Olympic test swimming event stalled in Paris due to polluted Seine waters

ROSHAN BOURGET

neveral athletes were disappointed on Sunday about not being able to participate in the Olympic Open Water test swimming event in Paris

IN PARIS

Seine river. The event had to be called off due to elevated pollution levels in the Seine's waters.

In exactly one year, in August 2024, this renowned venue is to host the marathon swimming and the swimming leg of the Olympic and Paralympic triathlon

The event organizers waited till the last minute to decide the fate of the test event. At 4 am in the morning the French Swimming Federation and World Aquatics – the International Swimming Federation came to a joint conclusion that the water was not safe enough for the swimmers.

The decision was taken based on the analysis of the E.Coli bacteria, with a concentration of 1.300 CFU/100 that was above the threshold limit of less than 1.000 imposed by World Aquatics. The Federation said that it was disappointed about cancelling the event, but that the health of its athletes was its topmost priority

Head of the French Swimming Federation, Gilles Sezionale expressed his dismay on local radio, "First and Foremost disappointed for the athletes, who were dreaming of competing in one of the most beautiful locations in the

Despite efforts and constant monitoring, the pollution levels in the Seine fall to below acceptable standards during heavy rains and storms because of the untreated waste overflowing into the waterway.

Exactly a century ago, it was officially prohibited to swim in the Parisian Seine. However, now, France has pumped in 1.4 billion euros for the Seine to welcome swimmers again. A herculean public works project is in progress for this to be possible for the 2024 Olympics and beyond.

Enormous structural work is being done on storm water and rainwater treatment. A gigantic 50,000 m3 storm basin, that is the equivalent of 20 Olympic swimming pools is under con-struction near the Gare d'Austerlitz in the heart of Paris. This basin would ideally store rainwater, which can then be treated adequately before it flows into the Seine. This should improve the bacteriological quality of its waters. The public sanitation networks have also been overhauled. The habitants of the 260 boats living on the river are being constantly monitored about how they evacuate their waste water.

World Aquatics is still cautious and warned, "We must continue to work with Paris 2024 and local authorities to ensure that solid contingency plans are in place for next year.

The Parisians and other organisers however are confident about making this dream come true in 2024. Brigitte Légaré, in charge of the Olympic competitions in central Paris doesn't feel that a plan B is necessary. She assured, "Plan B is that we are going to swim in the Seine!"

Israeli forces kill Palestinian man

TEL AVIV: Israeli forces shot and killed a Palestinian man in the occupied West Bank, Palestinian health officials said on Thursday, the latest death in an unabating wave of violence. It comes amid soaring tensions surrounding Israel's continuing raids into Palestinian areas in the territory and after the release to house arrest of a Jewish settler accused of involvement in the killing last week of a 19-year-old Palestinian man.

Russia intercepts Moscow-bound drones for 2nd day

AP / Kyiv

Russian air defence systems on Thursday shot down two heading toward drones Moscow for a second straight day, officials said. The reported attack disrupted flights at two international airports as Ukraine appeared to step up its assault on Russian soil.

Rescuers battle a fire after Russian missiles struck Zaporizhzhia

One drone was downed in the Kaluga region southwest of Moscow and another near a major Moscow ring road, according to Moscow Mayor Sergey Sobyanin and the Russian Defence Ministry, which blamed the attack on Ukraine.

No casualties or damage were immediately reported. Domodedovo south of the city, halted flights for more than two hours and Vnukovo airport, southwest of the city, stopped flights for more than two and a half hours, according to Russian news agencies. Ten flights were diverted. Russia's Federal Agency for Air Transport said. Firing drones at Moscow after more than 17 months of war has little apparent mili-tary value for Ukraine, but the strategy has served to unsettle Russians and bring home to them the conflict's consequences.

Kyiv officials, as usual, neither confirmed nor denied Ukraine's possible involvement in the drone strikes, though Air Force spokesman Yurii Ihnat remarked: "This cannot but please us because people in Moscow thought they were safe. Now, the war affects each and every Russ-

"We now see that something' happens in Moscow on a regular basis," he added.
