Paytm executives seek new job opportunities

Regulatory squeeze on group spurs senior executives to look elsewhere

Shayan Ghosh & Devina Sengupta MUMBAI

clutch of senior and mid-level executives at Paytm and its associate company Paytm Payments Bank are seeking roles elsewhere amid regulatory restrictions on the group and top-level churn. According to two senior recruiters, there are a lot of resumes from Paytmin the market, spanning corporate, business, and technology roles.

The recruiters, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the resumes started coming in after RBI imposed restrictions on Paytm Payments Bank, with the flow increasing lately.

On 31 January, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) barred the payments bank from accepting customer deposits after the end of February, which was later extended to 15 March. This strictures crimped the company's ability to do business.

"Many of them (employees) had joined the company when things looked much different. Now they believe their growth aspirations will be curtailed if they do not look for other opportunities," said one of the recruiters who specialises in seniorlevel hires. "We also have a bunch of CVs (curriculum vitae) with us from Paytm jobseekers.

The recruiter cited above said that moving out of Paytm might not be easy for these employees since their salaries are 20-30% above the levels seen in the market.

'Their salaries are much higher than what other companies pay since they were hired from good organizations in the e-commerce space and other well-paying sectors," said the recruiter. This was seconded by the chief executive of a bank who said that Paytm employees are difficult to absorb because of their salaries. Another senior recruiter said that Paytmemployees are often being forced to
