Yadav pips mentor Verma to take 3rd place in ranking round

Dhaka, Nov 15: Upcoming compound archer Rishabh Yadav pipped his mentor Abhishek Verma for the third spot in the ranking round and hogged the limelight in the Asian Championships that got underway at Bangladesh Army Stadium in Banani here on Sunday.

Overall, the Indian archers took the second place in the team and mixed events of recurve and compound sections, as heavyweights

Korea dominated the qualifications on expected lines.

Making his Asian Championships debut, the 19-year-old Yadav, who shot to prominence by bagging a bronze at the Youth World Championships earlier this year, scored 708 points to pip Verma by one point.

A product of SAI Centre of Excellence in Sonapat, Yadav, who is being coached by Verma since 2012, was lying second at the halfway mark with 356 points, three behind the eventual topper Choi Yonghee of Korea.

But Yadav slipped to third place in the final six ends with Kim Jongho joining his Korean teammate to seal the top-two places, while Yadav and Verma took the third and fourth spots.

"He's been consistent this year and today I lost to him! It's good to see our young archers doing well ahead of next year's Asian Games," the former Asian Games champion Verma told PTI.

Verma has been coaching Yadav at the Yamuna Sports Complex in New Delhi since 2012 before he was picked by SAI NCOE.

World Championships silver medalist Jyothi Surekha Vennam stood fourth with 701 points as the Koreans took the top three places in the women's compound section.

Cadet archers Parneet Kaur, Priya Gurjar also impressed for the Indians, taking the fifth and sixth places, while Muskan Kirar had to settle for the seventh spot.

In the recurve section, Kapil (675) outshone Tokyo Olympic-returned Pravin Jadhav (670) and senior national champion Parth Salunkhe (670) to take the fifth, sixth and seventh places respectively.

Reigning world youth champion Komalika Bari had a disappointing outing, slipping to eighth place with 644 points. Ankita Bhakat, Madhu Vedwan and Ridhi were the top-three among the Indians, taking the fifth, sixth and seventh places overall.

Out of reckoning, Gokulam win 3-1 in women's football

Aqaba, Nov 15: Indian club Gokulam Kerala FC claimed a 3-1 victory over Uzbek side FC Bunyodkor in their final AFC Women's Club Championship group stage game.

The win notwithstanding, Gokulam Kerala are out of the tournament as they lost their first two games to Amman SC and Shahrdari Sirjan.

The Malabarians started on an attacking note with Ghanaian striker Elshaddai Acheampong giving the side its first goal in the 33rd minute off Soumya Guguloth's header.

The team went on the defense shortly after the goal and went into half time with a 1-0 lead at the Aqaba Stadium here on Saturday night.

Bunyodkor's captain Luiza Sadirova was sent off for her challenge on Elshaddai in the box. And then, Manisha Kalyan doubled the lead in the 62nd minute.

Gokulam extended their domination with a fine finish from Columbian Steffany as the side continued its attacks.

The Uzbekistan side came close to taking the lead in the 18th minute when Nozimova forced a save from Shreya, who also stopped Ergasheva's follow-up from close range.

Bunyodkor's Umida Zoirova went past the Gokulam defence before slotting home to reduce the deficit.

Gokulam, however, restored their two-goal advantage in the 68th minute when substitute Karen Steffany Paez scored from close range after Acheampong's shot was denied by the bar.

Eyeing LA Olympics, ICC to award T20 World Cup to USA

Sydney, Nov 15: The USA is likely to host the T20 World Cup in 2024, which could serve as a launch pad in the ICC's bid for cricket's inclusion in the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics.

The ICC is expected to award a joint bid by USA Cricket and Cricket West Indies to host the 2024 T20 showpiece.

According to a report in Sydney Morning Herald, a "decision on venues for ICC events in the next cycle was imminent, and that an outward, global focus would mean they were more widely distributed than in the recent past." If all goes as per the plans, it would be the first global tournament not hosted by either India, England or Australia since the 2014 T20 World Cup in Bangladesh.

The ICC has been for a long time looking to give emerging countries the hosting rights for the mega events.

India's achievement in vaccinating 100 Cr people

Sir,

With the Political will and the charismatic leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi India has reached yet another milestone in combating the spread of the Coronavirus by vaccinating more than 1.4 billion people within 278 days. Modi's vision to vaccinate all eligible India adults before the end of December 2021, is a challenge that the country has been facing.

India's universal immunization programmes is one of the world's most extensive public health programmes. The immunisation programme could be made successful with the 2.3 million ASHA and Anganwadi women frontline workers along with millions of doctors and nurses in the country.

