situations strategy and the launch of AnZen InvIT and Rental Yield launched in Mar-23. In addition to the increasing fee paying AUM, onset of operating leverage was also a key driver for the rise in profitability and we expect incremental improvement in margins with economics of scale. Our vision, mission and values serve as the foundation for the organisation's strategic plan. These convey the purpose, direction and underlying values of Edelweiss. As a business, we aim to – 'Be the trusted and respected India alternative asset advisor, creating value for all stakeholders.'

Konark Sun Temple

Rising majestically from the golden sands of Konark in Odisha, the 13th-century Konark Sun Temple is an example of India's rich cultural heritage and architectural prowess. What makes this temple truly remarkable is its unique design, which is built in the shape of a chariot, with twelve pairs of intricately-carved wheels - a marvel of engineering and art. These wheels not only serve a decorative purpose but also function as sundials, accurately measuring time to the minute, both day and night. The Sun Temple is not only a place of worship dedicated to the Sun God, but is a perfect example of how religion and science can coexist.

Ajanta and Ellora Caves

The Ajanta and Ellora Caves are a true embodiment of India's rich heritage, showcasing the country's multifaceted nature. These caves are more than just historical structures and stand as a testament to the cultural, social, and religious significance of India while offering a unique insight into the country's past. The Ajanta Caves' arts offer a glimpse into the past through a variety of lenses, including gender studies; history, sociology, and anthropology. The art showcases the lifestyle of both the elite and common man, illuminating the lives of people in India around the mid-1st millennium CE. In contrast, the Ellora Caves are a set of 34 rock-cut Buddhist, Jain, and Hindu temples and monasteries that were constructed between 350 and 700 AD. The caves provide a contrast and perspective between the austere and ascetic life of monks and the opulent and luxurious lifestyle of the royalty and the rich. This contrast highlights the fusion of varying needs in the social strata, and the interplay between the spiritual and the social.

Rani Ki Vav

Rani Ki Vav in Patan, Gujarat is a 900-year-old UNESCO world heritage site that exemplifies the ingenuity of ancient Indian architecture. The temple's seven levels of stairs feature beautiful mythological and religious carvings, but it's the water storage tank on the fourth level that sets it apart. Queen Udaymati's brilliant solution to address the water scarcity in the region, ensured that people could access water during their visit to the temple, and the tank's four-level depth prevented it from drying up quickly in the summer. Rani Ki Vav is a stunning example of a structure that combines both form and function.

Chairman's Letter

FY23 was a year of whirlwind change and challenges for the global economy. We witnessed a series of significant events, starting with a global economic revival and the return to complete normalcy after recovering from the pandemic. This gave the world a glimmer of hope for a strong fiscal year ahead. However, this uptick remained short-lived and was overshadowed by the economic volatility that has characterised much of this fiscal period.

The Year Gone by – Volatility, War, Inflation and an Inverted Yield Curve

The global economic landscape experienced unprecedented volatility during FY23. The year began with the rallying of the US dollar to an all-time high, only to reverse all its gains by the end of the fiscal year. Gold prices reached record levels, bond yields remained elevated, and the yield curve was inverted. Most major advanced economies showed signs of a looming recession, with significant concerns over the Eurozone.

Amidst all these challenges in the global scenario, India emerged as a bright spot. According to World Bank's report, India's growth continues to be resilient despite macroeconomic headwinds and the country remains largely unaffected by the global environment. This decoupling can in parts be attributed to our local demand cycle which displays a slightly different cadence from global demand. During the year, India's composite Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) reached a 13-year high, Consumer Price Index (CPI) touched an 18-month low and Wholesale Price Index (WPI) hit a 3-year low. The 10-year Government Securities yield has fallen below 7% after 13 months and Goods and Services Tax (GST) collections recorded the highest monthly collection in April.

India also entered the league of the top five global economies surpassing the United Kingdom and has defied all odds to become the fastest growing economy; a matter of immense pride for all of us. I can say that in my long career I have not seen a better economic environment in India as we are seeing now – A new dawn is on the horizon as India enters its Amrit Kaal, and is poised to become Vishwaguru.

I can say that in my long career I have not seen a better economic environment in India as we are seeing now - India is poised for growth.

FY23 at Edelweiss – The Year Gone by and Where We Stand Today

At Edelweiss, the year was steady with its fair share of things that went well, and some things that require more work. This year has also been an inflection year as we continue our journey towards becoming more retail and asset-light with steadfast delivery on our key focus areas.

What went well...

Our first value unlock now stands complete! A process we began back in 2021, is now at the final leg of the journey. In the year, we received all necessary approvals to complete the demerger, subsequently allot Nuvama share to our Shareholders and now are at the cusp of listing. This was one of our key focus areas, given our strong belief in value creation and its subsequent unlocking at opportune moments. The process has now become a flagbearer of our value unlock philosophy which focusses on a principle of "win-win-win", for all stakeholders involved.

This has been the year of significant growth and scale-up for our Asset Management business.

Our Alternatives business recorded a 52% YoY growth in its assets under management (AUM); maintaining and furthering its dominant position in the Indian Alternatives space. Our deployments grew 75% YoY leading to a 32% growth in fee-paying assets under management (FPAUM). The business also saw new fund launches with our maiden privately-listed Energy InvIT and acquisition of road and transmission assets from L&T Infrastructure Development Projects, deepening our investment in real assets. The robust performance, scale and onset of operating leverage has led to its PAT tripling in the year.

Our Mutual Fund business now ranks #12 with its AUM crossing the 1 lakh crore milestone to reach ₹1,05,000 crores. Market share also improved by 45 bps to 2.61%. The business has seen its AUM more than triple and its folios nearly quadruple in the past 3 years. The year also saw launches of some unique funds like our first-of-a-kind Gold and Silver ETF. We are positive that the Asset Management business is poised for a significant growth runway ahead and are on the path of being our key profitability drivers for the future.

Our Insurance business followed the lead, with their collective premiums up 22% YoY. Our Life Insurance business achieved an Embedded Value break-even, a year ahead of plan. This is a key milestone on the path to profitability. The business also saw its individual APE cross the ₹500 crores mark, a 20% YoY improvement. Our General Insurance business, now called Zuno General Insurance, recorded the highest gross direct premium income (GPD) growth amongst GI players and saw consistent growth in focus segments of Motor & Health of 52% and 56% respectively.

What needs more work...

One of our key focus for the year was to reduce our wholesale assets. This year, we achieved a ~40% reduction in our ECLF wholesale assets to ₹5,700 crores. Although we exceeded the planned target, we feel there is scope to further increase the pace. We have been evaluating newer strategies to this end and will see them playing out going ahead. We are targeting to take this down to ₹3,000 crores, i.e., a ~50% reduction hereon, by FY24.

Along with reduction of wholesale credit, scaling our retail credit businesses is a priority. Our retail credit franchise focusses on MSME & Mortgages and is designed to be inherently asset-light. We are in the process of stabilising co-lending partnerships and emphasising the generation of a high-quality loan book. Although progress has been slower than anticipated, we remain committed to this strategic priority.

Being Bifocal

We discussed global macros earlier and saw the impact of increased volatility on the world at large. However, this isn't the first crisis nor is it the last. The world has the innate ability to emerge stronger, like we saw in the case of the pandemic as well. Hence, what's important is to view the current situation not only from a lens "short-term immediate impact" but extend the horizon and see "long-term eventual outcome view".

Someone is sitting in the shade today because someone planted a tree a long time ago.

- Warren Buffett

Being Bifocal means to have both the short and the long-term horizon in mind.

Economic uncertainty and crisis also require policymakers to address both the immediate effects of the crisis and the long-term issues that led to it. A bifocal view can ensure sustainable growth by avoiding excess emphasis on short-term gains that may lead to long-term instability.

The global economy is no stranger to volatility, uncertainty, and fear. Throughout history, we have witnessed cycles of prosperity and crisis, with each downturn paving the way for a stronger rebound. Notable instances like the crises of 1991, 1997, 2008, and 2020 underscore this phenomenon.

In 1991, India faced a severe balance of payments crisis. There were some immediate measures implemented to stabilise the economy which included financial assistance from the IMF, curbing of unnecessary imports, and devaluing the rupee. However, bold reforms like liberalisation of the economy, privatisation & deregulation of industry and implementing financial sector reforms kept the long-term horizon in mind. This combination led to an immediate economic stability coupled with long-term growth. We saw similar efforts during the Asian Financial Crisis of 1997 and the Global Financial Crisis of 2008. India's diversified economy, robust domestic demand and continued economic reforms helped India quickly rebound and maintain its steady growth.

Most recently, the COVID-19 Pandemic in 2020 brought unprecedented challenges to India's economy. India took immediate steps like lockdowns and healthcare infrastructure measures to contain the spread. At the same time, it also swiftly started to look at a long-term solution which culminated into an indigenously developed vaccine and the world's largest vaccination drive. Not only did India leverage digital to ensure seamless access of vaccines to its billion people, but also provided the same to other countries, aiding the global efforts. Immediate healthcare measures amplified by efforts to boost manufacturing and long-term demand, led to a new digital India emerging on the global stage.

In capital markets, specifically in technical analysis, one well-known theory is the Elliott Wave Theory developed by Ralph Nelson Elliott (1871–1948). According to this theory, the market moves in repetitive patterns called waves, where a peak is followed by a trough, and this cycle repeats itself. Drawing a parallel to economic movements, it is observed that the economic scenario also seems to move in a similar wave-like pattern, oscillating between periods of prosperity and crisis. Just as in technical analysis, where analysts look at the long-term trend of the market and understand that the cycles lead to a long-term trend. In life as well, it is crucial to keep our long-term trend and trajectory upwards and not be deterred by short-term gyrations. With this understanding, every trough or downturn can be viewed as an opportunity rather than a setback.

India stands as a unique testament to the power of a bifocal view. It's a country that keeps both optimists and pessimists happy, thanks to its intriguing contradictions.

The Indian Economic Paradox

India ranks among the top economies in terms of GDP size, boasting immense scale and potential. However, it grapples with very low per capita income, revealing a stark inequality. A bifocal view demands policymakers address this disparity while harnessing the nation's economic prowess.

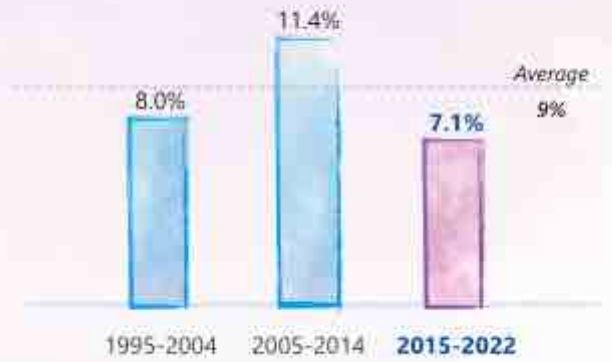

Short-term Volatility vs. Long-term Stability

India's economic landscape is characterised by short-term volatility, influenced by various internal and external factors. Yet, beneath the surface fluctuations, the country has displayed remarkable long-term stability, consistently progressing despite challenges.

GDP growth had been impacted in the recent times

Stable and predictable in the long term

Political maturity at 75 vs. Economic youth at 25

India's political landscape has matured over the years, with a robust democratic system. However, its economic journey is relatively young.

Contradictions like these warrant us to keep a bifocal view. While we look at the short term, we must keep the long-term horizon in mind. As they say, "In India, things always work out in the Long Run – but never in the Short Run!"

Being Bifocal at Edelweiss - It All Boils Down to Choices

Strategy is about making choices, tradeoffs;
It's about deliberately choosing to be different.

- Michael Porter

At Edelweiss, adopting a bifocal perspective involved making certain strategic short-term choices that contribute to long-term resilience and quality growth.

In the past years, our focus has been on becoming asset-light, scaling our portfolio of businesses and marching toward being truly diversified. Our journey on these began in 2019, and we have made progress on many fronts. However, we still view this as work in progress.

Being asset-light is a key strategic priority for us. We believe it helps an organisation to maintain long-term financial resilience. We have made significant progress on this front since FY19. Our Balance Sheet size has reduced more than 50% over the past 4 years, chiefly driven by a 60% reduction in wholesale assets and a 55% reduction in our consolidated debt. Going ahead, the scale-up in our retail business will also follow our asset-light principles by adopting a co-lending-based partnership model to drive its AUM growth.

We have also been focussing on the growth of our portfolio of businesses. Our Asset Management AUM is 4x over FY19; driven by a 6x growth in our Mutual Fund AUM and 2.5x growth in our Alternatives AUM. Our Insurance businesses have also seen robust growth. Our Life Insurance premiums have doubled over FY19, and our General Insurance premiums are currently 5x over the same period.

FY19	FY23	FY19	FY23	FY19	FY23	FY19	FY23
17,500	1,05,000	19,600	46,500	885	1,676	104	552
⤴ 6x		⤴ 2.5x		⤴ 2x		⤴ 5x

Our march towards becoming truly diversified began back in 2019. Although we were diversified even back then, our PAT was concentrated with nearly 60% coming from credit. Over time, we worked towards improving our earnings distribution. As we stand today, our credit concentration is down only to 20%, the remaining coming from our Asset Reconstruction, Mutual Fund and Alternatives businesses. By FY26, we aim to have a well-diversified earnings pool with no business contributing more than 20% - 25% to our bottom line; making us truly diversified and even more resilient. Our businesses have shown healthy profitability in recent years. Our ex-Insurance PAT grew 51% YoY on the back of a 164% YoY PAT growth in our Asset Management businesses, 26% in our Asset Reconstruction business and 38% in our Credit businesses. Going ahead, we see this momentum continuing.

Apart from the strategic focus areas mentioned above, a common theme that runs across is retail orientation. Going ahead, a strong retail portfolio is what we are working towards, and all our business pivots, strategic shifts and key focus areas lead us to it. Further, the retail contribution will also lead to more earnings predictability given its portfolio granularity. This retail orientation also means that we are focussed on constant improvement in the quality of the businesses we are building. To this end, we have prioritised on improving customer experience by innovating our offerings and increasing digitisation for a more seamless access to such offerings. As a case in point, our efforts have led to an improvement of our 13-month persistency in our Life Insurance business from the nearabout of 50% to 75% in the past 8 years. Significant digital issuance and overall customer satisfaction has also led to an improving NPS score in Insurance businesses to 58 in General Insurance and 54 for Life Insurance from the nearabout of 40 some years back. We have seen a similar phenomenon in our Mutual Fund business, which has seen an improvement in its rank from being # 20 in 2019 to # 12 today.

The rapid rise of our customer franchise is also a testament to the quality of our businesses and quality in their offerings & services. Our Customer Reach has grown nearly 6x over 2019 to nearly 7 million now. Key businesses contributing to this stupendous increase are General Insurance, Life Insurance and our Mutual Fund business – all wherein elements of innovation and digitisation had been implemented. In our Alternatives business, we saw upsizing by existing investors with more than a third being repeat customers, demonstrating their trust.

Going ahead, we shall continue our unwavering commitment towards building quality businesses and will keep updating you on the progress we've made at regular intervals.

Learning from the Past, Preparing for the Future

As we turn 28, we reflect on the past to learn from history; and create an evolved vision for the future.

In the past 28 years, we have demonstrated expertise in building businesses and creating value. Our ability to effectively allocate capital and efficiently organise management teams has led to building India's top Wealth Management practice, India's dominant Alternative business and India's leading ARC. Further, both our General Insurance and Mutual Fund business are top quartile performers in their industries and our Life Insurance business demonstrates franchise quality which surpasses the industry quality benchmarks at a similar vintage. As we go ahead, our steadfast focus will continue to be on creating more value for our shareholders, who have supported us in our journey that has nearly spanned three decades.

Yet, I am learning

- Michelangelo at the age of 87.

However, the beauty of life is that we never stop learning and as we progress, what we also learned is that it's not only important to build businesses, it is also equally important to make them independent and provide them with the wings they require to fly and further scale. We learnt that the next level of business growth gets fuelled by providing the businesses with the flexibility to attract business-specific capital and the necessary partnerships – which became the basis for our win-win-win philosophy for value unlock! Value unlocking is as important as value creation and we strive to execute it in a manner to benefit all the stakeholders involved – Shareholder, Business and Edelweiss.

However, this approach requires an important mindset shift, of not letting ownership get in the way of business growth or its need for further capital. This approach required a singular focus on continuous and ongoing value creation. The most recent example of how we've practised this philosophy was in the value unlock of Nuvama Wealth Management, which we have spoken at length in the past year and even earlier in the letter. We also exercised a similar outcome in our Insurance Broking business where we understood the business would derive more value going ahead with our partner, Arthur J. Gallagher. Partnerships have always been a core tenet of the Edelweiss' growth journey.

Given, we identify value creation and value unlock as the key pillars to growing shareholder value in the long run, we would also need to evolve to ensure this cycle goes ahead effectively and efficiently. Our evolution would then be guided by becoming an enabling platform for driving future growth. The foundations of which lie in structural simplicity and financial resilience; areas which have been our key focus for the past couple of years. Going ahead, we see ourselves evolving from a parent of subsidiaries to an investor in a portfolio of companies. We see ourselves evolving from being a holding company to an efficient capital allocator and value provider to its portfolio of companies which are designed to fly from their nest and create their own destinies at opportune moments. This evolution resonates with our core philosophical tenets and enables us to focus and further our demonstrated strength of creating and opportunistically unlocking such value which provides long-term growth.

India is also Learning from the Past and is Focussing on Creating the Right Business Environment

In the recent years, India has relooked at its past to create history! India has implemented wide-ranging reforms which will have compounding effects lasting decades. Key areas which these reforms have been targeted towards are – Technology & Innovation, Infrastructure, Capital Flow and Governance.

India has recognised the power of technology innovations in the hands of relentless founders who have the innate ability to organising resources to create disruptive and disproportionate impact on the lives of many.

Number of start-ups

Number of incubators

The use of technology has also been to improve delivery of social benefits by using the India Stack. The implementation of the United Payment Interface has been revolutionary and has given the country a digitally-backed financial backbone, waiting to be disrupted.

UPI transactions (launched in 2016)

Direct benefit transfer

There also has been a large capex investment to improve the infrastructure of the country. India now has the second largest road network in the world. Various initiatives like National Infrastructure Pipeline, Bharatmala Programme amongst others have shown good results:

Road Network

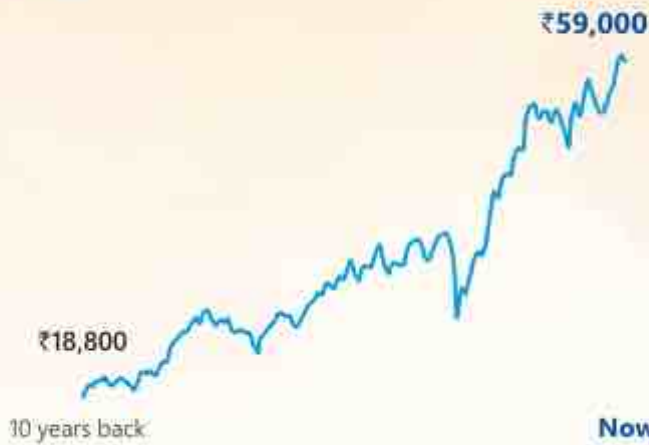

Port Capacity

The flow of capital, or rather the restriction on the same, was a big challenge for the country. Reforms made to ease the flow have had a great impact on the buoyancy and depth of the capital markets.

Sensex

FDI Inflows

Governance was an area that needed attention. Today, there is a robust and simplified indirect tax system, improvements in the labour code and impetus on providing a domiciled manufacturing base for the country.

India has truly relooked at itself to redefine its growth trajectory. The outcome of the rapid progress and more inclusive development as evidenced in the rising per-capita income and declining below poverty line population.

Per Capita Income

Below Poverty Line Population

In addition to this, a big change was brought about for India's perception on the global stage. India's ease of business ranking improved from # 134 in 2014 to # 63 in 2020. India now ranks # 40 in the Global Innovation Index rankings (2022); a jump of 8 positions from 2020. All in all, India has taken a good view in the past to recognise and redefine itself and is marching towards its future.

Looking Ahead - India, on its Ascent

India is on track to become the 3rd largest economy by 2030. India has truly entered its golden age of compounding and has 4 key factors working in its favour – its significant size, a digital push, democratised entrepreneurship, and demographic dividend which will keep creating momentum for decades to come!

It took India approximately 46 years to reach its 1st $ trillion in GDP; 8 years for its 2nd and 7 years for its 3rd (including a full brunt of the pandemic). History suggests, India takes approximately 7 to 9 years to double its GDP. Going by this trend, we would comfortably be around the $ 40 trillion mark by 2040, a target we all should contribute towards.

A growth rate above 6% in the current global cycle for a large economy like India is no easy feat. India is probably the only large country that has truly leveraged digital. The digital transformation is further amplified by data prices which are by far the cheapest in the world. Easily accessible affordable data has created an environment where everything today can be done on your smartphone, something not many countries can boast of!

In India, digital is big. We have over 1 billion cellular connections and ~700 million internet users. Digital initiatives are making transacting in India easier than ever before. It's the sheer scale of India that makes India difficult, if not impossible, to ignore. Indians are now ~14% of global internet users, ~18% of global population and our GDP is ~3.3% of the global GDP.

In all of India's progress, the one achievement that has my heart is the democratisation of entrepreneurship that we have seen in the recent years. As an entrepreneur, it gives me immense joy to see the burning entrepreneurial spirit in more Indians, specially beyond the metros. ~50% of all recognised start-ups in India are from tier II and tier III cities. It's a matter of great pride that once seen as the remote rural part of the country, is now becoming a hotbed for disruption. India's odyssey is a long one, augmented by its young demographics – India is amongst the only few large economies with more than 65% of its population in the working age.

Like we discussed earlier, simplicity and resilience were key strategic focal points for us in the recent past. As we stand today, we are far simpler – our entity count has reduced by 30% from our peak of 2016 and is now at 24 entities. Our balance sheet remains robust with comfortable liquidity and well-capitalised businesses.

We see technology to be a big enabler for us, all our portfolio businesses are working towards incorporating technology to improve user experience and increase delivery efficiency – our digital lending platform in credit will help to improve underwriting efficiency, SWITCH app in general insurance enables customers to take control of their premiums.

Our Alternatives business, which is now well-scaled and capital-efficient, ties in well with India's growth story. India is currently making rapid development in infrastructure. Our focus on investing in high-yielding real assets provides a pathway as well as a platform for private capital towards such infrastructure needs. Our digital-first platforms in General Insurance, Life Insurance and Mutual Fund provide innovative products and offerings seamlessly at your fingertips. Additionally, we will focus on growing our retail businesses which serve and support India's demographics and their aspirations. Our credit businesses now fully focus on MSME and Affordable housing, themes we feel tie in with India's future needs. Staying true to our asset-light philosophy, we will spearhead the scale-up using a co-lending model with partners across the banking ecosystem. We have multiple industry firsts to our name and going ahead, we will continue our journey, sprinkled with innovation.

All in all, we are well poised to ride the tailwinds of the India growth story with our portfolio of retail-focussed businesses and will continue our value creation journey.

Yours sincerely,

Rakesh Shah

They consciously take the effort to recognise and mitigate any unconscious bias and propagate fair and equal treatment in their daily workings. Inclusion is also woven into leadership agendas and dialogues by design and reinforced as part of our culture. It was further accentuated during the pandemic crisis wherein leader connect series, senior leader huddles and regular townhalls enabled two-way communication at organisation and business levels.

Inclusive policies and working practices

BUILDING CREDIBLE PARTNERSHIPS

In addition to providing grants to our NGO partners, we also invest our energy in sourcing and managing funding from institutions, individuals and corporate associates. This collaboration assists both partners—NGOs and funders—to diversify their outreach and impact.

EdelGive believes in a collaborative philanthropy approach and is currently engaged in six collaborative initiatives:

THE COLLABORATORS FOR TRANSFORMING EDUCATION

In 2016, EdelGive launched The Collaborators for Transforming Education (CTE) as a public-private partnership with the Department of School Education and Sports (DSES), Government of Maharashtra, and facilitated by the EdelGive Foundation. Through this coalition, EdelGive intends to solve the multifaceted problems of education by bringing reforms at a systemic level to elevate learning. Initially, the programme that started with 4 districts in Maharashtra, was expanded to 7 districts, with multiple funders and three non-profit organisations (NPOs), reaching over 1 million children in seven years

The Collaborators has established itself as a trusted brand for government stakeholders at all levels as reflected on various occasions. For example, EdelGive best practices are shared with the central government and within and outside the states as also with UNICEF and the World Bank. The Government of Maharashtra has signed an extended MoU with EdelGive Foundation up to 2026 with the provision to expand the programme across Maharashtra.

THE COALITION FOR WOMEN'S EMPOWERMENT

Driven by its conviction in the systems thinking approach that the sum is greater than its parts—EdelGive launched The Coalition for Women's Empowerment (CWE) in 2019, by bringing together funding organisations and grassroots organisations as collaborative stakeholders, united by a common mission to facilitate social and economic empowerment of women and girls in India. The coalition is currently supported by Ford Foundation, Chintu Gudiya Foundation, Forbes Marshall and David and Lucile Packard Foundation. The coalition focuses on providing 360-degree support to grassroots organisations through enabling funding for critical rights-based programmes that are often under-invested, and by investing additionally in institution building for improved effectiveness and efficiency. Insights and learnings from the interventions supported through CWE, have also informed EdelGive's other initiatives for enabling women's empowerment including the UdyamStree campaign for promoting entrepreneurship by women in India.

INDIA CLIMATE COLLABORATIVE

The learnings from both our ongoing coalitions have inspired and enabled EdelGive Foundation to become a core partner in the India Climate Collaborative (ICC), a first of its kind initiative that brings together India's leading philanthropies to address the increasingly pressing climate crisis in India. EdelGive Foundation contributes to ICC its years of rich experience of working with organisations with a deep penetration at the grassroots, and enhanced technical expertise. With an integrated and holistic understanding of the development space through the climate lens, the partnership aims to work towards promoting ecological balance through a co-benefits approach. Eminent global philanthropies like MacArthur Foundation, Bloomberg Philanthropies, Oak Foundation, Good Energies, IKEA Foundation, to name a few, have extended their support to this alliance. We have launched a multi-year Just Transitions (JT) India Programme, with funding support from IKEA Foundation. The programme intends to raise India's climate ambition while ensuring social and economic inclusion, backed by national momentum and a strong, connected JT ecosystem in India. Three priority sectors designated for this programme are: energy, mobility and land use.

