Rahul has chance to put Test career back on track

SRIRAM VEERA Adelaide, December 4

IT'S STILL NOT clear whether KL Rahul will open in the Adelaide Test. "I know but I have been told to not tell," he would tell the media. But it's certain that he is going to get a tattoo at the end of the tour. "I have already fixed it after Sydney." He knows what design he wants, doesn't want to share yet, and it is becoming a bit of tradition. "I had done a tattoo on my first tour, and again (my) second tour."

Australia is where it started for me 10 years ago, and hopefully, this is a start for something great in the next half of my career from Rahul - how he was told to breathe deeply to calm himself down, and little suggestions through that phase. On Wednesday, Rahul would say all he did then was to pass on the same suggestions his opening partner M Vijay had given him all those years back. "I could see a bit of myself in Jaiswal from when I was here 10 years ago, opening the batting for the first time. A lot of doubts, a lot of nerves. You keep doubting your own game and there's a lot that happens in your head. So the only thing that you can do is to slow things down, try and take a few deep breaths and focus on one thing. And that's what was passed on to me by my fellow opening partner back then, Murali Vijay. So I just passed that on to him (Jaiswal)."

Rahul admitted that he still faces those self-doubts and nerves. "I do still have all of these thoughts. But having been there, you know what you need to do to get past that or get over those doubts and get over those thoughts you have in your head. So whatever I told Jaiswal is what I practice."

Balance in stance In the knocks thus far, his bat has been held closer to the body, one of the faults in the past that had led to him being dropped from the team. He had had a problem against the incoming ball, as the bat would be held a touch away, and would leave a bat-and-pad gap. He worked a lot on it with his friend David Mathias, a former Ranji team-mate and a close friend. "It comes from good hard work on balance in the stance. The alignment at the crease," Mathias said.
