Chips of smaller nodes are faster and more profitable, but their factories can cost as much as a nuclear power plant

New Delhi, 26 August

ompanies that have applied for India's financial incentive scheme to set up facilities to manufacture chips - integrated circuits imprinted on silicon wafers — are divided on the way forward. The bone of contention is the size of the nodes. Everyone knows small is the future of chip making. But there are deep schisms over the right size to start with, and how one should progress to smaller, more powerful, more sophisticated, and eventually more profitable chips.

The Vedanta–Foxconn joint venture has said it would begin production with 28 nano metre (nm) chips, focusing on the consumer electronics and mobile devices market. It will invest $7 billion and earmark 80 per cent of its output for domestic consumption. Singaporebased IGSS Ventures, too, says it will concentrate, at least initially, on chips of 28 nm to 65 nm for which it already has the

"It is the right way to begin. The foundry market for 28 nm chips would be around $1.14 billion in India, out of the global $8 billion market, by 2025 and has a lifecycle of five to seven years," says Satya Gupta, former president of the Indian Electronics and Semiconductors Association (IESA). Gupta's study shows that 38 per cent of the value of the foundry business in 2025 will still be from chips of 18 nm and above.

Foundries are factories that make chips for third party chip design companies such as Qualcomm. The other the value share of the analogue chips. kind of chip making is by companies ufacturers that both design as well as manufacture — and sell directly to their clients. Samsung is the third kind, which does both: make for itself as well as for others. Intel is now setting up a foundry business as well.

ISMC, a consortium led by Mumbaibased Next Orbit, which has signed a definitive agreement with Israel-based Tower Corporation for technology and which has now been acquired by Intel, has a different view. "The way to start is to make analogue chips to begin with and then move to digital and then memory, which is called the crawl-walk-run strategy. As digital and memory are more capital-intensive and involve complex technology, the best way is to start with analogue, create a semiconductor infrastructure and supply chain through analogue, and then move up," says Ajay Jalan, founder, Next Orbit.

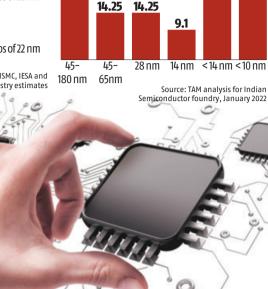

The lower the nano metre of a digital chip, the more its cutting edge, meaning more processing power while using less electricity and more functionalities. Small-node chips therefore command higher price tags and yield bigger profit margins. Analogue chips range from 45 nm to 230 nm. India's semiconductor market — chip is the general term for semiconductor component products – is expected to touch $64 billion by 2026 according to IESA, with digital chips of 22 nm or less commanding an overwhelming $40 billion, or more than 60 per cent, of the total market, says ISMC. The share of chips above 22 nm, it says, will fall to a mere 20 per cent, pretty close to

Jalan justifies the move for two reasons. First, he says, the analogue chip market in India -

now at $6-8 billion — is expected to grow at 15 per cent a year to touch $11 billion by 2026 and stay there for the next 30 years. Secondly, an analogue chip plant requires an investment of $3 billion, which is a lot less than the $7-10 billion

FOR INDIAN FAB 2025 (ESTIMATED % SHARE)

conductor industry has pegged the financial subsidy for the project cost of the fab plant based on the chip size. Eligible players would get only 30 per cent if they manufacture chips above 45nm, 40 per cent for above 28 nm, and 50 per cent for chips of 28 nm or less.

ISMC initially plans to go with more advanced analogue chips of 65 nm and then move down to 45 nm. (Currently 180 nm analogue chips are the most popular.) In the second phase, it will move

Like many in the industry, Jalan does not see a future in digital 28 nm chips, as the Indian plants will take two to four years to get off the ground. By that time, in the fast changing world of chip making, the global market would have shifted to 22 nm, which is expected to have a lifecycle of four to seven years, followed by the 14 nm chip.

Even Gupta's estimates show that as much as 50 per cent of the foundry value of sale in India would be accounted for by chips with nodes of 14 nm and below by 2025. Demand for lower node chips is expected to explode in the country with the imminent launch of 5G telecom services, new use cases emerging from the auto industry as it shifts from internal combustion engines to electric, the growth of Internet of Things, and digitalization in the government and corporate sectors.