In 2020, amidst the COVID-19 pandemic, EdelGive became a strategic partner to the Migrants Resilience Collaborative (MRC)—an initiative by one of our partners in the investee portfolio - Jan Sahas. The MRC is a multi-stakeholder collaboration that brings together non-profit, philanthropic, and private sector enterprises focused on ensuring safe and responsible recovery of migrant families and their livelihoods in India, post COVID-19. PAY-WHAT-IT-TAKES INITIATIVE

In 2020, EdelGive joined the Pay-What-It-Takes initiative, a multi-year project that intends to work to raise awareness, provide strategic guidance and collaborate with NGOs to solicit their inputs on building a resilient non-profit sector in India. The initiative is led by The Bridgespan Group and EdelGive in addition to five anchor partners: A.T.E. Chandra Foundation (ATECF), Children's Investment Fund Foundation (CIFF), Ford Foundation, and Omidyar Network India. EDELGIVE HURUN INDIA PHILANTHROPY LIST AND REPORT 2022

Hurun India and EdelGive will release the 9th annual ranking of the most generous individuals in India. EdelGive Foundation has partnered with Hurun India towards creating this list and report, to understand and acknowledge philanthropy in India from a data and evidence point of view. Through this report, we aim to highlight the strength of the social sector and access areas which require further growth.

THE GROW (Grassroots, Resilience, Ownership and Wellness) FUND

The GROW initiative was conceived to address the crisis faced by NGOs, who were primarily shouldering the costs of acting as the first responders for communities devastated during the pandemic. Moving forward, the GROW Fund has been redesigned to influence the philanthropic ecosystem in favour of grant making that supports non-profit resilience and sustainability in addition to programmatic outcomes. We are happy to share that by the end of the second year, the programme had successfully supported 100 NGOs in their efforts to strengthen non-programmatic areas of organisations. The cohort received assistance for the following activities:

sustaining and expanding operations with support provided to cover core expenses

upskilling of core staff in identified domains through training on capability building providing need-based support for organisational development

In the past year the GROW team conducted orientations for NGO cohorts on the nature of the GROW grant, finalised their budget for a grant period of two years for non-programmatic expenditure, disbursed tranche 1 and tranche 2 of the grant, conducted capacity building sessions in identified domains of technology, finance, human resource and risk management besides selecting 25 NGOs for organisational development.

The organisational development (OD) facilitates quarterly discussions and tracks NGO's growth in their respective OD journey. Through organisational development, the GROW team conducts one on one mentoring sessions with NGOs to understand its challenges and accordingly develops a respective capacity building matrix. Additionally, a website audit was conducted for NGOs to guide and support them to enhance website performance by transforming it from a source of information to being an optimal marketing tool. The capacity building initiatives have noted considerable results in the domain of fund raising and communication.

The programme partnered with agencies like Social Lens, Grant Thornton and BSG to support activities including efforts in capacity building, devising an organisational development framework, grant management, NGO engagement and developing the in-house software Lumos to streamline programme implementation.

The GROW team has established a system of quarterly progress reviews. The review frameworks capture linkages between different variables affecting the progress of NGOs in non-programmatic domains and their quarterly progress on different indicators derived from the results matrix. This system allows process streamlining and ensures scalability. It also ascertains result-based monitoring and reporting. This review system has enabled the generation of three quarterly progress reports.

All of GROW's 100 NGOs were showcased in the above creative for the launch

The progress reports are a by-product of the quarterly reports submitted by each NGO in the cohort. The quarterly progress reports aim to capture an NGO's progression through the GROW fund and identify learnings, insights and achievements in addition to the way forward.

In the past year, regular and systemic capacity building sessions, organisational development initiatives and on-time financial support has enabled NGOs resilience and sustainability. The GROW fund envisages to be a platform through which NGOs may unleash their potential to create enormous grassroots impact.

The GROW Funders Committee meeting was organised twice during the year in September 2022 and February 2023. The forum was an opportunity to share the NGOs GROW journey and to create a platform for collaborative thinking on the narrative and future growth of GROW.

To conclude the financial year and celebrate the first year anniversary of GROW (GROW Diwas), zone wise cluster interactions were organised. Senior leaders from the cohort NGOs shared their experience and feedback with the GROW fund team.

UDYAMSTREE – A NATIONAL CAMPAIGN TO PROMOTE WOMEN ENTREPRENEURSHIP

UdyamStree is an initiative by EdelGive Foundation, to promote entrepreneurship as a key driver for women's economic empowerment in India. Committed to bridge the economic gender gap through collective action and engagement across stakeholder groups, UdyamStree works towards creating a conducive environment for women entrepreneurs in India to prosper. It works to strengthen the ecosystem and support women's entrepreneurship, increase stakeholder participation in the promotion of women entrepreneurship, and raise awareness on the need for women's entrepreneurship. The campaign was implemented to unlock the prospects of entrepreneurship and sustainable livelihood among women while attempting to engage with the corporate sector, bureaucracy and government infrastructure for a systemic facilitation.

In April 2021, EdelGive Foundation launched the 'Landscape Study on Women Entrepreneurship' – a flagship initiative under the UdyamStree campaign. The study offers insights into the multifaceted challenges women face during their entrepreneurial journeys and how policy implementation, advocacy and multi-stakeholder groups can serve to support these women in overcoming the obstacles. The study with 1235 women across 13 states of India, was conducted with key government stakeholders including NITI Aayog, MoWCD and MRD in addition to industry leaders.

Considering the range of stakeholders and the numerous channels of communication accessed through the campaign, UdyamStree has clearly influenced multiple stakeholders, who have, in turn, created a dialogue to position entrepreneurship as a prominent enabler of women's empowerment.

The following are the key impacts of UdyamStree:

2800 women were educated on government schemes and Yojanas in 4 districts, of which 2040 women received benefits under relevant schemes and loans with a collective value of over ₹26 lakhs were disbursed. We collaborated with 6 partners to ensure delivery of government schemes on women entrepreneurship at the grassroots level.

27 national and regional media publications expressed interest to promote the cause of women entrepreneurship through nearly 300 media stories in the form of articles, opinion pieces, media interviews, beneficiary stories and leadership thoughts. Effectuated a readership of over 27 lakhs via 25 opinion editorials, 10 interviews, 16 beneficiary stories and more than 65 press releases. The campaign gathered further momentum when 20 media and social media influencers supported the cause of women-led businesses on various media platforms through roundtable discussions, co-authored pieces and motivational videos.

The hashtag #PyaarToSmallVyapaar had a potential reach of 124,000 viewers. More than 90 small businesses reached out through social media for their business promotions. Support from social media influencers received more than 2 lakhs views.

Collaborated with Haqdarshak to translate 300 central and state government schemes into multilingual content, which is now accessible on Haqdarshikas app.

Dialogues held with seven key legislative advocates (MPs & MLAs) to build awareness and create champions for the campaign cause in the aftermath of the pandemic.

Partnered with two government institutions to build government partnership and amplify the awareness of industry bodies and government stakeholders including FICCI and Maharashtra State Education Department. We partnered with FICCI on building synergies among the various interventions planned between EdelGive's UdyamStree campaign and FICCI's Greater 50 campaign, that worked to create a conducive ecosystem to foster women entrepreneurship through multi-stakeholder engagements. We partnered with the State Education Department of Maharashtra to conduct a leadership dialogue featuring industry stalwarts to boost enterprise development among school children especially young girls in the state with an objective to sensitise young minds about entrepreneurship as a viable career option.

EDELGIVE-FICCI MOU SIGNING

A joint approach to boost women entrepreneurship in India

Engagements of 20+ social media influencers who have spoken about UdyamStree, or liked, shared and supported the posts. In collaboration with popular influencers like Prajakta Koli, Aanchal Agrawal and Deepika Mhatre, we tipped our grateful hats to women-led small businesses and encouraged people to be #VocalForLocal. These videos accumulated 708,000 impressions and more than 230,000 views. Additionally, a Bollywood series was undertaken to utilise iconic moments in popular culture and famous dialogues, in line with aspects which we wished to amplify, under the project.

Amplified public awareness generated through media by disseminating press releases to announce the partnership which garnered a reach of more than 1 crore. We partnered with Bookletpedia, a not-for-profit that designs contextual information, education and communication (IEC) materials, to generate awareness around government schemes that women entrepreneurs can leverage.

Partnered with two community radios—Radio Seven in Jaipur and Radio Vishwas in Nashik to enhance the understanding of government schemes among women entrepreneurs in Rajasthan and Maharashtra.

WOMEN IN LEADERSHIP

Women in Leadership (WIL) is an initiative that aims to spotlight the presence of women in leadership positions in India's private sector, with a strong emphasis on women working in economics, finance, and social enterprise. It also seeks to utilise a primary data driven campaign to generate dialogues, to amplify and encourage mentorship and bring together multiple stakeholders to address the need for more women in leadership. The project is part of a bigger consortium of social sector entities that will focus on women in leadership positions in different sectors within the private sector. The larger project will bring out the disablers in the ecosystem that hinder women's empowerment, which is expected to influence and impact the larger private sector ecosystem to adopt practices and processes that enable and strengthen women's leadership within organisations.

EdelGive's WIL initiative will take shape as a continuation to UdyamStree but with a focus on the private sector. The UdyamStree campaign pointed out the knowledge gap, as only 1% of the women surveyed had benefitted from existing government schemes primarily because only 9% of them were aware about these schemes. Raising awareness and receiving support from the ecosystem is key even in the private sector. Available research indicates that the status of women in leadership across all sectors in India has been abysmally low and there is clear evidence that the situation is not improving. A study conducted by IBM in 2021 suggests that there may actually be a decline in the number of women occupying leadership positions in India. Some key barriers that impact women's leadership are:

The project will focus on building primary research, raising awareness, developing a campaign and providing mentorship for upcoming women leaders on a common campaign platform.

CAPACITY BUILDING

EdelGive offers non-financial support to NGOs, by providing capacity building across different areas. EdelGive strategised capacity building for organisational strengthening by focusing on long-term sustainability, problem-solving and willingness to adopt new technologies.

Additionally, our team has had regular internal learning sessions like 'Learning Pod', wherein team sharing on various topics was enabled. Factoring mindfulness as a key to employee wellness, we initiated zero device hour, Johari window session, annual offsite and periodic wellness check-ins to engage with our employees. Our induction process for new joiners was improvised and upgraded. We remain committed to our employees' wellbeing and development and look forward to building on this progress in the coming year.

With its growing influence, India's G20 Presidency becomes a showcase of its emerging global standing, reflecting an independent foreign policy fuelled by its economic prowess. This platform is expected to bolster relationships, forge new partnerships, and contribute to the international community, as India sets forth an ambitious, people-centric agenda to tackle global challenges and foster sustainable economic development, ultimately paving the way for its prominent role in the global economy.

In the backdrop of the events that unfolded in 2022, the global economy remained in a state of flux, impacting every country as they navigated the unpredictable external factors. Despite this, the Indian economy continued to shine and show resilience amid global financial gloom. The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has forecasted that India's GDP will grow by an impressive 5.9% in 2023 (Source: IMF, April 2023 World Economic Outlook). India has been designated as a pivotal player in the global economic recovery and the expectation is for India and China to contribute around half of the global growth this year. This recognition underscores India's significant impact on the world economy and highlights its potential to drive and shape the process of global recovery.

Several factors have contributed to the stable growth of the Indian economy, including sustained government capital expenditure, deleveraging of the corporate sector, lower non-performing assets in the banking sector, and moderation in commodity prices. Furthermore, high-frequency indicators such as GST collections, PMI manufacturing, bank credit growth, air passenger traffic, and services PMI have all shown robust performance in last few quarters. The government has also made significant strides in digitisation, with the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) being a prime example of technology boosting financial inclusion in India and its allies. As an example, the integration of India's UPI with Singapore's PayNow would enable faster remittances between the two countries at a competitive rate.

The Union Budget 2023-24 sketched the roadmap to Amrit Kaal, or India@100 and outlined the action agenda for fuelling India's growth story and catapulting it into a developed nation by 2047. There was a paradigm shift in overall macroeconomic priorities, transitioning from COVID-19 recovery to scaling new heights. The thrust of the Budget was on infrastructure development through higher capital expenditure, which stood at ₹10 lakh crore (up 33% from the previous year), laying the foundation for achieving the ambition of a $5 trillion economy by 2026 and improving prosperity for the populace. Strong infrastructure has always been a cornerstone of any developed economy, and this increased spending will provide great impetus to other critical areas such as education and skill development, urban development, the green economy, job creation, and improving global competitiveness.

Recognising the higher logistics costs in India compared to global peers, the government has planned transportation infrastructure projects to address this issue. The Railways received significant funding, and efforts were made to revive coastal shipping and airports, as well as promote electric mobility. The Make in India agenda was supported through reductions in import duties and tax incentives. Urban infrastructure development was prioritised, and steps were taken towards a greener economy with a focus on energy transition and carbon neutrality. The government also emphasised the importance of skilled manpower and research and development, with the establishment of centres of excellence and skill development initiatives. Tax reforms aimed to simplify compliance and enhance the ease of doing business. The Budget underscored self-reliance, digital advancements, sustainable choices, and economic stability, all contributing to inclusive development and the goal of achieving a $7 trillion economy by 2030.

However, there are certain risks that could potentially impact its growth trajectory, such as elevated inflation and challenges from balance of payment. Inflation has remained above the RBI's upper tolerance band of 2-6% in past few quarters and the core inflation rate has remained sticky. Major central banks globally too have also reaffirmed their hawkish stance on inflation. On the external front, a slowdown in global demand has impacted India's exports, while imports continue to outpace export growth, putting pressure on the trade deficit. India's significant dependence on imported energy is a challenge that shows up on the balance of payments side. Oil prices in 2023 are expected to be volatile, with China's reopening playing a significant role in determining the extent of this volatility.

Moreover, there are additional concerns regarding the emerging trend of de-globalisation and the fading of post-pandemic pent-up demand, which pose significant challenges for the economy. The process of economic balkanisation particularly affects countries like India, heavily reliant on exports as a crucial driver of economic progress. This could result in a deceleration of growth in specific sectors and contribute to an overall moderation in the expansion of the economy. Furthermore, as the impact of the pandemic gradually diminishes, the initial surge of pent-up demand that emerged during the peak of the crisis may gradually diminish, leading to a slowdown in certain sectors and further contributing to a moderation in overall economic growth.

Despite these challenges, India's strong fundamentals, combined with the government's reform-oriented approach, continue to provide a foundation for the country's economic growth. The expansion of public digital platforms and the government's commitment to boosting manufacturing output through measures such as the PM Gati Shakti, National Logistics Policy, and the PLI scheme will further support economic growth. The road ahead may be difficult, but India is well-positioned to navigate the challenges and emerge as a key player in the global economic landscape.

ASSET MANAGEMENT

The asset management industry in India comprises of mutual funds and alternative investment funds (AIFs).

The Indian mutual fund industry is poised for continued growth in the coming years due to several key factors. With a strong track record of performance and a diverse range of investment options, it is well-positioned to meet the needs of various investors. As awareness about the benefits of mutual funds continues to increase, more and more people are expected to join the industry, further fuelling its growth. The rising affluence of the Indian middle class, coupled with the growing availability of online investment platforms, has opened doors for a wider audience to participate in mutual funds. Additionally, the introduction of new investment products and services has enhanced the industry's appeal and relevance. Given these factors, the Indian mutual fund industry is set to experience significant expansion, catering to the investment requirements of the expanding middle class and playing a vital role in the overall financial development of the country. In FY23, Mutual Funds AUM recorded a robust growth to stand at ₹39.42 trillion as on March 31, 2023, compared to ₹37.57 trillion as on March 31, 2022. (Source: AMFI reports).

Alternative assets funds are gaining popularity in India as investors seek diverse income-generating opportunities beyond traditional portfolios. These funds focus on assets like real estate, private equity, and hedge funds, deviating from conventional investments. Factors driving the demand for alternative assets funds in India include lower returns on traditional debt products, the desire for diversification and risk reduction among offshore institutional investors like pension funds and insurance companies, and the pursuit of higher returns by high-net-worth individuals (HNIs) and family offices. India offers various types of alternative assets funds, including real estate funds, private equity funds, and hedge funds. These funds have the potential for higher returns compared to traditional debt products, although performance varies based on the fund type and investment strategy. Alternative Funds in the structured credit, special situations, real estate credit, private equity and infrastructure yield space in India saw inflows of ~$33 billion during the year and their AUM stands at ~$76 billion at the end of this year in India.

ASSET RECONSTRUCTION

Since the middle of the previous decade, RBI and the Government have made dedicated efforts in terms of calibrated policy measures like strengthening the regulatory and supervisory framework, implementation of 4R's approach of Recognition, Resolution, Recapitalisation and Reforms to clean and strengthen the balance sheet of the banking system. These continuous efforts over the years have culminated in the enhancement of risk absorption capacity and a healthier banking system balance sheet in terms of asset quality over the years. The gross NPA of the banking system is estimated to have come down to 5.7% from the high of 10.2% in the last 5 years. While retail lending had shown growth during the last 3 years, FY23 saw resurgence of corporate lending by the banking system.

The major developments in the financial sector having an impact on asset reconstruction companies (ARCs) include:

- National Asset Reconstruction Company Limited (NARCL) has commenced its full-fledged operations.
- The RBI on October 11, 2022, issued a circular, amending the extant regulatory framework for Asset Reconstruction Companies (ARCs), introducing corporate governance norms in line with those applicable to Banks / NBFCs. Other changes include some of the operational guidelines. Majority of these changes were suggested by committee of directors instituted by Reserve Bank of India to review working of ARCs in September 2021.
- RBI on February 20, 2023 issued a circular on implementation of Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) with regard to recognition, computation and treatment of unrealised management fee while calculating the Capital Adequacy Ratio and the amount available for payment of dividend. The unrealised management fee shall be adjusted against net owned fund while calculating the Capital Adequacy Ratio and the amount available for payment of dividend.

During FY23, the top six ARCs in India acquired loans at an acquisition price (SRs issued) of ₹20.8K crore with an investment of ₹4.7K crore and had an Assets Under Management (AUM) of ₹96.4K crore as on March 31, 2023. Their recoveries were ₹19K crore with redemptions of ₹14.7K crore during the year.

NBFC INDUSTRY

The outlook for Non-Banking Financial Companies (NBFCs) remains promising. The MSME sector is a major contributor to the socio-economic development of the country, contributing approximately 30% to India's GDP and is crucial in terms of employment generation, exports, and lending opportunities. Various government initiatives ensure technology upgradation, move towards non-cash transactions, ease of compliance and easy and affordable access to credit to MSMEs. Securitisation volumes of NBFCs and HFCs is estimated at ~61,000 crore in Q4FY23, indicating an increase in funding requirements to meet the growing credit demand, as per a credit rating agency report.

Growth will be driven by strong demand for credit, particularly in the retail and small and medium enterprises (SME) segments. The asset quality of NBFCs is expected to remain stable, supported by a gradual economic recovery and improving business sentiment. Additionally, the regulatory environment for NBFCs is expected to be stable, with the government taking measures to address the liquidity concerns faced by the sector in the past.

NBFCs with strong risk management practices and digital capabilities are likely to outperform their peers. These companies will be better equipped to manage their portfolio risks and cater to the evolving needs of their customers.

Overall, the outlook for NBFCs in India is positive, with AUM growth expected to remain strong in FY23-24. Companies that prioritise risk management, digitalisation, and customer-centricity are likely to succeed in the competitive landscape. With a stable regulatory environment and improving economic conditions, NBFCs are well-positioned to contribute to the growth of India's financial sector.

HOUSING FINANCE

While the overall outlook for Housing Finance Companies (HFCs) is positive, it is important to recognise the challenges that lie ahead. One of the key challenges is the potential increase in interest rates, which has the potential to dampen the demand for home loans. Furthermore, the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent economic slowdown have already presented significant challenges for HFCs by affecting the credit quality of borrowers. Additionally, increasing competition from banks and other lenders has put pressure on HFCs to lower their lending rates, thus impacting their profitability.

Despite these challenges, HFCs with sound business strategies, strong balance sheets, and diversified loan portfolios may be better equipped to navigate these obstacles. Furthermore, HFCs with robust credit risk management practices and diversified their loan portfolios across various sectors and geographies can mitigate the impact of borrower defaults and minimise their overall credit risk. Moreover, there are potential growth opportunities in the form of increasing demand for affordable housing projects in India. With various government initiatives and incentives to promote affordable housing, HFCs can tap into this market and expand their lending activities in this segment. By effectively capitalising on these opportunities and diversifying their loan portfolios, HFCs can position themselves for long-term success and sustainable growth.

GENERAL INSURANCE

The General Insurance Industry (GI) growth rebounded in FY23 to 16% YoY compared to Covid-impact years of FY22 (11%) and FY21 (5%). In fact, this is highest growth for the industry in the last 5 years. While Standalone Health insurers continued their impressive growth trajectory although moderated from last year, it is Private GI players that changed trajectories growing at ~20% growth YoY against 12% last year (FY22). Amongst product segments, Health continued to lead the charge, but Motor too had a good year growth at 15% in FY23 compared to 4% in FY22. (Source: IRDAI).

Apart from growth, the last year marked a significant change in regulatory stance with primary focus on enhancing 'ease of business' for the Industry. The enablers address key challenge areas for the Industry; 'Use & File' guidelines gave the power of product approval and launch to Insurers thus provided speed, flexibility and control of product launch calendar, new 'usage-based guidelines' allowed insurers to introduce innovative telematics-based motor insurance products, corporate agency partner numbers were increased from 3 to 9 in each category further opening up the bancassurance channel, in particular and another guideline improving access to private equity capital. The year ended with the most anticipated announcement of all – providing operations flexibility through a single limit on expenses and removing any further sub-limits, on commissions.

Another regulation that is expected to have a far-reaching impact is the mandating of KYC for all non-life insurance products which is likely to improve the contractability and hopefully, engagement with customers over the medium to long term.

The focus on technology driving innovation continued with the regulator enabling a longer experimentation period for sandbox products.

Thus, the last year has been a period of robust growth and landmark changes for the non-life insurance industry paving the way for strong sustainable growth in the future. In the coming years, we will see a transition to a 'Risk Based Capital' regime along with adoption of the 'IFRS' accounting standards.

LIFE INSURANCE

The life insurance sector has witnessed a remarkable surge in traditional business, especially guaranteed products. This aided in better margins for the life insurance companies as they continue to meet customers' expectations with their traditional participating and non-participating offerings. The industry witnessed an increase in demand of non-Ulip, high-ticket policies of over ₹5 lakhs in March 2023, as the new tax regime came into effect from April 1, 2023.

Going forward too, the life insurance sector in India is expected to grow at a healthy pace in the coming years. The growth of the sector is being driven by a number of factors, including a growing population, increasing awareness about the importance of life insurance, rising disposable incomes, and government initiatives.

The Indian life insurance sector is the second largest in the world in terms of the number of policies in force. The sector is dominated by public sector insurers, which account for over 60% of the market share. The private sector insurers are growing rapidly and are expected to account for a larger share of the market in the coming years.

The life insurance sector is expected to benefit from the government's initiatives to promote financial inclusion. The sector is also expected to benefit from the growth of the Indian economy.

Edelweiss Outlook & Strategy

EDELWEISS OUTLOOK

As we set our sights on the future, we confidently stride towards the challenges and opportunities that await in the dynamic business landscape that India offers. Bolstered by a robust balance sheet, an expansive portfolio of diverse products and services, and an exceptional team of passionate professionals, we stand firmly prepared. FY23 marked a transformative resurgence in profitability, fuelling our commitment to maintain momentum and drive future success. The Company is also focussed on innovation and will keep investing in meaning full ways to stay ahead of the curve. With these strengths and capabilities, the Company is poised to emerge stronger from the challenges and capitalise on new growth opportunities in the future.

OPPORTUNITIES

Some key trends and factors that are likely to act as catalyst for growth and present significant opportunities for our organisation are as below:

Increasing disposable income

India is seeing a rise in disposable income levels, which provides a significant opportunity for the financial services sector to offer new and innovative investment products and services. With more disposable income, consumers are looking for investment options beyond traditional savings accounts and fixed deposits, and the financial services sector can capitalise on this trend by offering investment products like mutual funds, stocks, bonds, and other financial instruments.

Government initiatives

The Indian government has launched several initiatives aimed at increasing financial inclusion and penetration of financial services in the country. For example, the Pradhan Mantri Jan Dhan Yojana was launched to ensure that every household has access to a bank account, and the Atal Pension Yojana was launched to provide pension benefits to the unorganised sector. These initiatives have created a large market for financial services, and players in the sector can capitalise on this opportunity by developing products and services that cater to the needs of these customers.

Rising digital adoption

With the rapid adoption of digital technologies in India, the financial services sector has a significant opportunity to provide innovative and customised services to customers. Mobile banking and payment services, online investment platforms, and robo-advisory services are examples of digital financial services that have gained popularity in recent years. The financial services sector can leverage digital technologies to provide convenient and cost-effective financial services to customers, especially those in rural and remote areas.

Demographic dividend

India has a young population, and as this population ages, there will be an increasing demand for retirement and pension products. The financial services sector can capitalise on this opportunity by developing innovative and customised retirement and pension products that cater to the needs of this demographic. With the rise of nuclear families and increasing healthcare costs, retirement and pension products that provide healthcare benefits can also gain popularity.

THREATS

Some external factors that may hinder or pose challenges are as below:

Cybersecurity risks

As digital adoption increases in the financial services sector, there is also an increasing risk of cyberattacks and data breaches. These cybersecurity risks can result in financial losses, damage to reputation, and loss of customer trust. The financial services sector needs to invest in robust cybersecurity measures to protect against these risks.

Regulatory changes

Changes in regulations or policies can have a significant impact on the financial services sector, making it difficult for players to adapt quickly. For example, changes in tax policies, capital adequacy requirements, or customer protection regulations can impact the profitability and viability of financial services products and services.

Global competition

As the Indian financial services market continues to evolve, there is a growing concern regarding the entrance of international players, posing a significant competitive threat to domestic entities. These global players may have more resources, technology, and expertise, and hence may be better equipped to provide innovative financial services to customers. Domestic players need to continuously innovate and upgrade their products and services to stay competitive in this dynamic market.

Macroeconomic challenges

India is subject to various external and internal factors that can lead to economic challenges, which can impact the financial services sector. External factors such as changes in global trade policies, fluctuation in commodity prices, and changes in global interest rates can affect the Indian economy, and hence the financial services sector. Internal factors such as inflation, government policies, and domestic market conditions can also impact the sector.

