Subject: Malicious news article published in the "The Hindustan Times" on August 12, 2020
Ref: Our previous letters dated November 22, 2018 and December 21, 2018: SEBI's inaction thereon

Dear Sir,

I am constrained to bring to your notice a third incident of a targeted media campaign through malicious articles written on the basis of leaked information, creating a slur on our reputation.

1. On August 12, both Mint and Hindustan Times published online and in their print editions stories containing tendentious and unproven allegations about the promoters of KIL (the "Article"). The early editions inexplicably omitted our statements denying the allegations and confidence in the strength of our case. The Article refers to the show-cause notice issued against us by SEBI way back in December 10, 2019 (the "SCN")<sup>1</sup>. Despite having pointed out errors to the reporter who had sought our views before publication, the Article falsely mentions an amount of INR 350 crore as the quantum of ill-gotten gains to the noticees under the SCN thereby suggesting a fraud of a largescale magnitude. The Article also wrongly alleges a write off of Rs. 300 crores by Kirloskar Brothers Limited in respect of its wholly owned subsidiary KCEL albeit to sensationalize the matter, when the actual write off was only Rs. 64 crores (which was merely about 2% of the asset size of KBL). On August 13, local regional newspapers such as Sakal and Loksatta have carried the story reported in Mint and Hindustan Times once again. I attach the articles for ready reference.
2. Our assertion of complicity between SEBI and its friends in the media rests on none other than the reporter herself, who states in her story that the "SCN has been reviewed by Mint". As you know, the SCN is not a public document. The Article is more than just a journalistic good fortune; it bears the hallmark of calculated and practiced complicity between an official of SEBI (perhaps aided by a third party) and a reporter whose mandate covers SEBI - and whose attention to detail suggests a desire to protect her source.

3. The timing of this Article is also malicious and deliberate inasmuch as while the SCN was issued way back in December 2019, someone chose to leak it to the media at a time when the arguments and submissions by the noticees have been completed and the SEBI Whole Time Member (the “WTM”) is in the process of formulating her order.
4. This Article clearly is aimed at influencing the minds of the regulators including the WTM in the conclusions it may arrive at, on the basis of the submissions made by us in respect of the SCN. While we are confident that we have been able to demonstrate to the WTM that the allegations made in the SCN and the conclusions reached therein, are erroneous and are liable to be quashed, we fear that such articles may prevent the WTM to pass an unbiased order on merits, fully exonerating the noticees from the charges and allegations made in the SCN.
5. We have filed complaints with your offices, following previous hostile articles, which we believe bear the same fingerprints as those on the latest stories. Those articles too were mischievously written using names of prominent jurist and a leading law firm to suggest investigation and conclusion of insider trading by us. The timing of those articles too was malicious coinciding with the period when SEBI was being continuously bombarded by complaints from Mr. Sanjay Kirloskar and KBL as well as repeated meetings were held by Mr. Sanjay Kirloskar with past and present SEBI Chairmen and other high-ranking officers of SEBI alleging inaction by SEBI and seeking direct intervention in respect of this matter. I attach the complaints for your ready reference. I also attach extracts of emails/ letters showing evidence of such meetings. Unfortunately, despite requests SEBI chose not to issue any clarifications or to investigate our allegations regarding such mis-information at that time and thereby allowed this manipulation to occur once again.
6. The pattern of these articles emerging once again and its timing now makes us wonder if there is a nexus between Mr. Sanjay Kirloskar and some officers in SEBI, who seems to be aware of the exact progress of our SCN. As already pointed out, the fact that despite Mrs. Pratima Kirloskar (wife of Sanjay Kirloskar) having undertaken an identical trade as ours and merely a few days after our transaction and she not being issued a similar show cause notice itself reeks of bias and a one-sided approach.
7. As we near a conclusion, we earnestly request that you, as the custodian of the public interest, act at the earliest to rid India’s capital markets regulator of practices that have no place in a fair, transparent and robustly governed business environment and uphold the integrity and impartiality of this institution. We urge you to examine the events and developments that have taken place right from 2010 in this matter which will help you understand as to why we have chosen to write to you as a last resort.

Rahul Kirloskar

I would also request you to urgently investigate the source of this leak of the SCN in public domain.

Yours sincerely,

Rahul Kirloskar
