The company's strategic focus on sectors like lanking, financial services, and insurance (BFSI) and technology training for global capability centres (GCCs) is yielding positive results amidst the broader slowdown in Thring, Vijay K. Thadani, vice chairman and managing director, told F.K.

"Our technology training focus shifted to GCCs and second-year GSIs, which helped offset the decline in traditional IT services hiring." Thadani said.

"The demand for upskilling in BFSI and technology sectors has been robust, leading to a strong performance in these areas, he added.

With the widespread hiring freezes in the IT sector, NITI is navigating these challenges by forming strategic partnerships with GCCs that continue to hire and require training services. This approach has not only mitgated the impacts of the slowdown but also bol-stered NIIT's financial recovery. The company has a tie-up