THE WAY FORWARD

In FY23, we made significant progress made on key priorities. The demerger of Nuvama Wealth Management has been completed, with the final phase concluding in May 2023, and the subsequent listing expected between July and August 2023. The reduction of wholesale loan assets is on track, with a 40% reduction achieved and a projected 50% reduction for the next fiscal year. Focus on optimising debt have resulted in a substantial decrease in gross debt, and liquidity management remains a priority. Management focus on the growth of the Asset Management and Insurance businesses continues to payoff and these businesses are starting to break-out into a highly profitable cycle within the short to medium term timeframe.

Our strategy for the next 18 months will be focussed on creating value, strengthening our balance sheet, increasing our retail presence, and pivoting towards an investment company model. This will involve deploying resources in alternative investments and building out the platform, focus on equity assets under management in mutual funds, and implementing cost efficiencies in the insurance sector to drive profitability. On the lending book, we are committed to expanding our retail footprint via an asset-light model and have focussed on building out co-lending partnerships. In line with our long-term strategy, the wholesale book reduction on the back of strong recoveries and investor interest in asset Sell downs will be a key focus area for FY24. This in turn, will substantially reduce our balance sheet - debt will reduce and we will remain conservative by maintaining comfortable liquidity levels. We will continue to adhere to our win-win-win philosophy, seeking opportunities to unlock value when opportune for all stakeholders. The shift towards becoming an investment company is in line with our ongoing architectural changes, as we continue to unbundle and create more independent businesses within our organisation.

Performance Highlights

Against the backdrop of a dynamically-evolving macroeconomic landscape, our businesses achieved commendable success in FY23. Building upon the momentum gained in the preceding year, our core businesses have consistently delivered robust performance throughout this fiscal period. Our success in navigating the challenging business environment is primarily attributed to our strong and well-capitalised balance sheet, which acted as a sturdy shield against short-term disruptions, enabling our businesses to perform well. We have experienced significant growth in our asset management and insurance businesses throughout the year. In our Mutual Fund business, our Assets Under Management (AUM) surged by 24% YoY, reaching ₹105K crore, while our Equity AUM grew by 16% YoY, amounting to ₹22.7K crore. Our Alternatives platform has consistently performed strongly, with a remarkable YoY AUM growth of 52% and fee-paying AUM growth of 32%. Additionally, our General Insurance business achieved an exceptional 53% growth in Gross Direct Premium Income (GDPI), securing the highest growth rate in the industry. In the Life Insurance business, we achieved a significant milestone by attaining Embedded Value (EV) break-even one year ahead of target, along with recording the highest-ever Claim Settlement Ratio of 99.2%. These achievements reflect the establishment of a high-quality franchise.

Our profit after tax (PAT) from our non-insurance operations showed an impressive 51% YoY growth, reaching ₹610 crore. Consolidated EFSL PAT (pre-MI) for FY23 stood at ₹406 crore as against ₹212 crore in FY22.

Total Income was up 18% YoY to ₹8,633 crore driven by strong performance across all business lines. Insurance businesses continued to grow with a net premium of ₹1,928 crore for FY23 (₹1,644 crore for FY22), marking a healthy growth of 17%. The YoY reduction in our credit book due to wholesale credit resolution and our move to asset-light models for retail credit reduced interest income by 3.3% to ₹2,946 crore.

FY23 expenses are higher by 16.8% (₹8,380 crore vs ₹7,174 crore for FY22). The increase in operating expenses is mainly attributable to the return of pre-pandemic business activity and some one time restructuring expenses. Fair value gains in FY23 arising from our stake in Nuvama (now demerged) was largely offset by the impairment charge taken basis a management overlay.

We continued to strengthen and deleverage the balance sheet during the year. Effective balance sheet size (Debt plus Net Worth) at the end of FY23 was ₹27,765 crore compared to ₹30,057 crore at the end of FY22, down by -7.6%.

The Diluted EPS for FY23 stood at ₹3.83 compared to ₹2.11 for FY22. Book Value per share was ₹72 at the end of FY23. The Board of Directors have recommended a Final Dividend of ₹1.25 per equity share. Total Dividend for the year stands at ₹1.50 per equity share.

Borrowing costs reduced significantly and stood at ₹2,574 crore for FY23 compared to ₹2,984 crore in FY22, down by 13.7%. Debt as on March 31, 2023, was lower at ₹19,263 crore compared to ₹21,599 crore at the end of the previous year. During the year, we continued to maintain adequate level of available liquidity of around 15% of our borrowings in view of the volatile environment though it resulted in a negative carry as in the previous year.

Total Net Worth stood at ₹8,502 crore as on March 31, 2023, including the amount of equity convertible instruments (CCDs) vis-à-vis ₹8,457 crore as on March 31, 2022.

LIQUIDITY AND ALM PROFILE

We ensure that an adequate liquidity cushion is maintained at all times to take care of all maturing liabilities with a focus on optimum revenue generation from liquid assets.

At the end of FY23, we maintained available liquidity of ₹2,900 crore. This included overnight liquid assets of ₹2,300 crore, high-quality liquid assets of over ₹500 crore which can be liquidated within a short span (if the need arises), and undrawn committed bank credit lines of ₹100 crore.

Over the years, we have demonstrated a strong track record of fund raising from both retail and institutional lenders. With the help of public issues and our retail borrowing programmes, we have increased the proportion of funding through retail sources from 34% to 42% in the past one year.

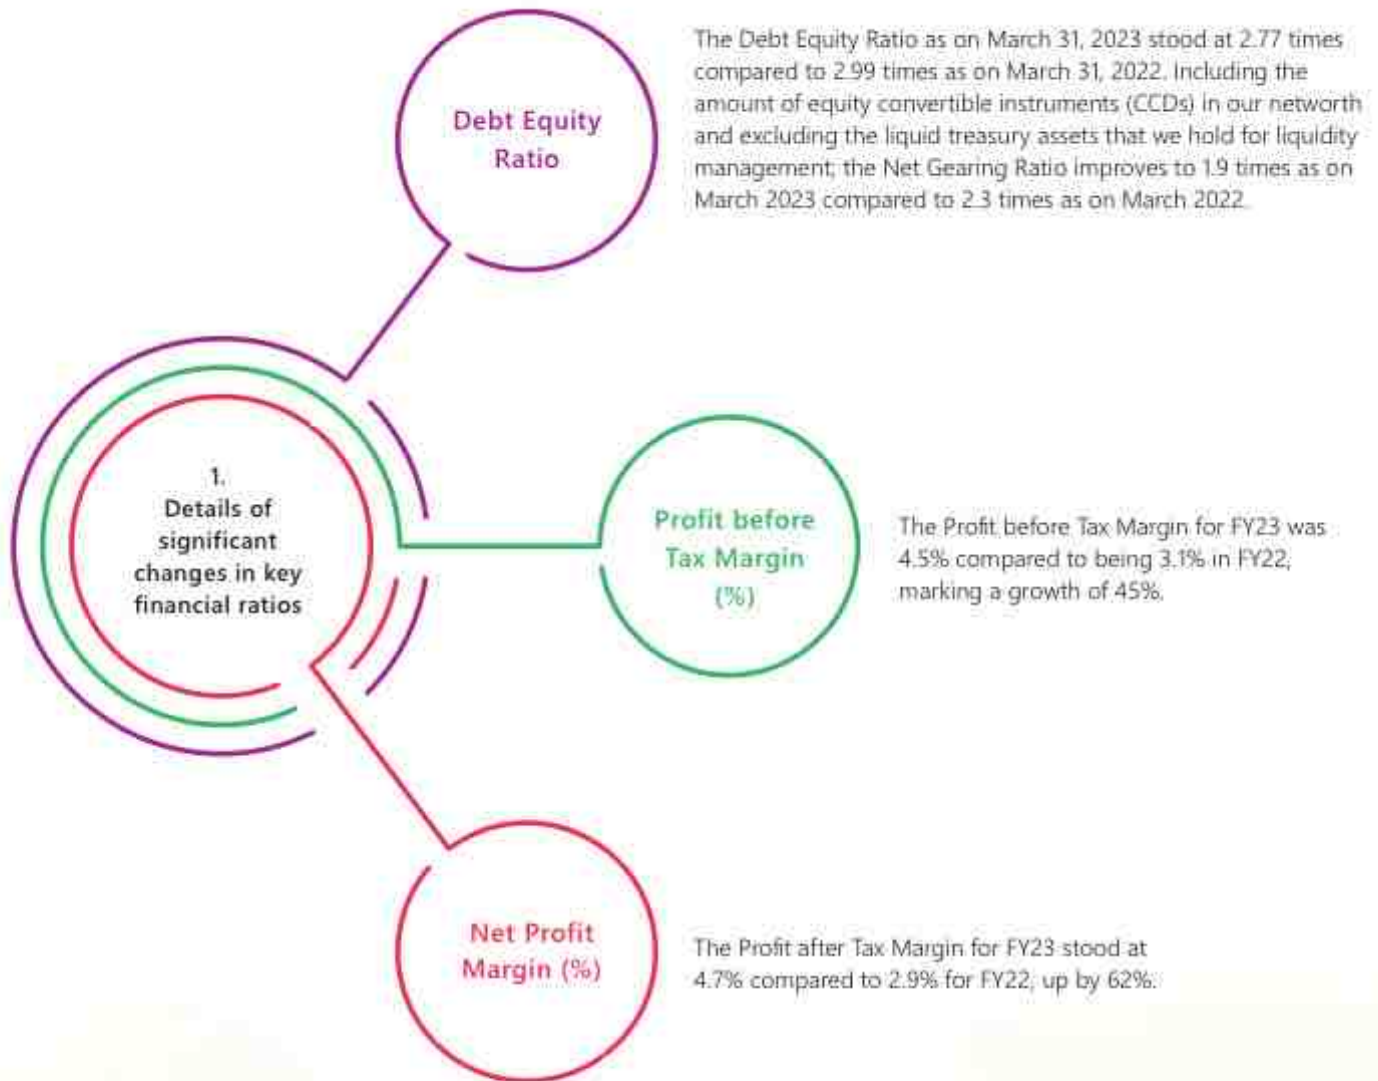

On the asset side, we continue to focus on and reorient our balance sheet towards retail growth. As wholesale recoveries remain slightly slower than anticipated, we have optimised the tenor and focussed on medium to long-term borrowings. Long-term borrowings now stand at 59% of the total debt.

All these steps have ensured that we maintain a positive ALM gap across all time buckets.

During the year, we have signed an agreement to acquire 100% equity stake in L&T Infrastructure Development Projects, comprising 8 roads spanning ~4,900 lane-kms and 1 power transmission asset covering ~960 kms.

Given the strength and depth of our investment teams, the total realisation (including capital and income) is ₹8,500 crore across strategies in FY23. We are well-positioned for continued growth in the future. We have a strong track record, a deep understanding of the Indian market, and a team of experienced investment professionals. With the increasing demand for alternative assets, we are well-placed to capture a significant share of this growing market.

MUTUAL FUND

At Edelweiss AMC, we offer a wide range of investment products for investors to choose from, including equity funds, debt funds, balanced funds, and liquid funds. We take pride in our strong team of investment professionals who have a proven track record of success. As a well-managed company with a strong performance history, we provide investors with a reliable and experienced asset management option.

Several key factors have contributed to our success. Firstly, our investment team possesses a deep understanding of the Indian market, allowing us to identify undervalued investment opportunities. This expertise enables us to make informed investment decisions on behalf of our investors. Secondly, our focus on long-term investment strategies ensures that we generate consistent returns over-time, providing stability and growth for our investors' portfolios. Lastly, our commitment to delivering exceptional customer service has helped us build a strong reputation among investors who value personalised and attentive support.

As a result of these factors, we have established ourselves as a trusted and reputable asset management company. Edelweiss Mutual Fund business is the 12th largest in the country and the fastest growing among the top 15 mutual fund houses in the industry. We manage an AUM of ₹105K crore as on March 2023 under 60 schemes, a growth of 23% over the AUM of ₹85K crore a year ago. We saw inflows of ~₹22K crore in FY23 compared to inflows of ~₹76K crore for the industry. We have improved our ranking to 12 in FY23 from 13 in FY22 and caters to 8,78,000 unique investors, compared to 7,30,000 at the end of FY22.

ASSET RECONSTRUCTION

EARC is the largest ARC in the country which manages stressed assets with AUM of ₹37.1K crore. EARC adopts multi-pronged strategy for resolution of stressed assets with primary focus to 'Revive' or 'Reconstruct' operating assets with last-mile funding needs. Based on asset-specific complexities, settlement/enforcement of security interest/resolution through IBC are also adopted with an aim to optimise stakeholder benefits.

Our acquisitions continue to target operating assets that can be revived. During the year, we invested ₹1,470 crore. During the year, ₹320 crore have been invested in the retail segment which now constitutes 16% of EARC investment. EARC has been able to maintain its market leadership with ~39% of the market share. We have partnered with over 71 banks/NBFCs backed by our expertise on resolution of stressed assets. EARC has been able to recover more than ₹7,500 crore in FY23 and a total of ₹42,900 crore since inception.

NBFC

The NBFC industry continued to navigate the unprecedented impact of the global pandemic. FY23 was a year of remarkable resilience for the industry - with every sector witnessing different growth trajectories. Overall, the year signalled a positive momentum with consistent upswing in credit demand. Over the last few years, most NBFCs have focussed on strengthening their balance sheets and now are eyeing growth which is expected to be achieved through co-lending partnerships.

For our MSME portfolio, our vision is to establish ourselves as the foremost and dependable financial partner, accompanying them throughout their entire growth trajectory. During the year, we have heavily invested in building our core capabilities around origination and underwriting of loans to micro and small enterprises, largely Priority Sector Loans (PSL). We have continued to focus on our strategic initiative of being asset-light by signing two bank partnerships during the current financial year towards co-lending PSL loans to micro and small Indian entrepreneurs. We continue to build scale in co-lending as we build a unique asset-light model. We aim to make lending to this segment more efficient through digitalisation. We have invested on our proprietary Digital Lending Platform (DLP), a low code and agile platform, as a seamless loan origination system. The technology stack uses a host of micro-services to improve processing efficiency and Dynamic Business Rule Engine (BRE) for automated decision-making. The scorecard and parameterised approach helped us originate high credit quality customers. We are also leveraging our data analytics for retention of existing customers and acquisition of new customers, risk modelling using statistical scorecards, credit risk analysis using latest bureau information and better collections using bounce prediction model and repayment behaviour analysis.

In the Wholesale credit segment, we remain committed to reducing our Wholesale Book.

As part of our key priorities, we have made good progress on scaling down of the wholesale book in FY23. During the financial year, we have reduced the book through recoveries from the borrowers and sell-down of portfolio to external investors. Residential real estate market witnessed strong revival, driven by strong demand (affordability improved and inventory levels coming down) and supply consolidation in the last couple of years. We continue to actively evaluate sell-down opportunities with potential investors going forward also.

Wholesale loan assets reduced by ~40% over the past year to ₹5,700 crore and we expect further reduction by ~47% in FY24. Liquidity released with reduction of the book will be redeployed in other growth areas as we go along.

RETAIL MORTGAGE FINANCE

Retail mortgage finance, housed in NIDO Home Finance (formerly known as Edelweiss Housing Finance Limited), consists of mid-ticket and affordable-housing loans, construction-finance loans, and loans-against-property. We have pivoted towards an asset-light business model, and this has manifested itself in the diverse co-lending partnerships that we have built with prominent banks such as State Bank of India, UCO Bank, Bank of Baroda and Standard Chartered Bank. Under the auspices of these co-lending tie-ups, we are offering both, Home Loan and LAP products at attractive and beneficial rates to customers. Originations under this arrangement helps HFC to build a strong ALM matched liabilities-mix. Another dimension of our asset-light business model is the manner in which we have diversified our liabilities-mix through sell-downs in the form of direct assignment and securitisation transactions.

In FY22-23, we were able to securitise a pool size of ₹862 crore via multiple transactions with around 10 banks, NBFCs and insurance companies. On the back of disbursements of ~ ₹1,000 crore, NIDO Home Finance ended FY22-23 with an AUM of ~ ₹4,115 crore, and a loan book of ₹3,070 crore. During this period, we delivered a profit after tax of ₹16.1 crore. As on March 31, 2023, the Networth stood at ₹794 crore and the CAPAD at 32.10%.

Underlying portfolio quality manifested itself in a GPNA of 1.95% as on March 31, 2023 (1.99% on March 31, 2022), and collection efficiency that was consistently above 98% through the financial year.

The AUM mix remains biased towards granular, retail home loans, and new origination will also continue to focus on affordable-housing, and informal income customer segments. As on date, the Company is serving around 20,000 customers, with nine of out ten customers have a loan ticket size less than ₹30 lakhs.

We continue to invest in developing future-fit capabilities such as data sciences which we have used for driving multiple use-cases associated with portfolio management, and now with use-cases also associated with customer value management (CVM) and process efficiency.

To further formalise this process, we have developed an in-house "Eleven-risk framework" that guides us in the continuous assessment, avoidance, management, and mitigation of risks across all our business verticals.

This allows us to enhance efficiency, streamline operations, and minimise potential disruptions. By identifying process vulnerabilities and implementing appropriate controls, we ensure overall operational resilience. Addressing credit risk has been a key focus for us, leading to the establishment of a comprehensive framework for asset quality review. DIVIDEND DISTRIBUTION POLICY

Introduction:

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) has mandated certain categories of listed companies to formulate a Dividend Distribution Policy ('Policy'). This Policy is in accordance with Regulation 43A of SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015.

Objective:

One of the ways to reward a shareholder is by distributing portion of Company's earnings in the form of dividend. Besides capital appreciation, an investor expects a consistent cash inflow in the form of dividend. Towards this end, the Policy lays down parameters to be considered by the Board of Directors of the Company for declaration of Dividend from time to time.

Definitions:

Unless repugnant to the context:

"Act" shall mean the Companies Act, 2013 including the Rules made thereunder.

"Company" shall mean Edelweiss Financial Services Limited

"Board" or "Board of Directors" shall mean Board of Directors of the Company.

"Dividend" shall mean Dividend as defined under the Companies Act, 2013.

"SEBI Regulations" shall mean the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 together with the circulars issued thereunder, including any statutory modifications or re-enactments thereof for the time being in force.

Regulatory Framework

The Companies Act, 2013 provides for regulation, recommendation, declaration and payment of dividend, subject to approval of the Board (interim) / Shareholders (final).

Factors for considering Dividend:

The Board of Directors of the Company ("the Board") may consider inter-alia the following factors viz., the financial performance of the Company, the past dividend trends, the liquidity position of the Company, capital expenditure requirements, if any, business expansions (including acquisitions) if any, debt obligations, the external market conditions, the future potential etc., before considering dividend proposition.

The Company will endeavour to maintain the dividend track record subject to the factors which the Board might appropriately consider at that point in time. When the performance of the company coupled with the market conditions are conducive/ favourable, the Board may consider declaring interim dividends too.

In order to conserve resources, the Board may consider recommending a lesser rate of dividend (as compared to the earlier years). The retained earnings of the company can be inter-alia utilized for capex, working capital requirement, investment in growth opportunities as deemed fit by the Board at appropriate time. The retained earnings may also be utilised for payment of dividend in subsequent years, or other permitted means of rewarding the shareholders.

In a year where the profits of the company are inadequate or there is a loss, the Company would like to utilise the reserves judiciously and the Board may not consider payment of dividend as a viable proposition. Alternatively, in such a scenario the Board might consider declaring dividends, out of the Free Reserves or the accumulated profits and the dividend payment track record is maintained. The amounts paid as dividend in the past does not necessarily indicate the dividend to be paid in the future and so the rate and the amount of dividend may vary from time to time.

Provision regarding class of shares:

Currently, the Company has issued only Equity Shares and this Policy shall be made applicable only to Equity Shares. As and when the Company issues other kind of shares, the Policy shall be amended accordingly.

Review / Amendment:

The Board shall review and amend the policy periodically as may be deemed necessary, keeping in view the business environment, the performance of the Company, regulatory requirements and other relevant external factors. In case of any change/amendment in applicable statutes/regulations, the Policy shall stand revised to the extend thereto.

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us and based on the consideration of reports of other auditors on separate financial statements and on the other financial information of the subsidiaries, trusts and associate, the aforesaid consolidated financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013, as amended ("the Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the consolidated state of affairs of the Group and its associate as at March 31, 2023, their consolidated profit including other comprehensive loss, their consolidated cash flows and the consolidated statement of changes in equity for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs), as specified under section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the 'Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements' section of our report. We are independent of the Group and associate in accordance with the 'Code of Ethics' issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements under the provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the consolidated financial statements.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements for the financial year ended March 31, 2023. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters. For each matter below, our description of how our audit addressed the matter is provided in that context.

We have determined the matters described below to be the key audit matters to be communicated in our report. We have fulfilled the responsibilities described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements section of our report, including in relation to these matters. Accordingly, our audit included the performance of procedures designed to respond to our assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements. The results of audit procedures performed by us and by other auditors of components not audited by us, as reported by them in their audit reports furnished to us by the management, including those procedures performed to address the matters below, provide the basis for our audit opinion on the accompanying consolidated financial statements.

Impairment of receivables from financing and other business
(as described in note 5.6, 13, 13.1, 14, 14.2 & 57.7 of the Consolidated Financial Statements)
The Group's impairment provision for receivables from financing business is based on the expected credit loss approach laid down under Ind AS 109. Ind AS 109 requires the Group to provide for impairment of its financial assets as at the reporting date using the expected credit loss (ECL) approach. ECL involves an estimation of probability-weighted loss on financial instruments over their life, considering reasonable and supportable information about past events, current conditions, and forecasts of future economic conditions which could impact the credit quality of the Group's financial assets (loan portfolio). In the process, a significant degree of judgement has been applied by the management for: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Staging of financial assets (i.e. classification in 'significant increase in credit risk' ("SICR") and 'default' categories); Grouping of the loan portfolio under homogenous pools in order to determine probability of default on a collective basis; Assigning internal rating grades to customers for which external rating is not available; Calibrating external ratings-linked probability of default to align with past default rates; Applying assumptions regarding the probability of various scenarios and discounting rates for different loan products; Estimation of management overlay for macro-economic factors bearing a correlation with the credit quality of the loans. In view of such high degree of management's judgement involved in estimation of ECL, it is considered as a key audit matter.	The audit procedures, including those reported in the auditor's report of respective subsidiary companies, comprised the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Read and assessed the Group's accounting policy for impairment of financial assets and its compliance with Ind AS 109 and the governance framework approved by the Board of Directors pursuant to Reserve Bank of India guidelines issued on March 13, 2020. Tested the design and operating effectiveness of the controls for staging of loans based on their past-due status. Tested samples of performing (stage 1) loans to assess whether any loss indicators were present requiring them to be classified under stage 2 or 3. Performed procedures to test the inputs used in the ECL computation, on a sample basis. Tested assumptions used by the management in determining the overlay for macro-economic factors. Assessed the additional considerations applied by the management for staging of loans as SICR or default categories in view of Company's policy on OTR. Tested the arithmetical accuracy of computation of ECL provision performed by the Company in spreadsheets. Read the report on ECL model reviewed by external consultant during the year.

Key audit matters	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
IT systems and controls The reliability and security of IT systems play a key role in the financial reporting process of the Group. The Group's key financial accounting and reporting processes are highly automated, whereby any gaps in the IT control environment could result in a material misstatement of the financial accounting and reporting records. Therefore, the assessment of the general IT controls and the application controls specific to the accounting and preparation of financial information is considered to be a key audit matter.	The audit procedures assisted by our IT specialists, including those reported in the auditor's report of respective subsidiary companies, comprised the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Tested the design and operating effectiveness of the Company's IT access controls over the information systems that are important to financial reporting and various interfaces, configuration and other identified application controls. Tested IT general controls (logical access, changes management and aspects of IT operational controls). This included testing requests for access to systems were reviewed and authorized. Tested the periodic review of access rights. Also tested requests of changes to systems for approval and authorization. In addition to the above, tested the design and operating effectiveness of certain automated controls that were considered as key internal controls. Tested the design and operating effectiveness of compensating controls in case deficiencies were identified and, where necessary, extended the scope of our substantive audit procedures.
Valuation of Investments in Security Receipts (SR) for Edelweiss Assets Reconstruction Company Limited
(as described in note 5.11, 14 & 56 of the Consolidated Financial Statements)
The fair value of SRs is determined through discounted cash flow method which involves management judgement using level 3 inputs such as projection of future cash flows and expenses. The management has involved credit rating agencies for valuation of SR. Considering the fair valuation of investments is significant to overall consolidated financial statements and the degree of management's judgment involved in the estimate, any error in the estimate could lead to material misstatement in the consolidated financial statements. Accordingly, it is considered as a key audit matter.	The audit procedures those reported in the auditor's report of a subsidiary company, comprised the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Assessment of internal controls over measurement of fair value and evaluating the methodologies, inputs, judgments made and assumptions used by management in determining fair values. Evaluated rationale of the models and accounting treatment applied. Compared observable inputs against independent sources and externally available market data for sample cases. Performed testing on a sample basis of key inputs as mentioned above to validate the reasonableness of the input values. Assessed disclosures included in the Financial Statements with respect to such fair valuation.

Information Other than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon

The Holding Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Board report, but does not include the consolidated financial statements and our auditor's report thereon, which we obtained prior to the date of this auditors report, and the Annual report, which is expected to be made available to us after that date.

Our opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether such other information is materially inconsistent with the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

When we read the Board Report, if we conclude that there is a material misstatement therein, we are required to communicate the matter to those Charged with Governance.

Responsibilities of Management for the Consolidated Financial Statements

The Holding Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the preparation and presentation of these consolidated financial statements in terms of the requirements of the Act that give a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position, consolidated financial performance including other comprehensive income, consolidated cash flows and consolidated statement of changes in equity of the Group including its associate in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under section 133 of the Act read with the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, as amended. The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its associate are responsible for maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of their respective companies and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which have been used for the purpose of preparation of the consolidated financial statements by the Directors of the Holding Company, as aforesaid.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, the respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its associate are responsible for assessing the ability of their respective companies to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its associate are also responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of their respective companies.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Holding Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Group and its associate to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group and its associate to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group and its associate of which we are the independent auditors, to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of the financial statements of such entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors. For the other entities included in the consolidated financial statements, which have been audited by other auditors, such other auditors remain responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audits carried out by them. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance of the Holding Company and such other entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the financial year ended March 31, 2023 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Annexure 2 to the Independent Auditor's Report of Even Date on the Consolidated Financial Statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

In conjunction with our audit of the consolidated financial statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited (hereinafter referred to as the "Holding Company") as of and for the year ended March 31, 2023, we have audited the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements of the Holding Company and its subsidiaries (the Holding Company and its subsidiaries together referred to as "the Group") and its associate, which are companies incorporated in India, as of that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and its associate, which are companies incorporated in India, are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Holding Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Holding Company's internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, specified under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both, issued by ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained and the audit evidence obtained by the other auditors in terms of their reports referred to in the Other Matters paragraph below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls With Reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

A company's internal financial control with reference to consolidated financial statement is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control with reference to consolidated financial statements includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls With Reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Group and its associate, which are companies incorporated in India, have, maintained in all material respects; adequate internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements and such internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements were operating effectively as at March 31, 2023, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Holding Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI.

