TO WORK ON LANGUAGE BARRIERS, AGRICULTURAL EFFICIENCY

Google to expand India AI initiatives

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Kolkata, August 15

GOOGLE IS INTENSIFYING its focus on India with the introduction of advanced AI tools aimed at breaking down language barriers and enhancing agricultural practices, a senior company official said. Abhishek Bapna, director of product management at Google DeepMind, highlighted the importance of reducing language barriers in India's economic development."Language is very essential for economic development. For instance, a language barrier should not hinder someone from explaining their medical issues to a doctor or accessing banking services," Bapna said during his short visit to IIM Calcutta.

supports nine Indian languages — Hindi, Bengali, Gujarati, Kannada, Malayalam, Marathi, Tamil, Telugu and Urdu. Bapna noted the complexity of India's multilingual environment, where people often use multiple languages simultaneously. This presents unique challenges for AI models, as they must correctly identify and apply the appropriate dictionaries to understand and generate accurate responses, Bapna said.

Additionally, Google introduced IndicGenBench, a comprehensive benchmark designed specifically for Indian languages. This initiative aims to assess and fine-tune language models for more accurate and effective use in India.

In a parallel effort to support India's agricultural sector, Google is working towards launching the Agricultural Landscape Understanding (ALU) Research API. This limited availability tool is designed to make agricultural practices more data-driven and efficient.

TheALUAPIaimstoenhance farm yields, improve access to capital, and provide better market access for farm products.

"On agriculture, right nowwe are conducting a pilot with the Telangana government that is already underway. Once that complete, we plan to scale it up and engage actively with state governments," Bapna said. He added that Google's agri initiatives are driven by two major goals: improving livelihoods and addressing climate change through necessary interventions.

Passengers complain of 'dark patterns' on airline sites

FE BUREAU New Delhi, August 15

DOMESTIC AIR PASSENGERS continue to pay high fares due to 'dark patterns' or alleged manipulative tactics employed by airlines in the booking process, says a survey conducted by LocalCircles.

According to the survey, airline websites and apps tend to employ manipulative tactics at times, also known as 'dark patterns', to mislead customers into paying higher fare or paying for add-ons and unintended purchases during bookings.

The survey said flyers have complained about 'dark patterns' such as "forced action, drip pricing, false urgency and basket sneaking".

LocalCircles said 72% of consumers surveyed say they have frequently experienced air fares being increased if they search for it multiple times in a session. Besides, 62% of consumers experience a false sense of urgency on online booking platforms to get them to book faster.

Another key concern for flyers is hidden charges associated with booking tickets that are not presented upfront, but only at the time of making the payment. "Equally distressing is that 40% of consumers surveyed say they have frequently experienced'basket sneaking', where a service gets added to their carts or transactions without consent," the survey said.

"The results underline the fact that beyond notifying and striving to create awareness of dark patterns, the government and regulators need to take deterrent action so that airlines make modifications to their websites and apps..."

Most big enterprises may enhance AI & machine learning spending

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi, August 15

MAJORITY OF LEADING business houses in India, with annual turnover of over ₹5,000 crore, are planning to increase their investment in artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) technology by 10-30% in 2024, a survey by CIO&Leader said on Thursday.

The 2nd Annual CIO&Leader State of Enterprise Technology (SET) Survey, conducted in partnership with research firm BM Nxt claims to have covered over 350 chief information officers and IT decision-makers found that 78% of respondents want to invest in AI and ML to improve customer experience and engagement.

"With 76% of organisations planning to invest more in AI/ML projects, the survey underscores

Poonawallas renovate iconic Pune racing club

GEETA NAIR Pune, August 15

INDUSTRIALIST YOHAN POONA-WALLA and his wife Michelle have renovated and remodelled the Pune Turf Club, restoring the heritage landmark.

Royal Western India Turf Club is a sports club for horse racing and runs the Pune Race Course. It is among the oldest horse racing clubs in the country.

Yohan Poonawalla and his foundation worked on the restoration exercise over the past two years.

The extensive renovation included a complete overhaul of the club's infrastructure, including the refurbishment of 24 guest rooms, reception lobbies, public spaces, offices and four cottages.

Michelle Poonawalla and her team at MYP Design Studio led the renovation.

The club's restoration is expected to generate additional revenue, contributing to the growth and sustainability of Indian horse racing.

The Poonawalla family has been an integral part of the racing landscape in India, with generations involved in horse racing and breeding. The Poonawalla Stud Farms, established (as the Poona Stud Farm) in 1946 by Yohan's grandfather, the late Soli A Poonawalla, is renowned for producing champions on the race track.

"Yohan and Michelle Poonawalla's contribution has been pivotal in bolstering our club's financial standing at a time when it was most needed and it would be contributing significantly to the growth and prosperity of horse racing in India," Suren Sanas, chairman of the Royal Western India Turf Club, said.
