Panjim's exposed faultlines could be BJP's worry lines

ADITI PHADNIS
New Delhi, 24 January

It is just one seat. But it reveals many political faultlines. All eyes are on the Panjim Assembly seat in the 40-member Goa Legislative Assembly after former chief minister (CM) Manohar Parrikar's son Utpal quit the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and announced his intention to contest the seat as an independent candidate when he was denied a BJP nomination. This, and the resignation of former CM Laxmikant Parsekar from the party, has caused upheaval in the BJP and Union Home Minister Amit Shah will be visiting Goa on January 30 to sort things out.

What spices up the Panjim contest is not just the entry of Congress newcomer into the BJP, Atanasio Monserrate whom the BJP preferred over its own member, Utpal, but also the presence of Shiv Sena, which announced it would field Shailendra Velingkar from the seat if Utpal does not contest.

Velingkar, son of former Goa Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) chief Subhash Velingkar, has floated the Bharat Mata ki Jai (BMJ) — an outfit that the former RSS chief says is 'dedicated to defeating the BJP'.

Velingkar says it will come as no surprise if this time in the Assembly, the BJP gets Members of the Legislative Assembly (MLAs) in single digits. The Congress has put up Elvis Gomes, who was previously in the Aam Aadmi Party.

According to Velingkar, the fight in Panjim and elsewhere in Goa will be primarily between the Congress and the BJP — and that section of the BJP which largely comprises defectors from Congress, like Monserrate.

Velingkar has a lot at stake. In 2016, he raised the banner of revolt against 'compromises' made by the BJP on a variety of issues ranging from Goa's language policy to the Parrikar government's stand on mining and gambling. He was sacked by the RSS for complaining that the ideological purity of the BJP-RSS was being diluted by defectors from the Congress.

Velingkar launched the Goa Suraksha Manch that was disbanded and a new overtly political organisation replaced it — the BMJ party. In 2016, partly because of the indefatigable efforts put in by Velingkar and other RSS workers, the tally of the BJP in Goa came down drastically from 21 in 2012 to 13 in 2017. However, Parrikar was still able to cobble together a government largely by winning over Congress MLAs after the Congress fell short of a majority, winning 17 seats. Velingkar believes that was a short-term compromise by the BJP to somehow form the government and this time around, the BJP might have to pay the price.

Although Utpal has no independent base and is expected to rely on the appeal of his father, his low-key style of campaigning could strike a chord with uncommitted voters. On the other hand, the BJP has the cadres, organisation, and extensive funding. But in the absence of a towering political personality like Parrikar, the Goa outcome is hard to predict. Current CM Pramod Sawant, who replaced Parrikar after his death, enjoys the support of the BJP brass in Delhi and the Sangh, but many of his own MLAs could turn against him.

One such is Parsekar, who had served as Goa CM after Parrikar moved to Delhi to take charge as Union defence minister in 2014. In the 2017 Assembly polls, he was defeated from the Mandrem seat by Congress' Dayanand Sopte. Sopte later joined the BJP and the party announced his name as the BJP candidate from Mandrem.

Parsekar has his roots in the RSS, has been a three-time BJP MLA and former Goa BJP president. He has been with the BJP for around 32 years. His resignation from the party and resolve to contest as an independent will affect the chances of the party in a state where margins of victory are wafer thin, because of the small size of constituencies.

RESIGNATIONS OF FORMER CM MANOHAR PARRIKAR'S SON UTPAL AND FORMER CM LAXMIKANT PARSEKAR FROM THE BJP HAVE CAUSED UPHEAVAL IN THE PARTY AND UNION HOME MINISTER AMIT SHAH WILL BE VISITING GOA ON JANUARY 30 TO SORT THINGS OUT

Ex-Zimbabwe cricketer says Indian bizman blackmailed him to spot-fix

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 24 January

Former Zimbabwe captain Brendan Taylor on Monday said he is facing a multi-year ban from the ICC for failing to report a corrupt approach by an Indian businessman and also claimed that he was blackmailed after "foolishly" taking cocaine during that meeting.

Former Zimbabwe captain Brendan Taylor says he is facing multi-year ban from ICC for delay in reporting the approach by the fixer

In a detailed confession on social media, Taylor claimed that he was invited by the businessman to India to discuss "sponsorships" and potential launch of a T20 event in Zimbabwe besides an offer of $15,000 in October, 2019. He did not name the businessman in question.

"We had drinks and during the course of the evening they openly offered me cocaine, which they themselves engaged in, and I foolishly took the bait. I've gone over it a million times since and still feel sick to my stomach reliving that night and how they played me," Taylor wrote.

"The following morning, the same men stormed into my hotel room and showed me a video taken of me the night before doing cocaine and told me that if I did not spot fix at international matches for them, the video would be released to the public. "I was cornered. And with 6 of these individuals in my hotel room, I was scared for my own safety. I'd fallen for it. I'd willingly walked into a situation that has changed my life forever."