Other Matters

Our report under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act on the adequacy and operating effectiveness of the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements of the Holding Company, in so far as it relates to these 20 subsidiaries, which are companies incorporated in India, is based on the corresponding reports of the auditors of such subsidiaries incorporated in India.

4. Basis of consolidation:

The consolidated financial statements incorporate the financial statements of the Holding Company and all its subsidiaries as at 31 March 2023 including any controlled structured entities, being the entities that it controls. Control is achieved when the Group is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee and has the ability to affect those returns through its power over the investee. Generally, there is a presumption that a majority of voting rights result in control. To support this presumption and when the Group has less than a majority of the voting or similar rights of an investee, the Group considers all relevant facts and circumstances in assessing whether it has power over an investee, including:

- The contractual arrangement with the other vote holders of the investee
- Rights arising from other contractual arrangements
- The Group's voting rights and potential voting rights
- The size of the Group's holding of voting rights relative to the size and dispersion of the holdings of the other voting rights holders

Consolidation of a subsidiary begins when the Group obtains control over the subsidiary. In the event of any change in one or more of the three elements of control, the Group reassess nature of control and stops consolidation if it concludes that the Group has lost the control over the subsidiary. Assets, liabilities, income and expenses of a subsidiary acquired or disposed of during the year are included in the consolidated financial statements from the date the Group gains control until the date the Group ceases to control the subsidiary.

Consolidated financial statements are prepared using uniform accounting policies for like transactions and other events in similar circumstances. If a member of the Group uses accounting policies other than those adopted in the consolidated financial statements for like transactions and events in similar circumstances, appropriate adjustments are made to that Group member's financial statements in preparing the consolidated financial statements to ensure conformity with the Group's accounting policies. No subsidiaries, associates and consolidated structure entities have followed different accounting policies than those followed by the Group for the preparation of these consolidated financial statements.

Consolidation procedure:

- a. Combine like items of assets, liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows of the parent with those of its subsidiaries. For this purpose, income and expenses of the subsidiary are based on the amounts of the assets and liabilities recognised in the consolidated financial statements at the acquisition date.
- b. Offset (eliminate) the carrying amount of the parent's investment in each subsidiary and the parent's portion of equity of each subsidiary. Business combinations policy explains how to account for any related goodwill, refer note no 5.25
- c. Eliminate in full intragroup assets and liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows relating to transactions between entities of the Group (profits or losses resulting from intragroup transactions that are recognised in assets, are eliminated in full). Income Taxes applies to temporary differences that arise from the elimination of profits and losses resulting from intragroup transactions.

Profit or loss and each component of Other Comprehensive Income (OCI) are attributed to the equity holders of the parent of the Group and to the non-controlling interests, even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance.

4. Basis of consolidation: (Continued)

A change in the ownership interest of a subsidiary, without loss of control, is accounted for as an equity transaction. With respect to put options granted by the Group to the holders of non-controlling interests in a subsidiary, where the Group does not have a present ownership interest in the shares subject to put, till the put remains unexercised, non-controlling continues to be recognised including allocation of profit or loss, other comprehensive income and other changes in equity of the subsidiary. However, at each reporting date, the non-controlling interest is derecognised as if it were acquired at that date and a financial liability is recognised and measured at its fair value. The difference between these two amounts is recognised as an equity transaction and attributed to owners of the parent.

Given the level of judgement required regarding consolidation of structured entities, these considerations are described further in the significant accounting judgements in Note 6.1(c). Disclosures for investment in subsidiaries, and structured entities are provided in Note 58.

The financial statements of all subsidiaries incorporated outside India are converted on the following basis: (a) Income and expenses are converted at the average rate of exchange applicable for the period/year and (b) All assets and liabilities are translated at the closing rate as on the Balance Sheet date. The exchange difference arising out of period/year end translation is debited or credited as "Exchange differences on translating the financial statements of a foreign operation" forming part of Other Comprehensive Income and accumulated as a separate component of other equity.

Investment in associates:

An associate is an entity over which the Group has the significant influence/power to participate in the financial and operating policy decision of the investee, but it's not control or joint control over those policies.

The Group's investments in its associate is accounted for using the equity method. Under the equity method, the investment in an associate is initially recognised at cost. The carrying amount of the investment is adjusted to recognise changes in the Group's share of net assets of the associate since the acquisition date. The Statement of Profit and Loss reflects the Group's share of the results of operations of the associate. Any change in OCI of those investees is presented as part of the Group's OCI. In addition, when there has been a change recognised directly in the equity of the associate, the Group recognises its share of any changes, when applicable, in the Statement of Changes in Equity. Unrealised gains and losses resulting from transactions between the Group and the associate are eliminated to the extent of the interest in the associate.

5. Significant accounting policies

This note provides a list of the significant accounting policies adopted in the preparation of these consolidated financial statements. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

5.1 Recognition of Interest, Dividend income and Donation income

Interest Income

Interest income is recorded using the effective interest rate (EIR) method for all financial instruments measured at amortised cost and debt instrument measured at FVOCI. The EIR is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial asset to the gross carrying amount of the financial asset.

The EIR is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition, fees and costs attributable to acquisition of a financial instrument. Hence, it recognises the effect of potentially different interest rates charged at various stages, and other characteristics of the product life cycle (including prepayments, penalty interest and charges).

5.1 Recognition of Interest, Dividend income and Donation income (Continued)

If expectations regarding the cash flows on the financial asset are revised for reasons other than credit risk, the adjustment is booked as modification gain/loss to the carrying amount of the asset in the balance sheet with an increase or reduction in interest income.

When a financial asset becomes credit-impaired and is, therefore, regarded as 'Stage 3', the Group calculates interest income by applying the effective interest rate to the amortised cost net of impairment loss of the financial asset. If the financial assets cures and is no longer credit-impaired, the Group reverts to calculating interest income on a gross basis.

For purchased or originated credit-impaired (POCI) financial assets, the Group calculates interest income by calculating the credit-adjusted EIR and applying that rate to the amortised cost of the asset. The credit-adjusted EIR is the interest rate that, at original recognition, discounts the estimated future cash flows (including credit losses) to the amortised cost of the POCI assets.

Interest on financial assets subsequently measured at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL) is recognised at the contractual rate of interest.

Dividend Income

Dividend income is recognised in profit or loss when the Group's right to receive payment of the dividend is established, it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the dividend will flow to the entity, and the amount of the dividend can be measured reliably.

Donation/grants received

General donations are recognised as income in the year of receipt in the statement of profit and loss. Amount received with a specific direction from donors towards a particular project for more than a financial year is recognized as income, only to the extent of cost incurred in that financial year and balance is recorded as liability. Amounts received with a specific direction from donors that such amounts shall form a part of Corpus of the Foundation are credited as Corpus Fund and disclosed as a liability in the Balance Sheet.

5.2 Financial Instruments

5.2.1 Date of recognition

Financial assets and financial liabilities, with the exception of debt securities and borrowings are initially recognised on the trade date, i.e., the date that the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. This includes regular way trades: purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame generally established by regulation or convention in the marketplace. The Group recognises borrowings when funds are available for utilisation to the Group.

5.2.2 Initial measurement of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Trade receivables are measured at transaction price. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

5.2.3 Day 1 profit or loss

When the transaction price of the financial instrument differs from the fair value at origination and the fair value is based on a valuation technique using only inputs observable in market transactions, the Group recognises the difference between the transaction price and fair value in net gain on fair value changes. In those cases where fair value is based on models for which some of the inputs are not observable, the difference between the transaction price and the fair value is deferred and is only recognised in profit or loss when the inputs become observable, or when the instrument is derecognised.

5.3 Classification of financial instruments

5.3.1 Financial assets:

The Group classifies all its financial assets based on the business model for managing the assets and the asset's contractual terms. Financial Assets are measured at either:

- Amortised cost; or
- Fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI); or
- Fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)

The Group measures debt financial assets that meet the following conditions at amortised cost:

- the financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold financial assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Debt financial instruments that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (except for debt instruments that are designated as at fair value through profit or loss on initial recognition):

- the financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling the financial assets; and
- the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

All other financial assets are initially measured at fair value and subsequently measured at FVTPL.

5.3.1.1 Amortised cost and Effective interest method

The amortised cost of a financial asset is the amount at which the financial asset is measured at initial recognition minus the principal repayments, plus the cumulative amortisation using the effective interest method of any difference between that initial amount and the maturity amount. On the other hand, the net gross carrying amount of a financial asset is the amortised cost of a financial asset after adjusting for any loss allowance.

5.3.1.2 Financial assets held for trading

The Group classifies financial assets as held for trading when they have been purchased or issued primarily for short-term profit making through trading activities or form part of a portfolio of financial instruments that are managed together, for which there is evidence of pattern of short-term profit taking. Held-for- trading assets are recorded and measured in the balance sheet at fair value. Financial assets designated at FVTPL, please refer note 5.3.2.2

5.3.1.3 Financial asset measured at FVOCI

Unrealised gains or losses on debt instruments measured at FVOCI are recognised in other comprehensive income, and on derecognition of such instrument accumulated gains or losses are recycled to profit and loss statement. Interest income on such instrument is recognised in profit and loss statements using EIR method.

5.3.1.4 Investment in equity instruments

The Group subsequently measures all equity investments at fair value through profit or loss, unless the management has elected to irrevocably classify some of its strategic equity investments to be measured at FVOCI. Such classification is determined on an instrument- by-instrument basis.

5.3.2 Financial liabilities

All financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost except loan commitments, financial guarantees, and derivative financial liabilities.

5.3.2.1 Debt securities and other borrowed funds

After initial measurement, debt issued and other borrowed funds are subsequently measured at amortised cost. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on issue funds, and costs that are an integral part of the instrument.

The Group issues certain non-convertible debentures, the return of which is linked to performance of specified indices over the period of the debenture. Such debentures have a component of an embedded derivative which is separated from the instrument on initial recognition and fair valued at reporting date. The resultant 'net unrealised loss or gain' on the fair valuation of these embedded derivatives is recognised in the statement of profit and loss. The debt component of such debentures is measured at amortised cost using yield to maturity basis.

5.3.2.2 Financial assets and Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss:

Financial assets and financial liabilities in this category are those that are not held for trading and have been either designated by management upon initial recognition or are mandatorily required to be measured at fair value. An individual instrument is designated at FVTPL upon initial recognition only when one of the following criterias are met.

- The designation eliminates, or significantly reduces, the inconsistent treatment that would otherwise arise from measuring the assets or liabilities or recognising gains or losses on them on a different basis; or
- The liabilities are part of a group of financial liabilities, which are managed and their performance evaluated on a fair value basis, in accordance with a documented risk management or investment strategy; or
- The liabilities containing one or more embedded derivatives, unless they do not significantly modify the cash flows that would otherwise be required by the contract, or it is clear with little or no analysis when a similar instrument is first considered that separation of the embedded derivative(s) is prohibited.

Financial assets and financial liabilities measured at FVTPL are recorded in the balance sheet at fair value and any changes in fair value are recorded in profit and loss. Interest earned or incurred on instruments designated at FVTPL is accrued in interest income or finance cost, as the case may be, using the EIR, taking into account any discount/premium and qualifying transaction costs being an integral part of instrument. Interest earned on assets mandatorily required to be measured at FVTPL is recorded using contractual interest rate.

5.3.2.3 Financial guarantee:

Financial guarantees are contracts that require the Group to make specified payments to reimburse to holder for loss that it incurs because a specified debtor fails to make payment when it is due in accordance with the terms of a debt instrument.

Financial guarantee issued or commitments to provide a loan at below market interest rate are initially measured at fair value and the initial fair value is amortised over the life of the guarantee or the commitment. Subsequently they are measured at higher of this amortised amount and the amount of loss allowance.

5.3.2.4 Loan commitment

Undrawn loan commitments are commitments under which, the Group is required to provide a loan with pre-specified terms to the customer during the duration of commitment.

5.3.3 Financial liabilities and equity instruments

Financial instruments issued by the group are classified as either financial liabilities or as equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangements and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

5.3.3 Financial liabilities and equity instruments (Continued)

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of an entity after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments issued by a group entity are recognised at the proceeds received, net of direct issue costs.

Repurchase of the Group's own equity instruments is recognised and deducted directly in equity. No gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss on the purchase, sale, issue or cancellation of the Group's own equity instruments.

Derivatives

The Group enters into a variety of derivative financial instruments to manage its exposure to interest rate and foreign exchange rate risks, including foreign exchange forward contracts and interest rate swaps.

A derivative is a financial instrument or other contract with all three of the following characteristics:

- Its value changes in response to the change in a specified interest rate, financial instrument price, commodity price, foreign exchange rate, index of prices or rates, credit rating or credit index, or other variable, provided that, in the case of a non-financial variable, it is not specific to a party to the contract (i.e., the 'underlying').
- It requires no initial net investment or an initial net investment that is smaller than would be required for other types of contracts expected to have a similar response to changes in market factors.
- It is settled at a future date.

The Group issues non-convertible debentures, the return of which is linked to performance of specified indices over the period of the debenture. Group enters into derivative contracts to effectively mitigate the risk on such exposure by either minimising the loss or earn a minimum committed income (say for example purchased call and put options) with a wide range of strike prices. This risk mitigation plan has been approved by the risk committee.

Derivatives are initially recognised at fair value and are subsequently re-measured at fair value and the resulting gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss immediately.

Embedded derivatives

An embedded derivative is a component of a hybrid instrument that also includes a non-derivative host contract with the effect that some of the cash flows of the combined instrument vary in a way similar to a standalone derivative. An embedded derivative causes some or all of the cash flows that otherwise would be required by the contract to be modified according to a specified interest rate, foreign exchange rate, or other variable, provided that, in the case of a non-financial variable, it is not specific to a party to the contract.

Derivatives embedded in all other host contracts are accounted for as separate derivatives and recorded at fair value if their economic characteristics and risks are not closely related to those of the host contracts and the host contracts are not held for trading or designated at fair value through profit or loss. These embedded derivatives are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognised in profit or loss, unless designated as effective hedging instruments.

Forward Rate Agreement (FRA) and Interest Rate Futures (IRF)

The Group enters into interest rate derivative transactions i.e. Forward Rate Agreement (FRA) and Interest Rate Futures (IRF) to hedge the interest rate risk arising out of highly probable forecasted future cash inflows.

A Forward Rate Agreement ("FRA") is a forward contract to hedge the risk of movements in interest rates. In FRA contract, Group fixes the yield on the government bond for the period till the maturity of the contract. The Group has entered into FRA to hedge interest rate risk on forecasted premium receivable from already written policies at future dates.

Forward Rate Agreement derivative contracts are over-the-counter (OTC) transactions, agreeing to buy notional value of a debt security at a specified future date, at a price determined at the time of the contract with an objective to lock in the price of an interest bearing security at a future date.

The Forward Rate Agreement (FRA) contract is valued at the difference between the market value of underlying bond at the spot reference yield taken from the SEBI approved rating agency and present value of contracted forward price of underlying bond including present value of intermediate coupon inflows from valuation date till FRA contract settlement date, at applicable INR-OIS rate curve.

Interest rate futures are standardized interest rate derivative contracts which are permitted by IRDAI to hedge risks on forecasted transactions. These are traded on a recognized stock exchange to buy or sell a notional security or any other interest-bearing instrument or an index of such instruments or interest rates at a specified future date, at a price determined at the time of the contract.

The instrument is classified as FVTPL securities and the net gain on fair value change is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Derivatives Instruments are initially recognized at fair value at the date of entering into the derivative contracts and are subsequently re-measured to their fair value at the end of each reporting period. The Group follows Cash Flow Hedge accounting. Hedge effectiveness is ascertained at the inception of the hedge and periodically thereafter.

At the inception of the hedge, the Company documents the relationship between the hedging instrument and the hedged item, the risk management objective, strategy for undertaking the hedge and the methods used to assess the hedge effectiveness. Hedge effectiveness is the degree to which changes in the fair value or cash flows of the hedged item that are attributable to a hedged risk are offset by changes in the fair value or cash flows of the hedging instrument. Hedge effectiveness is ascertained at the time of inception of the hedge and periodically thereafter at Balance Sheet date.

The portion of fair value gain/loss on the IRD that is determined to be an effective hedge is recognized directly in appropriate account i.e. 'Fair value gain/loss on derivatives' under the head Other Comprehensive Income and accumulated under the head of Cash Flow Hedge Reserve in the Balance Sheet and the portion of IRD fair value gain/loss that gets determined as ineffective hedge or ineffective portion of effective hedge, basis the hedge effectiveness assessment is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Forward Rate Agreement (FRA) and Interest Rate Futures (IRF) (Continued)

The accumulated gains or losses that were recognised directly in the Hedge Reserve are reclassified into Statement of Profit and Loss, in the same period during which the income from hedged forecasted cash flows affect the Statement of Profit and Loss (such as in the periods that income on the investments acquired from underlying forecasted cashflow is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss). In the event that all or any portion of loss or gain, recognised directly in the Hedge Reserve is not expected to be recovered in future periods, the amount that is not expected to be recovered is reclassified to the Statement of Profit and Loss. Gains or losses arising from hedge ineffectiveness, if any, are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss. Costs associated with derivative contracts are considered as at a point in time cost.

5.4 Reclassification of financial assets and financial liabilities

The Group does not reclassify its financial assets subsequent to their initial recognition, apart from the exceptional circumstances in which the Group acquires, disposes of, or terminates a business line. Financial liabilities are never reclassified.

5.5 Derecognition of financial assets and financial liabilities

5.5.1 Derecognition of financial assets due to substantial modification of terms and conditions

The Group derecognises a financial asset, such as a loan to a customer, when the terms and conditions have been renegotiated to the extent that, it substantially becomes a new financial assets. In these case to the extent that impairment loss has not already been recorded difference is recognised as derecognition gain or loss in the statement of profit and loss. The newly recognised financial asset are treated as Stage 1 for ECL measurement purposes, unless the new financial asset is classified as Purchased Or Originated Credit Impaired (POCI) assets.

While assessing whether or not to derecognise a financial asset, the Group considers the following factors:

- Change in currency of the loan
- Introduction of an equity feature
- Change in counterparty

If the modification does not result in cash flows that are substantially different, the modification does not result in derecognition. Group calculates modified carrying value by discounting modified cash flow at the original EIR and records a modification gain or loss, to the extent that an impairment loss has not already been recorded.

5.5.2 Derecognition of financial assets (other than due to substantial modification)

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset have expired. The Group also derecognises the financial asset if it has transferred the financial asset and the transfer qualifies for derecognition.

5.5.2 Derecognition of financial assets (other than due to substantial modification) (Continued)

The Group has transferred the financial asset if, and only if, either:

- The Group has transferred its contractual rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset; or
- It retains the rights to the cash flows, but has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a 'pass-through' arrangement.

Pass-through arrangements are transactions whereby the Group retains the contractual rights to receive the cash flows of a financial asset (the 'original asset'), but assumes a contractual obligation to pay those cash flows to one or more entities (the 'eventual recipients'), when all of the following conditions are met:

- The Group has no obligation to pay amounts to the eventual recipients unless it has collected equivalent amounts from the original asset, excluding short-term advances with the right to full recovery of the amount lent plus accrued interest at market rates
- The Group cannot sell or pledge the original asset other than as security to the eventual recipients

The Group has to remit any cash flows it collects on behalf of the eventual recipients without material delay. In addition, the Group is not entitled to reinvest such cash flows, except for investments in cash or cash equivalents including interest earned, during the period between the collection date and the date of required remittance to the eventual recipients.

A transfer qualifies for derecognition only if either:

- The Group has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset; or
- The Group has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

The Group considers control to be transferred if and only if, the transferee has the practical ability to sell the asset in its entirety to an unrelated third party and is able to exercise that ability unilaterally and without imposing additional restrictions on the transfer.

5.5.3 Derecognition of financial liabilities

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged, cancelled or expires.

Where an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing financial liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original financial liability and a new financial liability is recognised. The difference between the carrying value of the original financial liability and the consideration paid, including modified contractual cash flow recognised as new financial liability, would be recognised in profit or loss.

5.6 Impairment of financial assets

The Group records allowance for expected credit losses for all financial assets, other than financial assets held at FVTPL, together with loan commitment and financial guarantee contracts. Equity instruments are not subjected to impairment allowance.

The Group follows 'simplified approach' for recognition of impairment loss allowance on trade receivables and lease receivables. The application of simplified approach does not require the Group to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition. The Group uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss allowance on portfolio of its receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historically observed default rates over the expected life of the receivables. However, if receivables contain a significant financing component, the Group measures the loss allowance by applying general approach.

For all other financial assets, where ECL to be recognised, the Group recognises lifetime ECL when there has been a significant increase in credit risk (SICR) since initial recognition. If, on the other hand, the credit risk has not increased significantly since initial recognition, the Group measures the loss allowance for such instrument at an amount equal to 12-month expected credit losses (12m ECL). The assessment of whether lifetime ECL should be recognised is based on significant increases in the likelihood or risk of a default occurring since initial recognition instead of an evidence of a financial asset being credit-impaired at the reporting date or an actual default occurring.

Lifetime ECL represents the expected credit losses that will result from all possible default events over the expected life. In contrast, 12m ECL represents the portion of lifetime ECL that is expected to result from default events that are possible within 12 months after the reporting date.

The measurement of ECL is a function of the probability of default (PD), loss given default (LGD) (i.e. the magnitude of the loss if there is a default) and the exposure at default (EAD). The assessment of the PD and LGD is based on historical data adjusted for forward-looking information. EAD, for financial assets, is represented by the assets' gross carrying amount at the reporting date; for loan commitments and financial guarantee contracts, the EAD includes the amount drawn down as at the reporting date, together with any additional amounts expected to be drawn down in the future by default date determined based on historical trend, the Group's understanding of the specific future financing needs of the borrowers, and other relevant forward-looking information.

For financial assets, ECL is estimated as the difference between all contractual cash flows that are due to the Group in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the Group expects to receive, discounted at the original effective interest rate. The Group recognises an impairment loss or reversal of impairment loss in the profit and loss statement with a corresponding adjustment to their carrying amount through a loss allowance account.

If a financial instrument includes both a loan (i.e. financial asset) and an undrawn commitment (i.e. loan commitment) component and the Group cannot separately identify the ECL on the loan commitment component from those on the financial asset component, the ECL on the loan commitment is recognised together with the loss allowance for the financial asset. To the extent that the combined ECL exceed the gross carrying amount of the financial asset, excess amount is recognised as a provision. For other loan commitments and all financial guarantee contracts, the loss allowance is recognised as provision.

5.7 Collateral valuation

To mitigate its credit risks on financial assets, the Group seeks to use collateral, where possible. The collateral comes in various forms, such as cash, securities, letters of credit/guarantees, real estate, receivables, inventories, other non-financial assets and credit enhancements such as netting agreements. Depending on its form, Collateral can have a significant financial effect in mitigating the Group's credit risk and the fair value of collateral affects the calculation of ECLs. Fair value of Collateral is generally assessed, at the inception and re-assessed on a periodical basis. Collateral with frequent changes in underlying value and requiring counterparty to maintain stipulated margin/security cover, is valued daily.

To the extent possible, the Group uses active market data for valuing financial assets held as collateral. Other financial assets which do not have readily determinable market values are valued using valuation models.

5.8 Repossessed Collateral

The Group's policy is to determine whether a repossessed asset can be best used for its internal operations or should be sold. Repossessed assets determined to be useful for the internal operations are transferred to their relevant asset category at the lower of their repossessed value or the carrying value of the original secured asset. Other assets are transferred to 'Assets held for sale' at their fair value (if financial assets) and fair value less cost to sell for non-financial assets at the repossession date in line with the Group's policy.

In its normal course of business, the Group does not physically repossess properties or other assets in its retail portfolio, but engages external agents to recover funds, generally at auction, to settle outstanding debt. Any surplus funds are returned to the customers/obligors.

5.9 Write off

Financial assets are written off either partially or in their entirety only when the Group has no reasonable expectation of recovery. Any subsequent recoveries are credited to impairment on financial instrument on statement of profit and loss.

5.10 Forborne and modified loan

Considering borrower's financial difficulties the Group may sometimes make some concessions or modifications to the original terms of loans. The Group considers a loan forborne when such concessions or modifications are provided as a result of the borrower's present or expected financial difficulties and the Group would not have agreed to them if the borrower had been in good financial health. Forbearance may involve extending the payment arrangements and the agreement of new loan conditions. Once the terms are renegotiated, impairment is measured using the original EIR on modified cash flows. Where such concessions are granted Group continue to monitor forborne loans for an observable period for regular payment of renegotiated cash flows. Group evaluates each case for derecognition and classification of loan in Stage 2 or Stage 3. If these procedures identify a loss in relation to a loan, it is disclosed and managed as an impaired Stage 3 forborne asset, until it is collected or written off.

5.11 Determination of fair value

The Group measures its qualifying financial instruments, at fair value at each balance sheet date. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

5.11 Determination of fair value (Continued)

- In the principal market for the asset or liability, or
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Group.

The Group uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs. In order to show how fair values have been derived, financial instruments are classified based on a hierarchy of valuation techniques, as summarised below:

- Level 1 financial instruments – Those where the inputs used in the valuation are unadjusted quoted prices from active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Group has access at the measurement date. The Group considers markets as active only if there are sufficient trading activities with regards to the volume and liquidity of the identical assets or liabilities and when there are binding and exercisable price quotes available on the balance sheet date.
- Level 2 financial instruments – Those where the inputs that are used for valuation are significant and are derived from directly or indirectly observable market data available over the entire period of the instrument's life.
- Level 3 financial instruments – Those that include one or more unobservable input that is significant to the measurement as whole. For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Group determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period. The Group periodically reviews its valuation techniques including the adopted methodologies and model calibrations.

Therefore, the Group applies various techniques to estimate the credit risk associated with its financial instruments measured at fair value, which include a portfolio-based approach that estimates the expected net exposure per counterparty over the full lifetime of the individual assets, in order to reflect the credit risk of the individual counterparties for non-collateralised financial instruments.

