BLAZES BURNING FOR NEARLY A WEEK HAVE KILLED AT LEAST 24 PEOPLE

Los Angeles firefighters on alert for return of extreme winds

• 12,000 structures destroyed; new fire erupts in Oxnard

CHAD TERHUNE &
JORGE GARCIA
Los Angeles, January 14

LOS ANGELES FIREFIGHTERS braced on Tuesday for a new round of intense winds that could fuel two monstrous wildfires that have already killed at least 24 people, leveled entire neighbourhoods and scorched an area the size of Washington DC.

Much of Los Angeles and Ventura County could experience wind gusts of 50 to 70 mph from early Tuesday through Wednesday as dry Santa Ana winds picked up after relative calm last week, according to the National Weather Service.

It declared a red flag warning, meaning the situation was dangerous and could ignite new fires while stoking those already burning.

"This setup is about as bad as it gets," Los Angeles City Fire Chief Kristin Crowley told local residents. "We are not in the clear."

Highlighting the risks, a small but fast-moving new fire erupted overnight in scrubland in the bed of the Santa Clara River in Ventura County, northwest of Los Angeles.

Ground crew and several helicopters were working to contain the so-called Auto Fire, which had razed over 56 acres and was burning near a golf course but not yet threatening homes.

In anticipation of the winds, more than 8,500 firefighters attacked the two biggest wildfires from the air and on the ground, aiming to prevent them from spreading overnight.

State authorities on Monday pre-positioned firefighting crews in Los Angeles and other Southern California counties that were under elevated fire danger.

The Palisades and Eaton fires erupted on the city's western and eastern flanks during last week's intense winds but crews made progress in controlling them since the weekend.

At least 24 people have died in the blazes, according to the Los Angeles County Medical Examiner. This toll will likely rise, officials said, as crews carried out house to house searches in burn-out neighbourhoods.

The Eaton fire damaged the Altadena home of Lorraine Bryan, 63, and destroyed two other dwellings on her property. She told Reuters she was worried about getting refills of insulin that she needs to manage diabetes.

"I'm worried about insurance and about rebuilding and getting back on my feet," Bryan said on Monday, standing in the doorway of her charred home. "I need my medication. I'm trying to see who can help us."

The wildfires have destroyed or damaged more than 12,000 structures, turning entire neighbourhoods into smoldering ash and piles of rubble and leaving an apocalyptic landscape.

As of Monday, more than 92,000 people in Los Angeles County were under evacuation orders - down from more than 150,000 - while a further 89,000 faced evacuation warnings.

The Palisades Fire, which wiped out upscale communities on the western flank of Los Angeles, burned 23,713 acres (95 square km) and was 14% contained.

The Eaton Fire in the foothills of the San Gabriel Mountains east of the city consumed another 14,117 acres (57 sq km) and was 33% contained, the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (Cal Fire) reported.

A third fire, the Hurst, spanning 799 acres (3.2 sq km) was 95% contained, while three other fires in the county have been fully brought under control in recent days.

Deputies were finding human remains every day in burned-out parts of Altadena, Los Angeles County Sheriff Robert Luna said.

"It is a very grim task," Luna said, adding he expected the confirmed death toll to rise in the days ahead. California Governor Gavin Newsom has said the firestorm could rank as the most devastating natural disaster in U.S. history. It is already the costliest wildfire in terms of insured losses.

Pant set to play Delhi's next Ranji tie

PRATYUSH RAJ &
DEVENDRA PANDEY
New Delhi/Mumbai,
January 14

ON THE DAY wicketkeeper batsman Rishabh Pant confirmed his availability for Delhi's next Ranji Trophy game against Saurashtra in Rajkot, there was no clarity about India's premier batsman, Virat Kohli.

A Delhi and District Cricket Association (DDCA) official said that Virat Kohli must take inspiration from Mumbai players and turn up for Ranji Trophy matches. This after India captain Rohit Sharma was at Mumbai's practice session at the Wankhede Stadium on Tuesday.

DDCA secretary Ashok Sharma confirmed that Kohli's name was included in Delhi's probables list for the last two rounds of the Ranji Trophy. "Virat Kohli's name is in the probables list. Rishabh Pant has confirmed that he will be available for selection for Delhi's Ranji Trophy game against Saurashtra in Rajkot on January 23. Virat should take inspiration from Mumbai cricketers and play for Delhi in domestic cricket whenever he is available. See in Mumbai, there has always been a culture where their India players turn up for Ranji matches whenever available. It is missing in the North, especially in Delhi," Sharma said.

Delhi's Ranji Trophy camp is underway.

It is still unclear if Rohit will play Mumbai's home match against Jammu and Kashmir.

Post India's 0-3 loss to New Zealand, the first home series defeat in 12 years, and the 1-3 defeat in Australia the lack of domestic game time by some of India's top cricketers have been in focus.

Pant, 27, featured in all 10 Tests that India have played since September 2024 after making one appearance in the season-opening Duleep Trophy. Pant's last Ranji Trophy appearance was in the 2017-18 final against Vidarbha in December 2017.

Rohit's last appearance with the Mumbai team was in 2015 against Uttar Pradesh. The last time Kohli played a domestic match was in 2012.
