Coronavirus: Flyers from China to fill health forms

Times News Network
New Delhi: In the wake of Wuhan coronavirus epidemic, India has told airlines operating direct flights from China and Hong Kong to start making in-flight announcements, asking passengers with a history of fever and cough as well as history of travel to Wuhan City in last 14 days to self-declare at port of arrival. Passengers on flights will need to fill up self-reporting forms before disembarkation, making these declarations, issuing a statement on Tuesday, the ministry of civil aviation (MoCA) has directed seven airports — Chennai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Cochin, Delhi, Mumbai and Kolkata — to set up health counsellors.

A thermographic camera being used at Kolkata airport to screen passengers arriving in India from China and Hong Kong to do thermal screening of these flyers (from China and Hong Kong) in pre-immigration areas. Airlines staff will bring passengers to these health counters before immigration check. If any ill passenger or crew member is confirmed as a probable case of Wuhan coronavirus, public health authorities will be notified. The alert comes in time for the Chinese New Year on January 24, which is the most important holiday season that witnesses maximum vacation travel out of China. Locals got a mandatory seven-day holiday at the start of this spring festival. Several Chinese airlines and two Indian carriers — Air India and IndiGo — have direct flights between India and China. A spokesperson for IndiGo said: "The areas affected by the virus are around Wuhan, which is a long way from our destinations in Guangzhou and Chengdu. We will continue to monitor the situation." In accordance with a health ministry advisory, MoCA has prepared an action plan for airlines and airports to ensure strict adherence.

Special kids can use calculators: CBSE

Abhishek Choudhary

Nagpur: For the first time in its history CBSE will allow the use of calculators — starting this summer's board exams — for students with dyscalculia (difficulty in learning or comprehending arithmetic). This facility can be availed only by those students who have already registered themselves under the "children with special needs" (CWSN) category for the exams. The board has specified that only a "simple basic calculator" can be used.

QUICK SUMS: The board has specified that only a "simple basic calculator" can be used students in learning more life skills. Students with dyscalculia do understand numbers but struggle in operations. So, if they can get some help in the operations part, it will mean a lot to them,". Renowned adolescent counsellor and paediatrician Dr Rajiv Mohta said, "This will be a big help for students with dyscalculia. They get confused with numbers and having a calculator will at least make it a level playing field."

Maharashtra state board, as of now, only provides other exemptions to students with dyscalculia. Ravikant Deshpande, Nagpur division chairman for the state board, said, "Calculators are not allowed but we give them extra time to complete the paper." CISCSE board, popularly known by its Std X certificate name ICSE, institute, said, "Apart from the use of calculators for students suffering from dyscalculia, our board even allows them to drop math even in Std X. There is no point in a student struggling with math when they could choose some subjects like environmental science etc."

SC move after Cong MLA switched sides

From P1

The decision came in a case related to Manipur Congress MLA T Shyam Kumar, who switched to BJP and became a minister after the party formed government in 2017. Nearly a dozen petitions seeking Shyam Kumar's disqualification were filed but the Speaker sat over them.

The SC asked the Speaker to decide the petitions in four weeks and said failing to do so would warrant interference by the apex court.

On fixing three months as the outer limit for disqualification proceedings which could stretch for years, blunting the impact of disqualification, the bench said, "This period has been fixed keeping in mind the fact that ordinarily the life of Lok Sabha and legislative assembly of states is five years and the fact that persons who have incurred such disqualification do not deserve to be MPs/MLAs even for a single day."

Shivraj Patil had ruled that a split was a continuous process, allowing defecting Janata Dal MPs to join Congress through merger. His predecessor Rahul Rai held a split to be a one-time affair, disqualifying a bunch of Congress MPs. More recently, the political drama in Karnataka held centre stage when the Speaker refused to accept the resignations of MLAs, a decision that would have endangered the Congress-Janata Dal (S) government. It required the intervention of the SC, which said the resignations and splits are not new. As Speaker during the tenure of the Narasimha Rao government,