The Group evaluates the levelling at each reporting period on an instrument-by-instrument basis and reclassifies instruments when necessary based on the facts at the end of the reporting period.

5.12 Revenue from contracts with customers

Revenue is measured at transaction price i.e. the amount of consideration to which the Group expects to be entitled in exchange for transferring promised goods or services to the customer, excluding amounts collected on behalf of third parties. The Group consider the terms of the contract and its customary business practices to determine the transaction price. Where the consideration promised is variable, the Group excludes the estimates of variable consideration that are constrained. The Group applies the five-step approach for the recognition of revenue:

- I. Identification of contract
- II. Identification of the separate performance obligation in the contract

- III. Determination of transaction price
- IV. Allocation of transaction price to separate performance obligation and
- V. Recognition of revenue when (or as) each performance obligation is satisfied

The Group recognises revenue (net of applicable Goods and Service Tax (GST)) from the following sources:

- a. Fee income including investment banking, advisory fees and syndication fees, is accounted in accordance with agreement entered into with respective investment managers / advisors.
- b. Clearing fee income arises, when the performance obligation related to trade is executed and a valid contract is generated for the trade. Fee income is accounted for, at a point in time or over a period of time in accordance with the terms and contracts entered into between the Group and the counterparty.
- c. Brokerage income including client subscription fees is recognised as per contracted rates at the point in time when transaction's performance obligation is satisfied on behalf of the customers on the trade date.
- d. Investment management fees are recognised net of GST over the tenure in accordance with the Investment Management Agreement with Investment Manager.
- e. Management fee from trusts declared by it for acquisition of financial assets and the same is accounted for over the tenure as per terms of the relevant trust deeds and offer document issued by the Trust. Further any upside share in excess realisation over acquisition price of financial asset is recognised in accordance with terms of the relevant trust deed/offer document. Redemption incentive and recovery incentive is accounted over the period on cash basis, i.e. as and when received by the Group as per the terms of the relevant trust deeds and offer document issued by the Trust.
- f. Portfolio management fees are recognised over the tenure in accordance with portfolio management agreement entered with respective clients.
- g. Interest on delayed payments and rental income are recognised as revenue on certainty of realisation.
- h. Agency commission/procurement income is recorded in pursuant to terms and conditions mentioned in scope of work or agreement.
- i. Real estate advisory fee is recognised as per the terms and conditions mentioned in the agreement.
- j. Revenue from fund management services (excluding mutual fund business) is recognised over the tenure in accordance with the terms and conditions of the investment management agreement between the Group and the Fund for which the Group acts as a fund manager.
- k. Revenue from rendering of trustee services is recognised in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Compensation Agreement between the trustee company and the fund.
- l. Sales of Commodities is accounted as per the terms of agreement with parties.

- m. The Group recognises incremental costs of obtaining a contract with a customer as an asset if it expects to recover those costs. This asset is amortised to profit or loss on a systematic basis consistent with the transfer to the customer of the goods or services to which the asset relates.
- n. Lease rentals are recognised as income in Statement of Profit and Loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Costs related to operating and maintenance of investment property is recognised as expense.
- o. Insurance and other claims are recognised as revenue on certainty of realisation.
- p. Profit or loss on sale of investments is recognised on trade date basis.

5.13 Leases

Group as a lessee

The Group makes an assessment of lease at the time of inception of a contract and if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period in exchange for consideration, same is recognised as Lease liability. The Group applies a single recognition and measurement approach for all leases, except for short-term leases and leases of low-value assets. The Group recognises lease liabilities to make lease payments and right-of-use assets representing the right to use the underlying assets.

Lease Liabilities

At the initial recognition, the Group measures lease liabilities at present value of all lease payments discounted, using the Group's incremental cost of borrowing, to be made over the lease term. The lease payments include fixed payments (including in substance fixed payments) less any lease incentives receivable, variable lease payments that depend on an index or a rate, and amounts expected to be paid under residual value guarantees.

Subsequently, the lease liability is:

- increased to reflect the accretion of interest; and
- reduced for the lease payments made and
- remeasured to reflect any change in the lease term, change in the lease payments (e.g., changes to future payments resulting from a change in an index or rate used to determine such lease payments), or change in option to purchase the underlying asset.

Measurement of Right of use assets

The Group recognises 'Right-of-Use' assets at the commencement date of the lease (i.e., the date the underlying asset is available for use). The cost of 'Right-of-Use' assets includes the amount of lease liabilities recognised, initial direct costs incurred, and lease payments made at or before the commencement date less any lease incentives received.

Subsequently 'Right-of-Use' assets are measured at cost less any accumulated depreciation; and impairment losses; and adjusted for any remeasurement of lease liabilities. Right-of-use assets are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the lease term or the estimated useful lives of the assets whichever is short.

Short term lease

The Group has elected not to recognise 'Right of Use' asset and lease liabilities for short term leases of 12 months or less. The Group recognises lease payment associated with these leases as expense on a straight-line basis over lease term.

Group as lessor

Leases in which the Group does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an asset is classified as operating leases. Rental income arising is accounted for on a straight-line basis over the lease terms. Initial direct costs incurred in negotiating and arranging an operating lease are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset and recognised over the lease term on the same basis as rental income. Contingent rents are recognised as revenue in the period in which they are earned.

Leases are classified as finance leases when substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership transfer from the Group to the lessee. Amounts due from lessees under finance leases are recorded as receivables at the Group's net investment in the leases. Finance lease income is allocated to accounting periods so as to reflect a constant periodic rate of return on the net investment outstanding in respect of the lease.

5.14 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to the equity shareholders of the Holding Company for the year by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding for the year.

Diluted earnings per share reflect the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue equity shares were exercised or converted during the year. Diluted earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to the equity shareholders for the year by weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earnings per share and weighted average number of equity shares that could have been issued upon conversion of all dilutive potential equity shares.

5.15 Foreign currency transactions

The Consolidated Financial information are presented in Indian Rupees which is also functional currency of the Parent. For each entity the Group determines the functional currency and items included in the financial statements of each entity are measured using that functional currency. Transactions in currencies other than Indian Rupees (i.e. foreign currencies) are recognized at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions. At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rates prevailing at that date. Non-monetary items carried at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated. Foreign exchange Translation Reserve (FCTR) thus created is recognised in Other Comprehensive Income.

In respect of monetary assets and liabilities, in ordinary course of business, are translated at exchange rate prevailing at the dates of the transactions and subsequently remeasured at rates prevailing at end of each reporting period. Exchange gain/(loss) arising thereof is recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

5.16 Retirement and other employee benefit

Provident fund and national pension scheme

The Group contributes to a recognised provident fund and national pension scheme which is a defined contribution scheme. The contributions are accounted for as expense, when an employee renders the related service in the statement of profit and loss.

Gratuity

The Group's gratuity scheme is a defined benefit plan. An independent actuarial valuation is carried out to determine the present value of the obligation under such benefit plan using the Projected Unit Credit Method. Benefits in respect of gratuity are funded with an Insurance company approved by Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (IRDA). Any deficits in plan assets managed by Insurer as compared to present valuation of obligation, determined by actuary, are recognised as a liability.

Remeasurements, comprising of actuarial gains and losses; the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), are recognised immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through OCI in the period in which they occur.

Remeasurements are not reclassified to profit or loss in subsequent periods.

Compensated Absences

The eligible employees of the Group are permitted to carry forward certain number of their annual leave entitlement to subsequent years, subject to a ceiling. The Group recognises the charge in the statement of profit and loss and corresponding liability on such non-vesting accumulated leave entitlement based on a valuation by an independent actuary. The cost of providing annual leave benefits is determined using the projected unit credit method.

Past service costs are recognised in profit or loss on the earlier of:

- The date of the plan amendment or curtailment, and
- The date that the Group recognises related restructuring costs

Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability or asset. The Group recognises the following changes in the net defined benefit obligation as an expense in the consolidated statement of profit and loss:

- Service costs comprising current service costs, past-service costs, gains and losses on curtailments and non-routine settlements; and
- Net interest expense or income

5.17 Share-based payment arrangements

Equity-settled share-based payments to employees are granted by the ultimate Holding Company. These are measured by reference to the fair value of the equity instruments at the grant date. These includes Stock Appreciation Rights (SARs) which grants employees right to receive the difference between the SAR price and the market price of equity shares of the ultimate Holding Company on the date of vesting. Settlement of the difference can be made, either in cash or by issuance of equity shares of the ultimate Holding Company, is at the discretion of the ultimate Holding Company. These are classified as equity settled share-based transaction.

The fair value determined at the grant date of the equity-settled share-based payments is expensed over the vesting period, based on the Group's estimate of equity instruments that will eventually vest, with a corresponding increase in equity. At the end of each reporting period, the Group estimates the number of equity instruments expected to vest. The impact of the revision over the original estimates, is recognised in profit or loss such that the cumulative expense reflects the revised estimate, with a corresponding adjustment to the 'ESOP reserve'. In cases where the share options granted vest in tranches over the vesting period, the Group treats each tranche as a separate grant, because of different vesting period and difference in, the fair value of each tranche.

5.18 Property, plant and equipment and right – of – use assets

Property plant and equipment (PPE) is stated at cost excluding the costs of day-to-day servicing, less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment in value. PPE is recognised when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item is expected to flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. Changes in the expected useful life are accounted for by changing the amortisation period or methodology, as appropriate, and treated as changes in accounting estimates.

Subsequent costs incurred on an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised in the carrying amount thereof when those costs meet the recognition criteria. Repairs and maintenance are recognised in profit or loss as cost.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on the disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Capital work in progress is stated at cost, net of accumulated impairment loss, if any.

Depreciation is recognised so as to write off the cost of assets (other than freehold land and properties under construction) less their residual values over their useful lives. Depreciation is provided on a written down value basis from the date the asset is ready for its intended use or put to use whichever is earlier. In respect of assets sold, depreciation is provided upto the date of disposal.

As per the requirement of Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013, the Group has evaluated the useful lives of the respective property, plant and equipment which are as per the provisions of Part C of the Schedule II for calculating the depreciation. The estimated useful lives of the property, plant and equipment are as follows:

Nature of assets	Estimated useful life
Building (other than Factory Building)	60 years
Plant and Equipments	15 years
Furniture and fixtures	10 years
Vehicles	8 years
Vessel (Boat)	13 years
Office Equipment	5 years
Computers - Servers and networks	6 years
Computers - End user devices, such as desktops, laptops, etc.	3 years
Solar power plant	15 years

Land and buildings are subsequently shown at fair value based on periodic valuations by external independent valuers, less subsequent depreciation for buildings. Valuations will be carried out on a regular basis, unless the management consider it appropriate to have an earlier revaluation, such that the carrying amount of property does not differ materially from that which would be determined using fair values at the end of the reporting period. Any accumulated depreciation at the date of revaluation is eliminated from the gross carrying amount of the asset, and the net amount is restated to the revalued amount of the asset.

Subsequent measurement of land and building under revaluation model

Increases in the carrying amount arising on revaluation of land and buildings are credited to other comprehensive income and shown as a revaluation reserve in shareholders' equity. An exception is a gain on revaluation that reverses a revaluation decrease (impairment) on the same asset previously recognised as an expense. Decreases that offset previous increases of the same asset are charged in other comprehensive income and debited against the revaluation reserve directly in equity; all other decreases are charged to profit or loss. Each year the difference between depreciation based on the revalued carrying amount of the asset charged to profit or loss and depreciation based on the asset's original cost is transferred from the revaluation reserve to retained earnings.

Right-of-use assets are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. The carrying amount of those components which have been separately recognised as assets is derecognised at the time of replacement thereof. Any gain or loss arising on the disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in profit or loss.

The residual values, useful lives and methods of depreciation of property, plant and equipment are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

5.19 Intangible assets

The Group's intangible assets mainly include the value of computer software and management rights. An intangible asset is recognised only when its cost can be measured reliably and it is probable that the expected future economic benefits that are attributable to it will flow to the Group.

Intangible assets acquired separately are measured on initial recognition at cost. Intangible assets acquired in a business combination are recognised at their fair value as at the date of acquisition. Subsequently, intangible assets are carried at cost less any accumulated amortisation and any accumulated impairment losses. Intangible assets with finite lives are amortised over the useful economic life.

An intangible asset is derecognised on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from use or disposal. Gains and losses arising from derecognition of an intangible asset, measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the assets are recognised in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognised.

5.20 Impairment of non-financial assets

The Group assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may have been impaired based on internal/ external factors. If any such indication exists, the Group estimates the recoverable amount of the asset. If such recoverable amount of the asset or the recoverable amount of cash generating unit which the asset belongs to is less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount is reduced to its recoverable amount. The reduction is treated as an impairment loss and is recognised in the statement of profit and loss. If at the balance sheet date there is an indication that a previously assessed impairment loss no longer exists, the recoverable amount is reassessed and the asset is reflected at the recoverable amount subject to a maximum of the depreciable historical cost.

5.21 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalent in the balance sheet comprise cash at banks and on hand and short-term deposits with an original maturity of three months or less, that are readily convertible to a known amount of cash and subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

5.22 Provisions and other contingent liabilities

Provisions are recognised when the Group has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that the Group will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows to net present value using an appropriate pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and, where appropriate, the risks specific to the liability.

A present obligation that arises from past events, where it is either not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle or a reliable estimate of the amount cannot be made, is disclosed as a contingent liability. Contingent liabilities are also disclosed when there is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Group. Claims against the Group, where the possibility of any outflow of resources in settlement is remote, are not disclosed as contingent liabilities.

Contingent assets are not recognised in the financial statements since this may result in the recognition of income that may never be realised. However, when the realisation of income is virtually certain, then the related asset is not a contingent asset and is recognised.

5.23 Income tax

Income tax expense represents the sum of the current tax and deferred tax.

5.23.1 Current tax

The tax payable for the reporting period is computed on taxable profit for the year. The Group's current tax is calculated using tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. Current income tax assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted or substantively enacted, at the reporting date in the countries where the Group operates and generates taxable income.

Current income tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Current tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and considers whether it is probable that a taxation authority will accept an uncertain tax treatment. The group shall reflect the effect of uncertainty for each uncertain tax treatment by using either most likely method or expected value method, depending on which method predicts better resolution of the treatment.

5.23.2 Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognised using Balance Sheet approach on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit. Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilised.

Deferred tax assets are also recognised with respect to carry forward of unused tax losses and unused tax credits to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the unused tax losses and unused tax credits can be utilized, except;

- When the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss
- In respect of deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that the temporary differences will reverse in the foreseeable future and taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised

It is probable that taxable profit will be available against which a deductible temporary difference, unused tax loss or unused tax credit can be utilised when there are sufficient taxable temporary differences which are expected to reverse in the period of reversal of deductible temporary difference or in periods in which a tax loss can be carried forward or back. When this is not the case, deferred tax asset is recognised to the extent it is probable that:

- the entity will have sufficient taxable profit in the same period as reversal of deductible temporary difference or periods in which a tax loss can be carried forward or back; or
- tax planning opportunities are available that will create taxable profit in appropriate periods.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset realised, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the subsidiaries expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

The Group offsets deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities if and only if it has a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets and current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority on either the same taxable entity or different taxable entities which intend either to settle current tax liabilities and assets on a net basis, or to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously, in each future period in which significant amounts of deferred tax liabilities or assets are expected to be settled or recovered.

Current and deferred tax are recognised in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively.

Minimum alternate tax (MAT)

MAT paid in a year is charged to the statement of profit and loss as current tax. The Group recognises unused MAT credit as a deferred tax asset only to the extent that it is probable that the Group will be able to utilise during the specified period, i.e., the period for which MAT credit is allowed to be carried forward. In the year in which the Group recognises deferred tax asset (MAT credit) as an asset, the said asset is created by way of credit to the statement of profit and loss. The Group reviews the MAT asset at each reporting date and writes down the asset to the extent that it is not probable that the Group will be able to utilise it during the specified period.

5.24 Investment properties

Properties, including those under construction, held to earn rentals and/or capital appreciation are classified as investment property and are measured and reported at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss, if any.

Depreciation is recognised using written down method so as to write off the cost of the investment property less their residual values over their useful lives specified in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013 or in the case of assets where the useful life was determined by technical evaluation, over the useful life so determined. Depreciation method is reviewed at each financial year end to reflect the expected pattern of consumption of the future benefits embodied in the investment property. The estimated useful life and residual values are also reviewed at each financial year end and the effect of any change in the estimates of useful life/residual value is accounted on prospective basis.

An investment property is derecognised upon disposal or when the investment property is permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefits are expected from the disposal. Any gain or loss arising on derecognition of property is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the same period.

5.25 Business Combination

The acquisition method of accounting is used for business combinations by the Group. The cost of an acquisition is measured as the aggregate of the consideration transferred measured at acquisition date fair value and the amount of any non-controlling interests in the acquiree. At the acquisition date, the identifiable assets acquired and the liabilities assumed are recognised at their acquisition date fair values. Goodwill is initially measured as the excess of the aggregate of the consideration transferred and the amount recognised for non-controlling interests, and any previous interest held, over the net identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed. After initial recognition, goodwill is tested for impairment annually or more frequently if impairment indicators exists. For the purpose of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is, from the acquisition date, allocated to each of the Group's cash-generating units that are expected to benefit from the combination, irrespective of whether other assets or liabilities of the acquiree are assigned to those units.

Business combination under common control

Common control business combinations includes transactions, such as transfer of subsidiaries or businesses, between entities within a group. Group has accounted all such transactions based on pooling of interest method, as follows:-

- The assets and liabilities of the combining entities are reflected at their carrying amounts.
- No adjustments are made to reflect fair values, or recognise any new assets or liabilities.
- The financial information in the financial statements in respect of prior periods are restated as if the business combination had occurred from the beginning of the preceding period in the financial statements, irrespective of the actual date of the combination.

The identity of the reserves shall be preserved and shall appear in the financial statements of the transferee in the same form in which they appeared in the financial statements of the transferor. The difference, if any, between the amount recorded as share capital issued plus any additional consideration in the form of cash or other assets and the amount of share capital of the transferor shall be transferred to capital reserve.

5.26 Significant accounting policies of life insurance business (Edelweiss Tokio Life Insurance Company Limited ("ETLIFE")):

a. Product classification

Insurance contract

Insurance contracts are those contracts when ETLIFE has accepted significant insurance risk from the policyholders by agreeing to compensate the policyholders if a specified uncertain future event (the insured event) adversely affects the policyholders.

As a general guideline, ETLIFE determines whether it has significant insurance risk, by comparing benefits paid with benefits payable if the insured event did not occur. Such contract remains an insurance contract for the remainder of its lifetime, even if the insurance risk reduces significantly during this period, unless all rights and obligations are extinguished or expire. Contracts can be classified as insurance contracts after inception if insurance risk becomes significant.

Investment contract

Investment contracts are those contracts which are not insurance contract. Investment contracts are those contracts that transfer financial risk with no significant insurance risk. Investment contracts can, however, be reclassified as insurance contracts after inception if insurance risk becomes significant. Some insurance and investment contracts contain a discretionary participation feature (DPF), which is a contractual right to receive additional benefits as a supplement to guaranteed benefits.

Insurance and investment contracts are further classified as with DPF, Linked Business and Others. Insurance contracts and investment contracts with DPF are measured and accounted under existing accounting practices at the date of transition to Ind-AS which is in accordance with Ind AS 104.

b. Revenue recognition

• Premium Income

Premium income on insurance contracts and investment contracts with DPF are recognised as income when due from policyholders. For regular premium contracts, receivables are recognised at the date when payments are due.

In respect of linked business, premium income is recognised when the associated units are allotted. Top up premiums paid by unit-linked policyholders are considered as single premium and recognised as income when the associated units are created.

Where policies lapse due to non-receipt of premiums, then all the related premium income accrued but not received from the date they are deemed to have lapsed is offset against premiums. Premium on lapsed policies is recognised as income on receipt basis on reinstatement or revival of these policies.

- Premium Income (Continued)

Investments contract policyholders are charged fees for policy administration, investment management, surrenders or other contract services. The fees may be fixed amounts or vary with the amounts being managed and will generally be charged as an adjustment to the policyholder's balance.

For investment contract without DPF, deposit accounting in accordance with Ind AS 104 and Ind AS 109 is followed. Consequently only to the extent of charges and fees collected from such investment contract is accounted as income in statement of profit and loss, unless they relate to services to be provided in future periods, in which case they are deferred and recognized as and when the services are provided.

- Reinsurance premium ceded

Reinsurance premium ceded is accounted at the time of recognition of premium income in accordance with the treaty or in principle arrangement/agreement with the reinsurers.

- Income from Unit Linked Policies

Income from unit-linked policies, which include fund management charges, policy administration charges, mortality charges and other charges, wherever applicable, are recovered from the unit-linked funds in accordance with the terms and conditions of the policies issued and are recognised as and when due.

- Fee management charges of investment contract

Investments contract policyholders are charged fees for policy administration, investment management, surrenders or other contract services. The fees may be fixed amounts or vary with the amounts being managed and will generally be charged as an adjustment to the policyholder's balance. The fees are recognised as revenue in the period in which they are collected unless they relate to services to be provided in future periods, in which case they are deferred and recognised as and when the services are provided.

- Interest income on policy loans is recognised using effective interest rate method

c. Acquisition costs

Acquisition cost which are primarily relatable to the acquisition of insurance and investment contracts with DPF are expensed in the period in which they are incurred.

For investment contracts with or without DPF, acquisition costs that are directly attributable to securing an investment contract are deferred and amortised over the period in which the service is provided.

d. Reinsurance ceded

ETLIFE cedes reinsurance in the normal course of business, with retention limits varying by line of business. Premiums ceded and claims reimbursed are presented on a gross basis in the statement of profit and loss.

Reinsurance assets primarily include balances due from reinsurance companies for ceded insurance. Amounts recoverable from reinsurers are estimated in a manner consistent with the underlying contract liabilities, outstanding claims provisions or settled claims associated with the reinsured policies and in accordance with the relevant reinsurance contract.

Reinsurance assets are reviewed for impairment at each reporting date, or more frequently, when an indication of impairment arises during the reporting period. Impairment occurs when there is objective evidence as a result of an event that occurred after initial recognition of the reinsurance asset that the Company may not receive all outstanding amounts due under the terms of the contract and the event has a reliably measurable impact on the amounts that the Company will receive from the reinsurer. The impairment loss is recorded in the statement of Profit or loss.

e. Liability adequacy test

ETLIFE assesses at the end of each reporting period whether its recognised insurance liabilities are adequate, using current estimates of future cash flows under its insurance contracts. If that assessment shows that the carrying amount of its insurance liabilities is inadequate in the light of the estimated future cash flows, the entire deficiency shall be recognised in the statement of profit or loss.

- Claims Incurred

Claims incurred comprise of claims paid (net of salvage and other recoveries), change in estimated liability for outstanding claims made following a loss occurrence reported and estimated liability for claims Incurred But Not Reported (IBNR) and claims Incurred But Not Enough Reported (IBNER). Further, claims incurred also include specific claim settlement costs comprising survey fees, legal expenses and other directly attributable costs. Claims (net of amounts receivable from reinsurers/coinsurers) are recognised on the date of intimation based on internal management estimates or on estimates from surveyors/insured in the respective revenue account(s).

Estimated liability for outstanding claims at balance sheet date is recorded net of claims recoverable from / payable to co-insurers / reinsurers, salvage to the extent there is certainty of realisation and other recoveries. Estimated liability for outstanding claims is determined by the management on the basis of ultimate amounts likely to be paid on each claim, established by the management in light of past experience and progressively modified for changes as appropriate, on availability of further information and in cases where claim payment period exceeds four years based on actuarial valuation. These estimates include claim settlement costs likely to be incurred to settle outstanding claims.

IBNR reserves are provisions for claims that may have been incurred during the accounting period but have not been reported or claimed. The IBNR provision also includes provision, for claims that have been incurred but are not enough reported (IBNER). The provision for IBNR and IBNER is based on actuarial estimate duly certified by the Appointed Actuary of ZGIL. The actuarial estimate is derived in accordance with relevant IRDAI regulations and Guidance Note GN 21 issued by the Institute of Actuaries of India. The Appointed Actuary has certified that the methodology and assumptions used to estimate the liability are appropriate and in accordance with guidelines and norms issued by the Institute of Actuaries of India in concurrence with the IRDAI regulations.

- Premium deficiency

Premium deficiency ('PDR') is recognised at segmental revenue account level, when the sum of expected net claim costs, related expenses and maintenance costs (related to claims handling) exceed the reserve for unexpired risks. The premium deficiency is calculated and duly certified by the Appointed Actuary.

6. Critical accounting judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty

In the application of the Group's accounting policies, described in note 5, the management is required to make judgements, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period, or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

6. Critical accounting judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty (Continued)

6.1. Critical judgements in applying accounting policies

The following are the critical judgements, apart from those involving estimations, that the management has made in the process of applying the Group's accounting policies and that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the consolidated financial statements.

a. Business model assessment

Classification and measurement of financial assets depends on the results of business model test. The Group determines the business model at a level that reflects how groups of financial assets are managed together to achieve a particular business objective. This assessment includes judgement reflecting all relevant evidence including how the performance of the assets is evaluated and their performance is measured, the risks that affect the performance of the assets and how these are managed and how the managers of the assets are compensated. The Group monitors financial assets measured at amortised cost that are derecognised prior to their maturity to understand the quantum, the reason for their disposal and whether the reasons are consistent with the objective of the business for which the asset was held. Group continuously monitors whether the business model for which the remaining financial assets are held continues to be appropriate and if it is not appropriate whether there has been a change in business model and so a prospective change to the classification of those assets is required.

b. Significant increase in credit risk

ECL is measured as allowance equal to 12-month ECL for stage 1 assets, or lifetime ECL for stage 2 or stage 3 assets. An asset moves to stage 2 when its credit risk has increased significantly since initial recognition. In assessing whether the credit risk of an asset has significantly increased the Group takes into account qualitative and quantitative reasonable and supportable forward-looking information.

c. Consolidation of structured entities

A structured entity is an entity that has been designed so that voting or similar rights are not the dominant factor in deciding who controls the entity, such as when any voting rights relate to administrative tasks only and the relevant activities are directed by means of contractual arrangements. In the context of the Group, structured entities comprise securitisation trusts in asset reconstruction business, mutual fund schemes and alternative investment funds / schemes thereof. The Group consolidates the structured entities that it controls. When making this judgement, the Group also considers voting and similar rights available to itself and other parties, who may limit the Group's ability to control, including rights to appoint, reassign or remove members of the structured entity's key management personnel who have the ability to direct the relevant activities, the exposure to variability of returns and whether the Group has the ability to use its power to affect the amount of the Group's returns i.e. the variability of returns in relation to the total returns of the investee entity.

d. Determining lease term for lease contracts with renewal and termination option

The Group determines the lease term as the non-cancellable term of the lease, together with any periods covered by an option to extend the lease if it is reasonably certain to be exercised, or any periods covered by an option to terminate the lease, if it is reasonably certain not to be exercised.

