Amazon.com Inc's potential acquisition of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer would take one of the last major, independent movie studios off the market, capping a rush of streaming deals that are set to make 2021 a record year for media takeovers.

Amazon is in talks to buy MGM, the storied Hollywood company behind the James Bond series, the Information and Variety said in separate reports late Monday. Amazon is weeks into negotiations to buy the studio for about $9 billion, according to Variety.

Reports about the discussions came on the day that AT&T Inc announced its plan to create a new entertainment company by merging assets with Discovery Inc in an entity that will be valued at about $130 billion including debt. The success of streaming giant Netflix Inc and Walt Disney Co, which launched its own video-on-demand service after buying $71 billion in assets from 21st Century Fox Inc in 2018, is drawing new competitors into the market.

MGM and Amazon declined to comment on reports about deal talks.

The acquisitions are setting 2021 up to be a record for media deals, according to data collected by Bloomberg. More than $80 billion in takeovers have been announced so far this year, putting it on track to be the busiest period for the industry since at least 2000, when AOL and Time Warner Inc announced plans to combine, the data show.

MGM has been seen as a takeover target for years, but was never able to close a sale. The company made a fresh push last year, when the Wall Street Journal reported it hired advisers to solicit offers. In seeking a deal, MGM aims to capitalise on the proliferation of streaming services, which has increased demand for large backlogs of content.

It's also discussed other scenarios with tech giants. MGM, whose library includes
