Tomar defends farm laws ahead of chakka jam today

Unions say they won't enter Delhi; UP and Uttarakhand exempted

SANJEEB MUKHERJEE & AGENCIES
New Delhi, 5 February

Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar speaks in the Rajya Sabha during the Budget session of Parliament

As a belligerent Opposition continued to attack the central government on the three farm Acts in Parliament, Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar defended the laws in a speech in the Rajya Sabha on Thursday, saying the farmers' unions and Opposition parties haven't been able to point out any flaws in the laws.

This came just a day before the nationwide chakka jam announced by farmer unions between 12 pm and 3 pm on Saturday.

However, the Delhi National Capital Region and Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand have been exempted from the stir. The protesting farmers have also decided not to enter Delhi.

"Due to prevailing agriculture operations in UP and Uttarakhand, the chakka jam has been withdrawn from these states and instead the protesting farmers will submit a memorandum to their respective district magistrates," read a statement by the Bhartiya Kisan Union (BKU) faction led by Rakesh Tikait.

Meanwhile, intervening during the motion of thanks to the President's address to both houses of Parliament at the start of the Budget session, Tomar said despite the Acts not containing any flaws, the Centre has offered to amend them to respect the sentiment of the protesting farmers.

Tomar, along with two other Union ministers, has held 11 meetings with farmers' representatives in the wake of the protests, but the deadlock continues.

Tomar reiterated that the NDA government under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi is fully committed towards farmers. He said the government has held several rounds of talks while respecting their protest.

Prime Minister Modi lauded Tomar's remarks, saying he has given detailed information on every aspect of the legislations. In a tweet, Modi posted a video link to Tomar's statement and said it is his humble request that people hear his speech.

Participating in the debate, the Shiv Sena, SAD, NCP, Samajwadi Party and Left parties demanded that the three laws be repealed and fresh ones brought in after wider consultations.

Shiv Sena MP Sanjay Raut alleged that anyone speaking the truth is dubbed a "traitor" or "anti-national" and that cases of sedition have been slapped against those criticising the government.

"Everyone keeps saying that the government must leave its arrogance, but where is the arrogance... We are ready for talks. We even offered to put it (the laws) in abeyance for 18 months. If we are showing so much flexibility, why don't they (protesting farmers) show similar flexibility... If people in support of the laws also sit on dharna, do we want civil war? We say it is supreme House... no one can take this House for granted," BJP member Vinay P Sahasrabudhe said in the Rajya Sabha.

Special PMLA...

Business Standard has reviewed the summons order.

The court order has cited a summary of the ED findings, which are part of the charge sheet. According to them, Chanda Kochhar and Deepak Kochhar were long associated with Dhoot. In 1992, Deepak Kochhar floated Vikvin Finance with his mother. Later in 1994, he changed the name to Credentia Finance, in which Chanda Kochhar had been allotted equity shares. In the same year, Dhoot invested approximately ₹10 crore in CFL, which was merged with Bloom Field Builders and Construction Company, in which Dhoot/Videocon Group was holding a majority shareholding.

headcount sits there; and therefore, if you do not address the onsite pyramid you really have a battle up your hand," said Roy on the call.

HCL, after its third-quarter numbers, said it would be hiring 20,000 over the next four to six months, and of them 15 per cent would be onshore. Experts point out it is not just about hiring locals, empowering local staff to create, and equally important, and capture added value doesn't happen without preparation. It requires a thorough conceptual understanding of what customers perceive and experience as value-enhancing and are willing to pay for.

Expert panel...

"Pfizer will continue to engage with the authority and resubmit its approval request with additional information as it becomes available in the near future," the spokesperson said. The SEC noted, "The firm presented its proposal for emergency use authorisation of its Covid-19 mRNA vaccine, BNT162b, before the committee. The committee noted that incidents of palsy, anaphylaxis, and other serious adverse events (SAEs) have been reported during post marketing, and the causality of the events with the vaccine is being investigated. Further, the firm has not proposed any plan to generate safety and immunogenicity data in Indian population. After detailed deliberations, the committee has not recommended for grant of permission for emergency use in the country at this stage."

Earlier, the firm had missed appearing before the SEC thrice, blaming a short notice and time-zone difference for it. The source added that Pfizer had also indicated there were no plans to manufacture the vaccine in India. "Pfizer's shipments have been falling globally, and the firm may have decided to focus on these geographies for the moment and increase production. To get approval in India, it would not only have to come back with data on facial palsy cases, but also with the clinical trial protocol for the bridge trial," said the source. While it has with-drawn the application, the firm said it remained committed to making the vaccine available for use in India. Pfizer did not wish to comment on when it can re-apply for approval.

Visa demand...

Pareekh Jain, founder and lead analyst, EIRITrend, said onshore hiring had been related to margins. However, with the strategy of hiring locals, dependency on visas has come down. "The pandemic has made customers realise that work can happen from anywhere. We have seen contracts where the onshore-offshore ratio has moved from 25-30:70 to 10-15 per cent onsite," added Jain.