The Group has several lease contracts that include extension and termination options. The Group applies judgement in evaluating whether it is reasonably certain, whether or not, to exercise the option to renew or terminate the lease. That is, it considers all relevant factors that create an economic incentive for it to exercise either the renewal or termination. After the commencement date, the Group reassesses the lease term if there is a significant event or change in circumstances that is within its control that affects its ability to exercise or not to exercise the option to renew or to terminate (e.g., construction of significant leasehold improvements or significant customisation of the leased asset).

6.2 Key sources of estimation uncertainty

The Group based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available all the time consolidated financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising that are beyond the control of the Group. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur. Following are the key assumptions concerning the future, and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the end of the reporting period that may have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year.

a. Fair value of financial instruments

The fair value of financial instruments is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction in the principal (or most advantageous) market at the measurement date under current market conditions (i.e., an exit price) regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique. When the fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded in the balance sheet cannot be derived from active markets, they are determined using a variety of valuation techniques that include the use of valuation models. The inputs to these models are taken from observable markets wherever possible, but where this is not feasible, estimation is required in establishing fair values.

For investments made into Security receipts (SRs), Group uses discounted cash flow model, given that the SRs are less liquid instruments. Expected cash flow levels including timing of cash flows are estimated by using quantitative and qualitative measures regarding the characteristics of the underlying assets including default rates, nature and value of collaterals, manner of resolution and other economic drivers. For any valuation which are based on models, Judgements and estimates are applied, which include considerations of liquidity, credit risk (both own and counterparty), funding value adjustments, correlation and volatility.

b. Impairment of financial assets

The measurement of impairment losses across all categories of financial assets requires judgement, in particular, the estimation of the amount and timing of future cash flows and collateral values when determining impairment losses and the assessment of a significant increase in credit risk. These estimates are driven by a number of factors, changes in which can result in different levels of allowances.

The Group's ECL calculations are outputs of models with a number of underlying assumptions regarding the choice of variable inputs and their interdependencies. Elements of the ECL models that are considered accounting judgements and estimates include:

- PD calculation includes historical data, assumptions and expectations of future conditions.
- The Group's criteria for assessing if there has been a significant increase in credit risk and so allowances for financial assets should be measured on a life-time expected credit loss and the qualitative assessment
- The segmentation of financial assets when their ECL is assessed on a collective basis
- Development of ECL models, including the various formulas and the choice of inputs
- Determination of associations between macroeconomic scenarios and economic inputs, such as unemployment levels and collateral values, and the effect on PDs, EAD and LGD
- Selection of forward-looking macroeconomic scenarios and their probability weightings, to derive the economic inputs into the ECL models

It is Group's policy to regularly review its models in the context of actual loss experience and adjust when necessary.

c. Effective interest rate method

The Group's EIR methodology, as explained in Note 5.1, recognises interest income / expense using a rate of return that represents the best estimate of a constant rate of return over the expected behavioural life of loans given / taken and recognises the effect of characteristics of the product life cycle.

This estimation, by nature, requires an element of judgement regarding the expected behaviour and life-cycle of the instruments, as well expected changes fee income/expense that are integral parts of the instrument.

d. Accounting for deferred taxes

Deferred tax assets are recognised for unused tax losses to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the losses can be utilised. Significant management judgement is required to determine the amount of deferred tax assets that can be recognised, based upon the likely timing and the level of future taxable profits together with future tax planning strategies.

The Group has recognised deferred tax assets on carried forward tax losses with respect to certain subsidiaries where the Group believes that the said deferred tax assets shall be recoverable based on the estimated future taxable income which in turn is based on approved business plans and budgets. The losses are allowed to be carried forward to the years in which the Group expects that there will be sufficient taxable profits to offset these losses.

e. Estimating the incremental borrowing rate

The Group cannot readily determine the interest rate implicit in the lease, therefore, it uses its incremental borrowing rate ('IBR') to measure lease liabilities. Incremental borrowing rate is the rate of interest that the Group would have to pay to borrow over a similar term, and with a similar security, the funds necessary to obtain an asset of a similar value to the right-of-use asset in a similar economic environment.

f. Asset liability management

Management has made an assessment of its ability to continue and is satisfied that it has the resources to continue in business for the foreseeable future.

7. Standards issued but not yet effective

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) has notified Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Amendment Rules, 2023 dated 31 March 2023 to amend the following Ind AS which are effective from 01 April 2023.

(i) Amendment to Ind AS 8 - Definition of Accounting Estimates

The amendments clarify the distinction between changes in accounting estimates and changes in accounting policies and the correction of errors. It has also been clarified how entities use measurement techniques and inputs to develop accounting estimates.

The amendments are effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 April 2023 and apply to changes in accounting policies and changes in accounting estimates that occur on or after the start of that period.

The amendments are not expected to have a material impact on the Group's financial statements.

7. Standards issued but not yet effective (Continued)

(ii) Amendment to Ind AS 1- Disclosure of Accounting Policies

The amendments aim to help entities provide accounting policy disclosures that are more useful by replacing the requirement for entities to disclose their 'significant' accounting policies with a requirement to disclose their 'material' accounting policies and adding guidance on how entities apply the concept of materiality in making decisions about accounting policy disclosures.

Consequential amendments have been made in Ind AS 107.

The Group is currently revisiting their accounting policy information disclosures to ensure consistency with the amended requirements.

(iii) Amendment to Ind AS 12 - Deferred Tax related to Assets and Liabilities arising from a Single Transaction

The amendments narrow the scope of the initial recognition exception under Ind AS 12, so that it no longer applies to transactions that give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences.

The amendments should be applied to transactions that occur on or after the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented. In addition, at the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented, a deferred tax asset (provided that sufficient taxable profit is available) and a deferred tax liability should also be recognised for all deductible and taxable temporary differences associated with leases and decommissioning obligations.

Consequential amendments have been made in Ind AS 101.

The amendments to Ind AS 12 are applicable for annual periods beginning on or after 1 April 2023.

The Group is currently assessing the impact of the amendments.

55. Share based payments: Employee Stock Option Plans and Stock Appreciation Rights Plans

Edelweiss Financial Services Limited ("EFSL" hereafter), has recognised share based payment expenses for the years ended 31 March 2023 and 31 March 2022 based on fair value as on the grant date calculated as per option pricing model. The grants represent equity-settled options under the Employee Stock Option Plans and Stock Appreciation Rights Plans (hereafter referred to as, "ESOP 2011" and "SAR 2019" or "ESOPs" "SARs").

The EFSL has granted ESOPs under the two plans viz., ESOP 2011 & SAR 2019 to its employees on an equity-settled basis as tabulated below. The ESOPs/SARs provide a right to its holders (i.e., Edelweiss group employees) to purchase one EFSL share for each option at a pre-determined strike price on the expiry of the vesting period. The ESOP/SAR hence represents an European call option that provides a right but not an obligation to the employees of the Edelweiss group to exercise the option by paying the strike price at any time on completion of the vesting period, subject to an outer boundary on the exercise period.

56. Fair Value Measurement

56.1. Valuation Principles :

Fair value is the price that would be received against sale of an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction in the principal (or most advantageous) market at the measurement date under current market conditions (i.e., an exit price), regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using a valuation technique. In order to show how fair values have been derived, financial instruments are classified based on a hierarchy of valuation techniques explained in Note 56.4

56.2. Valuation governance :

The Group's fair value methodology and the governance over its models includes a number of controls and other procedures to ensure appropriate safeguards are in place to ensure its quality and adequacy. All new product initiatives (including their valuation methodologies) are subject to approvals by various functions of the Group including the risk and finance functions.

Where fair values are determined by reference to externally quoted prices or observable pricing inputs to models, independent price determination or validation is used. For inactive markets, Company sources alternative market information, with greater weight given to information that is considered to be more relevant and reliable.

The responsibility of ongoing measurement resides with the business and product line divisions. However Finance department is responsible for establishing procedures governing valuation and ensuring fair values are in compliance with accounting standards.

56.4. Fair valuation techniques :

Government debt securities

Government debt securities are generally highly liquid and traded in active markets; fair value of these securities is determined under Level 1 classification. For insurance business, security level prices published by CRISIL are considered for valuation and is determined under Level 2 classification.

Debt securities

Fair value of these debt securities is derived based on the indicative quotes of price and yields prevailing in the market as at the reporting date. Wherever debt securities are traded actively, Group has used price quoted at Stock Exchanges; in other cases Group has used CRISIL Corporate Bond Valuation model for measuring fair value.

56. Fair Value Measurement (Continued)

Security receipts

There is no active market for Security Receipts; Group determines fair value of these securities using discounted cash flow models. Under this method expected cash flows are estimated by using quantitative and qualitative measures regarding the characteristics of the underlying assets including prepayment rates, default rates and other economic drivers. Since valuation of Securities receipts involves significant unobservable valuation inputs, fair value is classified at Level 3.

Equity instruments

Fair valuation of equity instruments, which are listed and actively traded on recognised stock exchanges with readily available active prices on a regular basis, are classified at Level 1. Equity instruments in non-listed entities are initially measured at transaction price and re-measured at each reporting date at valuation determined by external valuer at instrument level. Fair value of unlisted equity securities are classified at Level 3.

Units of Alternative Investment Funds (AIFs) and Mutual Fund

Units held in AIFs are measured based on fund net asset value (NAV), taking into account redemption and/or other restrictions. Such instruments are classified at Level 3.

Open-ended funds that are redeemable at any time, and reports daily Net Asset Value (NAV) and for which sufficient subscriptions and redemptions occur at NAV, are measured at NAV and classified as level 1.

Loans measured at fair value through profit or loss

Loans are segregated, as far as possible, into portfolios of similar characteristics. Fair values are based on observable market transactions, when available. When they are unavailable, fair values are estimated using valuation models incorporating range of input assumptions. Group determines fair value of loans with help of internal valuation team and independent valuer on case-to-case basis. Valuation is based on discounted cash flow, comparable transaction market price, market research and marked trend as considered appropriate.

Derivatives

The Group enters into derivative financial instruments with various counterparties, primarily banks with investment grade credit ratings. Derivatives valued using valuation techniques with market observable inputs are mainly interest rate swaps, exchange traded futures and options contracts. The most frequently applied valuation techniques include quoted price for exchange traded derivatives and Black Scholes models (for option valuation).

OTC derivatives

Under Interest rate swap contract, the Company agrees to exchange the difference between fixed and floating rate of interest amount calculated on agreed notional principal. Such contracts enable the Company to mitigate the risk of changing interest rate. The fair value of interest rate swap is determined by discounting the future cash flows using the curves at the end of year and the credit risk inherent in the contract. Company classify the Interest rate swaps at level 2 valuation.

Exchange traded derivatives includes index/stock options, index/stock futures, company uses exchange traded prices to value these derivative and classify valuation of these instrument at level 1

Embedded derivatives

An embedded derivative is a component of a hybrid instrument that also includes a non-derivative host contract with the effect that some of the cash flows of the combined instrument vary in a way similar to a stand-alone derivative.

Group determines valuation using valuation models taking inputs from observable market (Indices) data wherever possible, including prices available from exchanges, dealers, brokers. Group classify valuation of these embedded derivative at level 3.

56.5. Transfer between Level 1 and level 2

During the year there were no transfers between level 1 and level 2. Similarly, there were no transfers from or transfer to level 3.

56.6. Financial instruments measured at amortised cost

The following table sets out the fair values and fair value hierarchy of financial instruments measured at amortised cost. The information given with respect to financial instruments for which the fair value differs from the carrying amount. Carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, trade receivables, trade and other payables as on 31 March 2023 approximate the fair value because of their short-term nature. Difference between carrying amounts and fair values of bank deposits, other financials assets and other financial liabilities is not significant in each of the years presented.

57. Risk Management

57.1. Introduction and risk profile

The Edelweiss Group ("The Group") provides a broad range of financial products and services to a substantial and diversified client base that includes corporations, institutions and individuals. The Group's products and services span multiple asset classes and consumer segments across domestic and global geographies. The Group's key lines of business can broadly be classified as below:

- o Capital
- o Agency
- o Insurance (Life and General)
- o Asset reconstruction
- o Treasury

The Group's diversified businesses profile acts as an inherent risk management mechanism at an overall level. However, the prevailing market environment and ongoing operations expose the Group to various risks like credit risk, market risk, liquidity risk, compliance risk, and technology risk amongst others. As the Group operates various regulated businesses, it is exposed to regulatory and reputation risks also.

57.2. Risk management strategy:

The strategy at an execution level is supported by -

1. Three-tiered risk management structure to manage and oversee risks
2. Board and Executive Level Committees to review and approve risk exposures
3. Risk Management framework to ensure each risk the Group is exposed to is given due importance and managed through a well-defined framework and guidelines
4. Standard Operating Procedures and Product approval framework to ensure risks are mitigated at operational level
5. Adequate segregation of duties to ensure multi-layered checks and balances
6. Exception reporting framework to ensure process and policy deviations are adequately addressed

57.3. Risk management structure

To support the risk strategy and ensure effective risk management, the Group has a "Three-tiered risk management structure" to ensure that there are enough defences available to control all types of risk issues. The risk structure is enumerated below:

1. Three lines of defense - for accountability, oversight, and assurance
 - o Respective Businesses - the first line of defence; they own and manage risks and are responsible for implementation of the risk management framework

- o Business Risk teams - the second line of defence; they are responsible for overseeing risk events and defining the risk management framework.
- o Internal audit - the third line of defence; they provide independent assurance of risk management framework implementation.
- 2. Board and Executive level Committees - for overseeing the risk management. The current Risk Management Committees are
 - o Board Risk Committee.
 - o Investment and Credit Committees

The Board Risk Committee is the overseeing body for Risk Management. The Committee meets at regular intervals to review the risk profile of the Company.

The Investment and Credit Committee serve as the nodal bodies for all credit related decisions. Respective businesses have formulated its own Investment and Credit Committees depending upon the scale of the exposure.

Risk management framework

The businesses in the Group have a Risk Framework, which describes the risk management approach and provides clear accountability for managing risk considered appropriate for the Business. The framework is subject to continuous evaluation based on existing internal as well external environment.

The current risk framework covers :

- o Business Risk
- o Credit Risk
- o Market Risk
- o Liquidity Risk
- o Regulatory Risk
- o Reputation Risk
- o Technology Risk
- o Operational and Process Risk
- o Fraud Risk
- o People Risk
- o Physical Infrastructure Risk

The Businesses in the Group use different types of tools and techniques for mitigating risk, depending upon the type of risk and quantum. For example:

- o Financial risks are mitigated through counterparty and client assessment before any exposure is taken, and defined product/program level risk limits to ensure exposure does not exceed risk appetite. The Committee based approval mechanism is adopted to ensure that high exposures are approved with adequate representation and that there is no bias in approvals.
- o Non-financial risks viz technology, operational, fraud, etc are mitigated through process documentation defining clear ownership for each activity, having adequate system/process level controls like maker-checker, reconciliation, testing and reviews.
- o Enterprise level risks viz. reputation, compliance, regulatory, etc are controlled through policies and framework, educating employees through training and risk socialisation sessions.

57.4. Risk management framework of General Insurance (Zuno General Insurance Limited "ZGIL")

Governance framework

The core of the ZGIL risk philosophy lies in the identification, measurement, monitoring and management of risk. ZGIL believe risk management is a continuous, vital process that is an inalienable part of ZGIL DNA. The Governance structure can thus be seen from three focal points:

1. The Business Users would form the First Line of defence. First Line of defence would ensure that risk and control environment is established into their day to day activities.
This line of defence would also:
 - A. Implement proactive and reactive risk management tools in their processes
 - B. Review their processes for adequacy of effectiveness of controls
 - C. Report on the level of the risks and effectiveness of controls to the second line of defence on periodic basis.
 - D. Respond to Regulatory/ Operational/ Business changes quickly and keep the second line of defence informed on the developments.
2. Risk Management, and Compliance team forms part of the Second Line of Defence. The second line of defence is oversight function and would provide direction and guidance to the first line of defence for implementation of ZGIL's Board driven policies. Second line of defence would also monitor implementation efficiency of these policies and provide overall oversight to the business processes and risks.
3. Independent consultants/assurance providers like internal auditors, external auditors, statutory auditors, regulatory auditors etc. forms third line of defence and provides independent assurance. consultants/assurance providers will have direct access to the Board of ZGIL. The Statutory and Regulatory auditors would have independence as per Statutory and Regulatory assurance framework of the country.

The Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (IRDAI) vide its circular number IRDA/F&A/GDL/CG/100/05/2016 dated 18 May 2016 has issued Guidelines on Corporate Governance for the Insurance Sector. Basis the circular, the following committees form part of the overall risk governance framework:

- o Risk Management Committee
- o Audit Committee
- o Investment Committee
- o Policyholder protection Committee

The Risk Management Committee is responsible for periodic review of the risk management process to ensure that the process initiatives are aligned to the desired objectives. ZGIL has Chief Risk Officer who is responsible for the implementation and monitoring of the framework. Further, the key policies adopted under the Risk Framework are as under:

- o Underwriting Policy
- o Investment Policy
- o Asset Liability Management Policy
- o Reinsurance Program
- o Information Security Policy
- o Outsourcing Policy
- o Anti Fraud Policy
- o Financial authority Matrix

Regulatory framework

Regulators are primarily interested in protecting the rights of policyholders and monitor them closely to ensure that the ZGIL is satisfactorily managing affairs for their benefit. At the same time, regulators are also interested in ensuring that ZGIL maintains an appropriate solvency position to meet unforeseeable liabilities arising from economic shocks or natural disasters. The operations of ZGIL are subject to regulatory requirement within the jurisdiction it operates.

57. Risk Management (Continued)

Asset liability management (ALM) framework

The ALM policy adopted by ZGIL helps in:

- o Understanding all risks requiring the coordination of assets and liabilities
- o Quantify interest rate risks and equity risks
- o Quantify the extent of mismatch between the assets and liabilities and thereby prescribe appropriate measures to bridge the gap

Asset Valuation

The analysis is carried out at an LOB level as per the IRDAI guidelines. If reserves held under any line of business fall below 5% of the total reserves as at the given valuation date the corresponding line of business is excluded for the ALM exercise.

Liability profiling

The technical reserves consist of:

1. Unearned Premium Reserves (UPR)
2. Premium Deficiency Reserve (PDR)
3. Incurred But Not Reported (IBNR) reserves
4. Outstanding claims reserves

UPR and PDR can be apportioned basis the policy term outstanding. Outstanding claims reserves and IBNR will be apportioned basis the expected reserve utilisation. Where data is available the reserving techniques like Chain Ladder method can provide significant inputs on the development profile for the claims. Where data is not available, industry benchmarks or assumptions related to the claims profile will be made to arrive at the suitable run off pattern for the liabilities. The emerging claims experience will be periodically reviewed by the actuarial department to take into account any changes in the same.

Insurance risk

The principal risk, ZGIL faces under insurance contracts, is that the actual claims payments or the timing thereof differ from expectations. This is influenced by the frequency of claims, severity of claims, actual benefits paid and subsequent development of long-term claims. Therefore, the objective of ZGIL is to ensure that sufficient reserves are available to cover these liabilities.

ZGIL has developed a risk strategy to manage the risks appropriately. ZGIL's risk management strategy is to establish measures and controls which will assist in prevention, detection and management of risks for strong risk management system. Such risk management system will identify risk at macro as well as micro level on ongoing basis.

The risk identification, assessment and evaluation activity is followed by defining appropriate action items for ensuring effective management of the risks. ZGIL mitigates the risks by careful selection of the underwriting strategy, reinsure a part of the risk with various reinsurers, diversification of all insurance contracts and acquiring business from all parts of the Country.

The main Insurance Risks that ZGIL is exposed to are as follows:

- I. Product Pricing Risk - The loss ratios are assumed at the time of pricing the product. There is a risk of not pricing the products adequately due to model error/ data selection or biases / lack of relevant data or inadequate underwriting assumptions leading to losses greater than anticipated.
- II. Fraud Risk - Excessive, invalid, duplicate or fraudulent claims
- III. Reinsurance Risk - ZGIL enters into reinsurance agreements in order to mitigate insurance Risk. However, this leads to default Risk from the reinsurer at the time of claim payment or also concentration risk if all the Risk is insured to one reinsurer.
- IV. Investment Risk - Risk of loss arising from actual returns being different than expected. Credit risk due to investee enterprise defaulting on its debt payments.
- V. Expense Risk - Risk of loss arising from expense experience being different than expected
- VI. Concentration Risk - ZGIL faces concentration Risk by selling business to specific geography or by writing only single line business etc.

Control Measures:

ZGIL has set up Risk Management framework to continuously monitor ZGIL's experience with regard to parameters like loss ratios and investment returns. The underwriting team, with actuarial guidance, has set in place processes and procedures to review proposal.

EGICL has entered into a separate agreement with reinsurers to cover the catastrophic risks to hedge against catastrophic events leading to higher than expected claim payouts.

ZGIL has been taking efforts so as to mitigate concentration risk through diversification. However, ZGIL may still be exposed to channel concentration risk. The ZGIL business is spread across various key states in India to minimise any geographical concentration, accordingly, it also insulates ZGIL from impact of catastrophic risk.

57.5. Risk management framework of Life Insurance business ("ETLIFE")

a. Governance framework

The primary objective of the ETLIFE's risk and financial management framework is to protect the ETLIFE's shareholders as well as policyholders from events that hinder the sustainable achievement of financial performance objectives, including failing to exploit opportunities.

ETLIFE has an effective Risk Management Framework in place which provides for risk identification, risk assessment and evaluation, monitoring, tracking and feedback mechanism framework to identify, evaluate business risks and opportunities and uniform method of risk monitoring and control through the Risk and Control Self-Assessment (RCSA) Framework.

ETLIFE continuously reviews its risk exposures and takes measures to limit it to acceptable levels. The Board of Directors has overall responsibility for the establishment and oversight of ETLIFE's risk management framework. This is supplemented with the clear organizational structure and documented delegated authorities and responsibilities from the board of directors to various executive management committees."

b. Capital management objectives, policies and approach

The primary source of capital used by ETLIFE is Equity. ETLIFE's policy is to maintain a strong capital base so as to maintain investor, creditor and market confidence and to sustain future development of the business. The capital requirements are routinely forecast on a periodic basis and assessed against both the forecast available capital and the expected internal rate of return, including risk and sensitivity analysis. The process is ultimately subject to approval by the Board.

ETLIFE has established the following capital management objectives, policies and approach to managing the risks that affect its capital position:

- To comply with the insurance capital requirements that the IRDAI require. In this respect, the IRDAI has prescribed minimum solvency ratio of 150% (refer note on Capital Management for solvency ratio);
- To maintain the required level of stability of ETLIFE, thereby providing a degree of security to policyholders
- To allocate capital efficiently and support the development of business by ensuring that returns on capital employed meet the requirements of its capital providers and shareholders.
- To retain financial flexibility by maintaining strong liquidity and access to a range of capital markets
- To align the profile of assets and liabilities, taking account of risks inherent in the business
- To maintain financial strength to support new business growth and to satisfy the requirements of the policyholders, regulators and stakeholders
- To maintain strong credit ratings and healthy capital ratios in order to support its business objectives and maximise shareholders value

57. Risk Management (Continued)

b. Capital management objectives, policies and approach (Continued)

In reporting, financial strength, capital and solvency are measured using the rules prescribed by the Insurance Regulatory Authority of India (IRDAI). These regulatory capital tests are based upon required levels of solvency, capital and a series of prudent assumptions in respect of the type of business written. ETLIFE's Capital Management Policy for its business is to hold sufficient capital to cover the statutory requirements based on the IRDAI directives and maintain a health solvency ratio.

c. Regulatory framework

Regulators are primarily interested in protecting the rights of policyholders and monitor them closely to ensure that the ETLIFE is satisfactorily managing affairs for the benefits of policyholders. At the same time, regulators are also interested in ensuring that ETLIFE maintains an appropriate solvency position to meet unforeseeable liabilities arising from economic shocks or natural disasters. The operations of ETLIFE are subject to regulatory requirement within the jurisdiction it operates.

d. Asset liability management (ALM) framework

Financial risks arise from open positions in interest rate, currency and equity products, all of which are exposed to general and specific market movements. The main risk that ETLIFE faces, due to the nature of its investments and liabilities, is interest rate risk. ETLIFE manages these positions within an ALM framework that has been developed to achieve long-term investment returns in excess of its obligations under insurance and investment contracts. The principal technique of ETLIFE's ALM is to match assets to the liabilities arising from insurance and investment contracts by reference to the type of benefits payable to contract holders. For each distinct category of liabilities, a separate portfolio of assets is maintained.

ETLIFE's ALM is:

- Integrated with the management of the financial risks associated with ETLIFE's other financial assets and liabilities not directly associated with insurance and investment liabilities.
- As an integral part of the insurance risk management policy, to ensure in each period sufficient cash flow is available to meet liabilities arising from insurance and investment contracts.

ETLIFE undertakes Asset Liability Management to reduce interest rate risk. The Company uses expected future cashflows from already written policies and investments to assess the interest rate risk.

The ETLIFE enters into interest rate derivative contracts, solely to hedge the residual interest rate risk.

The Derivatives are financial instruments which attempt to mimic the economic performance of an underlying asset, security or portfolio. Interest rate derivatives include forward rate agreement, interest rate futures and Interest rate swaps.

ETLIFE uses Interest Rate Derivatives (Forward Rate agreements and Interest rate futures) to minimise the exposure to fluctuations in interest rates on plan assets and liabilities. ETLIFE has a Board approved Derivative policy covering strategic objectives, limits, regulatory and operational framework. It underscores risks inherent in a derivative contract along with a system for measurement and accounting in order to have effective monitoring and control.

Hedge effectiveness is determined based on the principles laid down in the Guidance note on Derivatives issued by The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and relevant applicable Ind-AS. ETLIFE uses regression analysis to determine Hedge effectiveness. If the hedge is ineffective, then the movement in the Fair Value is charged to the Profit and Loss Account. However, if the hedge is effective, further the effective and ineffective portion of the movement in the Fair Value of the Underlying and the derivative instrument is determined by the currency Offset method. The effective portion is transferred to 'Fair Value change' account in Balance Sheet and ineffective portion is transferred to Profit and Loss account.

