

LT Foods's Organic Subsidiary Inaugurates its Cutting-Edge Food Processing Plant at Rotterdam, the Netherlands

New investments to fuel expansion plans in Europe in a sustainable way

Rotterdam, Netherlands, 31 March 2021 – Nature Bio Foods BV (NBF BV), a 100% subsidiary of Nature Bio Foods (NBF) India, one of leading organic food producers and a subsidiary of LT Foods today announced the inauguration of its futuristic organic food processing plant at Maasvlakte near Rotterdam, Netherlands. The new state-of-the-art integrated organic ingredients processing facility of Nature Bio Foods is another step in the Company's efforts to provide organic food ingredients to customers through a Sustainable Supply Chain.

Nature Bio Foods BV offers a vast bouquet of quality organic food ingredients, which are directly sourced from sustainable organic farms of India, Africa, and other Asian countries. NBF in the past few years has set-up its distribution channels in the US and Europe to fortify its business model and other existing networks across geographies. Strengthening its establishments further, Nature Bio Foods has setup now food processing capabilities in EU which would allow it to reach its Customers and Brands directly.

The inauguration of the new state-of-the-art line was presided over by His Excellency, the Ambassador of India to the Netherlands Mr. Pradeep Kumar Rawat.

Commenting on the occasion, Chairman Mr. V K Arora said, "Nature Bio Foods has had an impeccable legacy in supplying quality organic food ingredients to its customers in some of the most regulated & demanding markets across the globe. We take immense pride in adding yet another induction of latest technology in our Rotterdam facility which is in-line with the long-term vision of the Company to expand and strengthen its organic business in Europe."

About Nature Bio Foods (NBF):

Nature Bio Foods traces back nearly 26 years back when the first seeds of organic basmati rice were sown in 1996, since then, NBF has been a core in this organic journey with an endeavor to deliver the purest and healthiest quality products to its consumers worldwide.

NBF is the subsidiary of LT Foods who is among the principal producers of the most premium and finest basmati rice for brands Daawat and Royal. NBF provides quality food ingredients to global consumers by following environmentally safe production techniques and using agri-ingredients. NBF has ground presence in the US and Europe through its subsidiaries NBF Inc. and NBF BV respectively.