Nilanjan Roy, chief financial officer, Infosys, during the analyst call after the Q3 results, had acknowledged with the current travel restrictions and work from home a norm, clients were more open to offshoring. "Our hiring in the US as a pyramid is something unique to Infosys, creating six digital hubs, recruiting from universities and community colleges. Historically the IT industry had a steep pyramid onsite. Seventy-five per cent of employee cost is onsite whereas only 25 per cent of the was already normalising its liquidity operations by resuming variable rate reverse repo.

Upset RBI devolves auction
The bond market reacted to the normalisation of the CRR rather adversely. Bond yields jumped 6 basis points, and dealers wanted higher yields at the ₹31,000 crore auctions scheduled after the policy. An irate RBI refused to sell any bond, including the benchmark 10-year and 5-year bonds, and the primary dealers, or the underwriters of the bonds had to buy most of those.

Seeing a non-flinching RBI, the bond yields cooled down rapidly, and the benchmark 10-year closed at 6.07 per cent, flat from its previous close. Senior economists say the reason for the central bank's displeasure was clear. "Tapping into domestic savers for government bonds is probably ten times bigger than inclusion in a global bond index. Because domestic savers never cause external crisis and is a very stable, potentially inexhaustible, source of funds for the government," said a senior economist who is consulted by the RBI on various matters. Besides, by letting compensation of HTM category run by one more year, the RBI has potentially opened up another ₹4 trillion of space for banks to invest in bonds, the economist said. "The CRR was reversible, and in all likelihood would be replaced by even more open market operations than last year's Rs 3 trillion. There have been many other subtler liquidity measures, such as letting the marginal standing facility extension for one more year which can be counted in the liquidity coverage ratio, letting fresh MSME lending calculation out of the CRR calculation...the market should not have panicked," said the economist.

This way, the RBI addressed next year's ₹12 trillion borrowing plan even before the year started, experts said. "This RBI is not going to blink, but at the same time, it wants to run in sync with the market towards a common cause, and not against it. The yield tolerance has definitely not increased, and is probably still at around 6 per cent like last year," another economist said requesting anonymity.

Growth-inflation
For now, the MPC's focus is on reviving growth. The decision on rates and stance was unanimous, the governor said. Given that inflation has returned within the tolerance band, "the MPC judged that the need of the hour is to continue to support growth, assuage the impact of Covid-19 and return the economy to a higher growth trajectory," he said.

The RBI projected real gross domestic product (GDP) growth at 10.5 per cent in 2021-22 - in the range of 26.2 to 8.3 per cent in the first half and 6 per cent in the third quarter. Inflation was projected at 5.2 per cent for the fourth quarter of 2020-21, 5.2-5.5 per cent in the first half of 2021-22 and 4.3 per cent for the third quarter of 2021-22, "with risks broadly balanced."

"The RBI's upbeat views on the economy along with sustained cost-push pressures on inflation fortifies our stance of no rate cuts in the foreseeable future, notwithstanding sustenance of an accommodative stance," said Tirthankar Patnaik, chief economist of NSE.

In a rare departure, the RBI governor also indirectly told the state and the central government to keep prices, especially that of fuel, into check. The government would be reviewing the inflation target mandate of the RBI in March this year, the central bank said. The RBI said it will have a comprehensive review of the microfinance sector. According to Chandra Shekhar Ghosh, managing director and CEO of Bandhan Bank, it was more than a decade that the Malegam panel reviewed the framework for MFIs. Since, the sector has grown substantially. Therefore, a comprehensive review of the sector will certainly be a timely," Ghosh said.

Big reforms...

"Allowing retail participation in the G-Sec market is a bold step towards the financialisation of a vast pool of domestic savings and could be a game-changer," said State Bank of India chairman Dinesh Khara. "This is a big reform in our view, but the uptake may only be gradual," said Pranjudh Bhandari, chief India economist of HSBC.

The move to allow investment through the portal 'Retail Direct' was a "path breaking reform," said Indian Banks' Association (IBA) chairman and Union Bank of India MD and CEO Rajkiran Rai G. "However, the retail customers need to be educated on the nuances of the government securities market. For this more awareness is to be created," Rai said.

The RBI will soon release the modalities of how retail investors can directly participate in the primary and secondary market trades through RBI's e-Kuber system. So far, retail participation was done through banks or gilt funds. The response was tepid, but the ease of investment now can eliminate the need for investing in a plethora of products, experts said. Money can move from all sorts of assets, including from real estate, where the rental yields are just 1-2 per cent in India. Bonds issued by the sovereign are the safest, which also can offer returns of 6 per cent and more and can substitute the need for saving in bank fixed deposits and fixed income mutual funds products. In case of short-term funds, government treasury bills can give more return than banks.

The governor tried to allay fears of a substitution effect on bank deposits and mutual fund products.
