'Right to privacy requires to be balanced with freedom of press': HC

Shilpa Shetty with Raj Kundra

ONKAR GOKHALE
MUMBAI, JULY 30

THE BOMBAY High Court observed Friday that the "right to privacy is required to be balanced with the freedom of the press" and refused to pass any blanket "gag" order granting an interim injunction against media organisations and private persons allegedly upholding "defamatory" content on actor Shilpa Shetty, wife of businessman Raj Kundra who was arrested by the Mumbai Police in the adult film case.

The court, however, asked the defendants to ensure the "defamatory" videos made against the actor, which they have taken down, is not uploaded again. It also directed a TV channel from Uttar Pradesh, one of the defendants in the case, to take down a disputed video uploaded on a social media platform.

Passing a blanket gag order on the media against reporting anything against Shetty, the court said, will have a "chilling effect on the freedom of the press" and would amount to "pre-emption" as it was constrained to decide on what amounted to good and fair journalism.

A single-judge bench of Justice Gautam S Patel was hearing Shetty's interim application in a defamation suit seeking damages of Rs 25 crore seeking to restrain various media organisations from publishing any "incorrect, false, malicious and defamatory" content against her on social media and websites in connection with the arrest of Kundra.

Perusing the plea, Justice Patel initially observed, "Your (Shetty's) case that Google, YouTube, Twitter, etc. shall exercise control over editorial content is dangerous. The plaintiff is like a tycoon (media) are not going to say nice things about me, do not say anything at all. You choose a life in the public eye, part of it will come under the territory. Your life will come under the microscope. What you are asking me
