Delhi airport braces for G20, airlines rue last-minute curbs

Special team to handle VIP arrivals; airlines cancel 160 flights after govt order

DEEPAK PATEL
New Delhi, 28 August

Air traffic curbs in view of the arrival of delegates for the G20 summit in Delhi next week have kept domestic airlines and the city's airport officials on their toes, with some blaming last-minute dikats for causing avoidable inconvenience.

Airlines have informed the Delhi international airport about the cancellation of close to 160 domestic flights as a result of restrictions, which extend to roadside traffic, due to the high-security event on September 9 and 10.

The civil aviation ministry last week ordered airlines to restrict the number of flights between September 8 and 10 at the Delhi airport to make ample space for the G20 flights. Additionally, the Delhi Police last week said that road travel between September 8 and 10, the police advised people to use the Delhi Metro's Airport Express line for hassle-free movement.

According to aviation analysts firm Cirium, the Delhi international airport is slated to operate 3,497 flights during September 8-10.

Meanwhile, the Centre has also instructed the Hindon airport — which has not been handling any commercial flights since January this year — to be prepared in case the landing of any VIP flight has to be shifted away from security of parking spots at Delhi airport.

The Hindon airport, situated near the north-eastern fringes of the national capital, is about 35 km from the Delhi international airport. The road infrastructure from the Hindon airport to Pragati Maidan — where the G20 summit will take place — is not up to the mark for VIP and VVIP movement, so refurbishment work is ongoing on the stretch, government officials said.

"The road from Hindon airport to central Delhi is being beautified, with flowerpots and cutouts being put in place. The work will be done in the next couple of days," an official noted.

The Hindon airport is operated by the government-run Airports Authority of India.

Meanwhile, the GMR Group-owned Delhi International Airport Limited (DIAL), which operates the Delhi international airport, said on Monday that it had formed a team of officials to monitor G20 arrival and departure operations to ensure the best experience for the delegates.

"DIAL is already working with different government departments like the Ministry of External Affairs, the Ministry of Home Affairs, and the Delhi government to provide necessary support for guest facilitation," it added.

DIAL said that Terminal 3 now prominently sports illuminated G20 summit logos that enhance the visual appeal both within and outside of it. It has also installed standee banners and counters detailing information about the G20 summit. DIAL said it had taken preventive measures to spruce up the surroundings of the terminals. "This includes the installation of designer fountains, sculptures, and decorative flower pots along the adjacent road," it mentioned.

It added that the airport approach road was now also adorned with elegantly designed fountains.

Airline officials, however, complained that they should have been informed earlier about the flight cancellations or rescheduling due to the G20 summit.

"This kind of a last-minute order creates immense problems for airlines as well as for passengers.

Everyone knew that the G20 summit will take place on September 9 and 10. The order could have been issued in July itself," a network planning official of a major airline said. Another airline official added that while only 160 flights had been cancelled at the Delhi airport, the number could go up further.

According to Cirium, the Delhi airport is scheduled to handle 5.7 per cent more passenger flights in September this year — without taking into account the reduced number during the G20 summit — as compared to September last year (see chart).

DIAL said the airport had clarified that it was "fully equipped" with sufficient parking space. "News of cancellation of flights has no link to aircraft parking space. We have already provided the required parking. We'd like to assure all travellers that the Delhi airport is fully equipped with parking space for aircraft," a spokesperson added.

However, airline officials hinted at issues related to parking bays at the airport. "About 70 planes are currently grounded at the Delhi airport. Then, space is needed for planes bringing G20 leaders and delegates. This has compelled the government to ask airlines to curtail flights," an airline official said.

The G20 summit, being held under India's presidency this year, has lined up numerous meetings between heads of state, invites and various officials.

The heads of state of over 30 countries, including US President Joe Biden, British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak, Chinese Premier Xi Jinping, and German Chancellor Olaf Scholz, will attend the summit.

This year, the theme for the G20 Summit is "Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam", which translates to "One Earth, One Family, One Future".

The G20 cohort includes leaders from Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Canada, China, France, Germany, India, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, South Korea, Turkey, UK, US and the European Union.

Millets to miniatures: Leaders' spouses will get a taste of India

SANJEEV MUKHERJEE & ARCHES MOHAN
New Delhi, 28 August

Although their partners will be busy collaborating to establish a common agenda for the Group of Twenty, the spouses of the participating heads of state and partner countries will have the opportunity to savour the culinary diversity of Indian millets and explore themes such as Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam. An exhibition on the origins of Indian art, culture, handicrafts, and India's grassroots farming innovations is scheduled for September 9 and 10.

Sources indicate that while the leaders convene at Pragati Maidan's Bharat Mandapam convention centre on September 9, their spouses will visit the verdant campus of the Indian Agricultural Research Institute (IARI) on Pusa Road in West Delhi during the morning. Here, Kyoto Jaishankar, the wife of External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, will extend a welcome to them.

During their visit, the spouses will enjoy a lunch featuring millet dishes prepared by renowned chefs from across the country. They might even try their hand at rustling up a quick millet dish themselves.

Within the IARI campus, a dedicated section will showcase various millet dishes. According to sources, chefs from different regions of India will demonstrate the preparation of millet dishes and invite guests to try their hand at millet cooking. Spouses of the majority of the 19 visiting heads of state, as well as those from five guest countries, are expected to attend.

To ensure safety and assistance, Delhi Police and the office of the Lieutenant Governor of Delhi have deployed a specialised group of 400 officers known as "tourist police" in newly acquired Bolo vehicles across 12 locations. These locations include landmarks like Humayun's Tomb, Lotus Temple, Red Fort, Jama

Commuters pass by a mural designed in preparation for the G20 Summit near Pragati Maidan in Delhi

Masjid, shopping areas, and dining establishments, including malls, Dilli Haat, and Hauz Khas Village.

Another stop on the itinerary is the Nanaji Deshmukh Plant Phenomics Centre, located within the IARI campus. This centre, inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on October 11, 2017, on the birth anniversary of social worker Nanaji Deshmukh during his centenary year, is managed by the Indian Council of Agricultural Research. It conducts research on climate-resilient crop varieties and features advanced "climate-controlled facilities", including eight greenhouse chambers.

The guests will then proceed to the IARI fairground to witness the cultivation of millets. At a separate exhibition hall, they will gain insight into the efforts of agricultural startups and farmer-run farmer producer organisations across various aspects of Indian agriculture. These include innovations and tech advancements in the sector, highlighting the pivotal role of small farmers and the contribution of women to the field of agriculture in India's remote hinterlands.
