Biggest gold ETFs lose bit of glitter this year

See $3.9 bn outflow in 5 months

PUNEET WADHWA
New Delhi, 30 May

The world's largest gold exchange-traded funds (ETFs) by assets under management (AUM) GDV, Vaneck Vectors Gold Miners ETF ($13.26 billion), and GLD, SPDR Gold Trust ETF ($61.71 billion), have seen a net outflow of $3.95 billion year to date (CYTD). S&P Global Market Intelligence said in a recent note. Both these funds, it said, managed positive flows only during two of the first five months of the year.

"After expanding the universe of ETFs investing in gold, a majority of funds have been experiencing a similar trend, with sizable outflows being seen since the beginning of the year. Net flows across the following six funds have totalled $4.96 billion since the beginning of 2024 (till May 24, 2024)," the S&P Global Market Intelligence note said.

In the January to March 2024 quarter, meanwhile, World Gold Council (WGC) said, global gold ETFs saw an eighth consecutive quarter of outflows. Despite a 114 tonne, or 4 per cent drop in ETF holdings to 3,113 tonnes during this period, the AUM (in $ terms), WGC said, rose to their highest for almost two years at $222 billion during the recently concluded quarter, thanks to gold's strong price performance.

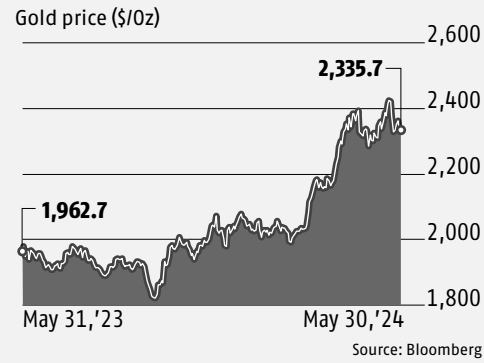

At a regional level, US-and European-listed ETFs both saw a 4 per cent fall in holdings.

"ETF demand remains notable by its absence, particularly in Europe - where, anecdotally, institutions refusing to hold negative yielding bonds shifted into gold a few years ago. It seems likely that the past year has seen a cashing out of gold back into positive yielding bonds, and this might become harder to sustain if and when policy rates are cut. The US has shown a glimmer of hope during April, but rate cuts might be needed to help trigger sustained inflows. Sticky inflation and labour market strength suggest there will be a bit of a wait," WGC said. On the other hand, gold prices have seen a rise in the past few months amid steady demand, especially from the global central banks. This demand surge, S&P Global Market Intelligence said, has mostly been triggered by geopolitical developments and growing uncertainty regarding inflationary trends seen across several economies. This, in turn, has seen gold prices rise nearly 13 per cent CYTD.

"As central banks embark upon a period of interest rate divergence, investors can also expect to see growing volatility in currency markets. As interest rates move, currencies either strengthen or weaken, and gold is often used as a hedge against this risk. This may explain why ETF buyers may not be too enthusiastic about its recent increase in valuation, as when coupled with the lack of periodic cash flows, higher than average management fees, and the fact that gold has little industrial value

STEADY DEMAND

(unlike silver), the commodity is likely to remain less attractive for retail portfolios," the note said. Central bank's net demand for gold globally, according to a WGC report, hit 290 tonnes in the January to March 2024 quarter, up 1 per cent as compared to 286.2 tonnes in the previous corresponding period. This was the strongest start to any calendar year on record, WGC said.

Gold buying by central banks in the March 2024 quarter was 69 per cent higher than the five-year quarterly average (171 tonnes). Reported purchases remained broad-based, with China, Turkey, and India leading the way. According to Commodity Futures Trading Commission data, S&P Global Market Intelligence said, hedge funds and other large speculators have been increasing their net-long positions in Comex futures and options after buying 21,030 contracts during the week ending May 21.

Despite the interest being shown by hedge funds and other large speculators, the overall activity across gold ETFs remains muted.

Savvy investors with high risk appetite may opt for quant funds

SARBAJEET K SEN

Among the various ways of picking stocks, one is to screen them using quantitative criteria. If you do not have the time or skill to do so, there are mutual fund schemes to help you, technically called 'quant funds' or quantitative funds. SBI Mutual Fund (MF) and Motilal Oswal MF are expected to unveil their offerings soon. Eight funds in this category currently have assets under management worth ₹5,471.6 crore.

Data-driven approach

Quant funds use a rule-based approach for portfolio construction based on quantitative models. The model selects stocks from a predefined universe without any human intervention. "Quant investing is primarily data-driven investing. Historical market data is interpreted to make investment decisions. Unlike other funds, they do not focus on fundamental stock-specific research, nor analyse company financials to create a portfolio," says Sukanya Ghosh, quant analyst, SBI Mutual Fund. The eight quant schemes in the market show a wide range of returns, highlighting the variance in their quantitative models.

Many variables employed

A quantitative model typically considers multiple variables, including quantifiable factors like quality, growth, momentum, valuation, and macro factors such as investor sentiment, volatility, and money flow. The portfolio is rebalanced at regular intervals. "Quant funds gather extensive historical and real-time data, including market prices, financial statements, economic indicators, and even non-traditional data sources like social media sentiment," says Pratik Oswal, head of passive funds, Motilal Oswal Asset Management.

No fund manager risk

Quant funds eliminate the risk of fund manager decisions going wrong. "They are free of emotions and human biases. Systematic investment brings discipline and prevents emotional decisions," says Utpal Sarna, head of business analytics, Tata Asset Management.

TWO FUNDS HAVE BEATEN INDEX OVER THREE-YEAR HORIZON

Fund/Benchmark	Returns (%)	1-year	3-year
Quant Quantamental Fund	64.9	32.0
Nippon India Quant Fund	43.2	22.0
ICICI Prudential Quant Fund	34.2	17.1
Tata Quant Fund	25.2	11.0
DSP Quant Fund	19.6	10.4
Nifty 200 TRI	33.0	17.7

Returns for regular, growth plans. Returns above 1 year are compound annualised. Funds with at least 3-year record included. Nippon India Quant Fund has earned 19.8% over five years and 13.9% over 10 years. Others have shorter track records. Data as on May 29, 2024. Source: Navigation RA

How to tell if the call you got from a 'government official' is genuine

To deal with growing instances of phone-based frauds where scammers impersonate government officials, the Centre has allocated a special 10-digit number series with the prefix '160'. These numbers will be used by government agencies, regulatory bodies, and financial institutions to communicate with the public.

Is it a genuine call?

If you receive a call from someone claiming to be a government official but the phone number does not start with '160', it might be a fraud call.

Govt agencies and regulators

The new 160-prefixed 10-digit numbers to be used by government departments and agencies will be in the '160ABCXXX' format. Here, 'AB' will be the telecom circle code (11 for Delhi, 22 for Mumbai, and so on). 'C' will show the telecom operator's code, and XXX will be digits between 0 and 9.

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

For financial institutions, the number issued will be in the '1601ABCXXX' format, differing from government-related ones only in the placement of the digit '1' instead of '0' in the fourth position.
