MUMBAI: Maratha activist Manoi Jarange-Patil on Thursday called off his nine-day-old indefinite hunger strike, but with a warning to intensify his agitation if the Maharashtra government does not grant reservation benefits under the other backward classes category to the community within two months.

Jarange-Patil, who restarted his agitation at Antarwali Sarati village in Jalna district on October 25 having already held a 17-day fast for Maratha quota demand the previous month. announced his decision on Thursday evening after a delegation of four state ministers and two retired Bombay high court judges met him and requested him to call off the hunger strike.

"We are giving them (government) two months' time to complete the procedure to give us

Earlier, the delegation — comprising ministers Uday Samant, Dhananjay Munde, Sandipan Bhumare and Atul Save besides two retired judges Sunil Shukre and MG Gaikwad — held a three hour meeting with Jarange-Patil. The state government assured the activist that it would expand the scope of the committee headed by retired judge Sandeep Shinde to collate old data from across the state to enable Mara thas get Kunbi certificates.

"We have accepted the demands. The Shinde panel report will be submitted in two months till January 2. We are committed to accord reservation to the community that would stand the legal scrutiny and last for generations..." Munde said.

Moreh on alert; 200 Assam Rifles personnel flown in letters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI: At least 200 Assam Rifles personnel were airlifted to Moreh town in ethnic strife-torn Manipur as the security forces launched an offensive to flush out militants, especially infiltrators from Myanmar suspected to be involved in recent attacks that killed one senior police officer. people familiar with the matter said on Thursday.

Moreh has been on high alert since Tuesday when sub-divisional police officer, Moreh, Chingtham Anand Kumar was killed and three constables of a reinforcement team sustained bullet injuries in two attacks by militants in the border town.

"The additional personnel were air-lifted, some were also sent to Moreh by road as part of the counter-terror measures. They are involved in identifying militants who are hiding in the town or may have crossed into India from the Indo-Myanmar border," a senior officer aware of the matter said. "Assam Rifles is working with other agencies in the counter-terror operations.

particularly in Moreh, the addition of reinforcements by Assam Rifles holds significance as the central paramilitary force is also responsible for guarding Indo-Mvanmar border.

The force also has its intelligence officers deeply engaged in Moreh in Kuki-dominated Tengnounal district.

The National Investigation Agency (NIA), which is probing into the conspiracy behind the ethnic clashes that have claimed at least 179 lives in Manipur since May 3, has pointed at involvement of terror groups from Myanmar and Bangladesh in fuelling the violence.

Empty SoO camps raise concerns Meanwhile, security forces on Thursday conducted a surprise inspection at three militant camps in Moreh and found them deserted, raising concerns. An official aware of the matter said that around 3 am on Thursday, the forces conducted a surprise inspection in three Moreh villages, housing camps of UKLF (United Kuki Liberation Front) and KNA (Kuki National Army) - both militant outfits - under the suspension of operations (SoO) agreement.

"The joint search operations were done by police, Border Security Force (BSF), India Reserve Battalion and Assam Rifles. The camps were empty. Probe is on," the official said.

The suspension of operations agreement was signed by the Centre and Manipur with 25 Kuki militant groups in August

According to terms of SoO agreement, cadres of such militant groups are confined to designated camps, with arms deposited in a safe room under a dou ble-locking system.

The outfits are given minimum arms only to guard their

To be sure, the Manipur government in March this year had backed out of the SoO agreement with KNA.

ZIKA DETECTED IN MOSQUITOES NEAR BENGALURU

BENGALURU: The Karnataka health department issued an alert on Thursday after Zika virus was detected in a mosquito pool collected from a village of Chikkaballapura district, officials familiar with the development said.

As a precautionary measure, blood samples of people with high fever have been sent to the National Institute of Virology for examination, an official said.

District health officer Dr S Mahesh said the virus was found in Aedes aegypti mosquitoes, following the examination of samples from six water bodies in Talakavalabetta village, around 60 km from Bengaluru. The samples were collected in August and results came on October 25.

Health minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said no one has tested positive for the virus. The Commissioner of Health and Family Welfare Services Randeep Durged people not to panic unnecessarily and visit the nearest health care facility for treatment in case of fever.

Study flags rise in 4 zoonotic infections

letters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI: Four types of zoonotic infections (those that travel from animals to humans) have been increasing at an exponential rate, amid a general pattern of increasingly larger and more frequent spillover epidemics. according to an analysis of 60 years of historical epidemiological data, published in journal BMJ Global Health on Thursday.

