Raging bull: 10x returns in 20 yrs by 269 NSE 500 firms

Goldman Sachs report analyses tenbaggers across 10 mkt, 6,700 stocks

PUNEET WADHWIA
New Delhi, 5 June

More than half of NSE 500 stocks (269) have given over tenfold (10x) returns in the past two decades, found a recent report by Goldman Sachs that analysed 10 major markets across emerging and developed markets (EM/DM) covering 6,700 stocks.

The report examined the 'tenbaggers' — stocks that generated at least 10x total returns within a rolling five-year period over two decades.

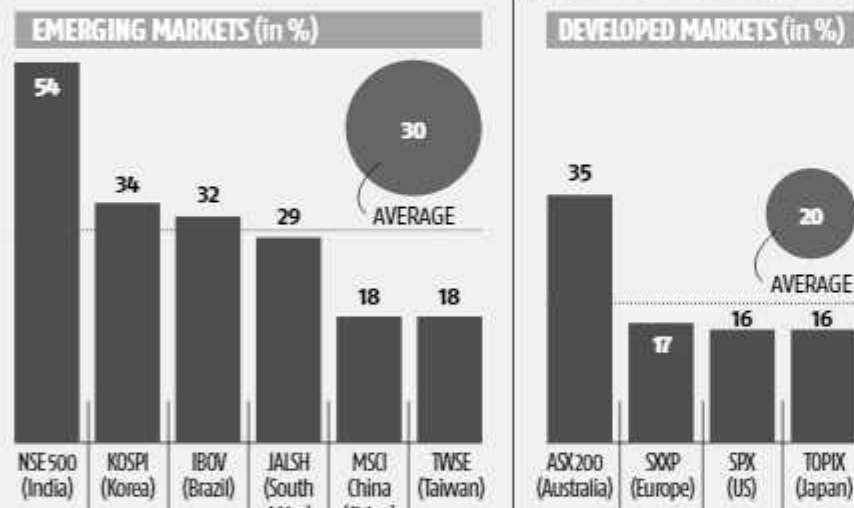

Some of the prominent ones that comprise these 269 stocks in the Indian context delivering over 10x total returns over a five-year rolling period since 2000, according to Goldman Sachs, include Westlife Foodworld, Bharti Airtel, Adani Total Gas, Patanjali Foods, Larsen & Toubro, BEML, Blue Star, Shree Cement, Lupin, Godrej Industries, Astral Pipes, Adani Enterprises, Hindustan Petroleum Corporation, and Deepak Fertilisers and Petrochemicals.

"These Indian tenbaggers within the NSE 500 basket are the largest proportion of multibaggers among the 10 markets (versus 30 per cent/20 per cent averages for EM/DM)," wrote analysts at Goldman Sachs, led by Timothy Moe, their co-head of Asia macro research and chief Asia-Pacific equity strategist, in a recent note.

There is not one, but six common threads running through these 269 'tenbagger' stocks over 20 years, observes Goldman Sachs, enabling them to significantly outperform peers and the overall markets. These include high realised sales and profit growth rates of these companies; high capital return ratios; mid-/small-cap bias; inexpensive starting valuations; domestic sector orientation; and high promoter holding.

"Over the past two decades, the Nifty50 and the broader BSE 200 Index have offered 15-16 per cent annualised returns in local currency, and 12-13 per cent in dollar terms — almost double the 7 per cent offered by the Morgan Stanley Capital International (MSCI) EM Index. The 20-year dollar annualised return for India has also led major equity markets globally (US, Europe, Japan, and Asian peers), although the US markets have fared better in the recent decade," the report said.

Over the past two decades, about 60 per cent of the current BSE 200 stocks will have outperformed the benchmark, predicts Goldman Sachs. Nearly 40 per cent of the current BSE 200 stocks have generated over 20 per cent annualised returns over two decades — double the 20 per cent of stocks for the broader MSCI EM.

Of the universe of 6,700 stocks, about 1,500 stocks (23 per cent) were able to generate at least 10x total returns within a five-year rolling period since 2000.

"The six EM markets in our study (India, South Korea, Brazil, South Africa, China, and Taiwan) on average had 30 per cent of their local benchmark stocks generating tenbagger returns. The four DM markets (the US, Japan, Europe and Australia) on average had only 20 per cent of the stocks delivering multibagger returns," said Goldman Sachs.

