HUL Looking at Options to Replace Sourcing from China

Sagar Malviya
@timesgroup.com

Mumbai: Hindustan Unilever, the India's biggest consumer goods firm, said it has started to look at alternatives to replace sourcing from China amid rising tensions between the two neighbours.

"We do have imports from China worth ₹429, including raw material and part packaging material. And we have an absolutely clear strategy, and have started working on what would be the possible alternatives," the company's chairman Sanjiv Mehta told investors during its 87th annual general meeting, held virtually. Anti-China sentiment has been high in the country after clashes between the two countries left 20 Indian soldiers dead earlier this month. This was followed by calls to boycott Chinese products even as the government issued directives to restrict Chinese contracts with public sector companies. On Monday, India banned about 59 Chinese apps, including popular ones such as TikTok and WeChat, which have millions of users in India.

"During the covid period, we have demonstrated a huge degree of resilience, and moved to alternative sourcing which will help us to mitigate any risk that might arise because of the present geopolitical crisis," he said while answering a shareholder's question on whether HUL is dependent on China for inputs or technologies, or what will be its future policy.

The local unit of Anglo-Dutch Unilever, consumed about ₹11,572 crore worth of raw materials and packaging during FY20, according to its annual report, indicating about 3.7% dependence from China. The People's Bank of China also holds 0.33% shares in HUL, which is worth ₹1,588 crore as per its latest market capitalisation.

Last month, Prime Minister Narendra Modi urged Indians to be "vocal about local" brands and buy products made domestically in a speech themed around a self-reliant nation.

Return Booking Amount to Homebuyer, Appellate Tribunal Tells Builder

Mumbai: In a significant judgement, an appellate tribunal has directed a real estate developer to refund booking amount it had forfeited from a homebuyer, saying some key clauses in the allotment letter did not conform to applicable laws. Maharashtra Real Estate Appellate Tribunal set aside a Maharashtra Real Estate Authority (MahaRERA), saying for forfeiture of booking amount is unfair due to one-sided clauses customers are forced to sign by builders. The matter relates to the booking of an apartment in realty developer Omkar Ventures' project in Andheri. The tribunal in its
