ITC launches Sunfeast Farmlite Super Millets Cookies

Coimbatore, May 12: Millets are now seen by experts as foods of the future. They are not only climate smart crops but a large body of scientific research recognises millet as superfoods. Earlier this year, ITC launched a dedicated initiative 'ITC Mission Millet' powered by a strategic 3 pillar model that encompasses development of a 'good-for-you' product portfolio, implementation of sustainable farming systems as well as enhancing consumer awareness on the benefit of millets.

The launch of Sunfeast Farmlite Super Millets Cookies is in conjunction with ITC Mission Millet initiative. Available in two variants - Multi Millet & Choco-chip Multi Millet, the millet cookies are made from a blend of millets, including ragi, jowar (sorghum) and contains no added maida. The cookies are a source of iron, protein and fibre. Additionally, the inclusion of choco-chips in the Choco-chip Multi Millets variant adds a touch of indulgence. Both the variants have perfectly balanced the two key elements of taste and nutrition, making them a great snacking option for consumers. Commenting on the launch, Ali Harris Shere, COO, Biscuits and Cakes Cluster, ITC Foods Divisions said, "The new millet cookies are an integral step towards that mission. With the goodness of millets and the unique flavours at the centre stage, we are sure that our consumers will enjoy this new range of biscuits.
