Glyphosate makers see a lull in sales

NO WAY AROUND. Manufacturers turn cautious due to Centre's new norms, look at developing PCO network

Manufacturers of glyphosate in India such as Bayer Crop Science Ltd, Sumitomo Chemical India Ltd, and Crystal Crop Protection Ltd, see some short-term impact on sales of the largest selling herbicide in the country due to the new norms announced recently by the Centre on its sale and usage. This is mainly on account of the lack of adequately trained pest control operators (PCOs) in the country, who could take up the spraying of the herbicide as a service.

POTENTIAL IMPACT

As part of its Q2 earnings statement, CropScience said it sees potential impact in the short term on the sale of glyphosate and is working with all stakeholders to understand the implications and to best serve the critical weed management needs of farmers.

Industry sources estimate

THE NEXT G. While there could be a potential short-term impact on glyphosate sales, the alternative herbicides such as glufosinate, may see growth that the annual sales of the glyphosate exceeds ₹1,000 crore. "There will be some impact on sales as glyphosate is one of the important products in our portfolio. We may see some drop in sales if States start imposing this notification and stop the sales of glyphosate. But nothing as of now," said Ankur Aggarwal, Managing Director, Crystal Crop Protection Ltd. The company is also exploring options for developing the PCO network along with its dealers, but it would take a long time, Aggarwal said. In fact some States like Tamil Nadu and Uttarakhand among others have already started implementing the Centre's latest notification.

Chetan Shah, Managing Director, Sumitomo Chemical, in Q2 earnings statement said the order will have no impact on export business for the product. "It is difficult to assess the impact of this order on domestic consumption of glyphosate. It may, however, impact domestic sales and consumption of glyphosate in the short term because of the inadequate number of trained PCOs. The company is taking adequate steps to mitigate the impact, if any, arising out of the order," Shah said.

TEMPORARY HIT

While there could be a potential short-term impact on glyphosate sales, alternative herbicides such as glufosinate, may see growth. "We believe that the other herbicide market may grow a little more - the other selective, non-selective herbicide market will continue to grow. UPL will benefit so will everybody else," said Jai Shroff, CEO, told businessline UPL, recently.

While Crystal Crop also has glufosinate in its product portfolio and its sales have been going up, Aggarwal said there's no replacement for glyphosate, which has been used for over 40 years now.

Despite tiff with mills, sugar exporters rule out default on shipments

Subramani Ra Mancombu

Sugar prices in the global market increased on Monday on fears over some Indian mills threatening to default on shipments due to their differences with shippers. But stakeholders here, especially exporters, said there would be no default from the country.

"There may be a small problem in central Maharashtra. But it will not affect sugar exports from the country. Each and every tonne of export commitment will be honoured," said Praful Vithalani, President, All India Sugar Traders Association (AISTA)

"There is a small volume of defaults but it is between mills and exporters. There are some mills seeking renegotiation of the contracts since the market is very volatile," said Rahil Shaikh, Managing Director, MEIR Commodities India Pvt Ltd.

22-WEEK HIGH

"There is nothing to worry about. Contracts between sugar mills and exporters and deals between exporters and global buyers are two different aspects," he said.

On Monday, raw sugar on the InterContinental Exchange, New York, for delivery in March zoomed to a 22week high of 19.83 cents a pound ($440.06 a tonne). In London, white sugar for delivery in March was quoted at $536.5 a tonne — near a twomonth high.

A Barchart.com report said there were reports that some Indian sugar mills were threatening to default on sugar contracts, possibly forcing traders to cover positions in the cash market, which would boost prices.

London-based diversified global financial services plat-for March delivery on the ICE zoomed to a 22-week high of 19.83 cents a pound form Marex said, "Indian selling is not as reliable as other origins selling."

"Looks like there is a small issue between mills and exporters. It could be solved soon," said VR Vidya Sagar, Director, Bulk Logix.

The problem between mills and exporters is due to the "stiff barriers" put up by the Centre while allowing sugar exports to resume this month. Sugar exports came to a halt from June 1 after the Centre capped shipments at 10 mt for the 2021-22 season that ended on September 30. Later on an additional 1.2 mt of sugar was permitted.

The limit was imposed to ensure the country had ample stocks during the festival season to meet domestic demand. With the new sugar season beginning in October and mills starting crushing operations, the Centre has allowed exports to resume and permitted 6 mt shipments.

"Some of the mills had sold sugar for exports more than what the Food Ministry has permitted for shipments. This has now resulted in renegotiations. A few mills may default, while some may renegotiate," said Shaikh.

While permitting exports, the Food Ministry has allocated a uniform 18.23 per cent quota of their last three operational years' average production for all mills.

Why Haryana's rice buy exceeds output outlook for issuing fake entry passes

Haryana's rice procurement, at 38.6 lakh tonnes (lt) as of November 10, has exceeded the 37 lt target set by the

But this is much more than the rice estimated to have been produced in the State this year. The Union Ministry for Agriculture and Farmers Welfare has pegged the total rice output this year at 46.54 lt, including basmati. There is, however, a problem with

If basmati makes up 50 per cent of the State's rice proprocured rice exceeding the target? Basmati is neither procured at the minimum support price (MSP) of ₹2,040/quintal nor do farmers sell it.

MAJOR REASONS

Experts and analysts point to three reasons for this anomaly. One, the data on rice production may not be correct. Two, it is alleged that rice from the public distribution system (PDS) is being resold to the agencies. The third reason is paddy from nearby districts of Uttar Pradesh find their way into Haryana.

They point at two developments to say the procureduction, how has Haryana ment exceeds production

APEDA CROP SURVEY

On the other hand, as per a crop survey of the Agricultural and Processed Food Products Export Development Authority (APEDA), basmati rice production (including 1-2 premium nonbasmati varieties) in Haryana is likely to be 29.32 lt this year, though some exporters have said that it could be even more at 31.2 lt.

This, in a way, is a pointer to problems with the data. If

But suddenly, it jumped to 69 per cent in 2015-16 and around 90 per cent of output in 2019-20," said an official monitoring the procurement data. "That too output also includes basmati rice," added.

MCX copper: Initiate fresh longs at current levels

Akhil Nallamuthu

The price of copper has been rising since the beginning of November. Consequently, the continuous futures of copper on the Multi Commodity Exchange (MCX) rallied from ₹660 on October 31 to ₹696.5 on November 14. Note that the contract made a high of ₹707.3 on Monday.

Although there was a minor long unwinding on Monday, the price action looks bullish and there are no definite signs of a bearish reversal.

Nevertheless, should be wary of ₹700, which can resist the bulls in lifting the price up. The nearest resistance above ₹700 is at ₹720 with subsequent one at ₹750. On the downside, ₹685 and ₹670 are notable supports.

TRADE STRATEGY

Last week, we suggested buying MCX copper futures at around ₹670. The revised stop-loss for the same would be at ₹678. At ₹700, we recommended liquidating threefourth of the longs and carrying the remaining to a target of ₹718.

can continue holding the longs. However, tighten the stop-loss further to ₹690. Exit at₹718.

One can even consider Liquidate the buys at ₹718.
