World Emoji Day
Have you ever noticed how we get lost with words, when in need of communicating something? Well, there comes the role of an emoji.

The pandemic has paved the way for the new normal. Right from business and education to lifestyle and communication, we are shifting perspectives. In that line, emojis have become a part of virtual networking. They are more like pictures that represent our emotions.

Nearly 800 Million emojis are sent every day, without a text, only on Facebook Messenger. All of us are obsessed with those cute yellow faces that we see and use across social media platforms. Whether you had a moody day at work or won an exciting new competition in your college, anything and everything is expressed accurately, simply by sending an emoji to your loved ones.

And, let's not forget to show our gratitude to Shigetaka Kurita, the real creator behind the emojis which we customise and send today. Because every message that you share is incomplete without an emoji!
