India-UK to increase maritime cooperation, defence ties

New Delhi, May 5: In a major move, India and the UK on Tuesday vowed to expand bilateral defence cooperation, including through technology collaboration in developing combat aircraft and complex weapons, during a virtual summit between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his British counterpart Boris Johnson.

In the talks, the two sides also agreed to increase maritime cooperation with India invited the UK's liaison officer to the Indian Navy's information fusion centre, a key facility that keeps a hawk-eyed vigil on developments and movement of ships in the Indian Ocean region.

"Both Prime Ministers agreed to deepen their defence and security cooperation through the India-UK defence and international security partnership framework and welcomed the finalisation of the new logistics MoU," said a joint statement on Modi-Johnson talks.

It said the two leaders agreed that there is a promising new era ahead for India-UK collaboration on key military technologies including combat aircraft, maritime propulsion system and complex weapons, harnessing the strengths of Indian and British industries, government laboratories and academia. The statement said such collaborations will help in delivering the next generation defence and security capabilities through co-development and co-production.

Joint Secretary in the Europe West division in the Ministry of External Affairs Sandeep Chakravarty said at a media briefing that the two sides discussed co-development and co-production of military hardware. "They agreed to increase maritime co-operation, inviting the UK's Liaison Officer to India's information fusion centre, establishing an annual India-UK maritime dialogue and strengthening operational coordination," the statement said.

"During the deployment of the UK's Carrier Strike Group in the Indian Ocean Region in 2021, they agreed to hold joint exercises that will deepen cooperation in a region of critical strategic importance to both countries," it said.

IIT-M, UK develop paper-based sensor to detect pollutants

Chennai, May 5: Researchers at the Indian Institute of Technology-Madras and hailing from the United Kingdom have developed a paper-based sensor that can detect antimicrobial pollutants which induce antimicrobial resistance in water bodies.

According to IIT-M, the sensor works on a "see and tell" mechanism that makes it logistically effective for wide implementation. Scientific communities were engaged in the study of antimicrobial resistance (AMR) and of FIDE (World Chess Federation) president Arkady Dvorkovich, five-time world champion Viswanathan Anand, World Rapid Chess Champion Koneru Humpy, AICF president Sanjay Kapoor and Secretary Bharat Singh

Chauhan. The AICF said the idea is to not just help the chess community affected by COVID through financial aid, but also have a team of doctors that works round-the-clock to provide the right assistance.

Some of the practical applications of the sensors include - environmental monitoring, food safety analysis and health care monitoring, the release said.

Council under the Indo-UK Water Quality Research programme. IIT-M department of chemical engineering, institute chair professor S Pushpavanam and associate professor T Ranganathan led the research. IIT Madras said in a release.

"Paper-based sensors offer an affordable platform for various point-of-care applications as they support fluid flow and are governed by capillary forces. This eliminates the requirement of a pump-to-flow liquids," Pushpavanam said.

"We have come up with a novel method for the fabrication of paper-based devices using a commercial laser printer," he added.

Some of the practical applications of the sensors include - environmental monitoring, food safety analysis and health care monitoring, the release said.

Double mutant coronavirus spreading in South India

New Delhi, May 5: The B.1.617 variant of the coronavirus, also known as the double mutant, is fast replacing the N440K variant in south India, scientists at the Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology (CCMB) said on Tuesday.

Former CCMB director Rakesh Mishra said the double mutant is now a dominant variant in Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh and now Telangana.

After an exhaustive analysis of 5,000 variants earlier this year, the CCMB had found that N440K is spreading a lot more in the southern states compared to the other variants. But B.1.617 is fast replacing N440K, including in Kerala, Divya Tej Sowpati, a scientist with the CCMB, said.

"Lineages with #N440K are NOT the dominant ones in the second wave of #Covid19inIndia. While N440K was indeed a mutation of concern in South India during and after the first wave, current data shows that it is essentially replaced by new VoCs such as #B1617 and #B117.

"In KL, though not much data is available on GISAID, we can see from https://genecov2.

genomes.in that B.1.1.7 is increasing at present, whereas N440K is present in <20% of the genomes. "Also, it is important to remember that just because a variant behaves a certain way in cell cultures (with no competition, and in controlled settings), it does not mean it will behave the same way in humans, or in a complicated pandemic scenario," Sowpati tweeted.

The B.1.617 variant harbours 15 lineage defining mutations. B.1.617, initially termed as the double mutant, has three new spike protein mutations. Two mutations - E484Q and L452R - are in the area important for antibody-based neutralisation. The third mutation, P681R, allows the virus to enter cells a little better. "When comparing the data from MH, in MH we can see that the increase in B.1.617 is seen in Feb rather than Mar 2021, and again we observe a reduction in proportion of lineages with N440K," Sowpati tweeted.

SC strikes down Bengal law on real estate sector

New Delhi, May 5: In a setback to Mamata Banerjee led Trinamool Congress Party government in West Bengal, the Supreme Court on Tuesday struck down a law regulating and promoting real estate sector in the State holding it to be unconstitutional and repugnant to Centre's Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act (RERA).

The top court said that by enacting West Bengal Housing Industry Regulation Act (WB-HIRA), 2017, what the legislature of the State has attempted to achieve is to set up its parallel legislation involving a parallel regime".

It said that the State legislature has encroached upon the legislative authority of Parliament which has supremacy within the ambit of the subjects falling within the Concurrent List of the Seventh Schedule. The top court also said a significant and even overwhelmingly large part of WB-HIRA overlaps with the provisions of RERA and some of these provisions have been lifted bodily, word for word and enacted into the State's law.

A bench of Justices D.Y. Chandrachud and M.R. Shah said, we have come to the conclusion that WB-HIRA is repugnant to the RERA, and is hence unconstitutional.

The bench said We also hold and declare that as a consequence of the declaration by this Court of the invalidity of the provisions of WB-HIRA, there shall be no revival of the provisions of the WB 1993 Act (West Bengal Regulation of Construction and Transfer by Promoters)

Act, 1993), since it would stand implicitly repealed upon the enactment of the RERA. The bench clarified that its striking down of the provisions of WB-HIRA in the present judgment will not, in any manner, revive the WB 1993 Act, which was repealed upon the enactment of WB-HIRA as it is repugnant to the RERA.

In order to avoid uncertainty and disruption in respect of actions taken in the past, recourse to the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 142 is necessary. Hence, in exercise of the jurisdiction under Article 142, we direct that the striking down of WB-HIRA will not affect the registrations, sanctions and permissions previously granted under the legislation prior to the date of this judgment, the bench said.
