Scary nouns suck lifeblood from verbs

Since such words are invaders, they should be struck off to keep a sentence healthy Scary nouns or zombies pose a threat to healthy prose. A zombie, defined by Reader's Digest Universal Dictionary, is a snake god of voodoo cults in west Africa Haiti and the southern United States. It is a super natural power which, according to voodoo belief, can enter a corpse and reanimate it. As far as the English language goes, a zombie is a noun that sucks the blood of a verb and gulps down an adjective. And it turns a sentence into a corpse.

The words, like implementation, assessment, requirement, authorisation, development, participation, realisation, punishment and production, are awful nouns. There is a huge tribe of such words in the English language. So, good writers give a wide berth to such ugly nouns.

A national daily in India once wrote: "For development, prosperity and for the construction of a nation, implementation of government's welfare schemes, and people's participation in them is a necessity."

The sentence is not grammatically incorrect, but it has six zombies, the children of four verbs and two adjectives.

They have sucked the lifeblood from the verbs: develop, construct, implement and participate and the adjectives like prosperous and necessary.

Adjectives, too, fall prey to zombies. The words, like applicability, reliability, happiness, ugliness, gratefulness and forgetfulness, may frighten any newspaper editor.

All these words are derived from adjectives like applicable, reliable, happy, ugly, grateful and forgetful.

Yet, we cannot elbow out all zombies, since some combinations of nouns and adjectives help us put our thoughts together.

Nevertheless, that does not explain the reasons for using unavoidable zombies.

The expressions, like "rain activities," "sports activities" and "political activities," are avoidable.

For example, they like recreational activity. Since "recreational activity" may signify anything like games or theatres. The writers must be specific about whether they mean theatres or games. Similarly, "rain activities" signifies nothing, since only "rain" is enough.

There are two scary nouns – like facilities and amenities – that regularly creep into our sentences. Many journalists write about shopping facilities/amenities, but only "shops" can help. Similarly, they often write about parking facilities/amenities, but the word "carparks" can do wonders.

We daily see the words like "Issue" and "problem," but they only steal space and ruin living images.

There was a sentence in a national daily: The troublesome issue of midday meal came up in the assembly for discussion. However correct the sentence may be, the phrases, "troublesome issue" and "came up in the assembly," are frightening. The assembly or the House discussed "troublesome school midday meal" would have been enough. The adjectives can often be called to duty. The verbs, too, can ace out the barbarians.

The words, like "purposes" "aims" "objectives," should be disposed of. For example, the government acquired 400 acres of land for building purposes.

The sentence should have been: the government got 400 acres to build houses. Similarly, "the government's aim of acquiring 600 hectares of land is to build houses for the poor."

The copy editor should have put to route the invaders like "of land" "aim" "acquiring."

When a newspaper editor tries to cross off a zombie called "situation," he fights for breath, because he has many, like unemployment situation, supply situation, financial situation, chaotic situation, abnormal situation, tense situation, and the law-and-order situation. It goes on.

Holds meeting with disgruntled workers

OUR STAFF REPORTER

Senior BJP leader and Union Minister Narendra Singh Tomar convened an important meeting of party leaders in Bhopal on Saturday. He also had a one-to-one meeting with the disgruntled leaders. During discussion, he tried to pacify him.

"It is workers who create a favourable atmosphere for party before the elections and turn this atmosphere into the victory. The roadmap prepared on suggestions of party workers are always beneficial," Tomar said.

Later, he interacted with media persons. He tried to duck the question related to disgruntled party workers by stating that surveys would be held by the party but it would not revealed to media. He made it clear that meetings had nothing to do with the selection of candidates.

He added that party had given directive to hold meeting with former elected representatives and office-bearers in all the districts of the state. Excluding Balaghat, all other districts were covered under the meeting. Suggestions are being taken keeping in view the Assembly elections. The suggestions would be kept before the party and later election road map would be made.

Coming out of the meeting, former Mandi President Bhagirath Patidar said that party workers needed respect. The meeting convened by Tomar lasted for an hour. It is learnt that some former elected representatives expressed resentment, which the latter tried to settle.

Scindia is not gaddar but khuddar: CM

city.bhopal@fpj.co.in

Taking on Congress party's rhetoric that Jyotiraditya Scindia was a traitor (who betrayed Congress and joined BJP), chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan said that he was not a gaddar (traitor) but a khuddar (self-esteemed person).

"How long he would have tolerated insult in Congress. The election was fought in Scindia's name and Kamal Nath was made CM when Congress came to power," Chouhan told media persons at CM House on Saturday. Speaking about former Congress government, Chouhan said it was Digvijaya Singh who ran the government from behind and Kamal Nath was just a dummy. "If Scindia loyalists were wrong, then how could they have won the elections. Earlier, they used to win election by few thousand votes. After joining BJP, they contested the elections and won with margin of 50,000 to 60,000 votes," Chouhan said in response to a query.

He also said that a race was on in Congress to belittle party leaders. "Every leader wants to give big statement to belittle other Congress leader. Digvijaya Singh and Kamal Nath are part of the race," he added.

