GOVT VS JUDICIARY

Differences don't mean confrontation, says Rijju

'It sends a wrong message across the world'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Madurai, March 25

DENYING ANY CLASH between the government and judiciary as speculated in the media, Union law and justice minister Kiren Rijju on Saturday contended that differences were inevitable in a democracy but they should not be construed as confrontation.

Union law minister Kiren Rijju (right) with Tamil Nadu CM MK Stalin in Madurai on Saturday

Stalin and acting Chief Justice of Madras High Court Justice T Raja here. "We have differences, but it doesn't mean there is confrontation. It sends a wrong message across the world. I want to make it clear that there is no problem between different organs of the state. There are signs of robust democratic actions, which are not a crisis," he emphasised.

Pointing to some media reports of alleged differences between the government and the Supreme Court or the legislature and judiciary, the Union minister said, "We must understand that we are in a democracy. There are bound to be certain differences in terms of some outlook but you can't have conflicting positions. This doesn't mean confrontation. We are the largest democracy in the world." The Centre would support the Indian judiciary to be independent, he said, and called upon the bench and the bar -- being two sides of the same coin -- to work together to ensure that the court complex is not divided. "One can't exist without the other. Court must have proper decorum and conducive atmosphere."

CJI: Absymal women-men ratio in legal profession

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Madurai, March 25

CHIEF JUSTICE OF India DY Chandrachud on Saturday flagged the "abysmal" women-to-men ratio in the legal profession and called for ensuring equal opportunities for women, asserting that there was no dearth of young, talented women lawyers.

He was speaking at an event held here to mark the foundation-stone-laying ceremony for the Additional Court Buildings in the District Court campus and the inauguration of the District and Sessions Court and that of the Court of the Chief Judicial Magistrate at Mayiladuthurai.

The event was attended by Union law minister Kiren Rijju and Tamil Nadu chief minister MK Stalin, among others.

Rijju touched upon the alleged disagreements between the government and the judiciary and said it didn't mean that there was a confrontation between them. Stalin requested the CJI to ensure social justice in the appointment of judges to the high courts and the Supreme Court.

In his address, Justice Chandrachud said recruiting chambers were being "sceptical" about employing women, assuming that their "familial" responsibilities would come in the way of their profession.

Citing the "abysmal" women-to-men ratio in the legal profession, Justice Chandrachud said, "Statistics inform us that for 50,000 male enrolments in Tamil Nadu, there are only 5,000 female enrolments." "The legal profession is not an equal-opportunity provider for women, and the statistics are the same all over the country," he said. "The phase is changing. In the recent recruitment in the district judiciary, over 50% are women. But we have to create equal opportunities for women so that they do not fall by the wayside because of the fact that they undertake multifold responsibilities as they progress in life."

"Chambers are sceptical about recruiting young women advocates. The reason for that is not a lack of young talented women," he said. "There is no lack of talented young women."

Govt to hold nationwide Covid drill on April 10, 11

AMID RISING CASES of Covid-19 and seasonal influenza, the government is planning a nationwide mock drill on April 10 and 11 to take stock of hospital preparedness.

According to a joint advisory issued by the Union health ministry and the ICMR on Saturday, both public and private health facilities in all districts are expected to participate in the exercise aimed at taking stock of availability of medicines, hospital beds, medical equipment and medical oxygen.

The exact details of the mock drill shall be communicated to the states in the virtual meeting scheduled on March 27, the advisory stated.

The advisory highlighted that in the past several weeks, Covid-19 testing has declined in some states and the current testing levels are insufficient as compared to the standards prescribed by WHO. — PTI

From the Front Page

FM urges public sector banks to be more vigilant

She also emphasised on adherence to the regulatory framework by focusing on risk management, diversification of deposits and assets base.

Managing directors and CEOs of the banks also informed the minister in the meeting that they follow the best corporate governance practices, adhere to regulatory norms, ensure prudent liquidity management, and continue to focus on having robust asset-liability and risk management. They said they remain vigilant about developments in the global banking sector and are taking steps to protect themselves from any potential financial shock.

"All the major financial parameters indicate stable and resilient PSBs with robust financial health," the CEOs were quoted saying, in an official statement. Open discussions were held on the global scenario comprising the failure of the Silicon Valley Bank and the Signature Bank, along with issues leading to the crisis in Credit Suisse.

