2) Effective April 01, 2019, the Corporation has adopted Ind AS 116 "Leases" using modified retrospective approach. Due to transition, the nature of expenses in respect of certain leases under erstwhile standard has changed from "Lease Rental" to "Depreciation and amortisation expenses" and "Finance Cost" for the right-to-use assets and for interest accrued on lease liability respectively and therefore these expenses for the current period are not comparable with the reported figures of previous period. The adoption of the Standard did not have any material impact on the profit for the period.
3) Previous period figures have been regrouped/reclassified, wherever necessary.

Govt may seek Narmada authority nod to fill reservoir to full capacity

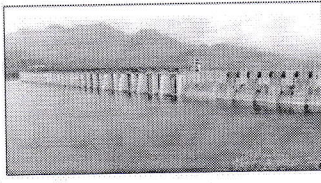

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
VAJDODARA, AHMEDABAD,
AUGUST 7

THE GUJARAT Government may soon approach the Narmada Control Authority (NCA) seeking permission to fill up the Sardar Sarovar dam to its Full Reservoir Level (FRL) of 138.63 metres, once the level of the water reaches 131 metres, as water in the Narmada district reservoir has been steadily rising.

Deputy Chief Minister Nitin Patel, who holds the Narmada portfolio in the government, said on Wednesday that the current level of the dam is around 127.82 metres. Patel said that due to the closure of the dam's gates, it has been possible to store more water, in comparison to the last time when it had overflowed at the height of 121 metres.

Patel added that at present, the NCA has given permission to fill water in the dam up to 131 metres. He further said that to fill 131-metre mark, the state government will be required to approach the NCA once water is filled up to that level. The FRL of the dam has risen from current level of 127.82 metres, it has increased by over four metres in 48 hours. On August 4, the level of the reservoir stood at 127.73 metres. At the given rate of the inflow, Sardar Sarovar Narmada Nigam Ltd. (SSNNL) officials are expecting the dam to cross 131 metres within this week. The current inflow into the dam is around 95,000 cusecs per day, thus increasing the live storage level in the reservoir to 2.45-million cubic feet. The outflow into the main canal from the dam is about 5,000 cusecs.

SSNNL Managing Director (MD) Rajeev Kumar Gupta said

At present, the NCA has given permission to fill water in the Sardar Sarovar Dam reservoir up to 131 metres. Bhupendra Rana that a protocol for dam safety while filling it to the FRL is in place. "The protocol is that once the dam crosses 131 metres, we ought to release some water as it fills its FRL. For this, we have to resume the power generation in the Riverbed Powerhouse (RBPH), where the turbines release the water downstream into the river. If the inflow exceeds the capacity of the water released by the turbines after power generation, then also we have to open the gates. The dam cannot just be filled to 138.63 metres without balancing the outflow," he said.

SSNNL, in April this year, had sought NCA's approval to stop power generation in the RBPH of the dam, in order to fill to its FRL of 138.63 metres - the height after the completion of construction and subsequent inauguration by PM Narendra Modi on September 17, 2017 - to test the concrete structure of the dam at its full thrust capacity.

Gujarat has been facing rain deficit since the last two winter years. While the Sardar Sarovar reservoir filled up to 130.75 metres in 2017, it reached just under 129 metres in 2018. Since its increase in this year to 138.63 metres and the closure of gates, the reservoir has not been filled to its FRL, thereby making it impossible to pull the concrete to test at its full thrust capacity. Engineers of the dam say that testing the reservoir to its full capacity is essential, as the construction lasted close to five decades with gaps of several years. Filling the reservoir is possible only when the RBPH is closed, because the water used for generating hydropower cannot be reused.

The Madhya Pradesh government has raised an objection to NCA's consent for Gujarat to stop hydropower generation at the RBPH until the dam is filled to its FRL level, based on a letter written by SSNNL MD Rajeev Kumar Gupta to the NCA, in April this year.

The letter said, "Drinking water and irrigation are priorities over hydropower generation as per the National Water Policy. Therefore, it would be prudent to

MADHYA PRADESH ISSUES FLOOD WARNING

Indore: Residents of villages in the submergence area of Sardar Sarovar Dam in four districts of Madhya Pradesh were on Wednesday asked to move to safer areas.

Activist Medha Patkar launched a protest in Barwani district, demanding that doors of the dam, which is located in Gujarat, be opened to prevent the submergence of houses around the backwaters.

Officials in Madhya Pradesh said the level of the dam's backwaters has been rising in the districts of Barwani, Dhar, Alirajpur and Khargone in Madhya Pradesh. Indore divisional commissioner Akash Tripathi said, "We are monitoring the rising level of the Narmada. We have called NDRF team and deployed boats to evacuate people." PTI exercise this in the current winter year, in the overall interest of the party states." Accordingly, SSNNL officials say that the NCA had convened a special inter-state meeting in April to discuss the issue, and had advised all states to do their bit for the purpose of filling the Sardar Sarovar reservoir to its FRL.

CHUDASAMA ELECTION CASE

HC defers Rathod's request for postal ballots

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
AHMEDABAD, AUGUST 7

HEARING AN election petition by Congress leader Ashwin Rathod that challenges the 2017 Assembly poll victory of State BJP leader Nirmala Chudasama from Dholka constituency, the Gujarat High Court on Wednesday deferred the petitioner's request to call for all the postal ballots as evidence.

The court upheld defendant Chudasama's objection to calling for the postal ballots. All the postal ballots for Dholka constituency - those rejected and those counted as valid - were requested to be brought on the court's record by petitioner Rathod's counsel senior advocate Percy Kavina. This was based on Rathod's assertion that the then returning officer Dhaval Jani had rejected 429 ballot votes, illegally, which, Rathod claimed was the reason why he lost to Chudasama by a margin of merely 327 votes.

Chudasama's counsel, senior advocate Nrupam Nanavaty, had argued in the last hearing against the petitioner's request, saying it was "premature", and emphasised that the postal ballots should not be called for at this point of time. At the time, the court had reserved its order on whether the postal ballots should be called for as evidence.

On Wednesday, opposing the petitioner's request on similar lines as that of Chudasama, returning officer Dhaval Jani, represented by advocate Bhadrish Raju, also mentioned that a case hadn't been made by the petitioner to call for the postal ballots.

Jani had been made a respondent in the case following an April 2 order by the court, which observed several serious breaches on the returning officer's part with regard to counting of votes. Lawyer NK Amin, who is representing the then General Observer Vinita Bohra, however told the court he does not have any objection if the postal ballots were called for by the court. Notably, earlier in April, senior advocate Kavina requested for the mobile call records of Jani. The court, in an order dated April 16, ruled, "Consideration of this request is deferred, for the time being."

Chudasama is now expected to present his list of witnesses who will depose before the court, at the next hearing scheduled for August 21.