Within the 10 markets, it took 52 months (on a median basis) for these 1,500 stocks to reach the 10x threshold, achieving a total return of 16x when they hit peak price levels during their respective five-year (or shorter) outperformance window.

In the case of India, it took 54 months on average and the stocks delivered 24x median returns, 1.5x the median across the 10 markets and second highest after Australia, which delivered a slightly higher 25x median return.

Did you know? Bank's liability is 100x annual rent of a locker

Bank branch that has run out of lockers must put you on a waiting list

BINDISHA SARANG & KARTHIK JEROME

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has now set December 31, 2023, as the final deadline for the renewal of bank locker agreements with existing customers. The earlier deadline was January 1.

Banks are urging their customers to complete this formality much before the deadline. State Bank of India and Bank of Baroda have released advisories urging locker holders to sign their revised contracts by June 30.

Here are a few key things customers, including potential ones, should know about bank lockers.

Existing relationship not mandatory

Even if you don't have an existing relationship with a bank, you can still make a request for starting a locker account. Adhil Shetty, chief executive officer (CEO), BankBazaar.com, says, "It is not mandatory to have an existing banking relationship with a bank, including a banking account, to avail of its locker facility." However, it is obligatory to complete all the necessary KYC documentation.

Tackling availability issues

According to an RBI circular (August 18, 2021), if a branch doesn't have lockers available, it must acknowledge a customer's application, place her on a waiting list, and provide her with a waitlist number.

While most banks, especially public sector ones, offer locker facilities, they may not do so at every branch.

M. Barve, founder, MB Wealth Financial Solutions, says, "Locker availability varies across centres. Some places may have a longer waiting period than others." He suggests checking the bank's website for locker availability across branches. If you desperately need a locker, be flexible regarding the location.

The chances of getting a locker may be higher at a relatively new private-sector bank, than at an old public-sector one.

PROTOCOL FOR LOCKER NOMINATION

■ If a sole locker hirer nominates an individual, in case of his/her death, the bank will give the nominee access to the locker after due diligence

■ In case the locker was hired jointly, in the event of the death of any of the hirers, the bank will give locker access to the survivor(s) and the nominee(s)

■ If joint locker was rented under a survivorship clause — 'either or survivor', 'anyone or survivor', 'former or survivor', etc — then in the event of one hirer's death, the bank will grant access to the survivor(s), according to terms of the survivorship clause

■ Besides access, liberty is also given to remove the contents of the locker

Fixed deposit requirement

While many banks may insist that you open a fixed deposit (FD) account, the RBI circular forbids banks from tying locker facilities to the placement of FD or any other deposit beyond what the RBI specifically allows. Jay Thacker, member, Association of Registered Investment Advisors (ARIA), says, "To ensure prompt payment of locker rent, banks are allowed to obtain a term deposit at the time of locker allotment for an amount that would cover three years of rent and the cost of breaking open the locker in case such an eventuality arises."

Banks' limited liability

Banks have a 'duty of care' to prevent any loss due to their negligence. Shetty says, "In case of events like theft, burglary, fire, fraud by an employee, robbery, building collapse, etc., the bank's liability shall be for an amount equivalent to 100 times the annual rent of the safe deposit locker."

However, in the case of a natural disaster (earthquake, flood, thunderstorm, lightning, etc.) or customer negligence, the bank is not liable for any damage or loss of contents.

All they need to do is take appropriate care to protect the locker systems in their premises from such catastrophes.

Insure locker contents

Not every high-value item can be secured in a bank locker. Tarun Mathur, chief business officer, general insurance, Policybazaar.com, says, "One must therefore buy adequate home insurance to protect valuables like electronic items, expensive furniture, etc."

Most home insurance policies usually do not extend to the contents of a bank locker.

Hence, customers need to buy a specific policy that covers valuables kept in a bank locker. Kapil Mehta, co-founder, SecureNow, says,

"Household insurance that provides cover for jewellery stored in a bank locker is available at a low cost, as the risk of jewellery getting stolen from a bank locker is very low."

Appoint a nominee

Barve advises appointing a nominee to ensure a smooth transfer of locker contents in case of the holder's death. Banks follow certain procedures and conduct due diligence to ensure that the locker contents go to the nominee. Barve encourages customers to update nomination details after significant life changes, such as moving from married to divorced status.
