CEOs of Air India, Akasa joust over poaching of pilots

Akasa Air accused its bigger rival of violating rules

ADITYA KALRA
New Delhi, October 31

THE CHIEF EXECUTIVES of Air India and Akasa Air have privately exchanged barbs over the poaching of pilots, with the latter accusing its bigger rival of rule violations, provoking a reply that collusion to curb job switching can breach competition law.

The exchange, detailed in a September 21 letter seen by Reuters, spotlights growing competition in the country's aviation market, as a strong rebound in air travel after the pandemic, coupled with a flurry of orders for new aircraft, lead to a shortage of pilots.

The rare verbal and written confrontations between the airlines' CEOs were detailed in the letter, sent by Campbell Wilson of Air India, which is owned by the Tata Group conglomerate, to Vinay Dube of low-cost airline Akasa.

It followed a telephone call between them and a missive Dube had sent expressing his concerns to the Tata Group. The letter shows Air India pushed back after Akasa accused it of contravening government policies that mandate a notice period of six to 12 months for pilots, rules that Indian pilots' groups are challenging in court.

Wilson told his counterpart the government rules were "not currently enforceable", adding that Akasa itself had "previously engaged in the same actions" by poaching pilots from Air India Express, and other airlines. "It was a little surprising to us that Akasa now found the practice objectionable," Wilson wrote in the letter, which Reuters is reporting for the first time.

Akasa did not comment,

WAR OF WORDS

- Akasa's Vinay Dube accused Air India Express of contravening 6-12 months notice period rule for pilots
- Air India's Wilson replied the rules were 'not currently enforceable'
- Air India Express is on a hiring spree as it seeks to more than triple its fleet to 170 over five years
- Akasa has lost about a tenth of its 450 pilots, who left without serving out notice periods, some to join Air India Express
- Air India's Campbell Wilson said in a letter that Akasa itself had 'previously engaged in the same actions'

but said the issue of pilot exits was "now behind us... we are squarely back in growth mode".

Air India declined to comment and the CEOs did not respond to requests for comment.

The dispute comes at the time of a hiring spree by Air India, with Air India Express seeking to more than triple its fleet to 170 over five years.

In recent weeks, Akasa has lost about a tenth of its 450 pilots, who left without serving out notice periods, some to join Air India Express. In September, Akasa said it feared a shutdown and sued some pilots, as well as the aviation watchdog, for not coming to its aid, in lawsuits still pending in the courts.

In his letter, Wilson added that he had "cautioned" Dube during their telephone call that asking a competitor to collude in curbing employees' rights to switch employers "could be construed as potentially a contravention of competition law".

"I regret that you interpreted my courtesy of taking your call and listening to your request as assent," he added.

The Federation of Indian Pilots has described the alleged mass resignations from Akasa as an "indication" of discontent, while the DGCA has said it cannot interfere in matters related to employment contracts.

In the letter, Wilson expressed the hope that Akasa would make investments to "attract, retain and develop" its own staff, adding that his airline looked forward to "continuing healthy competition". "I regret that you interpreted my courtesy of taking your call and listening to your request as assent," he added.

The Federation of Indian Pilots has described the alleged mass resignations from Akasa as an "indication" of employee discontent, while India's aviation watchdog has said it cannot interfere in matters related to employment contracts.

Festive buying goes premium

This reflects the continued weakness in rural demand thanks to weather uncertainty and inflationary pressures, which has hurt discretionary spends. "Premium durable products are growing at around 25-30% this festive season versus last year," Kamal Nandi, business head and executive vice-president, Godrej Appliances, said. "In contrast, the mass-market products are de-growing by about 5-10%," Nandi says.

A report released on Tuesday by Crisil Ratings says that the domestic consumer durables industry will see revenue growth of 8-10% this financial year, supported by premiumisation and steady growth in urban demand. This will be on the back of a healthy volume-led, post-pandemic growth of 18% last fiscal.

"Demand for premium appliances is expected to gain traction this fiscal. This will play out in three ways: One, rising demand for appliances with smart technologies; two, up-trading to higher capacities; and three, efficient appliances that lower the operating cost," Mohit Makhija, senior director, Crisil Ratings, said.