Insurance risk

ETLIFE's lines of business are Participating Life (Individual), Non-Participating Life (Individual and Company) and Unit Linked Life (Individual and Company). ETLIFE has presence in Non-Participating Health (Individual), Non-participating Non-linked Variable Insurance (Company), Participating Pension (Individual), Unit Linked Pension (Individual) and Non-Participating Annuity (Individual) business as well. By nature of the business, ETLIFE underwrites risks and provides financial protection. In doing so, ETLIFE is exposed to various risks.

The principal risk, ETLIFE faces under insurance contracts, is that the actual claims and benefit payments or the timing thereof differ from expectations. This is influenced by the frequency of claims, severity of claims, actual benefits paid and subsequent development of long-term claims. Therefore, the objective of ETLIFE is to ensure that sufficient reserves are available to cover these liabilities.

ETLIFE has developed a risk strategy to manage the risks appropriately. ETLIFE's risk management strategy is to establish measures and controls which will assist in prevention, detection and management of risks for strong risk management system. Such risk management system will identify risk at macro as well as micro level on ongoing basis.

The risk identification, assessment and evaluation activity is followed by defining appropriate action items for ensuring effective management of the risks. An action item for all the high risks is defined with clear owners and timelines. ETLIFE mitigates the risks by careful selection of the underwriting strategy, reinsure a part of the risk with various reinsurers, diversification of all insurance contracts and acquiring business from all parts of the Country.

a. Life Insurance Contracts and Investment Contracts with and without Discretionary Participation Features:

a. Life Insurance Contracts and Investment Contracts with and without Discretionary Participation Features: (Continued)

Insurance contracts are those contracts where ETLIFE has accepted significant insurance risk from the policyholders by agreeing to compensate the policyholders if a specified uncertain future event (the insured event) adversely affects the policyholders. Insurance and investment contracts are further classified as being either with or without DPF. DPF is a contractual right to receive, as a supplement to guaranteed benefits, additional benefits that are likely to be a significant portion of the total contractual benefits.

As a general guideline by IRDAI, ETLIFE classifies contract under insurance contract and investment contracts with DPF, if the benefit payable on death is higher by at least 5% of the premium at any time during the life of the contract for other than unit linked products.

All other contracts are classified under Investment Contracts.

Once a contract has been classified as an insurance contract, it remains an insurance contract for the remainder of its lifetime, even if the insurance risk reduces significantly during this period, unless all rights and obligations are extinguished or expire.

Investment contracts, however, can be reclassified as insurance contracts after inception if insurance risk becomes significant.

b. The main Insurance Risks that ETLIFE is exposed to are as follows:

- i. Persistency Risk - Risk of loss arising due to policyholder experiences (lapses and surrenders) being different than expected
- ii. Mortality Risk - Risk of loss arising due to policyholder mortality experience being different than expected
- iii. Investment Risk - Risk of loss arising from actual returns being different than expected
- iv. Expense Risk - Risk of loss arising from expense experience being different than expected
- v. Reinsurance Risk - ETLIFE enters into reinsurance agreements in order to mitigate insurance Risk. However, this leads to default Risk from the reinsurer at the time of claim payment or also concentration risk if all the Risk is insured to one reinsurer.

b. The main Insurance Risks that ETLIFE is exposed to are as follows: (Continued)

Control Measures:

ETLIFE has set up Risk Management framework to continuously monitor the ETLIFE's experience with regard to parameters like policy lapses, premium persistency, maintenance expenses and investment returns. The underwriting team, with actuarial guidance, has set in place processes and procedures to review proposal. Further, the possible financial effect of adverse mortality and morbidity experience has been reduced by entering into re-insurance agreements with multiple re-insurers. ETLIFE has entered into a separate agreement with reinsurers to cover the catastrophic risks under Individual and Group business to hedge against catastrophic events leading to higher than expected claim payouts.

ETLIFE has been taking efforts so as to mitigate concentration risk through diversification however ETLIFE may still be exposed to channel concentration risk as company is in 12th year of operation and all the channels are not yet fully developed. ETLIFE has been acquiring business from all the parts of India and thus has little geographical concentration. It also insulates ETLIFE from impact of catastrophic risk. ETLIFE has a Board approved Risk Management Policy covering underwriting, claims and reserving for policy liabilities. ETLIFE has a detailed claims processing manual in place.

The large claims are referred to ETLIFE's Claims Committee.

Operational risks:

Operational risk is the risk of loss arising from system failure, human error, fraud or external events. When controls fail to perform, operational risks can cause damage to reputation, have legal or regulatory implications or can lead to financial loss. The ETLIFE, cannot expect to eliminate all operational risks, but by initiating a rigorous control framework and by monitoring and responding to potential risks, the ETLIFE is able to manage the risks. Controls include effective segregation of duties, access controls, authorisation and reconciliation procedures, staff education and assessment processes, including the use of internal audit. Business risks such as changes in environment, technology and the industry are monitored through the ETLIFE's strategic planning and budgeting process. Operational risk: A risk arising from this category is resultant of inadequate or failed internal processes and controls, poor corporate governance or from external events such as sudden disasters crippling the operations of the ETLIFE.

Operational risks within the Company are categorized into 6 (six) types namely:

- Fraud
- Execution, delivery and process management
- Business disruption and system failures
- Clients, products and business practices
- Damage to physical assets
- Employment practices and workplace safety

Risk control and mitigation plan forms important part of the risk management processes within the ETLIFE. The ETLIFE's management ensures oversight on the risks by reviewing data, processes and by performing model checks at regular frequencies. The Operational risk impact within the ETLIFE is rated basis frequency and severity matrix. Frequency and severity matrix is further utilized for evaluation of the risk which in turn helps in prioritization. The ETLIFE, to ensure that complete data is being processed, reconciles number of policies, premium and sum assured. The same is done by comparing Data Conversion System (DCS) output and on-off movement data as obtained from policy administration system. The risk management team conducts an independent root cause analysis of operational risk incidents. Root cause analysis is followed by actual and potential risk exposure assessment. The root cause analysis helps to identify inadequacies in the control measures for known risks or identify new risks which need to be addressed. The resultant learning is then used to improve processes systematically.

57.6. Excessive risk concentration

The relevant businesses in the Group have diversified business model which acts as an inherent mechanism to avoid excessive concentrations of risk.

Single and Group level borrower limits for wholesale lending and program level limits for retail lending have been defined to avoid excess credit concentration. The relevant businesses in the Group monitor these limits as part of its regular monitoring activity. Additionally, the risk team of respective businesses in the Group keep track of Group, Industry, Collateral, Geography level exposure concentrations. These concentrations are periodically reviewed by the business entities in the Group and discussed in their Credit/Risk Committee, so as to avoid further exposures or reduce exposures to sector/industry/ group/geography.

57.7. Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss the Group may face due to current/potential inability or unwillingness of a customer or counterparty to meet financial /contractual obligations. Credit risk also covers the possibility of losses associated with diminution in the credit quality of borrowers or counterparties. Group carries out proper due diligence before underwriting creditworthy counterparties and obtains sufficient collateral, where appropriate, as a means of mitigating the risk of financial loss from defaults. In case the loans are to be restructured, similar credit assessment process is followed by the Business in the Group.

The Business in the Group manages its credit risk through a multi-layered approach as given below:

- 1) Review by the respective Board Risk Committee;
- 2) The Investment Committees (IC) for approving all credit-related decisions, beyond certain levels delegated to Credit Committees. Further, individual loan specific limits as well as concentration limits are also approved by the IC and reviewed on a periodic basis;
- 3) Respective Business risk team is responsible for industry and portfolio level monitoring and stress testing;
- 4) Business risk also does day to day client level monitoring; and Assessment covers all the aspects of risk like Borrower profile, financials, and adequacy of collateral, promoter strength, repayment capability and cash flow generation. Discussions are held with independent risk and compliance teams both at Business in the Group before the credit proposals are put forward to the Committees for approval. The Business in the Group have committee-based approval process mechanism to ensure high exposures are approved with adequate representation from Compliance, Credit, Legal and other relevant teams and there is no biasness.

The relevant Business in the Group has separate credit origination and appraisal processes for wholesale, distressed and retail segments. For wholesale and distressed segment, the relevant Business in the Group adopt underwriting standards for different client segment based on risk parameter and availability of security. The relevant Business in the Group for Retail segment, adopt underwriting standards both at product and portfolio level.

The Credit monitoring is very important part of managing credit risk. Accordingly, the Business in the Group have independent monitoring of credit exposures and associated risks.

The asset quality review is also performed on regular basis by the Risk Committees of the relevant Business in the Group. The credit portfolio quality report is presented to the Board Risk Committee on a quarterly basis by the concerned Business in the Group.

The Business in the Group applies the expected credit loss model for recognising impairment loss. For the purpose of measuring lifetime expected credit loss ('ECL') the relevant Business in the Group has used practical expedient as permitted under Ind AS 109. This expected credit loss allowance is computed based on a provision matrix which takes into account historical credit loss experience and adjusted for forward-looking information.

The expected credit loss is a product of exposure at default, probability of default and loss given default. The Business in the Group have devised an internal model to evaluate the probability of default and loss given default based on the parameters set out in Ind AS 109. Loans are classified into various stages for different type of business. For non-distress credit business they are classified into Stage 1 – Standard Assets with zero to thirty days past due (DPD), Stage 2 – Significant Credit Deterioration or overdue between 31 to 90 days and Stage 3 – Default Assets with overdue for more than 90 days. Further, ECL also takes into account forward looking factors like GDP growth, interest rates etc. along with historical trends.

The relevant Business in the Group determine that whether there has been a significant increase in the credit risk since initial recognition. If credit risk has not increased significantly, 12-month ECL is used to provide for impairment loss. However, if credit risk has increased significantly, lifetime ECL is used.

Credit loss is the difference between all contractual cash flows that are due to an entity in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the entity expects to receive (i.e., all cash shortfalls), discounted at the original EIR (or credit-adjusted EIR for purchased or originated credit impaired financial assets). Expected Credit Loss computation is not driven by any single methodology, however methodology and approach used must reflect the following:

- o An unbiased and probability weighted amount that evaluates a range of possible outcomes;
- o Reasonable and supportable information that is available without undue cost and effort at the reporting date about past events, current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions;
- o The time value of money.

While the time value of money element is currently being factored into ECL measurement while discounting cash flows by the Effective Interest Rate (EIR), the objective of developing a macroeconomic model using exogenous macroeconomic variables (MEVs) is to address the first two requirements. This is achieved by using the model output to adjust the PD risk component in order to make it forward looking and probability-weighted.

The relevant Business in the Group have internal grading that is based on days past due (dpd) as specified below:

Internal rating grade	Internal grading description	Stages
Performing
High grade	0 dpd and 1 to 30 dpd	Stage I
Standard grade	31 to 90 dpd	Stage II
Non-performing
Individually impaired	90+ dpd	Stage III

Significant increase in credit risk (SICR)

In all cases when the borrower becomes 90 days past due, Business in the Group considers a financial instrument as default category and classify such financial instrument as Stage 3 (credit-impaired) for ECL calculations.

Classification of assets from stage 1 to stage 2 is carried out based on SICR criterion. The Financial Instrument (Customer accounts) which are more than 30 days past due have been identified as accounts where significant increase in credit risk has been observed. These Financial Instrument (Customer accounts) have been classified as Stage 2 assets. As a part of a qualitative assessment of whether a customer is in default, the Business in the Group also considers a variety of instances that may indicate unlikelihood to pay. When such events occur, the Business in the Group carefully considers whether the event should result in treating the customer as defaulted and therefore assessed as Stage 3 for ECL calculations or whether Stage 2 is appropriate.

The respective Business in the Group management evaluates the credit situation continuously and the current credit assessment of borrowers is based on the following factors including many factors such as;

1. Whether there is actual or expected significant change in the credit situation which entails significant increase in credit risk.
2. Whether there is existing or forecasted adverse changes in borrower's business, financial or economic conditions that are expected to cause a significant change in the borrower's ability to meet its debt obligations.
3. Based on information available at present, whether in the longer term current adverse changes created by COVID-19 in economic and business conditions can reduce the ability of the borrower to fulfil its obligations.
4. Whether there are any significant changes in the expected performance and behaviour of the borrower.
5. Whether there are expected changes in the loan documentation, including an expected breach of contract that might lead to covenant waivers or amendments, interest payment holidays, interest rate step-ups, requiring additional collateral or guarantees, or other changes to the contractual framework of the loan.

Reasonable and supportable information that is forward-looking and that is available without undue cost or effort is used by management to assess changes in credit risk. However, considering that the current economic situation is continuously evolving, the management shall apply on regular basis any favourable or detrimental change to the borrower profiles and accordingly factor in macro/micro variables that shall represent the evolved inherent credit risk.

Probability of Default

Probability of Default (PD) is an estimate of likelihood of default over a given time horizon. PD estimation process is done based on historical internal data available with the relevant Business in the Group. While arriving at PD, the relevant Business in the Group also ensures that the factors that affects the macro-economic trends are considered to a reasonable extent, wherever necessary. The Business in the Group calculates 12 months PD by taking in account the past historical trends of loan portfolio and its credit performance. In case of assets where there is significant increase in credit risk/credit impaired assets, lifetime PD has been applied.

Loss Given Default (LGD)

The LGD represents expected losses on the EAD given the event of default, taking into account, among other attributes, the mitigating effect of collateral value at the time it is expected to be realised and the time value of money. The Loss Given Default (LGD) has been computed with workout methodology. Workout LGD is widely considered to be the most flexible, transparent and logical approach to build an LGD model. Along with actual recoveries, value of the underlying collateral has been factored in to estimate future recoveries in LGD computation. Workout LGD computation involves the actual recoveries as well as future recoveries (as a part of the workout process) on a particular facility, as a percentage of balance outstanding at the time of Default/Restructuring. The assessment of workout LGD was then performed. Principal outstanding at NPA was assessed, which went into the denominator of the LGD calculation. LGD computation has been done for each segment and sub-segment separately.

Exposure at Default (EAD)

The amount which the borrower will owe to the portfolio at the time of default is defined as Exposure at Default (EAD). While the drawn credit line reflects the explicit exposure for the Business in the Group, there might be variable exposure that may increase the EAD. These exposures are of the nature where the Business in the Group provides future commitments, in addition to the current credit. Therefore, the exposure will contain both on and off balance sheet values. The value of exposure is given by the following formula:

$$\text{EAD} = \text{Drawn Credit Line} + \text{Credit Conversion Factor} * \text{Undrawn Credit Line}$$

Drawn Credit Line = Current outstanding amount

Credit Conversion Factor (CCF) = Expected future drawdown as a proportion of undrawn amount
Undrawn Credit Line = Difference between the total amount which the Business in the Group has committed and the drawn credit line
While the drawn exposure and limits for the customer are available, the modelling of CCF is required for computing the EAD.

Purchased or originated credit impaired (POCI)

Financial assets that are purchased or originated at a deep discount that reflects the incurred credit losses are considered to be POCI. This population includes the recognition of a new financial instrument following a renegotiation where concessions have been granted for economic or contractual reasons relating to the borrower's financial difficulty, that otherwise would not have been considered.

Forward looking adjustments

A measure of ECL is an unbiased probability-weighted amount that is determined by evaluating a range of possible outcomes and using reasonable and supportable information that is available without undue cost or effort at the reporting date about past events, current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions.

To fulfil the above requirement Business in the Group have incorporated forward looking information into its measurement of ECL. The objective of developing a macroeconomic model using exogenous macroeconomic variables (MEVs) is to address the requirements of unbiased, probability weighted outcomes while taking into account current conditions as well as future economic conditions. This will be achieved by using the model output to adjust the PD risk component in order to make it forward looking and probability-weighted.

Exogenous macroeconomic parameters were used as independent (X) variables to predict the dependent (Y) variable. Keeping in mind Ind AS requirements around obtaining reliable and supportable information, without incurring undue cost or effort- based on advice of risk committee members and economic experts and consideration of a variety of external actual and forecast information, the Business in the Group formulates base case view of the future direction of relevant economic variable as well as a representative range of other possible forecast scenario. This process involves developing two or more additional economic scenarios and considering the relative probabilities of each outcome.

Data sourcing:

The Group is expected to obtain reasonable and supportable information that is available without undue cost or effort. Keeping in mind the above requirement macroeconomic information was aggregated from Economic Intelligence Unit (EIU), Bloomberg, World Bank, RBI database. The EIU data has a database of around 150 macroeconomic variables as well as their forecasted values. Beyond 2022 macro-economic variables are forecasted by mean reverting the values to their long-term average. External information includes economic data and forecasts published by governmental bodies and monetary authorities in the country, supranational organisations such as the OECD and the IMF, and selected private sector and academic forecasters.

Probability weighted scenario creations:

To incorporate macroeconomic impact into probability-weighted, each scenario has an associated probability. In order to ensure consistency across macroeconomic models, these probabilities were calculated at an overall level for both Retail and Non-Retail portfolios, keeping in mind that though the impact of a scenario across different portfolios may differ based on endogenous factors, the probability of a scenario unfolding is purely exogenous, and hence should not vary.

The Business in the Group has identified and documented key drivers of credit risk and credit losses for each portfolio of financial instruments and using an analysis of historical data, has estimated relationship between macro-economic variables and credit risk and credit losses.

Predicted relationship between the key indicators and default and loss rates on various portfolios of financial assets have been developed based on analysing historical data over the past 5 years.

57.8 Liquidity risk and funding management

Liquidity risk emanates from the mismatches existing on the balance sheet due to differences in maturity and repayment profile of assets and liabilities. These mismatches could either be forced in nature due to market conditions or created with an interest rate view. Such risk can lead to a possibility of unavailability of funds to meet upcoming obligations arising from liability maturities. To mitigate liquidity risk:

- Group maintains Liquidity Cushion equivalent to 12-15% of the borrowings in the form of Fixed Deposits, Mutual Funds, Cash, G-Sec, etc. These assets carry minimal credit risk and can be liquidated in a very short period of time.
- Secondly, group has undrawn lines of credit from banks which are drawable on notice which further augment the available sources of funds.
- To reduce concentration of funding risk, Group relies on diversified sources including Banks, Retail investors in capital markets, Mutual Funds, ECB, Sub Debt etc.

Group has a Liquidity Contingency Policy in place and various liquidity parameters are defined and tracked regularly. Liquidity Management Team is provided with update on expected liquidity shortfalls considering normal as well as Stress scenario. A detailed set of activities have been defined to be executed during stress scenario.

57.8.1. Analysis of financial liabilities, financial assets, derivatives and financial commitments by remaining contractual maturities

The table below summarises the maturity profile of the undiscounted cash flows of the Group's financial liabilities; financial assets; derivatives and financial commitments as at 31 March.

The tables have been drawn up based on the undiscounted cash flows i.e. the tables include both interest and principal cashflows. The contractual maturity with respect to financial liabilities is based on the earliest date on which the Group may be asked to pay. To the extent that interest flows are at floating rate, the undiscounted amount is derived using interest rates in force at the balance sheet date. Further, with regards to amounts payable in currencies other than Indian Rupees, the amounts are determined based on the spot exchange rates at the balance sheet date. The analysis with respect to financial assets is based on expected maturities. All derivatives which are entered into for trading purposes are shown in the earliest time band. With respect to other derivatives, the remaining contractual maturity information has been given based on undiscounted cash flows.

Market risk is the risk which can affect the Group's income or the value of its holdings of financial instruments due to adverse movements in market prices of instrument due to interest rates, equity prices, foreign exchange rates and credit spreads. The objective of the Group's market risk management is to manage and control market risk exposures within acceptable parameters. The Group treats its exposure to market risks on trading and non-trading portfolios separately.

Exposure to market risk

Interest rate risk - Interest rate risk is managed principally through monitoring interest rate gaps and by having pre-approved limits for repricing bands.

Asset-Liability Committee (ALCO) monitors interest rate gap statement and the mix of floating/fixed rate assets and liabilities and ensure these gaps are managed below defined limits. Balance Sheet Management Unit is in-charge for day to day management of interest rate risk.

Foreign exchange risk - Group's foreign exposure is limited to monetary assets/liabilities held by Group entities outside India and profits/loss generated by these entities. The Treasury Unit aggregates the foreign exchange exposure emerging out of these outflows/inflows and the same is hedged to mitigate foreign exchange risk. Positions are regularly monitored by the Treasury Unit and rebalanced based on the inflow and outflow of funds.

Equity price risk - The Treasury and Balance Sheet Management Units effectively evaluates various risks involved in underlying assets in trading and non-trading books respectively.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk arises from the possibility that changes in interest rates will affect future cash flows or the fair values of financial instruments. The Group's policy is to monitor positions on a daily basis and hedging strategies are used to ensure positions are maintained within the established limits.

The following table demonstrates the sensitivity to possible change in interest rates (all other variables being constant) on the Group's statement of profit and loss and equity. The sensitivity to profit before tax is the effect of the assumed changes in interest rates on the profit before tax for the year, based on the floating rate financial assets and financial liabilities held at reporting date. Sensitivity analysis has been prepared assuming the amount of the floating-rate financial liability and financial assets outstanding at the end of the year was outstanding for the whole year. The sensitivity of equity is calculated by revaluing the fixed rate FVOCI, including the effect at reporting date for the effects of the assumed changes in interest rates.

c. Investment contract liabilities without DPF are stated at fair value.

The investment contracts measured at fair value are mainly unit linked in structure and the fair value of the liability is equal to the unit reserve plus additional non-unit reserves, if required, on a fair value basis. These contracts are classified as Level 1 in the fair value hierarchy when the unit reserve is calculated by multiplying number of units in issue by publicly quoted unit price and any non-unit reserve is insignificant. Where the unit price is not publicly-available these contracts are classified as Level 2 in the fair value hierarchy provided the additional non-unit reserve is an insignificant input to the valuation. Where the non-unit reserve is a significant input in the valuation, the contracts are classified at Level 3 in the fair value hierarchy. The Group takes credit risk into account in assessing the fair value of the liabilities.

Investment contract liabilities without DPF are further analysed as follows:

During the year, the ETLI entered into reinsurance arrangements that resulted in profit of ₹ 72.58 million for the financial year 2022-23 (PY ₹ 987.18 million). This profit has been reflected in the statement of profit or loss.

At 31 March 2023 and 31 March 2022, there are no impaired reinsurance assets.

d. Key Assumptions

Liabilities for life insurance policies are determined by the Appointed Actuary in accordance with the IRDAI regulations and relevant actuarial practice standards & guidance notes issued by the Institute of Actuaries of India. For Unit Linked (UL) business, separate unit and non-unit reserve is maintained. The unit reserve is the current value of the assets underlying the unit funds and the non-unit reserve is kept to meet the liabilities due to the cost of insurance, expenses, commissions etc. in excess of future charges. For discontinued policies under UL products the fund is transferred to a separate discontinuance fund as per IRDAI regulations and the same has been kept as reserves. Further, for the discontinuance policies, the non-unit reserves are also kept.

The reserves/ liabilities under non-linked business is calculated using a prospective gross premium method of valuation. The reserves are established having regard to the assumptions as to future experience, including the interest rate that will be earned on premiums not yet received and future bonus rates for participating business. Assumptions as to the future bonus rates are set to be consistent with the interest rate assumptions. For participating policies, the valuation interest rate used is 6.00% (no change from last year). For non-par policies, the valuation interest rate ranges between 5.58% - 7.07% (PY 5.58% - 6.75%) for the first 5 years and 4.00% - 6.28% (PY 4.00% - 6.00%) thereafter (for annuity, 2% assumed for year greater than 50 years).

The lapse assumptions are based on various factors namely the actual experience, credibility of the experience, pricing assumptions, trend from actual experience and consistency from past year's assumptions. For lapsed policies, revival reserves are maintained (till the policies are within the revival year) assuming 10.00% (previous year 10.00%) of them will get revived.

d. Key Assumptions (Continued)

Mortality assumptions are set with reference to the published IALM (2012-2014) Ultimate Mortality Table. The mortality assumptions are based on various factors namely the actual experience, credibility of the experience, pricing assumptions, trend from actual experience and consistency from past year's assumptions. For annuity product, mortality rates are set with reference to the IAM 12-15 - Indian Individual Annuitant Mortality Table (2012-15). Assumptions for morbidity and incidence of accidental death are based on terms available from reinsurers and the standard morbidity rate table CIBT 93 (Critical Illness Base Table for year 93).

Assumptions for future expenses are considered as per the file & use assumptions (which are derived from long term business plan of the Company) or similar existing product assumptions and these expenses escalated each year by 5.00% p.a. (previous year 5.00%) to allow for inflation. An additional reserve has been included to allow for the contingency of closure to new business and to cover maintenance expense overrun.

Commission has been allowed for at the rates specified in the products file and use.

Further it has been ensured that for each policy the reserve is sufficient to pay the surrender value.

For participating products, terminal bonuses are provisioned such that the reserves are at least equal to asset share at product level.

The provisions have been made for incurred but not reported death claims (IBNR), free look reserve, unearned premium reserve of the extra premium collected etc.

Free look assumption has been set based on the actual cancellation experience observed by the company for all lines of business, trend of the experience in the last few years and consistency of the rate in comparison to the past year. The assumption of free look rate is set at 4% this year (no change from last year).

For riders, both unearned premium and gross premium reserves are calculated and the higher of these two is held as reserve. For OYRGTL plan (One Year Renewable Group Term Life), the Unearned Premium Reserve is calculated as premium for the unexpired duration. In addition, the premium deficiency reserve and IBNR is also kept for OYRGTL.

e. Sensitivity Analysis

The following analysis is performed for reasonably possible movements in key assumptions with all other assumptions held constant, showing the impact on gross liabilities.

The correlation of assumptions will have a significant effect in determining the ultimate claims liabilities, but to demonstrate the impact due to changes in assumptions, assumptions had to be changed on an individual basis. Information other than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report thereon

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Board report, but does not include the standalone financial statements and our auditor's report thereon, which we obtained prior to the date of this auditor's report, and the Annual report, which is expected to be made available to us after that date.

Our opinion on the standalone financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the standalone financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether such other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

When we read the Board report, if we conclude that there is a material misstatement therein, we are required to communicate the matter to those charged with governance.

Responsibilities of Management for the Standalone Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance including other comprehensive income, cash flows and changes in equity of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under section 133 of the Act read with the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, as amended. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the standalone financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those Board of Directors are also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the standalone financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these standalone financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the standalone financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the standalone financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the standalone financial statements for the financial year ended March 31, 2023 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Annexure 2 to the Independent Auditor's Report of even date on the Standalone Financial Statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2023 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to these standalone financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing as specified under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both issued by ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to these standalone financial statements was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to these standalone financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statement included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to these standalone financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to these standalone financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with reference to these Standalone Financial Statements

A Company's internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A Company's internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statements includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company;

Annexure 2 to the Independent Auditor's Report of even date on the Standalone Financial Statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited (Continued)

(2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the Company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with Reference to Standalone Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to these standalone financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control with reference to standalone financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, adequate internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statements and such internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statements were operating effectively as at March 31, 2023, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by ICAI.