India has harnessed its proven expertise in discovering and manufacturing the apt vaccines and drugs to eradicate the virus totally from the country. The Indian medicines produced for infectious diseases like meningitis, pneumonia and diarrhoea prove to be saving the lives of the people affected by diseases.

The seed funding from Bill Gates and Melinda Gates Foundation has been proud to work with the Government of India. Various pharmaceutical manufacturing companies, including Serum Institute Bharat Biotech and other companies help to produce safe and affordable vaccines available across India.

The inoculation of the Covaxin and Covishield to millions of people in the country proved to be successful and it is the right time to approve both the vaccines globally, it is said. The vision of Narendra Modi to vaccinate 100 % eligible population is really a tough task ahead, say many.

S.Gopalan, Maraimalai Nagar.

A Small Cycle..!

Yesterday was Children's Day and I saw a small cycle and a little boy!

Both doing a man's job.

He was the milkman's little son, hardly seven or eight, and with his tiny painted cycle, laden with milk sachets he trudged from house to house, pushing his wee yellow and red two-wheeler. He did not get on the bicycle to pedal, either he didn't know to ride or the milk packets were too heavy to give him his balance, but with the seriousness of someone mature and older he walked the little bike to different buildings, put it on its rusty stand and then counting the milk bags rang the doorbell and handed the day's supply to the waiting householder inside.

I walked to the little cycle. Red and yellow, a hand painted job!

Mine had also been painted by hand, not such fancy shades, but a dignified black. I touched the little handlebar and in my mind I touched my own little steed, many, many moons ago. "Bob," my dad had said. "Your birthday present's outside." I had run out, followed by an even more excited dog and had stopped dead in my tracks. There leaning against the compound wall was my own pair of wheels.

My dream-machine!

"Junk!" my friends had exclaimed.

"Junk?" I asked and angry mothers met mine that evening to report to her about wounded sons who had been punched and kicked and fisted. "What made you do that?" my father asked that evening and I had looked away. My little machine looked back at me, proud of such loyalty.

It did not return such faithfulness: Many hours of precious riding time were spent at the puncture shop. Till puncture man one day gave up in hopelessness as there was no more room on the tyres for him to fix his rubber pieces. He finally offered me second-hand, a tube with a few empty spaces left for tyre bursts.

With black enamel, my father painted the rusty fellow, gleaming paint looking like cosmetic on wrinkled skin. Who cared!

And in the evening when the lights were put on, I led the bike to the side of my room and laying it gently on the floor, sat myself on a stool, and pretending the front wheel was a my steering wheel, drove my huge bus, with bus like sounds that came fiercely from my grimaced mouth.

I was a monster driver!

Yesterday on Children's Day, I walked behind the coloured bike. The little fellow looked up at me "You want a ride?" he suddenly asked. I smiled and then we laughed; all four of us, the little boy, his coloured bike, a grown up me, and from somewhere, a black, hand painted bike, which was also a bus..!

POV VVS

Do or die political battle in UP

The UP assembly election will be a tough battle for all parties. It will perhaps be a close fight between Yogi Adityanath and Akhilesh Yadav. BJP is virtually moving heaven and earth to sweep the election. Despite the poll predictions, it will not be an easy job for BJP. It all depends upon the mood of the voter close to the election.

The recent UP Panchayat election results indicate that Samajwadi Party supported candidates have won more seats than BJP supported candidates in the election of district Panchayat members. Interestingly BJP supported candidates have been defeated in key bastions to Hindutva politics like Ayodhya, Varanasi and Mathura. The trend indicates that the sentimental appeal of building of Ram temple may not augur well with the voters. The AAP has also registered its presence with a significant number of seats in UP's three -tier Panchayat system. The BJP has won the second highest number of seats in the Panchayat elections. The outcomes of the Panchayat elections has triggered the potential parties for a do or die battle in UP.

All major players, including the Samajwadi Party, the BSP and Congress have decided to go it alone in the upcoming state elections and are rather eyeing joining hands with smaller caste-based parties. It is a straight fight between BJP and SP backed by the morcha of small influential regional parties. A key constituent of the SP led alliance will be Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party (SBSP) whose standing among the Rajbhars and other castes can change the complexion of the outcome in the 153 assembly seats in close contests.

All the major opposition parties will do well without any alliance. But the race is only between BJP and Akhilesh Yadav's Samajwadi Party. Both have to slog it out for the top position. Based on the Panchayat elections mandate, it cannot be accurately predicted who will win in the upcoming assembly election.