So, why are the applicants not choosing to manufacture chips of lower nodes? One big challenge is the technology. The few global companies that have the technology, such as

TSMC, Samsung, and Intel, are unlikely to transfer it in the 14 nm and less segment, at least for a while, as they have invested billions of dollars to develop it and would want to recover

The second challenge is the investment required. According to Boston Consulting Group, a state-of-the-art fab plant for small nodes can cost upwards of $15 billion, which is about as much as the cost of a nuclear power plant.

The third is that India is not a focus market for global chip makers for setting up small-node chip fab units. Intel, for instance, has committed investments worth $100 billion to build plants in the United States and Germany, Samsung $205 billion in three years in its existing locations, and TSMC $100 billion to boost its output in Taiwan and the US.

House panel grills Twitter officials over data security

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi, 26 August

A parliamentary panel Friday questioned top Twitter officials over a whistle-blower's revelations on its India operations, and gave them a dressing-down as their replies on issue of data security and privacy were "not satisfactory",

Top Twitter executives, including Senior Director (Public Policy) Samiran Gupta, Director (Public Policy) Shagufta Kamran deposed before the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Information and Technology chaired by senior Congress leader Shashi Tharoor.

The panel questioned them about the reports on former head of Twitter (security) Peiter Zatko's allegations the microblogging site knowingly allowed the Indian government to place its "agents" on the company payroll where they Twitter officials' had "direct unsupervised replies on issue of access to the company's data security and systems and user data". The members also questioned the social media giant's officials if their data security policies is in synch with local policies and with the single global privacy policy. They also asked how does the microblogging site handles conflicts in national privacy policies of different countries, with the sources saying the executives didn't give satisfactory replies.

They also evaded questions about data safety and privacy, a member said, following which they were reprimanded by the MPs.

Zatko's allegations were reported by international media houses.

Twitter has already stated it was a "false narrative" and the allegations and "opportunistic" timing appear designed to capture attention and inflict harm on the company, its customers and its shareholders.

Diageo halts whiskey sales in India to push price hikes moves at the helm of liquor giant Diageo Plc's Indian arm is a standoff with government officials over price caps that have already cost the company almost $9 million in and might backfire.

United Spirits Ltd. has paused whiskey sales in a number of states yet to budge on price caps despite rising inflation. The move to stop sales rather than see margins continue to erode is a risky bet, analysts at Mumbai-based Dolat Capital wrote last month, that could complicate the firm's pivot to premium

One of Hina Nagarajan's first products. It also means a mounting loss of revenue across its portfolio while costs rise at a double-digit pace.

"I didn't realize how difficult it is," 57-year-old Nagarajan said, referring to the maze of red tape that spans 36 states and union territories in a country where alcohol is still sometimes seen as forbidden.

"In the short term there will be some impact on market share," she said in an interview in the southern city of Bengaluru, adding that she hopes pricing issues will be resolved by the end of September.

SILVER LININGS

India exhibits several 'bright spots' despite headwinds: K M Birla

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi, August 26

DESPITE GLOBAL HEAD-WINDS due to the ongoing Russia-Ukraine war and lingering post-pandemic challenges, the Indian economy has some 'bright spots' to help sail through the choppy waters, industrialist Kumar Mangalam Birla said on Friday.

Addressing shareholders of Aditya Birla Capital (ABCL) at the company's Annual General Meeting (AGM), Birla said the turn of the decade felt like a 'moment of departure', making 2020 an unprecedented year marred by the pandemic, followed by supply side woes of 2021 and then the Russia-Ukraine war in 2022.

Global stagflation is making 2022 feel unprecedented and disruption now feels like 'business as usual', Birla noted.

"The Indian economy has

Diageo halts some whiskey sales to push price hikes

Hina Nagarajan, MD and CEO, Diageo India

ONE OF HINA Nagarajan's first moves at the helm of liquor giant Diageo's Indian arm is a standoff with government officials over price caps that have already cost the company almost $9 million in sales, and some say might backfire.

