PROVISION IN DIGITAL INDIA BILL LIKELY Centre may ask tech giants for access to anonymised data

SOUHARENDRA BARIK
New Delhi, November 14

THE CENTRE is considering issuing a directive to big tech companies like Facebook, Google and Amazon to share anonymised personal data in their possession with a government backed database, The Indian Express has learnt.

The move, if finalised, could see these companies claim intellectual property rights over such data, and initiate discussions around the ownership of such data. The government has long been interested in this issue since such datasets form the bedrock of artificial intelligence (AI) models.

Under the upcoming Digital India Bill, the successor to the Information Technology Act, 2008, the IT Ministry is understood to have added a provision which will mandate big tech companies to deposit all the non-personal data they hold to the India datasets platform, a senior government official said.

The Digital India Bill is a key part of a comprehensive legal framework which encompasses various legislative measures such as the recently-notified Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, the draft Indian Telecommunication Bill, 2023, and a policy addressing the governance of non-personal data. The bill, however, is unlikely to be released this year. As per a report released in October by a working group constituted by the IT Ministry, the India datasets program is a "unified national data sharing and exchange platform to enable various data sharing and exchange use cases of all stakeholders including but

Non-personal data held by the Indian datasets platform could also be monetised, the report suggests. The platform, as per the report, will play a crucial role in boosting the artificial intelligence ecosystem in India by providing a "robust foundation" for data-driven innovation and development.

In May 2022, the IT Ministry had released the draft National Data Governance Framework Policy under which it merely "encouraged" private companies to share non-personal data with startups and Indian researchers.

During a press briefing earlier in October this year, Minister of State for IT, Rajeev Chandrasekhar, had signalled a change in the government's stance on non-personal data ownership.

'India to keep up with rising energy demand'

UNION POWER AND NEW & Renewable Energy Minister RK Singh on Tuesday said India will not compromise on meeting growing energy demands of the Indian economy, but will develop generation capacity with responsibility.

Addressing an inauguration of a power pavilion set up by Ministry of Power at the ongoing India International Trade Fair 2023 here, he said it is the developed countries who need to cut down their emissions first.

The minister spoke about India's position in the wake of the upcoming COP28, the 2023 United Nations Climate Change Conference. Singh said it is the developed countries who need to cut down their emissions first.

"Around 85% of the carbon dioxide load in the atmosphere

is due to the path of industrialisation followed by developed countries. India's population is 17% of the world population, while our contribution to carbon dioxide load is only 3.5%. Even now, our per capita emissions are one third of world average, while that of developed countries is three times the world average, he said. PTI

India unemployment rate at record low: SBI economists

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Mumbai, November 14

INDIA'S UNEMPLOYMENT RATE is at a record low and the country's labour market is undergoing a structural transformation, a report said on Tuesday. In the new report, the economists at SBI also pitched for a "re-interpretation of old fashioned rhetoric" while looking at a subject like employment.

"India's unemployment rate is at a record low, India's labour market is undergoing a deep structural transformation with self-entrepreneurship across all echelons and higher educational attainment emerging as key drivers," the report said. It noted that the jump in self-employed populace within the employment estimates was wrongly interpreted as a signal of shrinking job openings.