ACs and TVs, experts say, are benefiting the most from this premiumisation trend, fueled in part by a residential real estate boom, which has triggered demand for home appliances, notably at the higher end.

"People are seeking better viewing experiences at home, which is pushing up the sale of large-screen TVs with better technologies. For instance, our QLED TVs have been well-received and so have TVs with larger screen sizes such as 43-inches and above," Pallavi Singh, vice-president at Super Plastronics, which is a brand licensee for several international brands such as Thomson, Blaupunkt and Electrolux, said.

Ashish Agrawal, senior vice-president and head, GTM at LG Electronics India, says that 55-inch and above TVs at his company has seen a significant demand this festive season. And so have products such as side-by-side refrigerators and full-automatic washing machines. "Sales in TVs, for instance, have seen a surge of 2 to 2.5 times compared to the previous year. While refrigerators and washing machines have seen a sales growth of 40-60% compared to last year," Agrawal says.

The growth in premium products, especially TVs, Agrawal says, can be attributed to high-decibel sports events such as the ongoing Cricket World Cup in India, which have buoyed many to pick up larger TVs.

Saif Khan, MD & CEO, BSH Home Appliances, says that the company has seen an uptick in premium products across metros and cities.

"We recently launched our Bosch and Siemens Brand Stores in Siliguri and Guwahati to tap into the growing demand for premium appliances in the North East region of India. As the appreciation for high-quality appliances rises, we are committed to providing top-tier products and services to meet the increasing demand," he says.

ITC divestment off govt agenda

On August 14, the board of ITC approved the demerger of its hotel business, with an indicative timeline of listing the new entity in about 15 months' time. In February 2017, the government sold a 2% stake from SUUTI's holding in ITC to mobilise about ₹6,700 crore. Thereafter, it hasn't reduced much stake in the company.

No stake sale in ITC after 2017 could be due to the likely demerger of the conglomerate into several distinct entities that could help the government realise more value for its stake.

Investors have been demanding that the FMCG major should demerge business segments. ITC does not have a promoter and its shares are held by a wide gamut of public shareholders. The company is professionally managed by its Board. Currently, state-run insurers including LIC hold 20.32% of ITC while FDI is at 29.04%.

ITC's share price closed at ₹428.4 on Tuesday, down 0.46% from the previous closing price on the BSE.

iPhone hacking alerts: Centre orders probe

"We are unable to provide information about what causes us to issue threat notifications, as that may help state-sponsored attackers adapt their behaviour to evade detection in the future," Apple said. It did not categorically say what triggered warnings received by Opposition MPs. Since enabling the Threat Notifications feature in 2021, Apple said it has sent alerts to users whose accounts are in nearly 150 countries.

"Apple has also claimed that Apple IDs are securely encrypted on devices, making it extremely difficult to access or identify them without the user's explicit permission. This encryption safeguards the user's Apple ID and ensures that it remains private and protected," Vaishnav said. He said the probe will be very technical requiring domain expertise. "A technically qualified agency like Cert-In, which has global collaboration with all the major global experts will be investigating and will be taking help from all other law enforcement agencies as and when required," he said.

Chandrasekhar said the government is committed and duty-bound to protect the privacy of citizens and takes this responsibility very seriously.

"Apple notifying users about a state-sponsored threat alert smacks of corporate overreach. Either they tell the user who the state sponsor is (name and shame) or just zip up. One can't bat both ends: Play good guy and continue to do business, and yet sound holier than thou," Lyod Mathias, angel investor and former CMO Motorola, said in a post on X.

PROPERTY BOOM

Mumbai City and suburbs are estimated to register 10,523 properties in October this year, contributing to a revenue of ₹831 crore for the state government. This was a decadal high for the city in terms of registrations and revenues for the state, Knight Frank India said. This shows a 25% surge in registrations and a 15% growth in revenue compared to year-ago period. Of the overall registered properties, residential units constitute 80%, the remaining 20% are non-residential assets. Around 74% of the Western suburb buyers and 81% of Central suburb purchasers opt to purchase within their micro market. This choice is influenced by the familiarity of the location, along with the availability of products that align with their pricing and feature preferences, it said.