"The finance minister reviewed the exposure of PSBs to this developing and immediate external global financial stress from both the short and the long-term perspectives," the statement said.

PSBs must look at business models closely to identify stress points, including concentration risks and adverse exposures, she said, adding that she also urged them to use this opportunity to frame detailed crisis management and communication strategies. The minister also advised lenders to remain vigilant about the interest rate risks and regularly undertake stress tests.

Before the meeting, the government had sought details of bond portfolios of the major public sector banks, including State Bank of India and Bank of Baroda, to assess any potential risks.

While both the Reserve Bank of India and finance ministry officials have maintained that the country's banking system is well protected and insulated from the recent global developments, there were concerns that the collapse of two US banks and the stressed sale of Credit Suisse to UBS could have a global contagion effect that may eventually impact Indian lenders too.

"Bank collapses in the US in the first half of March 2023 are rippling through the global financial markets. While the direct impact of this meltdown on economic activity could be limited, as it would appear at present, markets are bracing up for tighter financial conditions which could present a trade-off between financial stability concerns and the conduct of disinflationary monetary policy," an article on the state of the economy in the RBI's monthly bulletin for March had noted.

However, with various reforms measures undertaken, Indian lenders are on a much stronger footing. According to official data, asset quality of public sector banks has improved significantly with gross non-performing assets declining to 5.53% by December 2022 from a peak of 14.6% in March 2018. Capital adequacy ratio of PSBs improved to 14.5% in December 2022 from 11.5% in March 2015. All public sector banks are now in profit with aggregate profit of ₹66,543 crore in 2021-22 and ₹70,167 crore in first nine months of the current fiscal.

The minister also highlighted that PSBs must leverage the full potential of branches opened in International Financial Services Centres in GIFT City Gujarat to identify international opportunities, including prospects related to Persons of Indian Origin (PIOs).

The meeting, which was the first such discussion after the presentation of the Union Budget 2023-24, also focussed on general banking issues and the finance minister also asked lenders to support credit needs of the growing economy and it focus on credit outreach in states where the credit uptake is lower than the national average, especially in North-East and eastern parts of the country.

Lenders were also asked to increase brick and mortar banking presence in border and coastal areas and promote the Mahila Samman Bachat Patra announced in the Budget 2023-24 through special drives and campaigns.

The review meeting was also attended by Union minister of state for finance Bhagwat Kishanrao Karad and Vivek Joshi, secretary, department of financial services.

Premium sedans come to a grinding halt in India

"But in a brand-conscious market such as India, a lower-priced but equally luxurious Nissan could never match the brand value of a Mercedes-Benz."

Sales remained muted; for example, at its peak, Volkswagen could sell only 1,179 units of the Passat in 2012 (of the total market size of about 2 million in that year).

The first to go was the Mando (2006), followed by Sonata (2015), Teana (2015), Passat (2019), Accord (2020) and now Superb (2023).

The Camry is soldiering on as a hybrid car, but is now classified by the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) as a 'specialty' vehicle. During April-February FY23, it sold a decent 891 units, 180 units more than 711 sold during the same period in FY22.

Defined by SIAM as those that are 4,500-4,700 mm long and with engine size up to 2.0

litre, executive sedans—models such as Toyota Corolla, Hyundai Elantra, Chevrolet Cruze, Maruti Suzuki Kizashi, Honda Civic, Volkswagen Jetta and Skoda Laura/Octavia—started losing steam in the early 2010s. As per SIAM data, from 2011 to 2014, their sales dropped more than half—from about 35,000 units in FY11 to 14,875 units in FY14.

"Executive sedans were initially hit by rising sales of high-end variants of cheaper mid-sized sedans such as Honda City and Hyundai Verna, and later by midsize SUVs such as Mahindra XUV500 (launched in 2011) and Hyundai Creta (2015)," another auto industry veteran, who had launched an executive sedan back in 2006, told FE.

The first executive sedan to go was the Kizashi (2012), followed by Cruze (in 2017, with the exit of General Motors from the Indian market), Elantra (2022) and now Octavia (2023), killing the executive sedan segment altogether in India.

