Theatres hope for big-screen revival as Kalki arrives

Lata Jha lata j@htlive.com NEW DELHI

heatre owners, who have seen few new films hit the screens since the start of the Lok Sabha election start of the Lok Saona election campaign in April, are gearing up for the first big release in many months. Prabhas and Deepika Pad-ukone-starrer Kalki 2898 AD, also featuring Amitabh Bach-chan and Kamal Haasan, will hit the screens today. Originally in Telugu, it is releasing in Hindi Telugn, it is releasing in Hindi as well, apart from the other three south Indian languages, and builds on the southern template of action and spectacle, while boasting a pan-India starcast. The Telugnand Tamil movie industries that haven't seen a filin braids out in the Hindispeaking belt since 2022 are hoping for things to change with Kulik, expecting it to replicate the success of blockbusters like Badnubadi, RRR and KGF.

Trade experts predict opencate the success of blockbusters like Baahubal, RRR and RGF.

Trade experts predict opening-day collections of the dubbed Hindi version alone to touch 125 crore, while all hanguages together could bring in 100 crore across India.

"The anticipation for Radisis particularly high, given the prolonged absence of major releases in Indian chemas lance the start of the year. Advance bookings are soaring, with record-breaking pre-sales indicating robust andience interest. Major markets, including metropolitan areas and the 2 ditter. Indian art market is growing, with collectibles worth $183 million sold in 2023, says Saffronart's Minal Vazirani rtworks, including paintrtworks, including painings and sculptures, worth $183 million were sold in 2023 in India, as numerous valuable pieces in modern and contemporary art categories were snapped up at auctions both by admirers and investors, asenior executive of a prominent auction hosse said. The Indian art market has grown sointificantly after 2020. has grown significantly after 2020, nas grown signment, when 2020 and the influx of high-quality pieces has considerably expanded the higher and of the market. Minal Vazirani, co-founder of the Marmbai-based Saffronart, said. During the pandemic years starting 2020 and all the way till ast year, the sale of Indian artworks surged, Vazirani said. Saffronart sold the most expensive ever work of arthy an Indian artist last September.

In an exclusive conversation with Mint, she said that the overall size of the action market expanded by more than affilth in 2023, from an estimated $150 on 100 million in 2022. And so far in 2024, sales have already reached $20 million. and the influx of high-quality piece

"The market has grown signifi-cantly (in value and volume) over the last four years, through the pandemic and the lockdown. One of the resons that the top end of the market has grown is because there were some par-ticularly important top-quality works that came up for auction and there was competitive bidding for them," said Vazirani, who has also founded an art fair called Art Mumbai, "Across segments during these years, we sold a significantly higher volume of arthan in the preceding years, as collectors had the time to focus on art; she said. In September 2023, the auction house sold a record-breaking Amrita Sher-Gil painting The Story Teller dating back to 1937. The oll on-carwas masterpiece sold for 761.8 crore (including buyer's fee), setting a new record and surpassing the previous one set just a month before. Tilldate, it holds the record for the highest-ever price fetched for an Indian work of art. The September auction generated over tilst crore in total, marking the creation of two other art records. That same month, rival Pundole's auction house in Mumbis old a Sayed Haider Raza painting titled Gestation for 18175 crore, including the buyer's fee. Next month, in October, an untitled Manjit Bawa artwork depicting the Hindu deity Shiwa was sold for $2.3 million dobout 120 side of Am

$2.3 million (about ₹20

$2.3 million (about $20 case) of Arm corre), a record sale for the artist done in London by Sotheby's. She said the growth in the Indian art market and the prices fetched have been influenced by the types of works available for sale today.

"Art does not exhibit some of the same characteristics as other asset classes. That means there is no commodity that decides its value and it's not traded on any indices and salt is not traded on any indices and so it is not as liquid as other investment plat-forms. But it has, over the years, increasingly been regarded as an alternative asset class. Most importantly, art provides an intangible set of meetits that are difficult to quantify. She said. This week, Saffronart is look gift to auction 120 words of art, including to auction 120 words of art, including to auction 120 words of art, including to accord to the source of the same of the prominent South Asian artists.
