'WE IDENTIFY, NURTURE INNOVATORS' Mentorship key for startups to grow: Marico foundation

FE BUREAU New Delhi, December 15

SURANJANA GHOSH, HEAD, MARICO INNOVATION FOUNDATION

A SCHOOL FOR startups. That's what Marico Innovation Foundation (MIF) has been described as. Hand-held by about 20 companies simultaneously, MIF aims to guide a company till it hits the ₹100-crore mark.

THE DNA OF THIS FOUNDATION IS TO HELP BUILD CAPACITY, AND MAKE STARTUPS CAPABLE OF SUSTAINING THEIR BUSINESSES AND MAKE THEMSELVES PROFITABLE.

WE HAVE A VERY STRINGENT DUE DILIGENCE PROCESS, AS STRINGENT AS ANY OTHER VC FIRM. ANY STARTUP THAT MEETS WITH THE DILIGENCE PROCESS IS THEN ONBOARDED.

Every two years, MIF identifies a sunrise sector that holds the potential to solve a significant issue for India.

The first sectoral intervention was launched in 2018 in the agriculture sector, followed by innovations in combating the Covid-19 pandemic in 2020. In 2022, MIF forayed into plastic waste management.

She added that the selection criteria also looks at whether the technology offered by the startup is extremely unique. "In that particular category, they need to be serving a very specific need through a very unique technology, something that is difficult to replicate and has a two-year lead time on any other close competitor at least."

chairman of Marico, added that they have deliberated upon this several times, but always ended up agreeing on the mentorship programme.

"They have to have some component to generating livelihood, some component of impacting the environment. We have a very stringent due diligence process, as stringent as any other VC firm would be. Any startup that meets with the diligence process is then onboarded," said Ghosh.

"Most companies are not looking at financial assistance. They look at raising money from other investors. So this is not our job."

"And, we provide exactly that by helping the startup understand where the right to win lies. So while they might have a really interesting proposition, how do they fine tune that, and how do they ensure that there is adequate demand from the consumer side as well, and that they are being able to deploy that through the right distribution channels and sustainably so."