The 35-year-old, who played 205 ODIs, 34 Tests and 45 T20s before retiring last year, now expects the ICC to ban him for not reporting the incident back then. The game's governing body is yet to comment on the matter.

"...the timing was such that we hadn't been paid for 6 months by Zimbabwe cricket and it was questionable whether Zimbabwe would be able to continue playing in the international arena," he said while trying to give his reasons for accepting the offer.

BCCI Anti-Corruption Unit chief Shabir Hussain Shekhadam Khandwawala told PTI, "If the incident happened in India, we would like to know the details and if he has spoken to the ICC, we will seek the details from the global body. As of now, no one has contacted us but we would like to know more about the issue."

Taylor said he was also given a part payment to spot fix matches. "I was handed the $15,000 but was told this was now a 'deposit' for spot fixing and that an additional $20,000 would be paid once the 'job' was complete.

"I took the money so I could get on a plane and leave India. I felt I had no choice at the time because saying no was clearly not an option. All I knew was I had to get out of there."

Taylor decided to report the incident to the ICC four months later and said he delayed it to protect his family. "The 'businessman' wanted a return on his investment which I could not and would not give. It took me 4 months to report this offence and interaction to the ICC. "I acknowledge this was too long of a time but I thought I could protect everyone and in particular, my family. I approached the ICC on my own terms and I hoped that if explained my predicament, my genuine fear for our safety and wellbeing, that they would understand the delay."

Taylor insisted that he has never been involved in any wrongdoing on the field.

Indices...

"People have started wondering if the rate hike is going to be more than 25 basis points. Could it be 50 basis points for the Fed to get ahead of the curve? And is it going to be earlier than March? It also didn't help that oil prices have been rising. It all came at the same time. All of this is playing into the volatility. We have the Budget next week, and the Fed's announcement will give some clarity," said Andrew Holland, CEO, Avendus Capital Alternate Strategies.

The Sensex, after rising more than 5 per cent this month, is now down 1.3 per cent on a year-to-date basis. The Indian market is 3 per cent up over its December 2021 lows. Some believe the recent turbulence in the market isn't a reason to worry too much.

The economy is in good shape. Because we had such an exuberant rally, some people are getting spooked and selling. I don't see any reason why investors in high-quality stocks should worry. It is a typical tremor you get as central banks start tightening rates. The main purpose is to take the froth of the table at the interest in low-quality companies. In that regard, what happened over the last five sessions is a healthy correction," said Saurabh Mukherjea, founder, Marcellus Investment Managers.

The India Vix index soared to nearly 23 per cent on Monday, signalling more market volatility. Concerns over interest rate hikes and tapering of bond purchases have driven market volatility ever since central banks, including the Federal Reserve, prioritised fighting inflation over growth. For most of the last year, central banks had termed inflation as a transitory phenomenon. The shift has led to a major sell-off across global markets, and it has been more pronounced in tech stocks and cryptocurrencies.

Swiggy...

This investment in Swiggy comes at a time when the adoption of food and online grocery is accelerating and consumer demand for Swiggy's many services continues to grow. While the food-delivery business has nearly doubled in gross order value (GOV) in the last year, this fundraise will enable Swiggy to accelerate growth on the core platform and make meaningful investment to grow Instamart, its quick commerce grocery service which remains well-positioned to continue to lead the emerging space and set to reach an annualised gross merchandise value (GMV) run rate of $1 billion in the next three quarters. The company will strengthen its investment in the broader ecosystem. The fundraise will give Swiggy enough firepower to take on rivals such as Zomato, Amazon, Flipkart, Dunzo, Licious, and Ola Foods. "The GMV our food-delivery business achieved in 40 months took Instamart just 17 months, demonstrating the platform benefits of Swiggy. We will double down on this to build more categories," said Sriharsha Majety, chief executive officer and co-founder, Swiggy.

"Our goal is to make Swiggy the platform that 100 million consumers can use 15 times a month. We will continue to invest in our people, products, and partners," he added. Last year in July, Swiggy had closed a $1.25-billion fundraise, marking the first investment in the category by SoftBank Vision Fund 2. This raised the valuation of the start-up by more than 50 per cent to $5.5 billion from $3.6 billion earlier, according to industry sources.

In the past few months, Swiggy has expanded Instamart to 19 cities. Swiggy Genie, Swiggy's pick-up and drop service, is present in 68 cities, while its meat-delivery service and daily grocery service, Supr Daily, are present across all major Indian cities. It also launched Swiggy One, India's first comprehensive membership programme with benefits across food, groceries, and other on-demand services. "As long-term investors, the Invesco Developing Markets Fund seeks investment opportunities in the best companies in the world, led by world-class management teams that have the potential for long-term structural growth," said Justin Leverenz, chief investment officer, Invesco Developing Markets Fund.