Djokovic loses to fellow Serb for first time

Banja Luka (Bosnia): Novak Djokovic lost to a Serb countryman for the first time in 11 years in the quarterfinals of the Srpska Open. Dusan Lajovic won 6-4 7-6 (6) to down a world No. 1-ranked player for the first time on Friday. "The emotions are very mixed because I'm playing here in front of the home town and I'm also playing against Nole, who is a good friend and he's a hero of our country," said Lajovic.

GUNNERS SURVIVE SOUTHAMPTON SCARE

Arsenal's grip on the lead in English Premier League loosened further

AP / London

After throwing away 2-0 leads in its last two games, Arsenal came from two goals down just to draw last-placed Southampton 3-3.

Its grip on the lead in the English Premier League loosened further.

Late goals from Martin Odegaard and Bukayo Saka on Friday rescued a point for Arsenal at the Emirates but the hosts couldn't complete the comeback when Leandro Trossard hit the crossbar in injury time.

A third straight draw for Mikel Arteta's team after letting two-goal leads slip away at Liverpool and West Ham handed Manchester City the advantage in the title race.

Arsenal still leads by five points but City has two games in hand and the Gunners need a win against Pep Guardiola's team at the Etihad on Wednesday to stay in control of their own fate.

"Nothing is over," Arsenal striker Gabriel Jesus said.

"We are still five points clear. They (City) have two games in hand. If we want to be champions we have to go there and win the game, that's all."

It was Theo Walcott, of all people, who may have derailed Arsenal's chances of ending a 19-year title drought in the league. The winger, who spent 12 years at Arsenal, put Southampton 2-0 up after just 14 minutes as the hosts dug themselves a hole they couldn't fully get out of.

Despite the late comeback, this felt like another two points dropped after Arsenal's own mistakes handed Southampton the early lead.

Goalkeeper Aaron Ramsdale gifted Southampton the opening goal after just 27 seconds as he played a pass straight into the path of Carlos Alcaraz, who controlled the ball before beating Ramsdale with a shot from just outside the area.

Another mistake led to the second goal as Arsenal gave the ball away in midfield and Alcaraz played Walcott through on goal. The former Arsenal winger beat Ramsdale with a low shot inside the far post for his 39th goal at the Emirates.

"We conceded an early goal that killed our plan but I think, apart from that, we played really good, we responded really well with the crowd," Jesus said.

"Now is the difficult moment. We are putting ourselves in some difficult moments in the games but it's time now to stick together."

Arsenal was in a similar position against Bournemouth in March when it trailed 2-0 before winning 3-2 thanks to Reiss Nelson's injury-time goal. And it seemed like a similar comeback could be on the cards when Saka pulled the ball back from the right for Gabriel Martinelli to volley home from the middle of the area in the 20th minute to put the Gunners back in the game.

But Alcaraz added a crucial goal-line clearance to his goal and assist as he headed away the ball to deny Ben White an equaliser in first-half injury time after a corner.

> Nothing is over. We are still five points clear. They (City) have two games in hand. If we want to be champions we have to go there and win the game, that's all
> – Gabriel Jesus, Arsenal striker

PTI / Omitama (Japan)

India's Shubhankar Sharma scored an improved one-under 69 in the second round but still missed the cut at the ISPS HANDA Championship here on Saturday.

Sharma, who is coming back after a month-long lay-off, had two bogeys on the front nine of the course and three birdies on the back nine.

Yet his first round two-over 72 meant he was one-over for two rounds and missed the cut, which fell at 2-under.

Aaron Cockerill heads into the fourth and final round of the 2023 ISPS Handa Championship with a one-shot lead after making a lightning-quick start on Saturday. Japanese duo Rikuya Hoshino, who lives just 30 minutes from the course, and Takumi Kanaya are one shot further back alongside Scot Grant Forrest on 11-under, one stroke clear of Thailand'sJazz Janewattananond and Rafa Cabrera Bello of Spain.

Jyothi bags 2nd gold

PTI / Antalya

Former world championship silver medallist Jyothi Surekha Vennam won the individual gold in the women's compound section in the Archery World Cup Stage 1 here on Saturday.

Jyothi prevailed over former world champion Sara Lopez of Colombia 149-146 to claim her second gold of the tournament.She and her debutant partner Ojas Deotale had earlier in the day prevailed over Chinese Taipei 159-154 in the compound mixed team event to open India's medal account.

The win also avenged Jyothi's World Championship final loss to the Colombian opponent when the Indian had settled for a silver, going down 144-146 at Yankton 2021.

Locked 30-all after both the archers hit three 10s to begin with, the Indian stepped up further in the second end when she totalled 30 with two Xs (closer to centre) to take a slender one-point lead as Lopez managed 29.

Jyothi, who topped the qualification with a world record-equalling score, extended her lead by two points (119-117) with three more 10s in the fourth end, as Sara once again dropped one point.

Maintaining her consistency, Jyothi wrapped the issue with yet another perfect round to exact a sweet revenge on Sara.

In the semi-final, Jyothi eliminated world number one Ella Gibson of Britain 148-146 in a tight finish that went till the fifth and final end.

Jyothi and Ella were 118-all till the penultimate end. In the decider, the Indian held her nerves to seal the issue with three 10s, as her rival cracked under pressure by dropping two points.
