Sebi needs to ensure people don't approach tribunal: ED

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Mumbai, December 13

SEBI SHOULD WRITE regulations in such a way that people do not disagree and end up challenging decisions in the Securities Appellate Tribunal, a senior official said on Friday.

Speaking at the World Hindu Economic Forum, V Sundaresan, an executive director associated with the market watchdog for over three decades, said facilitating capital formation and ensuring investor trust is the Sebi's primary responsibility.

"As a field umpire, we need to ensure that people do not disagree with the field umpire and go to the third umpire that I call as SAT," he noted.

The 'game' will be played properly only if the umpire is "impartial" and this will lead to trust among the investors, he said, while speaking in a different context of growth in the mutual fund industry.

The remarks came at a time when concerns are being expressed in several quarters over a majority of the orders by Sebi, resulting in stays or reverses at the SAT.

Sundaresan said stability is very important, and the pursuit of market development should not be done like the roads of Mumbai, where a newly laid road is dug up within six months for some pipe laying.

One needs to balance several factors like inflation, taxation, and duties, among others, to ensure that the market development goal is achieved.

Sebi has adopted a consultative way in the ease of doing business agenda, he said, adding that 250 of 400 proposals have already been implemented and the rest are on the way.

The number of public issuances by companies has grown 7x to 209 per year in the last three years, he said, adding that India is now the biggest by number of such issuances globally and fifth biggest from a capital-raised perspective. There is a need to convert the savers in the economy into investors, Sundaresan said, pitching for strategies like sachetisation of investments where one should be able to put in ₹100 as well into a mutual fund.

Brent prices climb 1% to 3-week high

OIL PRICES EDGED up about 1% to a three-week high on Friday on expectations additional sanctions on Russia and Iran could tighten supplies, while lower interest rates in Europe and the US could boost demand for the fuel.

Brent futures rose 67 cents, or 0.9%, to $74.08 a barrel, while US West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude rose 79 cents, or 1.1% to $70.81. Both were headed for their highest closes since November 22.

For the week, Brent was headed for a 4% gain and WTI a 5% advance. "This strength is being driven by ... expectations of tighter sanctions against Russia and Iran, more supportive Chinese economic guidance, Mideast political havoc and prospects for a Fed (US Federal Reserve) rate cut next week," analysts at energy advisory firm Ritterbusch and Associates said. —REUTERS

Swiggy does a Zomato with Scenes

THIS LAUNCH CLOSELY follows Zomato's introduction of its ticketing platform District last month. Analysts believe competition between Swiggy and Zomato is poised to escalate further, as both companies now compete across multiple verticals.Zepto,anotherplayerinthe market, is also vying for a share in these segments.

Swiggy's quick-commerce service Bolt rivals Zomatoowned Blinkit's pilot initiative Bistro as well as Zepto's offering Café. In August, Zomato expanded its footprint in the events space by acquiring Paytm Insider, an event-ticketing platform, followed by the November launch of its District app for dining, live events and ticketing. The only other significant player in the event ticketing market is BookMyShow. "Swiggy and Zomato are positioning themselves as default platforms for consumers spending on everyday conveniences," said Satish Meena, an analyst at Datum Intelligence. He emphasised that both firms are focusing on cultivating loyal user bases through membership programmes. Swiggy's loyalty offerings include One, One Lite and One Black while Zomato's membership programme operates under the Gold banner. "These verticals are interconnected, catering to the same consumer base. Diversification allows the companies to compensate for segments nearing saturation," another analyst noted. However, Zomato continues to maintain an edge over Swiggy. According to a Macquarie report published in October, Swiggy lags Zomato on most parameters like gross order value(GOV), average order value (AOV) etc in the food delivery and quick-commerce segments.

Swiggy's quick-commerce service Bolt rivals Zomatoowned Blinkit's pilot initiative Bistro as well as Zepto's offering Café

Algo trading for retail soon

ADDITIONALLY, SEBI HAS suggested that exchanges must tag all algo orders with a unique identifier issued to ensure an audit trail. While these measures are expected to improve transparency and create better audit trails, the real challenge lies in effective implementation and monitoring by brokers and MIIs.

"Brokers will need to significantly enhance their systems and processes to comply with Sebi's framework. They will need to educate retail investors on the risks of algo trading and handle complaints from clients using empanelled algo providers," said Sonam Srivastava, founder & fund manager at Wright Research.

Brokers will act as the principal, while any algo provider, fintech company, or vendor will be considered their agent if the algo trading facility is provided through Application Programming Interfaces (AIPs). These would be required to be empanelled with exchanges, with exchanges setting the eligibility criteria for these algo providers.