United Spirits has paused whiskey sales in a number of states yet to budge on price caps despite rising inflation. The move to stop sales rather than see margins continue to erode is a risky bet, analysts at Mumbai-based Dolat Capital wrote last month, that could complicate the firm's pivot to premium products. It also means a mounting loss of revenue across its portfolio while costs rise at a double-digit pace.

"I didn't realise how difficult it is," 57-year-old Nagarajan said, referring to the maze of red tape that spans 36 states and union territories in a country where alcohol is still sometimes seen as forbidden.

"In the short term there will be some impact on market share," she said in an interview in the southern city of Bengaluru, adding that she hopes pricing issues will be resolved by the end of September. "If we look at the longer term perspective, I think it is the right thing to do for the business and I think our investors. stakeholders, recognise that."

Discussions are 'going well' with up to five states, she said. Diageo's difficulties are emblematic of a market where a high potential for growth for alcohol makers is complicated by tradition and taboo. - BLOOMBERG

Delhivery plans to hire over 75,000

LOGISTICS FIRM DELHIVERY on Friday announced its plans to hire over 75,000 staff for seasonal jobs over the next oneand-a-half month and expand its parcel sortation capacity by 1.5 million shipments per day. Of these, over 10,000 people will be off-roll employees across Delhivery's gateways, warehouses, and last-mile delivery, the company said. The hiring is aimed at meeting the expected higher volumes in both parcels and express part-truck load business during the festive season, it added. The company's fullyautomated mega gateway, which is equipped with the automated parcel and hub sortation at Tauru became operational in April this year.

not remained unscathed by these global developments. India has also witnessed upward pressures on inflation, rate hikes by the RBI and a widening trade deficit. We are also seeing greater turbulence

in currency markets," said

Birla, chairman of Aditya Birla Group's financial services arm ABCL. Nevertheless, the Indian economy has several bright spots in its overall economic narrative with a strong recovery cycle and projected growth rate of over 7% in the current fiscal year, he said.

Talking about the high rate of inflation, which has remained well above RBI's upper tolerance level for some months, Birla said the overshoot has not been as severe as in many other countries.

Combative efforts taken by the RBI and the government to help ease inflationary pressures and prospects of good monsoon this year will soften these pressures further.

High foreign exchange reserves, which can cover more than 9 months of imports, are supportive data points, despite rising trade deficit. These factors support India to stay steady through the broader global economic turmoil, the ABCL chairman said.

"With these silver linings, India appears to be well placed to ride through an uncertain global economic environment. India has a robust pipeline of infrastructure projects. In addition, the government's pragmatic policies such as the production-linked incentive schemes are helping." Among others, many fresh investment proposals by industries, strong foreign direct investment as well as decline in the non-performing assets in the banking sector also help support growth, he noted. Startups and technology-based new age enterprises have acquired critical mass in India. These sectors are exhibiting a strong momentum, providing new jobs and enhancing customer experiences, Birla further said.

"Dynamism in India's digital ecosystem, diversification of global supply chains away from China and the greater emphasis of investors on sustainable finance also offer new opportunities for India," he told the shareholders.

मप्रः बाढ़ की चपेट में आकर 50 से अधिक गायों की मौत

राजगढ, २६ अगस्त (भाषा)।

मध्य प्रदेश के राजगढ जिले में नदी की बाढ़ की चपेट में आने से एक गोशाला की 50 से अधिक गायों की मौत हो गई। एक अधिकारी ने शुक्रवार को यह जानकारी दी। तलेन तहसील के निद्र खेड़ी गांव में दक्षिणपंथी संगठनों द्वारा गोशाला कर्मचारियों पर लापरवाही का आरोप लगाने के बाद गोशाला प्रबंधन के खिलाफ प्राथमिकी दर्ज की गई। प्रत्यक्षदर्शियों के अनुसार भारी बारिश में कर्मचारियों ने गोशाला

बंद कर दी और चले गए। आरोप लगाया कि उगल नदी का पानी गोशाला में प्रवेश करने से गायें वहां फंस गईं और उनकी

कर्मचारियों ने बाद में गायों के शवों को नदी में फेंक दिया।