1.1 Basis of preparation of financial statements

The standalone financial statements of the Company has been prepared in accordance with Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) notified under the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 (as amended from time to time).

These standalone financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis, except for derivative financial instruments and other financial assets held for trading, which have been measured at fair value. The standalone financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees (INR) and all values are rounded to the nearest million, except when otherwise indicated.

1.2 Presentation of standalone financial statements

The Company presents its standalone statement of assets and liabilities in order of liquidity in compliance with the Division III of the Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013. An analysis regarding recovery or settlement within 12 months after the reporting date (current) and more than 12 months after the reporting date (non-current) is presented in Note no. 40.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are generally reported on gross basis in the balance sheet. They are only offset and reported net only where it is permissible by Ind AS, or in addition to having an unconditional legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts without being contingent on a future event, the parties also intend to settle on a net basis in all of the following circumstances:

- The normal course of business
- The event of default
- The event of insolvency or bankruptcy of the company and/or its counterparties

1.3 Financial Instruments

1.3.1 Date of recognition

Financial assets and financial liabilities, with the exception of borrowings are initially recognised on the trade date, i.e., the date that the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. This includes regular way trades purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame generally established by regulation or convention in the market place. The Company recognises borrowings when funds reach the Company.

1.3.2 Initial measurement of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Trade receivables are measured at transaction price. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

1.4 Classification of financial instruments

1.4.1 Financial assets:

The Company classifies all its financial assets based on the business model for managing the assets and the asset's contractual terms, measured at either:

Financial assets carried at amortized cost (AC)

A financial asset is measured at amortised cost if it is held within a business model whose objective is to hold the asset in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. The changes in carrying value of financial assets are recognised in profit and loss account.

Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)

A financial asset is measured at FVTOCI if it is held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. The changes in fair value of financial assets is recognised in Other Comprehensive Income.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)

A financial asset which is not classified in any of the above categories are measured at FVTPL. The Company measures all financial assets classified as FVTPL at fair value at each reporting date. The changes in fair value of financial assets are recognised in Profit and loss account.

1.4.1.1 Amortized cost and Effective interest method

The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a debt instrument and of allocating interest income over the relevant period.

For financial instruments the effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts (including all fees and points paid or received that form an integral part of the effective interest rate, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) excluding expected credit losses, through the expected life of the debt instrument, or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the gross carrying amount of the debt instrument on initial recognition.

The amortised cost of a financial asset is the amount at which the financial asset is measured at initial recognition minus the principal repayments, plus the cumulative amortisation using the effective interest method of any difference between that initial amount and the maturity amount, adjusted for any loss allowance. On the other hand, the gross carrying amount of a financial asset is the amortised cost of a financial asset before adjusting for any loss allowance.

1.4.1.2 Financial assets held for trading

The Company classifies financial assets as held for trading when they have been purchased or issued primarily for short-term profit making through trading activities or form part of a portfolio of financial instruments that are managed together, for which there is evidence of a recent pattern of short-term profit taking. Held-for-trading assets are recorded and measured in the balance sheet at fair value.

1.4.1.3 Investment in equity instruments

The Company measures all equity investments at fair value through profit or loss except, for investment in subsidiaries and associates are recognised at cost, subject to impairment if any at the end of each reporting period. Cost of investment represents amount paid for acquisition of the investment.

1.4.2 Financial liabilities

All financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost except for financial guarantees, and derivative financial liabilities:

1.4.2.1 Debt securities and other borrowed funds

After initial measurement, debt issued, and other borrowed funds are subsequently measured at amortised cost. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on issue funds, and costs that are an integral part of the EIR.

1.4.2.2 Financial assets and Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets and financial liabilities in this category are those that are not held for trading and have been either designated by management upon initial recognition or are mandatorily required to be measured at fair value under Ind AS 109. Management only designates an instrument at FVTPL upon initial recognition when one of the following criteria are met. Such designation is determined on an instrument-by-instrument basis:

- The designation eliminates, or significantly reduces, the inconsistent treatment that would otherwise arise from measuring the assets or liabilities or recognising gains or losses on them on a different basis; or
- The liabilities are part of a group of financial liabilities, which are managed, and their performance evaluated on a fair value basis, in accordance with a documented risk management or investment strategy; or
- The liabilities containing one or more embedded derivatives, unless they do not significantly modify the cash flows that would otherwise be required by the contract, or it is clear with little or no analysis when a similar instrument is first considered that separation of the embedded derivative(s) is prohibited.

Financial assets and financial liabilities at FVTPL are recorded in the balance sheet at fair value. Changes in fair value are recorded in profit and loss with the exception of movements in fair value of liabilities designated at FVTPL due to changes in the Company's own credit risk. Such changes in fair value are recorded in the Own credit reserve through OCI and do not get recycled to the profit or loss. Interest earned or incurred on instruments designated at FVTPL is accrued in interest income or finance cost, respectively, using the EIR, taking into account any discount/ premium and qualifying transaction costs being an integral part of instrument. Interest earned on assets mandatorily required to be measured at FVTPL is recorded using effective interest rate.

1.4.2.3 Financial guarantee:

Financial guarantees are contract that requires the Company to make specified payments to reimburse to holder for loss that it incurs because a specified debtor fails to make payment when it is due in accordance with the terms of a debt instrument.

Financial guarantee issued or commitments to provide a loan at below market interest rate are initially measured at fair value and the initial fair value is amortised over the life of the guarantee or the commitment. Subsequently they are measured at higher of this amortised amount and the amount of loss allowance.

1.4.3 Financial liabilities and equity instruments

Financial instruments issued by the Company are classified as either financial liabilities or as equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangements and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of an entity after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments issued by the Company entity are recognised at the proceeds received, net of direct issue costs.

Repurchase of the Company's own equity instruments is recognised and deducted directly in equity. No gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss on the purchase, sale, issue, or cancellation of the Company's own equity instruments.

1.4.4 Derivative contracts (Derivative assets / Derivative liability)

The Company enters into a variety of derivative financial instruments to manage its exposure to interest rate and foreign exchange rate risks, including foreign exchange forward contracts and interest rate swaps.

Derivatives are initially recognised at fair value and are subsequently re-measured at fair value through profit or loss. The resulting gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss immediately.

1.5 Reclassification of financial assets and financial liabilities

The Company does not reclassify its financial assets subsequent to their initial recognition, apart from the exceptional circumstances in which the Company acquires, disposes of, or terminates a business line. Financial liabilities are never reclassified.

1.6 Employee welfare trust

The Company is a sponsor to two trusts namely: (i) Edelweiss Employees' Welfare Trust; and (ii) Edelweiss Employees' Incentives and Welfare Trust. These trusts have been formed exclusively to provide benefits to employees of the Company and its subsidiaries and associates. These trusts have been treated as an extension of the Company for the purpose of these financial statements. Accordingly, the equity shares of the Company held by these trusts have been treated as treasury shares. The excess of the cost of such shares over the face value of shares has been reduced from the securities premium account of the Company.

1.7 Derecognition of financial assets and financial liabilities

1.7.1 Derecognition of financial assets due to substantial modification of terms and conditions

The Company derecognises a financial asset when the terms and conditions have been renegotiated to the extent that, substantially, it becomes a new loan, with the difference recognised as a derecognition gain or loss, to the extent that an impairment loss has not already been recorded.

If the modification does not result in cash flows that are substantially different, the modification does not result in derecognition. Based on the change in cash flows discounted at the original EIR, the Company records a modification gain or loss, to the extent that an impairment loss has not already been recorded.

1.7.2 Derecognition of financial assets (other than due to substantial modification)

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a Company of similar financial assets) is derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset have expired. The Company also derecognises the financial asset if it has both transferred the financial asset and the transfer qualifies for derecognition.

The Company has transferred the financial asset if, and only if, either:

- The Company has transferred its contractual rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset; or
- It retains the rights to the cash flows but has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a 'pass-through' arrangement.

A transfer only qualifies for derecognition if either:

- The Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset; or
- The Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

The Company considers control to be transferred if and only if, the transferee has the practical ability to sell the asset in its entirety to an unrelated third party and is able to exercise that ability unilaterally and without imposing additional restrictions on the transfer.

1.7.3 Derecognition of financial liabilities

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged, cancelled, or expires.

Where an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference between the carrying value of the original financial liability and the consideration paid, including modified contractual cash flow, recognised as new financial liability, would be recognised in profit or loss.

1.8 Impairment of financial assets

The Company records allowance for expected credit losses for all amortised cost financial assets and financial guarantee contracts, in this section all referred to as 'financial instruments'. Equity instruments are not subject to impairment under Ind AS 109.

The Company follows 'simplified approach' for recognition of impairment loss allowance on trade receivables and lease receivables. The application of simplified approach does not require the Company to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition. The Company uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss allowance on portfolio of its receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historically observed default rates over the expected life of the receivables.

For all other financial instruments, the Company recognises lifetime ECL when there has been a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition. If, on the other hand, the credit risk on the financial instrument has not increased significantly since initial recognition, the Company measures the loss allowance for that financial instrument at an amount equal to 12-month expected credit losses (12m ECL). The assessment of whether lifetime ECL should be recognised is based on significant increases in the likelihood or risk of a default occurring since initial recognition instead of on evidence of a financial asset being credit-impaired at the reporting date or an actual default occurring.

For financial assets, the expected credit loss is estimated as the difference between all contractual cash flows that are due to the Company in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the Company expects to receive, discounted at the original effective interest rate. The Company recognises an impairment gain or loss in profit or loss for all financial instruments with a corresponding adjustment to their carrying amount through a loss allowance account.

1.9 Write off

Financial assets are written off either partially or in their entirety only when the Company has stopped pursuing the recovery. If the amount to be written off is greater than the accumulated loss allowance, the difference is first treated as an addition to the allowance that is then applied against the gross carrying amount. Any subsequent recoveries are credited to impairment on financial instruments in statement of profit and loss.

1.10 Determination of fair value

The Company measures financial instruments, such as derivatives at fair value at each balance sheet date. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- in the principal market for the asset or liability, or
- in the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest. A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use. The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs. In order to show how fair values have been derived, financial instruments are classified based on a hierarchy of valuation techniques, as summarised below:

- Level 1 financial instruments – Those where the inputs used in the valuation are unadjusted quoted prices from active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has access to at the measurement date. The Company considers markets as active only if there are sufficient trading activities with regards to the volume and liquidity of the identical assets or liabilities and when there are binding and exercisable price quotes available on the balance sheet date.
- Level 2 financial instruments – Those where the inputs that are used for valuation and are significant, are derived from directly or indirectly observable market data available over the entire period of the instrument's life.

- Level 3 financial instruments – Those that include one or more unobservable input that is significant to the measurement as whole. For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorization (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period. The Company periodically reviews its valuation techniques including the adopted methodologies and model calibrations.

1.11 Revenue from contract with customer

Revenue is recognized when (or as) the Company satisfies a performance obligation by transferring a promised good or service (i.e. an asset) to a customer. An asset is transferred when (or as) the customer obtains control of that asset. When (or as) a performance obligation is satisfied, the Company recognizes as revenue the amount of the transaction price (excluding estimates of variable consideration) that is allocated to that performance obligation. The Company applies the five-step approach for recognition of revenue:

- Identification of contract(s) with customers;
- Identification of the separate performance obligations in the contract;
- Determination of transaction price;
- Allocation of transaction price to the separate performance obligations; and
- Recognition of revenue when (or as) each performance obligation is satisfied

Revenue Recognition for different heads of Income are as under:

(i) Investment banking advisory fees, Syndication fees (net of tax)

Advisory/Syndication fees are recognised on an accrual basis in accordance with agreement entered into with respective investment managers / advisors.

(ii) Interest income

Interest income is recognized using the effective interest rate.

(iii) Dividend income

Dividend income is recognized in the standalone statement of profit or loss on the date that the Company's right to receive payment is established, it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the dividend will flow to the entity and the amount of dividend can be reliably measured. This is generally when the Shareholders approve the dividend.

(iv) Profit or loss on sale of investments

Profit or loss on sale of investments is recognised on trade date basis. Difference between the sale price and average cost of acquisition is recognized as profit or loss on sale of investments.

1.12 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to the equity shareholders for the year by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding for the year.

Diluted earnings per share reflect the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue equity shares were exercised or converted during the year. Diluted earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to the equity shareholders for the year by weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earnings per share and weighted average number of equity shares that could have been issued upon conversion of all dilutive potential equity shares.

1.13 Foreign currency transactions

These financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees which is also the functional currency of the Company. Transactions in currencies other than Indian Rupees (i.e. foreign currencies) are recognised at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions. At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date. Non-monetary items carried at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated.

Exchange differences on monetary items are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

1.14 Retirement and other employee benefit

Provident fund and national pension scheme

The Company contributes to a recognised provident fund and national pension scheme which is a defined contribution scheme. The contributions are accounted for on an accrual basis and recognised in the statement of profit and loss when an employee renders the related service.

Gratuity

The Company's gratuity scheme is a defined benefit plan. The Company's net obligation in respect of the gratuity benefit scheme is calculated by estimating the amount of future benefit that the employees have earned in return for their service in the current and prior periods, that benefit is discounted to determine its present value, and the fair value of any plan assets, if any, is deducted. The present value of the obligation under such benefit plan is determined based on independent actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method. Benefits in respect of gratuity are funded with an insurance company approved by Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (IRDA). Remeasurements, comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), are recognised immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through OCI in the period in which they occur.

Remeasurements are not reclassified to profit or loss in subsequent periods.

Past service costs are recognised in profit or loss on the earlier of:

- The date of the plan amendment or curtailment, and
- The date that the Company recognises related restructuring costs

Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability or asset. The Company recognises the following changes in the net defined benefit obligation as an expense in the consolidated statement of profit and loss:

- Service costs comprising current service costs, past-service costs, gains and losses on curtailments and non-routine settlements; and
- Net interest expense or income.

Compensated Absences

The eligible employees of the Company are permitted to carry forward certain number of their annual leave entitlement to subsequent years, subject to a ceiling. The Company recognises the charge in the statement of profit and loss and corresponding liability on such non-vesting accumulated leave entitlement based on a valuation by an independent actuary. The cost of providing annual leave benefits is determined using the projected unit credit method.

The liability is provided based on the number of days of unutilised leave at each balance sheet date based on a valuation by an independent actuary.

1.15 Share-based payment arrangements

Equity-settled share-based payments to employees of the Group and others providing similar services that are granted by the Company are measured by reference to the fair value of the equity instruments at the grant date. These includes Stock Appreciation Rights (SARs) which are equity settled share-based payments. In order to arrive at the fair value of the options, the Black-Scholes Option Pricing formula is used.

- a. with respect to Company's employees:

The fair value determined at the grant date of the equity-settled share-based payments is expensed over the vesting period, based on the Company's estimate of equity instruments that will eventually vest, with a corresponding increase in equity. At the end of each reporting period, the Company revises its estimate of the number of equity instruments expected to vest. The impact of the revision of the original estimates, if any, is recognised in profit or loss such that the cumulative expense reflects the revised estimate, with a corresponding adjustment to the Employee Stock Option Plan Reserve and Stock Appreciation Rights Reserve. In cases where the share options granted vest in installments over the vesting period, the Company treats each installment as a separate grant, because each installment has a different vesting period, and hence the fair value of each installment differs.

- b. with respect to employees of the Group:

The fair value determined at the grant date of the equity-settled share-based payments is accounted as a capital contribution (deemed investment) to the respective subsidiaries over the vesting period, based on the Company's estimate of equity instruments that will eventually vest, with a corresponding increase in equity. At the end of each reporting period, the Company revises its estimate of the number of equity instruments expected to vest. The impact of the revision of the original estimates, if any, is recognised such that the cumulative capital contribution (deemed investment) is increased so that it reflects the revised estimate, with a corresponding adjustment to the Employee Stock Option Plan Reserve. In cases where the share options granted vest in installments over the vesting period, the Company treats each installment as a separate grant, because each installment has a different vesting period, and hence the fair value of each installment differs. Whenever, these estimates are expected to get settle between the subsidiaries and the Company, they are accounted as receivable/payable.

1.16 Property, plant, and equipment

Property plant and equipment (PPE) is stated at cost excluding the costs of day-to-day servicing, less accumulated depreciation, and accumulated impairment in value. PPE is recognised when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item is expected to flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. Changes in the expected useful life are accounted for by changing the depreciation period or methodology, as appropriate, and treated as changes in accounting estimates.

Subsequent costs incurred on an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised in the carrying amount thereof when those costs meet the recognition criteria as mentioned above. Repairs and maintenance are recognised in profit or loss as incurred if recognition criteria are not met.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on the disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Depreciation is recognised so as to write off the cost of assets (other than freehold land and properties under construction) less their residual values over their useful lives. Depreciation is provided on a written down value basis from the date the asset is ready for its intended use or put to use whichever is earlier. In respect of assets sold, depreciation is provided up to the date of disposal.

As per the requirement of Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013, the Company has evaluated the useful lives of the respective Property, Plant & Equipment which are as per the provisions of Part C of the Schedule II for calculating the depreciation. The estimated useful lives of the fixed assets are as follows:

Nature of assets	Estimated useful life
Building (other than Factory Building)	60 years
Furniture and fixtures	10 years
Vehicles	8 years
Office equipment	5 years
Computers - servers and networks	6 years
Computers - end user devices, such as desktops, laptops, etc.	3 years

Leasehold improvements are amortised on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets or the period of lease, whichever is shorter.

Amount of those components which have been separately recognised as assets is derecognised at the time of replacement thereof. Any gain or loss arising on the disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in profit or loss.

The residual values, useful lives, and methods of depreciation of property, plant and equipment are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

1.17 Intangible assets

The intangible assets mainly include the value of computer software. Intangible assets are recognised when it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the asset will flow to the Company and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably. Intangible assets are recorded at the consideration paid for the acquisition of such assets and are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and impairment, if any. Intangibles such as software are amortised over a period of 3 years based on its estimated useful life.

An intangible asset is derecognised on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from use or disposal. Gains and losses arising from derecognition of an intangible asset, measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the assets are recognised in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognised.

1.18 Impairment of non-financial assets

The Company assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired based on internal/external factors. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset. If such recoverable amount of the asset or the recoverable amount of cash generating unit which the asset belongs to is less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount is reduced to its recoverable amount. The reduction is treated as an impairment loss and is recognized in the statement of profit and loss. If at the balance sheet date there is an indication that a previously assessed impairment loss no longer exists, the recoverable amount is reassessed and the asset is reflected at the recoverable amount subject to a maximum of the depreciable historical cost.

1.19 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalent in the balance sheet comprise cash at banks and on hand and short-term deposits with an original maturity of three months or less.

1.20 Provisions and other contingent liabilities

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that the Company will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. The amount recognised as a provision is the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. Where the probability of outflow is considered to be remote, or probable, but a reliable estimate cannot be made, a contingent liability is disclosed. Given the subjectivity and uncertainty of determining the probability and amount of losses, the Company takes into account a number of factors including legal advice, the stage of the matter and historical evidence from similar incidents.

1.21 Income tax

Income tax expense represents the sum of the current tax and deferred tax.

1.21.1 Current tax

The tax currently payable is based on taxable profit for the year. Taxable profit differs from 'profit before tax' as reported in the financial statement of profit and loss because of items of income or expense that are taxable or deductible in other years and items that are never taxable or deductible. The Company's current tax is calculated using tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

Current tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and when they relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority and the Company intends to settle its current tax assets and liabilities on a net basis.

1.21.2 Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognised on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the standalone financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit. Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognised for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are generally recognised for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilised.

Deferred tax assets are also recognised with respect to carry forward of unused tax losses and unused tax credits to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the unused tax losses and unused tax credits can be utilised.

It is probable that taxable profit will be available against which a deductible temporary difference, unused tax loss or unused tax credit can be utilised when there are sufficient taxable temporary differences which are expected to reverse in the period of reversal of deductible temporary difference or in periods in which a tax loss can be carried forward or back. When this is not the case, deferred tax asset is recognised to the extent it is probable that:

- the entity will have sufficient taxable profit in the same period as reversal of deductible temporary difference or periods in which a tax loss can be carried forward or back; or
- tax planning opportunities are available that will create taxable profit in appropriate periods.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

When the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss.

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset realised, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

1.21.3 Current and deferred tax for the year

Current and deferred tax are recognised in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively.

1.22 Critical accounting judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty

In the application of the Company's accounting policies, which are described above, the management is required to make judgements, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period, or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

1.23 Critical judgements in applying accounting policies

The following are the critical judgements, apart from those involving estimations, that the management has made in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies and that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the standalone financial statements.

1.23.1 Business model assessment

Classification and measurement of financial assets depends on the results of the solely payments for principal and interest (SPPI) and the business model test. The Company determines the business model at a level that reflects how Group of financial assets are managed together to achieve a particular business objective. This assessment includes judgement reflecting all relevant evidence including how the performance of the assets is evaluated and their performance is measured, the risks that affect the performance of the assets and how these are managed and how the managers of the assets are compensated. The Company monitors financial assets measured at amortised cost that are derecognised prior to their maturity to understand the quantum, the reason for their disposal and whether the reasons are consistent with the objective of the business for which the asset was held. Company's continuously monitors of whether the business model for which the remaining financial assets are held continues to be appropriate and if it is not appropriate whether there has been a change in business model and so a prospective change to the classification of those assets is required.

1.24 Key sources of estimation uncertainty

The Company based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when these financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising that are beyond the control of the Company. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur.

Following are the key assumptions concerning the future, and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the end of the reporting period that may have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year.

1.24.1 Fair value of financial instruments

The fair value of financial instruments is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction in the principal (or most advantageous) market at the measurement date under current market conditions (i.e., an exit price) regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique. When the fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded in the balance sheet cannot be derived from active markets, they are determined using a variety of valuation techniques that include the use of valuation models. The inputs to these models are taken from observable markets where possible, but where this is not feasible, estimation is required in establishing fair values. Judgements and estimates include considerations of liquidity and model inputs related to items such as credit risk (both own and counterparty), funding value adjustments, correlation, and volatility.

1.24.2 Impairment of financial assets

The measurement of impairment losses across all categories of financial assets requires judgement, in particular, the estimation of the amount and timing of future cash flows and collateral values when determining impairment losses and the assessment of a significant increase in credit risk. These estimates are driven by a number of factors, changes in which can result in different levels of allowances.

The Company's ECL calculations are outputs of models with a number of underlying assumptions regarding the choice of variable inputs and their interdependencies.

It is Company's policy to regularly review its models in the context of actual loss experience and adjust when necessary.

1.25 Standards issued but not yet effective

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) has notified Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Amendment Rules, 2023 dated 31 March 2023 to amend the following Ind AS which are effective from 01 April 2023.

(i) Amendment to Ind AS 8 - Definition of Accounting Estimates

The amendments clarify the distinction between changes in accounting estimates and changes in accounting policies and the correction of errors. It has also been clarified how entities use measurement techniques and inputs to develop accounting estimates.

The amendments are effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 April 2023 and apply to changes in accounting policies and changes in accounting estimates that occur on or after the start of that period.

The amendments are not expected to have a material impact on the Company's financial statements.

(ii) Amendment to Ind AS 1- Disclosure of Accounting Policies

The amendments aim to help entities provide accounting policy disclosures that are more useful by replacing the requirement for entities to disclose their 'significant' accounting policies with a requirement to disclose their 'material' accounting policies and adding guidance on how entities apply the concept of materiality in making decisions about accounting policy disclosures.

Consequential amendments have been made in Ind AS 107.

The company is currently revisiting their accounting policy information disclosures to ensure consistency with the amended requirements.

(iii) Amendment to Ind AS 12 - Deferred Tax related to Assets and Liabilities arising from a Single Transaction

The amendments narrow the scope of the initial recognition exception under Ind AS 12, so that it no longer applies to transactions that give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences.

The amendments should be applied to transactions that occur on or after the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented. In addition, at the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented, a deferred tax asset (provided that sufficient taxable profit is available) and a deferred tax liability should also be recognised for all deductible and taxable temporary differences associated with leases and decommissioning obligations.

Consequential amendments have been made in Ind AS 101.

The amendments to Ind AS 12 are applicable for annual periods beginning on or after 1 April 2023.

The company is currently assessing the impact of the amendments.

Edelweiss Financial Services Limited ("EFSL" hereafter), has recognised share based payment expenses for the years ended 31 March 2023 and 31 March 2022 based on fair value as on the grant date calculated as per option pricing model. The grants represent equity-settled options under the Employee Stock Option Plans and Stock Appreciation Rights Plans (hereafter referred to as, "ESOP 2011" and "SAR 2019" or "ESOPs" "SARs").

The Edelweiss Group has granted ESOPs under the two plans viz, ESOP 2011 & SAR 2019 to its employees on an equity-settled basis as tabulated below. 39. Fair Value Measurement (Continued)

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction in the principal (or most advantageous) market at the measurement date under current market conditions (i.e., an exit price), regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using a valuation technique. The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

The Company's fair value methodology and the governance over its models includes a number of controls and other procedures to ensure appropriate safeguards are in place to ensure its quality and adequacy. Where fair values are determined by reference to externally quoted prices or observable pricing inputs to models, independent price determination or validation is used. For inactive markets, Company sources alternative market information, with greater weight given to formation that is considered to be more relevant and reliable.

39.7. Fair valuation techniques :

Equity instruments

The equity instruments which are actively traded on recognised stock exchanges are valued at readily available active prices on a regular basis. Such instruments are classified as Level 1. Equity instruments in non-listed entities are initially measured at transaction price and re-measured at each reporting date at valuation provided by external valuer at instrument level. Such unlisted equity securities are classified at Level 2.

Derivatives:

The Company enters into certain derivative financial instruments primarily with banks with investment grade credit ratings. Derivatives valued using valuation techniques with market observable inputs are mainly forward exchange contracts.

Exchange traded derivatives:

Company has entered into certain exchange-traded currency futures. The Company uses latest traded prices at the reporting date to value these derivatives and classifies these instruments as Level 1 in the hierarchy.

39.8. Transfer between Level 1 and level 2

During the year there were no transfers between level 1 and level 2. Similarly, there were no transfers from or transfer to level 3.