Based on current trends, these four types of viral pathogens are collectively set to kill 12 times as many people in 2050 as they did in 2020, warns the research team led by Amanda Jean Meadows, Ginkgo Bioworks, Emeryville, California, in the paper, with climate and land use changes predicted to drive the frequency of spillover events, facilitated by population density and connectivity

But the implications for future global health are difficult to characterise, given limited historical data on annual frequency and severity of zoonotic spillover over time, the researchers add.

To get around this, they drew on their own extensive epidemiological database to look for trends in spillover events that might shed light on future patterns. This database draws on a wide range of official sources. It covers epidemics reported by the World Health Organization in the form of Disease Outbreak News reports (WHO DON); outbreaks caused by a viral pathogen that killed 50 or more people: and historically significant outbreaks, such as the 1918 and 1957 flu pandemics.

The researchers focused on Filoviruses (Ebola virus, Marburg virus), SARS Coronavirus 1, Nipah virus, and Machupo virus. which causes Bolivian hemorrhagic fever, because of their potential to pose a significant risk to public health and economic or political stability. As part of the study, at least deaths, of which 15,771 in 40 outbreaks-mostly in Africa-were caused by Filoviruses. Their analysis, which excluded Covid-19, shows that the number of spillover events and reported deaths attributable to these four groups of viruses has been increasing by 5- 9% every year between 1963 and 2019.

"If these annual rates of increase continue, we would expect the analysed pathogens to cause four times the number of spillover events and 12 times the number of deaths in 2050 than in 2020," estimated the researchers in the paper.

"Our evaluation of the historical evidence suggests that the series of recent epidemics sparked by zoonotic spillover are not an aberration or random cluster, but follow a multi-decade trend in which spilloverdriven epidemics have become both larger and more frequent," the researchers said

डाक से 2000 रुपये के नोट भेजना सुरक्षित: आरबीआई

केंद्रीय बैंक के 19 क्षेत्रीय कार्यालयों में हो रहे जमा, कतार से बचने को सलाह जारी

आश्वासन

नर्ड दिल्ली, एजेंसी। भारतीय रिजर्व बैंक ने कहा है कि 2,000 रुपये के नोट रजिस्टर्ड या बीमित डाक के जरिए आरबीआई के क्षेत्रीय कार्यालयों में भेज सकते हैं। यह तरीका बिलकुल सुरक्षित है। आरबीआई ने यह सलाह लंबी कतार में लगने से बचने के लिए जारी की है।

आरबीआई के क्षेत्रीय निदेशक रोहित पी. ने कहा कि यह उन लोगों के लिए एक आसान विकल्प है, जो आरबीआई के क्षेत्रीय कार्यालयों से दूर रहते हैं। गौरतलब है कि 2,000 रुपये के नोटों को बदलने या बैंक खातों में जमा कराने की समयसीमा अंतिम तिथि सात अक्टूबर थी। इसके बाद लोगों को आरबीआई के 19 क्षेत्रीय कार्यालयों में नोट बदलने या जमा कराने का ही मौका

इसके लिए आरबीआई ने फॉर्म जारी किया है, जिसे आरबीआई की वेबसाइट से डाउनलोड किया जा सकता है। इसे भरकर आरबीआई के 19 संबंधित क्षेत्रीय कार्यालयों में भेजना होगा। फॉर्म में बताना होगा कि जिस खाते में 2000 रुपये के नोट भेज रहे हैं, उसकी केवाईसी हुई है या नहीं। जिस खाते में नोट भेजे जा रहे हैं वो अगर गलत पाया जाता है तो इसकी जिम्मेदारी आरबीआई की नहीं होगी।

ड्रॉप बॉक्स की भी सुविधा

आरबीआई बैंक खातों में 2,000 रुपये के नोट जमा करने के लिए ट्रिपल लॉक रिसेप्टेकल (टीएलआर) सुविधा भी दे रहा है। इसके तहत क्षेत्रीय कार्यालयों में विशेष डॉप बॉक्स रखे गए हैं, जिनमें लिफाफे में बंद 2000 के नोटों को जमा किया जा सकता है। इससे लोगों को कतार में लगने की आवश्यकता नहीं होगी। टीएलआर सुविधा के लिए ग्राहकों को काउंटर में फॉर्म मुहैया कराया जाएगा, जिसे भरना होगा। अकेले दिल्ली कार्यालय को अब तक करीब 700 टीएलआर फॉर्म मिले हैं। आरबीआईआ के अनुसार, डाक और टीएलआर से प्राप्त हुए 2000 के नोटों को संबंधित ग्राहक के बैंक खाते में जमा कर दिया जाएगा।
