EBC MARGIN ROSE 100 BPS SEQUENTIALLY TO 21.1% Brokerages show optimism over Infosys after strong Q1

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ
Bengaluru, July 19

AS INFOSYS WRAPS up the first quarter of FY25, leading brokerages have voiced a positive outlook on the company's earnings. They cite an upward revision of fiscal 2025 guidance, strategic acquisitions, and a strong start to the year as key drivers behind their optimism.

Further, the brokerages said Infosys' strategic focus on key areas like the US financial spaces—particularly mortgages, card payments, and capital markets—has been highlighted as an area of improvement that is likely to drive growth.

Nomura raised its target price for Infosys to ₹1,950, marking an 11% potential upside, due to an improving growth outlook. "We estimate the inorganic contribution to be approximately 0.7% in the higher guidance. We believe demand remains in favour of cost take out and vendor consolidation projects, while there are a few areas of improvement like the US financial spaces, particularly mortgages, card payments, and capital markets," the brokerage said.

As a result, the stock rose 5% on the BSE in early trade to hit a 52-week high of ₹1,843. It closed at around 2% up at 1,793.

Further, the consensus among analysts points to a buoyant future for Infosys, Similarly, JM Financial has adjusted its target price to ₹2,010, citing the start of an earnings upgrade cycle for Infosys. Motilal Oswal and Axis Securities also showed confidence, with target prices set at ₹2,000 and ₹1,950 respectively, reflecting optimism in medium-term growth prospects.

As a result, the stock rose 5% on the BSE in early trade to hit a 52-week high of ₹1,843. It closed at around 2% up at 1,793.

Further, the consensus among analysts points to a buoyant future for Infosys, with expectations of continued strong deal flow and a supportive macroeconomic environment. "We build 5% growth and see a high probability of upward revision in the guide," JM Financial said.

Meanwhile, Axis Securities said, "From a near-term perspective, global uncertainties may see some improvement and macroeconomic conditions, too, are expected to improve."

Infosys reported higher-than-expected earnings in the quarter that ended June led by growth in its banking, financial, services and insurance vertical.

The company also surprised the Street by raising its sales forecast for the fiscal 2025 to 3-4% from 1-3%, hinting that the clients are gradually increasing their technology spending.

The Bengaluru-headquartered company reported a near 4% sequential increase in the consolidated revenue to ₹39,315 crore in April-June.

The earnings before income and tax (Ebit) margin, rose a whopping 100 basis points quarter-on-quarter to 21.1% in the June quarter, aided by the company's margin expansion program, Project Maximus.

"We had 80 basis points coming from Project Maximus, on the back of better pricing, which is value-based selling, better benefits from our efficiency parameters, which is utilisation, etc. And 40 basis points came from the one-off benefit that we got in this quarter. On the headwinds, we had 1.2% coming from better variable pay and higher deals and other costs, resulting in almost 1% margin," Jayesh Sanghrajka, chief financial officer said.

The company's domestic market sales grew by 3.2% to 13.16 million tonne in Q1FY25 from 12.75 million tonne in Q1FY24. However, crude throughput declined to 10.11 million tonne during the period, down from 10.36 million tonne in Q1FY24.
