Gurgaon's Town Planning Dept Plans to Recommend Ban on NBCC

Buyers complain of shoddy construction and poor workmanship by state-run construction co

Faisal Akhtar@meegroup.com

New Delhi: The Town and Country Planning (TCP) Department of Gurgaon is planning to recommend a ban on state-owned construction firm NBCC following complaints of shoddy construction and poor workmanship by buyers in a group housing project delivered by the company.

SAFETY ISSUES

A report prepared by IIT Delhi after a structural audit of the buildings has also termed them "unsafe" to live in

Homebuyers of Green View in Sector 29 of Gurgaon have been demanding refund from NBCC, citing safety issues over society buildings. A report prepared by IIT Delhi after a structural audit of the buildings has also termed them "unsafe" to live in. "We will send the recommendations to the state government to follow up."

According to an anonymous source who spoke to the residents of Green View, a report prepared by IIT Delhi after a structural audit of the buildings has also termed them "unsafe" to live in. "We will send the recommendations to the state government to follow up."

"Any consumer of housing NBCC from issue of license is unsatisfied and hence denied". The resolution, however, with the construction firm has been protracted, taking all measures that are necessary to protect the interest of its consumers, including their safety.

According to a letter written by homebuyers, approximately 100 flats in total of 700 flats started in 2012, and the flats were to be delivered by May 2016. Out of the total, NBCC could manage to sell only 200 units. The remaining 500 units remain in stock. In a meeting in September 2021, the homebuyers association demanded complete buy-back of flats with interest and other compensation, to which NBCC has agreed and said that they would put the proposal for buy-