Gaurav Vangaal, associate director, light vehicle forecasting, S&P Global Mobility, told FE that over the last few years, Indian buyers have developed an affinity towards SUVs. "SUVs have stronger road presence and are believed to be a better vehicle than sedans for Indian road conditions," he said, adding, "In the high-end segment, chauffeur-driven sedans used to be popular, but now people have started using SUVs as chauffeur-driven vehicles. All this negatively impacted sales of executive and premium sedans."

He added that globally, product development of these sedans has been slowing down as carmakers are focusing on SUVs. "The executive and premium sedans in India were global products," Vangaal said. "When product development at source countries slows down, it will naturally have an impact on low-volume markets such as India."

Will keep fighting for democracy, says Rahul

Gandhi said, "Even if they permanently disqualify me I will do my job; if they reinstate me, I will do my job. It does not matter to me whether I am in Parliament or outside it. I have to do my 'tapasya' and I will keep doing it," he said.

The Congress leader also thanked Opposition parties for extending support to him and asserted that going forward, all of them will work together.

He alleged that for the BJP-led government, "country is Adani and Adani is country". Asked about the BJP's charge that his 2019 remarks that were the centre of the defamation case were an insult to OBCs, Gandhi said he has always talked about brotherhood and the issue was not about OBCs but about Adani and his ties to the government.

In response to another question, Gandhi said, "My name is not Savarkar, it is Gandhi and Gandhi never offers apology." Asked about the defamation case in which he was convicted, Gandhi said it is a legal matter and he will not comment on it.

Small-town India becoming a big draw for major hospitality players

For its premium brands, however, the focus will remain on tier 1 as well as 2 cities. During the pandemic in 2021, it launched Raffles in Udaipur and Novotel in Chandigarh. As per a recent report, a Fairmont hotel is set to open in Fagu near Shimla in 2026.

"Even if you look at the past five years, about 40% of the supply came from tier 2 cities and the rest from tier 1 and 3," said Puneet Dhawan, senior vice-president of operations, India & South Asia, Accor, speaking at the HOPE conclave. "Over the past two years, we have signed about 10 franchise deals and a lot of them have been in tier 2 and 3 cities."

India's biggest hospitality brand, Indian Hotels Company (IHCL), too, operates its 'lean luxe' brand Ginger in many tier 2 and 3 cities along with state capitals. "Ginger will change the landscape of the hotel business in India," Puneet Chhatwal, MD and CEO, told FE last month in an interview. The company operates almost an equal number of Ginger hotels as the Taj brand, and the strategy is set to continue.

Luxury hotel chain The Leela, too, sees an opportunity in tier 2 cities for resorts. "With increased accessibility, connectivity and better airports, there is a lot of opportunity in tier 2 and 3 cities," said Anurag Bhatnagar, chief operating officer, The Leela, adding, "India is rediscovering itself in terms of new and remote locations. So if there is a right asset, great location and a great kind of positioning that can be built up, I am sure it is a great location to be considered for a luxury brand like Leela," he said at the HOPE conclave.

"About 30% of our current portfolio is in tier II and III cities," said KB Kachru, chairman emeritus and principal adviser—South Asia, Radisson Hotel Group. "We have hotels in places like Katra near Jammu, Jalandhar and many in Jammu & Kashmir. In fact, we have a huge portfolio in Kashmir," he said, adding, "It is not just us, the entire industry is looking at tier 2 and 3 cities." Kachru is also vice-president of the Hotel Association of India.

Increased road, rail and air connectivity too has played a prominent role here, the hospitality executives said.

"Improved air and road connectivity to tier 2 towns from metropolitan cities is a big driver to this growth," said Dang of JLL. "Secondly, aspirations of the residents of such towns have increased dramatically over the years. People across the country are looking for improved leisure, F&B and hospitality choices. On back of such behavioural shift, investors and developers are encouraged to build hotels in such towns," he added.

Jatin Khanna, CEO of Sarovar Hotels & Resorts, which has a strong portfolio on non-metro markets, pointed at the rise of pilgrimage and religious tourism, a large portion of which lies in non-metro locations. "I think that is set to grow and is growing faster than the leisure segment," he said at the conclave.

Lemon Tree Hotels' president Vikramjit Singh spoke of not just tier 2 and 3 markets, but tier 4 as well. "We have hotels in places like Jhansi, Aligarh, Siliguri and Trichy. The rates there match the tier 1 cities and occupancy is higher. These markets are the dream markets," he said.
